

going from $6,000 a year up to $26,000 a year. And Laurie and her husband can't get coverage through an employer and are a few years from qualifying for Medicare. So they are in kind of a black hole. They are going to be left out in no man and woman's land, OK. That is where they are going to be.

And they are going without insurance next year. That is the decision they are making. And they are hoping—they are hoping with fingers crossed—that neither one of them is going to have an emergency next year.

Well, that is the Republican plan for Laurie and her husband: Just cross your fingers. Pray that no healthcare catastrophe hits your family for a year—because they cannot afford $26,000 a year, up from $6,000 a year.

So the Republicans are asking Americans to trade their health insurance for hope, but hope is not a healthcare strategy. The only thing that gives hope to families is the actions that are taken to ensure that they have access to the healthcare which they need, and they are not going to take any action on the Republican side.

And so Laurie and her husband are just going to forgo health insurance next year because their $26,000 a year is just not affordable for them.

So I will just tell you, in conclusion, what Democrats are going to offer tomorrow. It is going to be a simple, straightforward extension of the healthcare tax credits these families depend on, so that families like this don't have to rely on hope alone.

And my Republican colleagues, they are going to have a different plan. Instead of lowering people's premiums, they are going to give everyone $1,000 for their healthcare expenses. And that sounds nice in theory, but you already heard the stories of the people who are, right now, trying to figure out what they are going to do on December 23, because they actually are not going to be allowed to use that money—the $1,000—to pay for their health insurance premiums. They actually are not going to be able to use it for that purpose.

So how is this Republican so-called healthcare plan going to help someone who works in a hardware store, who owes $12,000 a year in premiums, and has a $7,500 deductible? How does that $1,000 help anyone whose premiums will be $19,000 next year? How does $1,000 cover $19,000, which would have been covered? How does that $1,000 help a senior couple paying more for their insurance than for their mortgage?

That is not a healthcare plan. That is a “they don't care” plan, and that is what the Republicans are offering them—a Republican “we don't care” plan for 22 million American families, 2 days before Christmas. That is their plan.

Their “Make America Sick” agenda does nothing to help the 337,000 residents of Massachusetts who are going to be confronting skyrocketing premiums next year—22 million people across the whole country. The only people that the Republicans' plan will help are the millionaires and billionaires who already have the money to afford their premiums, and, yes, their donations to Donald Trump and MAGA Republicans to protect those billionaire tax breaks.

That is their plan. The ticking healthcare timebomb that Republicans are setting off, that Democrats have been warning about all year long, is about to go off. In Massachusetts, you have got to write the check by December 23, and that check has to be written all across our country to make sure you are covered on January 1.

And this is as families are trying to get ready for their Christmas celebrations. There won't be any celebration in those homes. They are going to be trying to figure out how to balance their budgets. They are going to be trying to figure out how to deal with all that money that is now going to be spent for that healthcare that they did not have to spend this year.

So this is going to be an absolute disaster for families, and it is avoidable. And the Republicans can avoid it, but, instead, Trump and the MAGA Republicans have traded away healthcare for tax breaks for corporations. And it is the cruelty—the absolute cruelty—of the Trump administration, which knows no limits. And just in time for the Christmas holidays, “President Grinch” is stealing medication from dad, inhalers for grandma, insulin for children, toys right out from underneath the tree.

So it is absolutely essential that we vote to extend the Affordable Care Act premium tax credits. We must listen to the American people who are begging us to help lower costs. Tomorrow, we can do that on the Senate floor.

I implore the Republicans to vote to extend these tax benefits for 22 million American families. Please do it for them.

This is going to be terrifying for 22 million people. It is going to be a terrifying Christmas for these families, and it is going to be a terrifying reality next year, when they have lost their health insurance or they cannot afford their health insurance unless they do so at the expense of all the other things which their families need.

So we have to vote to avert this crisis. We need some Republicans to join us—not many, but just enough with a conscience this Christmas to make sure that they are protected.

I just close, once again, by urging my colleagues to vote yea on our bill to protect those 22 million families.
