

with a steady hand, a caring heart and a deep belief in the power of education to transform lives.

Throughout her professional career, Allison was known for her genuine care for people and her ability to build meaningful relationships across her school community. She believed deeply in the work of educators and took great pride in supporting students and staff in achieving their fullest potential. Her leadership reflected both high expectations and heartfelt compassion, ensuring that every student felt seen, supported and valued.

Even in the face of a terminal illness, Allison's dedication to her school never wavered. She remained committed to uplifting those around her, leaving behind a legacy defined by kindness, strength and purpose.

Allison was also a beloved member of the Larsen family as the wife of my cousin Mike, and our family deeply mourns her passing. Allison added spice to family events with her wit and insights. We will all terribly miss her.

Mr. Speaker, Allison Larsen's impact on Edmonds-Woodway High School and the broader Edmonds School District community is immeasurable. Her life stands as a testament to the profound difference one educator can make. I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring her remarkable service, celebrating her legacy and extending our deepest condolences to her husband, our family and all who were fortunate to know and work alongside her.

HONORING STEVE SANDO

HON. MIKE THOMPSON

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, March 27, 2026

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Steve Sando, a local agricultural leader, on the 25th anniversary of his company, Rancho Gordo.

Mr. Sando began his journey in the San Francisco Bay Area. He attended Tamalpais High School and later continued his education at the College of Marin and at San Francisco State University. As a California native born in Los Angeles, Mr. Sando had always been interested in California agriculture, especially beans. He started his own home garden 26 years ago, where he discovered and cultivated a treasure trove of heirloom beans, leading to the foundation of Rancho Gordo.

Steve Sando founded Rancho Gordo in 2001 in the Napa Valley. Recognizing the culinary potential of his heirloom bean varieties, Mr. Sando set out to share these "superstar" beans with the world. Today, Rancho Gordo grows more than 25 varieties on the West Coast and partners with small-scale indigenous farmers in Mexico to bring rare, traditional beans to the U.S. Mr. Sando's work has caught the attention of renowned chefs and home cooks eager to elevate their meals with quality ingredients. Rancho Gordo's products, which include beans, corn, chiles, and other staples, have become key components in New American cuisine. Rancho Gordo sells about 2.5 million pounds of beans a year and supports 38 permanent full-time employees in our community. Mr. Sando's efforts at the forefront of the seed-saving revolution have been widely recognized. Saveur named Rancho Gordo number two on its "Saveur 100" list in 2008, Bon Appétit included Steve in its "Hot 10" for 2009, and Food & Wine praised him as a leader in the seed-saving movement. His most recent cookbook, The Bean Book, is a New York Times Bestseller.

Mr. Sando has also done incredible work for our community by supporting small farmers both locally and in Mexico, preserving heirloom crop varieties. He also actively contributes to nonprofit fundraising efforts for organizations including Ag for Youth in Napa, as well as elementary schools across the country. Mr. Sando serves as the founder of the Rancho Gordo Foundation, a new nonprofit focused on agriculture and youth.

Mr. Sando shares this honor with his two sons, Robert and Nicholas. He remains dedicated to his mission: preserving the agricultural heritage of the Americas and sharing its incredible flavors with the world.

Mr. Speaker, we thank Steve Sando for his dedicated service to our community as we celebrate Rancho Gordo's 25th anniversary. Therefore, it is fitting and proper that we honor him here today.

HONORING 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF UNITED PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

HON. CARLOS A. GIMENEZ

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Mr. GIMENEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the 50th Anniversary of United Property Management and to honor the legacy of its founder, José Milton, a Cuban immigrant whose vision, determination, and entrepreneurial spirit helped shape the residential communities of South Florida.

After arriving in Miami in the early 1960s, Mr. Milton, an architect, founded José Milton & Associates in 1963, building a real estate development company committed to quality and affordable housing and responsible growth. In 1976, he established United Property Management to oversee the rental communities his organization developed, laying the foundation for what would become one of the largest privately held property management firms in our region.

Over the past five decades, the Milton organization has developed and managed thousands of homes, supported hundreds of jobs, and contributed to the economic vitality of South Florida. In 2008, Mr. Milton expanded his impact by establishing the José Milton Foundation, to support educational and healthcare initiatives across the region.

Further, the Milton organization has a strong belief that successful enterprises have a responsibility to invest in the well-being of the communities they serve. Through both leadership and service, the Milton Family has helped build not only residential communities but also stronger, more vibrant communities throughout South Florida.

Today, José Milton's legacy lives on through his family and his organization, a testament to the power of immigrant entrepreneurship, visionary leadership, and a lasting commitment to community. I congratulate the Milton Family and United Property Management on this important milestone and commend their continued contributions to South Florida and beyond.

RECOGNIZING TEMPLE SINAI'S 18TH BIRTHDAY MAZEL FEST

HON. SUSIE LEE

OF NEVADA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, March 27, 2026

Ms. LEE of Nevada. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize and celebrate a milestone for the Jewish community in southern Nevada—Temple Sinai's 18th Birthday Mazel Fest taking place on April 11, 2026.

In 1992, former members of Beth Am established Adat Ari El. They had humble beginnings, with around 15 families and held services in a storefront with a visiting Rabbi.

Throughout the years, the Temple Sinai family has remained a vibrant, thriving community that holds close its core values and vision of worship, is vested in the community, and is alive with congregants and students who are enriching the lives of others.

Temple Sinai is a community treasure for our families, with multiple touch points throughout the Jewish life cycle, from preschool to exclusive senior programming. Their vision reflects the passion, dedication, and commitment of its congregational family to look forward and strive to attain its goals for the future.

As Temple Sinai celebrates 18 years, this milestone carries deeper meaning in Hebrew tradition, where the number 18 symbolizes "Chai," the Hebrew word for life. Because Hebrew letters have numerical values (gematria), the letters chet (8) and yud (10) add up to 18, making it a lucky number representing life, vitality, and good fortune.

Under the current leadership of Rabbi Ilana G. Baden, Cantor David Perper, and all its staff, Temple Sinai is a cornerstone of our strong, vibrant Jewish community across the valley. They are a beacon of hope, compassion, soulful worship, and lifelong education providing a sanctuary for spiritual growth, cultural celebration, and community engagement.

On this historic occasion, I ask my colleagues to join me in congratulating Temple Sinai and its dedicated members who contribute to its enduring legacy in southern Nevada.

RECOGNIZING DEBBIE EVANS

HON. JOSEPH D. MORELLE

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Mr. MORELLE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today during Women's History Month to honor an exceptional and influential leader from Rochester, New York: Debbie Evans.

For decades, Debbie has been a tireless advocate for individuals and families facing poverty and food insecurity. Her work began in 1995 while volunteering in the Irondequoit School District, where she saw firsthand that many children lacked access to adequate food and warm clothing during Rochester's harsh winters. Determined to help, she organized clothing exchanges to ensure that children in need had the essentials to stay safe and supported.

That same spirit of service led Debbie to found the Irondequoit Community Cupboard, which has grown into a vital resource for the community. What began in her home has expanded into a nonprofit organization serving more than 120 families each week. In addition to providing food, the Cupboard offers essential items not typically covered by assistance programs, including hygiene products, cleaning supplies, and school materials, helping families meet their most basic needs with dignity.

Mr. Speaker, Debbie Evans' work reflects the very best of Rochester's spirit—one rooted in compassion, resilience, and a shared commitment to caring for others. During Women's History Month, it is especially fitting that we honor extraordinary women who have gone above and beyond to strengthen our communities. I am proud to recognize her and extend my deepest gratitude for her continued service.
