

Landsman	Neal	Sorensen
Larsen (WA)	Neguse	Soto
Larson (CT)	Norcross	Stansbury
Latimer	Ocasio-Cortez	Stanton
Lee (NV)	Olshzewski	Stevens
Lee (PA)	Omar	Strickland
Leger Fernandez	Pallone	Subramanyam
Levin	Panetta	Suozi
Liccardo	Pappas	Swalwell
Lieu	Pelosi	Sykes
Lofgren	Peters	Takano
Lynch	Pettersen	Thanedar
Magaziner	Pingree	Thompson (CA)
Mannion	Pocan	Thompson (MS)
Matsui	Pou	Titus
McBath	Pressley	Tlaib
McBride	Quigley	Tokuda
McClain Delaney	Ramirez	Tonko
McClellan	Randall	Torres (CA)
McCollum	Raskin	Torres (NY)
McDonald Rivet	Riley (NY)	Trahan
McGarvey	Rivas	Tran
McGovern	Ross	Underwood
McIver	Ruiz	Vargas
Meeks	Ryan	Vasquez
Menefee	Salinas	Veasey
Menendez	Sánchez	Velázquez
Meng	Scanlon	Vindman
Mfume	Schakowsky	Walkinshaw
Min	Schneider	Wasserman
Moore (WI)	Scholten	Schultz
Morelle	Schrier	Waters
Morrison	Scott (VA)	Watson Coleman
Moskowitz	Scott, David	Whitesides
Moulton	Sewell	Williams (GA)
Mrvan	Sherman	Wilson (FL)
Mullin	Simon
Nadler	Smith (WA)

There was no objection.

PERMISSION FOR MEMBER TO BE CONSIDERED AS FIRST SPONSOR OF H.R. 537

Mr. MAGAZINER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that I may hereafter be considered to be the first sponsor of H.R. 537, INCREASE Housing Affordability Act, a bill originally introduced by Representative SHERRILL of New Jersey, for the purpose of adding cosponsors and requesting reprintings pursuant to clause 7 of rule XII.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Rhode Island?

There was no objection.

HONORING RICHARD "DICK" OTTINGER

(Mr. LATIMER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. LATIMER. Mr. Speaker, for nearly two decades, Westchester's own Richard "Dick" Ottinger walked in these Halls as a Congressman and served in this Chamber, representing his neighbors with insight and energy.

Dick Ottinger was first elected to the House in 1964. He left to seek a seat in the United States Senate in 1970 but returned here in 1974 to serve 10 more years. He was an early leader on environmental issues before they became commonplace, and his advocacy for the cleanup of the Hudson River benefited generations to follow.

In his post-congressional years, he turned to teaching as a professor at Pace University School of Law, with a building being named in his honor.

We lost Dick Ottinger on February 16, and he joins in our memories the great House Members from New York who we have recently lost, Charlie Rangel and Nita Lowey.

Dick, like them, is a role model for all of us who serve here today.

Please join me in a moment of silence to honor him.

HONORING OUR FALLEN HEROES

(Mr. NUNN of Iowa asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. NUNN of Iowa. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor six Americans, including two Iowans, who gave their lives for our country.

On March 1, an Iranian drone struck a U.S. Army command center in Kuwait and killed six members of the 103rd Expeditionary Sustainment Command in the Army Reserve, which operates out of Fort Des Moines, Iowa, in my district.

I will speak first about these two young Hawkeyes. Sergeant Declan Coady of West Des Moines was only 20 years old. He was one of the youngest men in his unit and, by every account, one of the best.

Sergeant Coady trained as an IT specialist with the Army Reserves while studying cybersecurity at my alma mater, Drake University, right here in Des Moines. He was taking classes online from Kuwait while he defended our country in order to become an officer in the U.S. Army.

Last week, he proudly told his father that he had been recommended for promotion from specialist to sergeant. I am happy to say that he posthumously achieved that very honorable rank.

With him was Major Jeffrey O'Brien, 45, of Waukee and Indianola, Iowa, a senior officer in the same unit who spent decades in service. He gave his life keeping our forces in Kuwait safe and Americans at home guarded.

I will say the name of every one of our fallen because every family represented here today, amongst my colleagues from each State where they grew, lived, and served, deserves to be honored by this Nation in our moment of national heartbreak.

Sergeant First Class Nicole Amor, 39, of White Bear Lake, Minnesota.

Captain Cody Khork, 35, of Winter Haven, Florida.

Sergeant First Class Noah Tietjens, 42, of Bellevue, Nebraska.

Chief Warrant Officer 3 Robert Marzan, 54, of Sacramento, California.

Out of grief, we renew our resolve. Out of loss, we strengthen our unity, and out of sacrifice, we carry forward an obligation to the families, to the survivors, to our Nation, and to every man and woman still standing the post today.

Mr. Speaker, I respectfully ask that the House now observe a moment of silence in honor of our fallen.

CALLING OUT ANTI-SEMITISM

(Mr. FINE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FINE. Mr. Speaker, it is easy to criticize anti-Semitism when it happens on the other side. It is more difficult to address it when it happens on your own.

It was not enough for Tucker Carlson to, a few days ago, say that every Jew should have to do a DNA test to prove that they were Jewish. It was not enough for him to say that a terrorist should be able to kill us if they are under 18 years old.

Yet, yesterday, Tucker Carlson attacked perhaps the best and the most good group of Jews who are out there, a group of people who see their job to evangelize not other Jews but Jews themselves, Chabad—a group that no one ever has anything bad to say about because they care about everyone.

I wear a kippah from UF Chabad today in honor of them.

We have a cancer in this country. It is anti-Semitism, and Tucker Carlson represents it. He is many things, but one thing President Trump and I agree on is that he is certainly not MAGA.

NOT VOTING—2

Gonzales, Tony      Jackson (IL)

□ 1650

So the bill was passed.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

AUTHORIZING THE CLERK TO MAKE CORRECTION IN ENGROSSMENT OF H.R. 6392, HOME SCHOOL GRADUATION RECOGNITION ACT

Mr. WALBERG. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that, in the engrossment of H.R. 6392, the Clerk be directed to make the correction I have placed at the desk.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the change.

The Clerk read as follows:

On page 3, line 15, strike "this Act" and insert "this title".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Michigan?

There was no objection.

AUTHORIZING THE CLERK TO MAKE CORRECTIONS IN ENGROSSMENT OF H.R. 7744, FURTHER ADDITIONAL CONTINUING APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2026

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that, in the engrossment of H.R. 7744, the Clerk be authorized to make technical corrections in spelling, punctuation, section numbering and cross-referencing, and the insertion of appropriate headings.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma?

□ 1700

HONORING THOSE KILLED IN IRAN

(Ms. DEAN of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. DEAN of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, President Trump has launched us into a war of choice with Iran, with no clear explanation. Yet we know some of the consequences. Six U.S. servicemembers have been killed, dozens injured. More than 40,000 of our troops, including hundreds of Pennsylvanians, are at risk. Thousands of American citizens are stranded.

I do not mourn the loss of Ayatollah Khamenei. Yet I am greatly concerned about the danger and destruction that Mr. Trump has unleashed in the Middle East.

Abraham Lincoln wrote that our Founders resolved to so frame the Constitution that no one man should hold the power to bring oppression of war upon our Nation.

That power lies with Congress because we are closest to the people, and it is why I voted today in favor of the War Powers Resolution.

Mr. Speaker, I lift the names of our fallen soldiers. Just as our colleagues did a moment ago, I lift their names in prayer: Captain Cody Khork, Sergeant First Class Nicole Amor, Sergeant First Class Noah Tietjens, Sergeant Declan Coady, Major Jeffrey O'Brien, and Chief Warrant Officer Robert Marzan.

God bless them, and God bless their families.

CELEBRATING EZRA AND CLEO TEETERS

(Mr. TAYLOR asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Ezra and Cleo Teeters from Waverly, Ohio. Ezra and Cleo represent an extraordinary love story that spans more than eight decades.

Ezra and Cleo met as children, growing up in the same neighborhood and sharing the same bus ride. Their life has been full of love and amazing memories as together they have one son, two grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Their marriage began in the middle of a snowstorm. During the Christmas season of 1945, when Ezra was on leave from his service in the Army in World War II, Ezra and Cleo drove across the Ohio border into Kentucky to get married at the age of 19. Ezra and Cleo kept this secret, telling everyone they were going Christmas shopping, but really they were going to get married.

This year, both Ezra and Cleo will celebrate their 100th birthdays. I wish them continued health and congratulate them on their amazing life that they have shared together over the past eight decades.

RECOGNIZING DEANNA LEWIS

(Mrs. GRIJALVA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. GRIJALVA. Mr. Speaker, as we begin Women's History Month, I rise to recognize a true leader from southern Arizona, Deanna Lewis.

In 1984, Deanna became the first woman and the first Black woman to serve in the Tucson Fire Department. In a profession where few women had previously worked, she stepped forward anyway, not to make history but to protect and care for her community.

Over a 20-year career in the fire departments of both Tucson and Tubac, Deanna demonstrated strength, integrity, and a deep commitment to southern Arizona families. Because of her, more women now see themselves in uniform, in leadership, and in public service.

This Women's History Month, we honor Deanna Lewis for her trailblazing leadership and recommit ourselves to building a future where every young woman, whether she dreams of fighting fires or serving in the Halls of Congress, knows there is a place for her.

RECOGNIZING JEN WOMACK

(Ms. HAGEMAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. HAGEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize and congratulate Jen Womack of Newcastle, Wyoming, for being named the 2025 Person of the Year by the Newsletter Journal.

Jen has long been a cornerstone of both her Newcastle community and our State. People may know her name from her time diligently reporting for the Wyoming Livestock Roundup, the extensive work she has done to document history in both Converse County and the history of the origins of the Pathfinder Ranch, or from the impacts she made on so many of our young people during her time leading the Wyoming FFA Foundation.

She has now opened three thriving businesses on Main Street in Newcastle and has established a community support fund called the Sunshine Fund.

Jen is like a rising tide who lifts her community and her neighbors. She represents all that is great about the Cowboy State and truly embodies the tight-knit community spirit found across Wyoming.

Please join me in recognizing and celebrating the accomplishments of Newcastle, Wyoming's Jen Womack.

COSTS OF THE WAR IN IRAN

(Mr. VINDMAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. VINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, much has been said about the President's war in Iran. He has not made the case clear to the American people about what he is looking to achieve.

Regime change from the air may be unlikely and may result in a more extreme, hostile, and dangerous regime than existed before. All of that is true, but what is truly unacceptable is the cost, both in American blood and American treasure.

We don't know yet the cost of the war but by some estimates it could cost as much as $1 billion a day. The President has said 4 to 6 weeks, and that translates to $28 to $42 billion. I have heard even more alarming reports from senior DOD officials earlier today. That money won't be spent on lowering working Americans' grocery bills, prescription drugs, and gas at the pump.

The most terrifying cost is the six Americans who have been killed, including one who is a constituent that lived in Spotsylvania, Virginia.

Yesterday, the Secretary of Defense said it is "tragic news" that is reported because the press only wants to make the President look bad. That is outrageous and beyond the pale. This is not about the President. It is not about the Secretary. It is about the servicemembers.

The American people are deeply concerned about our sons and daughters dying in a war that just 27 percent support.

REMEMBERING LOU HOLTZ

(Mr. STUTZMAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STUTZMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of legendary college football coach Lou Holtz, who passed away this week at the age of 89.

Over a truly remarkable 33-year coaching career, Coach Holtz won 249 games at football programs across the country.

Most of all, Coach Holtz is best remembered for restoring Notre Dame football to greatness. In 1988, he guided the Fighting Irish to a perfect 12-0 season and a national championship, cementing his place among the greatest leaders in the history of college football.

Coach Holtz's legacy goes far beyond wins and championships. He was known for his faith, his commitment to protecting life, and his ability to inspire young men to strive for excellence on and off the field. He was also an honorary trustee at Trine University in my district.

From humble beginnings in West Virginia to the College Football Hall of Fame, Lou Holtz embodied perseverance, discipline, and leadership.

Today, we remember a legendary coach who shaped the game of college football and the lives of countless players. May he rest in peace.