IMPOSITION OF MINIMUM BOND AS CONDITION OF RELEASE

Legal Authority: 8 USC 1103; 8 USC 1252; 8 USC 1254

CFR Citation: 8 CFR 3.1(b)(7); 8 CFR 242.2

Abstract: The proposed rule would revise the procedures relating to release of apprehended aliens. Release without bond would be authorized only for compelling interests of the government, and only by a district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Neither an Immigration Judge nor the Board of Immigration Appeals would have authority to release an alien without bond.

● SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO AIRCRAFT; DESIGNATION OF PORTS OF ENTRY FOR ALIENS ARRIVING BY CIVIL AIRCRAFT

Legal Authority: 8 USC 1103; 8 USC 1229

CFR Citation: 8 CFR 239.1; 8 CFR 239.2(a) & (b)

Abstract: The proposed rule would eliminate the current exemption of carrier liability for inspectional overtime of aircraft arriving on schedule where permission is granted to land at other than a designated international airport of entry between 5 p.m. and 8 a.m. It would place liability for payment of inspectional overtime on the benefiting user, not on the government.

● INSPECTION OF PERSONS APPLYING FOR ADMISSION; PREINSPECTION

Legal Authority: 8 USC 1103; 8 USC 1225

CFR Citation: 8 CFR 235.5(c)

Abstract: The proposed rule would shift the financial burden for excess costs relating to INS personnel at preclearance facilities from the United States government to the benefiting carriers. These excess costs would include such items as quarters, post-of-duty differentials, and transportation of family members and household effects.

● NONIMMIGRANT CLASSES; EXTENSIONS OF STAY FOR CERTAIN NONIMMIGRANT CLASSIFICATIONS

Legal Authority: 8 USC 1103; 8 USC 1184

CFR Citation: 8 CFR 214.2

Abstract: This final rule will improve the extension of stay rules for the E, J, and certain NATO nonimmigrant classifications by allowing the nonimmigrant to enter the United States for a longer period of time upon initial admission. This change should eliminate unnecessary extension of stay applications while still allowing for adequate control of these nonimmigrant groups.

Abstract: This regulation was previously under review. However, the review has been completed and it has been determined that rulemaking be proposed. The regulation will simplify the hearing and appeal procedure which is statutorily required by Title I of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act. There should be some small savings in the review process.

Semiannual Agenda of Regulations

AGENCY: Office of the Secretary, Labor.

ACTION: Semiannual agenda of regulations selected for review or development.

SUMMARY: This document sets forth the Department's Semiannual Agenda of Regulations which have been selected for review or development during the coming one year period. The agenda complies with the requirements of both Executive Order 12291 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

DATES: The agenda includes all regulations which are expected to be under review or development between October 1984 and October 1985.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Roland G. Droitsch, Acting Deputy Assistant Secretary for Policy, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Policy, Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW, Room S2233, Washington, D.C. 20210, (202) 523-9058.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Executive Order 12291 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act require the semiannual publication in the Federal Register of an agenda of regulations.

Executive Order 12291 became effective February 17, 1981, and in substance requires the Department of Labor to publish an agenda, listing all the regulations it expects to have under active consideration for promulgation, proposal or review during the coming one year period. It also requires the Department to conduct a Regulatory Impact Analysis for all "major" regulations being developed.

The Regulatory Flexibility Act became effective on January 1, 1981. It applies only to regulations for which a notice of proposed rulemaking was issued on or after January 1, 1981, and requires the Department of Labor to publish an agenda, listing all the regulations it expects to propose or promulgate that are likely to have a "significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities" (5 U.S.C. 602). For any regulation that will have this impact, the Department must conduct a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis to gauge the economic consequences of the rule, and to analyze the availability of more flexible approaches for lightening the rule's regulatory burden on "small entities."

If a proposed regulation will not have a "significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities," the Department of Labor must publish a certification to that effect at the time of the general notice of proposed rulemaking or at the time of the publication of the final rule. That certification must be accompanied by a succinct statement explaining the reasons for the agency's determinations.

As permitted by law, the Department of Labor is combining in this publication its agendas under the Regulatory Flexibility Act and Executive Order 12291.

The regulatory reform process, of which the unified agenda is a part, continues to be an extremely valuable aid in the development of better regulations by the Department. We believe that our regulatory reform program has resulted in improved regulatory management, more clearly written regulations and significantly less burdensome regulations.

Further improvement is certainly needed, and we are constantly seeking new and innovative approaches in pursuit of this goal. All interested members of the public are invited and encouraged to let Departmental Officials know how our regulatory reform process can be further improved and, of course, to participate in and comment on the review or development of the regulations listed on the agenda.

The Department of Labor's next semiannual agenda, under Executive Order 12291 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act, will be published in April 1985.

Raymond J. Donovan,

Secretary of Labor.

Abstract: These regulations will implement the Debt Collection Act of 1982 (PL 97-365). The Debt Collection Act gives Federal Agencies new tools to collect on debts owed to the United States. These include the authority for Federal Agencies to disclose the existence and amount of delinquent debts to a consumer reporting agency; to collect a debt by means of an administrative offset; and to charge interest, assess penalties and recover administrative charges to delinquent debts. These regulations establish the policies and procedures the Labor Department will employ to implement the foregoing Debt Collection Act tools. The Labor Department's rules are in conformance with the Federal claims collection standards, issued jointly by the Department of Justice and the General Accounting Office.

Abstract: The proposed regulation describes procedures relevant to appeals under the Service Contract Act for a new Board of Service Contract Appeals. The existing regulation is related to 29 CFR Part 4, which was published on 10/27/83 (48 FR 49736). A 30-day extension changing the effective date from 12/27/83 until 1/27/84 was published on 12/22/83 (48 FR 56577), and effective on 01/27/84 (48 FR 56577). On 01/19/81 a notice withdrawing Part 8 was published (46 FR 4951) because 29 CFR Part 6, containing a new Subpart F (published 01/16/81; 46 FR 4398), provided for appeals to the Secretary on SCA matters instead of a Board. Final action on 29 CFR 6 was deferred in response to the 01/29/81 Presidential memorandum until 08/14/81. At that time, the Department again proposed a new Part 8 providing appeal to a Board of Service Contract Appeals rather than to the Secretary.

Abstract: These provisions contain OFCCP's rules covering nondiscrimination and affirmative action obligations of covered contractors under EO 11246, the Vietnam Era Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974, the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and Section 481 of the Job Training and Partnership Act. The rules would be revised to make them more cost effective, reduce paperwork burdens and assure that contractors may always hire the best qualified person regardless of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. Proposed changes to the regulations were published in the Federal Register on 12/28/79 and 02/22/80, and a final rule on these issues was published on 12/30/80 (45 FR 86215). The rule was

An ANPRM was published on 07/14/81 (46 FR 36213) and supplemented on 08/21/81 (46 FR 42490) to elicit comments on several issues pertaining to the regulation. A notice of proposed rulemaking was published on 08/25/81 (46 FR 42968) with comments due by 10/26/81. The proposal suspended the effective date of the 12/30/80 regulation, and proposed revision of that regulation. A final rule will be (cont)

Abstract: This proposal would make the definition section of these regulations consistent with 1978 amendments to the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Vietnam Era Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act, and conform these rules to changes in DOL's regulations implementing Sec 504 of the Rehabilitation Act. These provisions reflecting statutory changes have been incorporated into the 08/25/81 "main" OFCCP proposal (46 FR 42968).

Legal Authority: 33 USC 939(b)

Abstract: The low volume of cases received under the Longshore Act and its extensions did not justify maintaining separate longshore district offices for the disposition of cases in the Denver and Kansas City regions. Therefore, these offices were closed and their workloads transferred to the Seattle and Chicago district offices, respectively. This rule would formalize these changes by making a technical amendment to 20 CFR 702.101 redefining the jurisdictions of the four affected district offices.

Abstract: 5 USC 8103(a) of the Federal Employees' Compensation Act provides that the United States shall furnish a broad range of medical services and supplies to employees of the United States injured in the performance of duty. ESA proposes to exercise its statutory authority to define the "reasonableness" of medical service costs and thereby monitor, and possibly reduce, these costs by imposing a schedule of allowable fees to be paid for services under this law. Legal Authority: 5 USC 8101 et seq

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 10.1 et seq

Abstract: This proposal would revise the Federal Employees' Compensation Act regulations to (1) increase the ability of employing agencies to monitor the Act's continuance of pay (COP) provisions; (2) reduce the period for using up the remainder of the 45-day COP eligibility when there is a recurrence of a disability subsequent to a first return to work from six months to 90 days from the date of return to work; (3) require partially disabled employees to report on their efforts to find work; (4) reduce the number of internal body organs that are included in the list of schedule awards payable to employees who suffer a loss or loss of use of such organs; (5) make other modifications designed to provide consistent rationale for the payment of benefits; and (6) incorporate procedures for giving full due process in overpayment cases before recoupment.

Abstract: These regulations govern labor standards applicable to Federally funded or assisted construction contracts subject to the Davis-Bacon and Related Acts, and contracts subject to the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act. The existing regulations were targeted for review by the President's Task Force on Regulatory Relief. An ANPRM was published 08/14/81 (46 FR 41444), with comments due by 10/13/81, resulting from DOL's reexamination of rules previously published 01/16/81 (46 FR 4306, 4308) and subsequently stayed. A final rule was published 05/28/82 (47 FR 23644-79) but was deferred on 07/26/82 (47 FR 32070) in order to comply with a preliminary injunction issued on 07/22/82 in the U.S. District Court. On December 23, 1982, the court permanently enjoined certain provisions of the 05/28/82 final rules. The Department appealed, and on 04/29/83 (48 FR 19532) published the unenjoined provisions of the 05/28/82 final rules. The enjoined sections were deferred pending final conclusion of all appeals. 11. EMPLOYMENT OF FULL-TIME STUDENTS AT SUBMINIMUM WAGES (ESA/W-H)

Priority: Task Force

Legal Authority: 29 USC 214

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 519

Abstract: This regulation governs the issuance of certificates authorizing the employment of full time students at subminimum wages. Under this proposal the regulation would be revised to permit the issuance of certificates authorizing employment of full time students at subminimum wages for periods longer than the current one year duration. By eliminating unnecessary annual certifications, this change would free significant staff capacity within Wage/Hour for more important work, including workplace inspection and reduce a paperwork burden upon employers. The existing regulation was targeted for review by the President's Task Force on Regulatory Relief. The Wage and Hour Division plans to publish a new proposed revision by 06/00/85, which will supersede the 07/16/82 proposal.

12. EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS BETWEEN FOURTEEN AND SIXTEEN YEARS OF AGE (CHILD LABOR REGULATION NUMBER THREE) (ESA/W-H)

Priority: Task Force

Legal Authority: 29 USC 203

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 570

Abstract: This regulation sets forth the occupations and periods and conditions for the employment of minors 14 and 15 years of age. A number of changes are being considered which would update the provisions of this regulation which have not been changed since 1938. As proposed, the regulation would (1) expand permissible hours of work, (2) tighten employment restrictions in certain occupations such as those involving work near open flames, and (3) remove employment restrictions where no hazard is deemed to exist. The proposals are intended to provide a balanced approach to rationalizing the regulations in light of current employment conditions. The regulation was targeted for review by the President's Task Force on Regulatory Relief. The Wage and Hour Division plans to publish a new proposed revision by 06/00/85, which will supersede the 07/16/82 proposal.

14. GENERAL REGULATIONS UNDER THE WALSH-HEALEY PUBLIC CONTRACTS ACT

Legal Authority: 41 USC 38; 41 USC 40

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 50-201.101(a)(2)(xi)

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act regulations to provide an alternative regular dealer definition applicable to dealers in specialty advertising products who bid on contracts subject to the Act. Current regulations provide, in part, that the stock maintained by a regular dealer must be "a true inventory from which sales are made." The proposed rule would modify this requirement with respect to regular dealers in specialty advertising products to conform with the practice in that industry of maintaining minimal inventories. The proposed definition would relieve potential contractors in this industry from having to maintain stock in a manner which is inconsistent with industry practice, alleviate Federal procurement problems resulting from a lack of qualified bidders, as well as encourage more competition in this area. On 05/30/84, a notice of proposed rulemaking, allowing 30 days for public comment, was published in the Federal Register (49 FR 22502).

15. EMPLOYMENT OF HOMEWORKERS IN CERTAIN INDUSTRIES

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 211

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 530

Abstract: This regulation sets forth restrictions on industrial homework and governs the issuance of certificates authorizing the employment of homeworkers in certain industries, pursuant to Section 11 (d) of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA). As originally issued, these regulations restricted the employment of industrial homework in seven industries: knitted outerwear; women's apparel; jewelry; buttons and buckles; gloves and mittens; handkerchiefs; and embroideries. On March 27, 1984, the Department issued (49 FR 11792) a 120 day emergency temporary suspension on the ban on homework in the knitted outerwear industry. The ban had been removed by the Department on November 9, 1981 following extensive hearings and public comment. This action was subsequently upheld by the District Court for the District of Columbia. However, on appeal the ban was reimposed on February 29, 1984 by a mandate of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. On 05/08/84, the District Court ruled that the Department's emergency rule was invalid and ordered the Department to rescind the rule. On 05/24/84, the Department rescinded the emergency rule, and (cont)

On 03/27/84 the Department also published a proposed rule rescinding the ban on homework in the knitted outerwear industry. The period for public comment on the proposed rule was extended from 30 to 45 days (49 FR 17974). On 06/22/84, the Department reopened the comment period for 15 days in order to invite additional comments on alternatives to a total rescission of the ban on homework in the knitted outerwear industry, particularly on the alternative of licensing or registering of employers of homeworkers in that industry (49 FR 25641).

22. JOB TRAINING PARTNERSHIP ACT (JTPA)

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1781

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 60

Abstract: These regulations will implement Section 481 of the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA). This section titled, Training to Fulfill Affirmative Action, provides that contractors subject to the affirmative action obligations of the Executive Order may establish or participate in JTPA training programs which are designed to assist such contractors in meeting their affirmative action obligations. Contractors which have such training programs must continue to meet their affirmative action obligations, but they need only maintain an abbreviated affirmative action program. While the Act encourages contractors to establish or participate in JTPA training programs, it also provides an incentive for them to do so by relieving them of paperwork burdens necessitated by a full affirmative action program.

23. CLAIMS FOR COMPENSATION UNDER THE FEDERAL EMPLOYEES' COMPENSATION ACT, AS AMENDED (ESA/OWCP)

Legal Authority: 5 USC 8101 et seq

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 10.137; 20 CFR 10.400 et seq

Abstract: The Department of Labor published on 10/18/83 proposed amendments to the regulations regarding administration of claims for compensation under the Federal Employees' Compensation Act (FECA) (48 FR 48249). The Department, having considered the comments received from the public, labor unions, and other Federal agencies, published final rules on 05/03/84, effective 07/02/84 (49 FR 18976). The chief objectives of these regulations are to (1) clarify the procedure injured Federal employees and the employing agencies should follow in seeking and obtaining authorized medical treatment for job-related injuries; (2) specifically define which physicians, hospitals, etc., may be authorized under the FECA to provide and obtain payment from the Government for medical care and services to injured Federal employees; and (3) establish a procedure for excluding physicians, hospitals, etc., from participating in the program and for denying payment to such persons out of the Employees' Compensation Fund.

24. RULES OF PRACTICE FOR ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEEDINGS: DAVIS-BACON, SERVICE CONTRACT ACTS (ESA/W-H)

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 40 USC 276a to 276a-7; 40 USC 327 to 332; 41 USC 353; 41 USC 354; 40 USC 276c; 5 USC Appendix Reorg Plan 14 of 1950

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 6

Abstract: The revisions to this part are intended to provide administrative hearings in enforcement cases and substantial interest proceedings involving the Davis-Bacon Act, the Service Contract Act and the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act, and substantial variance and arms-length hearings under the Service Contract Act. These revisions are designed to make such proceedings as uniform as possible. A proposal was published on 04/22/80. Final regulations were published on 01/16/81 (46 FR 4398), to take effect on 02/17/81. However, in response to the 01/81 Presidential memorandum, the Department deferred the effective date of these regulations until 08/14/81. On 08/14/81 (46 FR 41428), a proposed regulation was published with comments due by 10/13/81. In the same publication, the effective date of the 01/16/81 rule was deferred until action was taken on the proposal of 08/14/81. Final action on Davis-Bacon and Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act proceedings was published as Subpart B on 07/01/83 (48 FR 30602), to be effective 06/28/83, concurrent with the substantive provisions of 29 CFR Part 5 (48 FR 19540, 04/29/83). 27. AIRLINE DEREGULATION: EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PROGRAM

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1552; PL 95-504

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 638

Abstract: These regulations are being developed to implement the benefit provisions contained in Section 43 of the Airline Deregulation Act. The Act requires the Secretary of Labor to specify the percentage of prior salary which an "eligible protected employee" would receive as a benefit payment under the Act. An eligible protected employee is a person who has had at least 4 years of employment with a certificated air carrier as of October 24, 1978 and who loses his or her job during the ten years following such date in a bankruptcy or major employment contraction if and only if the Civil Aeronautics Board determines that the principal causes of such job loss was deregulation. On May 17, 1984 the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia held that Section 43 of the Airline Deregulation Act was unconstitutional. Because Section 43 provides statutory authority for these regulations their development has been delayed pending the outcome of this litigation.

Legal Authority: PL 97-35, Sec 2406; PL 97-35, Sec 2407; PL 97-35, Sec 2408

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 608

Abstract: The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1981 amended the tax credit provisions of FUTA to authorize the placing of a "cap" on reductions in tax credits on a State-by-State basis in certain prescribed circumstances. The amendment requires these determinations to be made in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. The same Act also amended Title XII of the Social Security Act to assess interest on advances to States, the payment of which is prohibited from State unemployment funds. Legal Authority: PL 91-573, Title II; PL 96-499; PL 96-364; PL 97-35; PL 98-21

Abstract: These regulations would be amended to implement various statutory amendments of 1981, 1982, and 1983 to the Federal-State Extended Unemployment Compensation Act of 1970. The regulations would (1) provide for the denial of extended benefits to certain interstate claimants and to individuals who fail to actively engage in seeking work or refuse to accept an offer of suitable work, (2) provide for the purging of certain disqualifications in order to establish eligibility for extended benefits, and (3) establish the method of determining the rate of insured unemployment for extended benefit claims, the State trigger rates and removal of the National trigger.

30. TRADE ADJUSTMENT ASSISTANCE: BENEFIT PAYMENTS

Legal Authority: 19 USC 2320

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 635

Abstract: These regulations would implement the 1981 and 1984 amendments to the Trade Act of 1974. The Trade Adjustment Assistance program provides adjustment assistance in the form of reemployment services, training, job search, relocation allowances, and cash benefits (adjustment assistance) to workers whose unemployment is linked to increased imports of foreign-made products. The amendments represent a fundamental shift in program emphasis from income maintenance to placement and employment services and benefits such as training, job search and relocation. The 1981 amendments are designed to assure that adjustment assistance and reemployment services are more appropriately targeted to trade impacted workers with emphasis placed on their return to work. The 1984 amendments will enable impacted workers to collect 26 weeks of additional IRA while in training beginning with the first week of training if that training has not been approved until after the last week of entitlement to basic IRA. Also, allowances for job search and relocation have been increased. These changes would be published under 20 CFR 635 and such (cont)

32. ● UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE QUALITY CONTROL PROGRAM

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 42 USC 501 et seq

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Abstract: The Employment and Training Administration (ETA) is designing a quality control (QC) program for the State Employment Security Agency (SESA) Unemployment Insurance (UI) system. The President's Fiscal Year (FY) 1985 Budget includes provision for a UI QC program. The establishment of a UI QC program is a major initiative of the Secretary of Labor to reduce administrative errors and claimant abuse in the UI system. The ETA is proposing to issue regulations to establish a permanent QC program in the SESA UI system.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: PL 98-369 Deficit Reduction Act of 1984, Sec. 2631 & 2634

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 56.20(b); 29 CFR 56.51(b)(1); 45 CFR 224.20(b); 45 CFR 224.51(b)(1)

Abstract: The law which prescribes various exemptions from registration for employment by AFDC applicants and recipients contains no exemption for women in the later stage of pregnancy when they are least employable. The amendment exempts women expecting to give birth in the month of registration or the next 3 months.

The law presently provides that where a child's caretaker is sanctioned for failure to participate in WIN, that person may not continue to receive the child's benefits which must be paid to a protective payee. This has been difficult to implement.

The amendment permits States to continue paying the sanctioned caretaker on behalf of a child but only after they have been unable to locate a suitable replacement and a delay will effect the child adversely.

Both revisions will conserve WIN staff time and program funds.

There is no notice of proposed rulemaking or NPRM comment period. This amendment is a conforming regulation and only paraphrases the statute Congress intended to be effective by October 1, 1984.

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1024; 29 USC 1030; 29 USC 1135

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2520

Abstract: ERISA and the regulations issued thereunder, require the administrator of an employee benefit plan, unless otherwise exempt, to file annual reports relating to the financial status and activities of the plan. Among other things, the annual report is required to include statements and schedules concerning the assets of the plan and transactions involving those assets. This regulation will provide an alternative method of compliance with the annual reporting requirements for certain employee benefit plans which invest in entities, the underlying assets of which constitute plan assets under the Department's "Plan Assets" regulation.

44. ● DEFINITION OF PLAN ASSETS -- EMPLOYEE CONTRIBUTIONS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1135

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2550

Abstract: This regulation would describe when monies paid to, or withheld by, an employer as contributions to an employee benefit plan are considered "Plan Assets" for purposes of Title I of ERISA and certain related provisions of the Internal Revenue Code. Proposed regulations dealing with this matter were published by the Department on August 28, 1979, and June 6, 1980.

45. ALTERNATE FORMAT OF THE UPDATED SUMMARY PLAN DESCRIPTION

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1024; 29 USC 1030; 29 USC 1135

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2520.104b.2

Abstract: The Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA) requires that every plan administrator provide plan participants and beneficiaries and the Department of Labor with a summary of plan provisions, known as the summary plan description (SPD). This regulation would provide an alternative with respect to the form the updated SPD may take and how it may be distributed.

Additional Information: On July 9, 1984 (49 FR 27954), the Department withdrew a proposed rule under ERISA which would have provided a plan administrator with an alternative means of complying with the statutory requirement to furnish an updated summary plan description to participants and beneficiaries at five year intervals for those plans which have adopted amendments during the five year period.

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1024; 29 USC 1029; 29 USC 1030; 29 USC 1135

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2520

Abstract: In regulations published in the Federal Register on July 23, 1982, plans were allowed to meet the distribution requirement for current employees by posting a copy of Form 5500-R (annual report) or a notice of its availability in years when the Form 5500-R was used as the annual report. This project would look at whether distribution to current employees by posting of the SAR or a notice of its availability should be allowed in all years and for all plans (not just small plans in years when the Form 5500-R is filed).

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1552; PL 95-504

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 220

Abstract: These regulations will implement the first right of hire provisions of the Airline Deregulation Act of 1978. Under the language of the Act relating to this duty to hire, each protected employee who is "furloughed or otherwise terminated" (except for cause) from his or her employment by a certificated air carrier between the date the Act was passed and October 24, 1988 "shall have first right of hire, regardless of age, in his occupational specialty" by any covered carrier hiring "additional employees," with the sole exception that covered carriers are entitled to recall furloughed employees before hiring a protected individual. Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 30 USC 811

CFR Citation: 30 CFR 70; 30 CFR 71; 30 CFR 75; 30 CFR 77

Abstract: MSHA plans to review these standards to: (1) clarify and update existing standards; (2) eliminate unnecessary standards; (3) reduce recordkeeping burdens on the industry; and (4) incorporate technological advances. MSHA has initiated a review of all safety standards for underground coal mines. Legal Authority: 30 USC 811

CFR Citation: 30 CFR 70; 30 CFR 71; 30 CFR 90

Abstract: This proposal would amend MSHA's coal mine respirable dust regulations to permit miners' representatives to participate in the dust sampling process for underground and surface miners and for miners who have evidence of pneumoconiosis. Since the proposal, MSHA has revised all of its coal mine respirable dust sampling procedures to simplify and improve the dust sampling process. MSHA will evaluate all of the comments and testimony on the proposal within the context of the new dust program to determine appropriate regulatory action. At this time, MSHA does not anticipate further rulemaking action during 1984.

69. PATTERN OF VIOLATIONS

Legal Authority: 30 USC 814(e); 30 USC 957

CFR Citation: 30 CFR 104

Abstract: The Mine Act provides for closure under certain conditions, of mines having a pattern of serious violations until the mine is completely free of such violations. The proposed regulation would set forth criteria for determining if a "pattern of violations" exists. Since the proposal was published, the statutory concept of "significant and substantial violations" (S&S) has been redefined by the Federal Mine Safety and Health Review Commission. Because the definition of these violations is a critical element in this rulemaking, MSHA is re-evaluating its current policy on S&S violations to determine an appropriate course of regulatory action.

70. CONSTRUCTION WORK AT SURFACE AREAS OF MINES: SAFETY, HEALTH STANDARDS

Legal Authority: 30 USC 811(a)(8)

CFR Citation: 30 CFR 110

Abstract: This rule would set forth minimum safety and health requirements for construction workers at surface areas of mines. Since the ANPRM, rulemaking has subsequently been affected by legislative actions which limit MSHA's jurisdiction over certain construction activities at surface mines. In addition, several legislative proposals have been introduced which would permanently affect MSHA's jurisdiction over these activities. MSHA has decided to defer further rulemaking until a more definitive position has been reached with respect to MSHA's jurisdiction over surface construction.

Legal Authority: 5 USC 301; 40 USC 486(c); 41 USC 401; EO 12352

CFR Citation: 48 CFR 29

Abstract: Acquisition policies and procedures of the Federal Government have been developed in the past with little regard to uniformity among agencies. The result of this was a wide range of different procurement policies which caused contractors considerable confusion. The Office of Federal Procurement Policy, working with other agencies and the public, developed a uniform and simplified procurement regulation known as the Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) which became effective April 1, 1984. However, because the FAR does not contain all the procedural details for implementing specific policies, agencies are authorized to issue their own supplementary regulations. The Department of Labor Acquisition Regulation is being issued to implement the FAR where required and to supplement the FAR, with policies unique to DOL in areas where there is no FAR coverage. The DOLAR implements the FAR to the extent necessary incorporating public comments where appropriate, without duplicating, paraphrasing or contradicting the FAR. 77. ENFORCEMENT OF NONDISCRIMINATION ON THE BASIS OF HANDICAP IN DEPARTMENT OF LABOR PROGRAMS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 794

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 33

Abstract: Before the 1978 Amendments to Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Congress had not held Federal Agencies to the same standard of accessibility to which recipients of Federal assistance were held. This proposed regulation would not require DOL to take any action when it can demonstrate that taking such action would result in a fundamental alteration in the nature of a program or activity or in undue financial and administrative burdens. This regulation would require, however, that persons with handicaps, who are eligible for and who can achieve the purpose of a federally-conducted program or activity, be allowed access to that program or activity. Effective communication would also be required with applicants, participants, personnel, and members of the public that have impaired vision or hearing.

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1910.1450

Abstract: Existing OSHA standards are designed to protect employees who are engaged in work involving exposure to only a few toxic chemicals during relatively standardized, continuous or repetitive processes. In contrast, laboratory workers are exposed to a multitude of toxic substances under frequently changing or unpredictable conditions. OSHA will examine whether prudent work practices and protective equipment, chosen for the specific facility and task, are more effective, feasible and economical for laboratory work than adhering to OSHA's current substance-specific exposure standards.

81. CARCINOGEN POLICY

Priority: Major, Task Force

Legal Authority: 29 USC 653; 29 USC 655; 29 USC 657

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1990

Abstract: The Carcinogen Policy describes the criteria and procedures OSHA will use to identify, classify, and then regulate carcinogens. The Policy also establishes a process for screening chemicals and for setting priorities for potential rulemaking activities. The validity of the scientific criteria set forth in the policy and the cost-effectiveness of the rule are being reexamined. The original standard was issued in 1980 before the Supreme Court "benzene" decision on significant risk. Thereafter, a final rule deleting provisions of the Carcinogen Policy that were inconsistent with the benzene decision was published on 01/19/81 (46 FR 4889). A proposal was published on 01/23/81 (46 FR 7402) to permit alternatives to the risk analysis section of the carcinogen policy to be addressed. The proposal was withdrawn on 03/27/81 (46 FR 19000). An advance notice of proposed rulemaking was published on 01/05/82 (47 FR 187) with comments due by 04/05/82. That document also proposed to stay the publication of the candidate and priority lists. The final stay was published on 01/04/83 (48 FR 241). As part of its evaluation of the policy, OSHA is reviewing the public comments received in response (Cont)

82. COTTON DUST

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1910.1043

Abstract: The standard, issued in 1978, has been legally challenged and stayed as it applies to certain industries. In addition, where the standard is in effect, there have been problems with the device that is used to measure cotton dust. Further, control methods specified by the standard may not be cost effective. There is also question about the demonstration of a significant risk of disease in some of the industry sectors covered by the standard. Data are now being collected to determine how and to what extent the rule should be revised. Two ANPRMs have been published: 03/31/81 (46 FR 19501) and 02/09/82 (47 FR 5906). The second ANPRM modified and expanded the issues set forth in the first ANPRM. On 08/13/82 (47 FR 35255) OSHA proposed to stay enforcement of the current standard for knitting operations. The comment period on the proposed stay ended 09/13/82. A notice of final decision on the stay was published 02/04/83 (48 FR 5267). A proposal to revise the standard for cotton dust was published 06/10/83 (48 FR 26962). Public hearings were held during September and October 1983 in various locations.

83. ETHYLENE OXIDE (ETO)

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1910.1047

Abstract: OSHA has amended its standard for occupational exposure to ethylene oxide. The new standard establishes a permissible exposure limit of 1 part ethylene oxide (Et0) per million parts of air and requires, among other things, personal protective equipment, exposure measurement, training, medical surveillance, signs and labels, and recordkeeping. The basis for this action is OSHA's determination that exposure to Et0 presents a carcinogenic, mutagenic, genotoxic, reproductive, neurologic and sensitization hazard to workers. A proposed standard for Et0 was published 04/21/83 (48 FR 17284). Informal public hearings were held 07/19/83 to 07/28/83. The final standard was published on 06/22/84 (49 FR 25734). OSHA did not make a final determination concerning whether a short term exposure limit (STEL) should be included in the final standard for Et0 in the 06/22/84 publication. OSHA has requested that various individuals and organizations having expertise on issues associated with the STEL submit comments, analysis and criticism to OSHA. OSHA intends to publish a reasoned decision on the STEL in December 1984.

Abstract: The present respiratory protection standards have been in place for 10 years and do not take into consideration the current state-of-the-art for respiratory protection. In addition, the general industry standard for respirators contains redundancies and includes several advisory provisions which should be eliminated or changed. OSHA is reviewing the standard and intends to propose revisions following its analysis of the standard and other comments and information received.

85. ETHYLENE DIBROMIDE (EDB)

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1910.1048

Abstract: On 12/18/81 (46 FR 61671) OSHA published an ANPRM announcing its intention to consider revising the current standard regulating occupational exposure to ethylene dibromide. Recent scientific studies have reported that EDB caused cancer when administered orally, by inhalation and by skin application in laboratory rats and mice. In addition, other studies have shown EDB to be a mutagen, teratogen and testicular toxin in experimental animals. On the basis of these reports, OSHA has determined that its current permissible exposure limit of 20 ppm does not provide exposed workers adequate protection against cancer and other adverse health effects. A proposed new standard for EDB was published 10/07/83 (48 FR 45956).

86. LEAD - RECONSIDERATION OF WHOLE STANDARD

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1910.1025

Abstract: The current standard for occupational exposure to lead was promulgated in 1978. It sets a PEL of 50 micrograms of lead per cubic meter of air (50 ug/m3), and requires the use of feasible engineering or workpractice controls. There are serious questions concerning significant risk, feasibility and cost-effectiveness of the standard in certain industries; therefore, OSHA has announced its intention to review and reconsider the regulation. The ANPRM asked for comment on such issues as economic and technological feasibility, and cost-effectiveness.

87. LEAD - COVERAGE OF THE STEVEDORING INDUSTRY

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1910.1025

Abstract: Circumstances unique to the stevedoring industry may make the application of the OSHA Lead Standard, in its present form, inappropriate. Therefore, OSHA has proposed to exempt this industry or to administratively stay application of the entire standard to this industry while the Agency examines (1) whether the stevedoring industry should be subject to this, or any lead standard and (2) if the industry should be subject to a different lead standard, what form that standard should take. This action has been combined with RIN 1218-AA11 and publication of action on this item will occur at the time action is taken on item AA11.

88. ACCESS TO EMPLOYEE EXPOSURE AND MEDICAL RECORDS

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b); 29 USC 657

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1910.20

Abstract: The regulation, promulgated in May, 1980 (45 FR 35212), requires employers to preserve and maintain exposure and medical records pertinent to an employee's occupational exposure to toxic substances, and to assure access to these records by employees, designated employee representatives, and OSHA. OSHA has reviewed the regulation and has proposed certain modifications including revision of the definitions of "toxic substance" and "exposure records", changes in the scope and application of the regulation and additional trade secret protection provisions.

89. ASBESTOS

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b); 40 USC 333

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1910.1001

Abstract: OSHA has announced its intention to revise this standard because data indicate that the present OSHA permissible exposure limit (PEL) may not adequately protect workers from asbestos-related diseases. The revision will include a change in the PEL and other appropriate modifications. On November 4, 1983, OSHA published an Emergency Temporary Standard (48 FR 51086) which immediately reduced the PEL to 0.5 fibers/cc. The ETS was challenged in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 5th Circuit, and was stayed pending judicial review on 11/23/83. The review was completed on 3/7/84. At that time the Appeals Court held the ETS to be invalid and ordered enforcement of the ETS permanently stayed. OSHA has published a proposal to revise the current standard on 04/10/84 (49 FR 4116). Public hearings were held in June 1984. OSHA is currently reviewing the information received during the hearing.

90. METHODS OF COMPLIANCE

Priority: Major, Task Force

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1910.1000(e); 29 CFR 1910.134(a)(1)

Abstract: OSHA is reviewing its policy relating to the use of engineering controls and respirators for air contaminants. Current OSHA standards require that employers implement feasible engineering controls to maintain air contaminant concentrations in the workplace to within the prescribed permissible exposure limits. The use of respirators is permitted only in those cases where engineering controls are not feasible, are not yet installed or are not adequate. This policy has been criticized as being too inflexible, not cost-effective and often unnecessary for health protection. OSHA intends to perform a careful review of the relevant issues and to consider, as a first action, the possible revision of two standards, 29 CFR 1910.1000(e) Air Contaminants and 29 CFR 1910.134(a)(1) Respiratory Protection. OSHA's policy for the use of engineering controls and respirators was targeted for review by the President's Task Force on Regulatory Relief.

OSHA is taking this action in compliance with an order of the District Court for the District of Columbia and a negotiated settlement with the Migrant Legal Action Program which requires the Agency to make a good faith effort to complete a field sanitation standard or to publish a determination that no such standard is needed.

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Abstract: OSHA is joining with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to solicit additional information concerning production and use of 4,4'-methylenedianiline (MDA), estimates of environmental and occupational exposure, and studies of the toxic and carcinogenic effects of MDA. The two agencies are concerned that the risks from exposure to MDA, a carcinogen in animals, may be significant; hence the agencies are joining together to explore regulatory options under their respective statutory authorities to reduce such risks. In order to conserve resources and avoid duplication of effort, OSHA has joined with EPA to establish a single docket of information on MDA.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655 (Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970); 33 USC 941 (Longshoremen's and Harborworkers Compensation Act)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1910.16, 29 CFR 1918, (Revision)

Abstract: The purpose of this regulatory action would be to update and revise a standard first issued in 1960. The current language in many instances addresses the hazards to cargo handling involving methods long since abandoned, and fails to address the serious hazards of newer methods. Because so much of the current standard is out of date, compliance is minimal. These revised guidelines will provide both employers and employees with a blueprint for effective and safe workpractices in the cargo handling industry.

No other alternative other than revision is contemplated. The current standard is too outdated to serve as a basis for increased consultation, training or education. The annual cost of the revision is expected to be minimal -- less than five million dollars.

Abstract: This proposal addresses various requirements in the General Industry standards (Part 1910) for either "safety testing" of certain workplace equipment and materials or the use of equipment/materials "certified for safety." It would include many self-regulatory and standards-developing efforts in the private sector and use already existing systems (in private sector or Government) for (1) the accreditation of testing laboratories and third-party certification programs, and (2) the certification for safety of workplace equipment. New Part 1936 would affect only applicants seeking system recognition by OSHA. New Part 1935 would contain those test methods/procedures already specified in OSHA standards or adopted through 6(b) rulemaking. Amended Part 1910 would (1) clarify employer responsibilities, (2) require valid test results or certifications, and (3) provide uniformity in OSHA terminology for several already-existing requirements and definitions. The remainder of Part 1907 would be revoked.

107. CRANE OR DERRICK SUSPENDED PERSONNEL PLATFORMS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1926.550(g)

Abstract: The use of cranes and derricks to suspend personnel in platforms is a hazardous operation that is not currently covered by OSHA Construction Standards. OSHA has issued administrative instructions on this practice, but this alternative to rulemaking has not been successful. This NPRM has been developed to reduce the number of accidents, many of which involve multiple fatalities, that result from equipment inadequacies and failures or improper work practices. Data to determine the potential costs and benefits from this rulemaking are currently being collected by OSHA's Office of Regulatory Analysis.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b)

Abstract: Standards for accident prevention tags, contained in 29 CFR Part 1910; Subpart J, would be revised to update existing criteria, and to provide more flexibility by correcting problems associated with the specificity of some of the existing requirements. The proposed revision would also recognize the use of symbols or pictographs rather than only written legends, and would ensure that tags are designed and used properly to enhance their function in identifying hazards to employees.

113. LOGGING

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1910.266, (Revision)

Abstract: Logging is a very hazardous industry. It has an incidence rate nearly twice that of manufacturing, and reflecting the seriousness of the injuries incurred, a lost workday rate nearly four times as high. The purpose of the standard will be to protect workers from the ever-present hazards of chain saw operation, falling objects (trees, branches), rolling or sliding logs, falls from trees, and materials handling accidents. At present there is no OSHA standard specifically applicable to logging in general. There is a standard, 29 CFR 1910.266, applicable only to pulpwood logging; however, pulpwood is logging estimated to account for less than half of the logging activity in the United States. Development of a national OSHA standard addressing all types of logging will provide coverage for those loggers not now protected. The new regulation will provide coverage where there is no approved state regulation and will set a minimum safety level for those states that chose to develop a state regulation.

114. CONTROL OF HAZARDOUS ENERGY SOURCES (LOCKOUT/TAGOUT)

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1910, (New)

Abstract: The proposed standard will fill a major gap in our current regulations which now depend for enforcement on the general duty clause 5(a)(1). It will apply to those situations where the unexpected energization, start up or the release of stored energy would cause injury to employees. Providing comprehensive and uniform control procedures is also expected to reduce significantly the potential for injury and death of employees because the hazards targeted for control exist in virtually every workplace. Further, the proposed standard will respond to the concerns of organized labor who petitioned OSHA in 1979 and again in 1982 for regulatory action to protect employees and to the American National Standards Institute's petition for OSHA to adopt its consensus standard ANSI Z244.1-1982. Regulatory options involve developing a comprehensive standard covering all potentially hazardous energy sources or limiting the scope and application to those certain machines or industries that are causing most of the injuries. The potential cost and benefits cannot be assessed until a regulatory impact analysis is conducted.

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1910.211, (Revision); 29 CFR 1910.217, (Revision)

Abstract: This regulatory action will remove an existing provision which prohibits Presence Sensing Device Initiation of Mechanical power presses, and will add provisions which will enable the Presence Sensing Device Initiation to be done safely. Presence Sensing Device Initiation has been identified as presenting potential increases in safety and productivity with an ergonomic advantage of less worker fatigue. A regulatory impact analysis is in progress.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b); 40 USC 333

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1926.1050 to 1926.1051

Abstract: The use of stairways and ladders during construction can be extremely hazardous for employees. OSHA presently has regulations covering the construction, use, and maintenance of stairways and ladders, used on construction worksites. However, this NPRM has been developed to streamline those requirements and to reduce the number of accidents that result from insufficient fall protection provisions. Data to determine the potential costs and benefits from this rulemaking are currently being collected and analyzed by OSHA's Office of Regulatory Analysis.

117. ELECTRIC POWER GENERATION, TRANSMISSION AND DISTRIBUTION

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655(b)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1910

Abstract: A major area of coverage not addressed in the current OSHA electrical standards for general industry (29 CFR 1910) involves the maintenance and operation practices associated with electrical transmission and distribution lines, substations and generating stations. It is intended that the proposed standard fill this void by establishing minimum requirements for electrical safety work practices for employees working on or near facilities whose purpose is the generation and distribution of electricity.

Legal Authority: 29 USC 655 (Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970); 33 USC 941 (Longshoremen's and Harborworkers Compensation Act)

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1915, (Recodification)

Abstract: The purpose of this action would be to place unrevised in Part 1915, all OSHA Part 1910 General Industry Standards that are not now located in Part 1915, but that relate to the work undertaken in shipyard employment, thereby creating a vertical standard.

The Action is essentially only bookkeeping, i.e., moving standards.

unchanged from one location in the CFR to another -- from Part 1910 to Part 1915. It can therefore be done without a proposed rule, and will be published as a final rule. It will end the long standing confusion over the application of OSHA standards to this industry among employers, employees, and OSHA compliance staff.

As these are existing standards, there are no potential costs. This inclusion project will be coordinated with the project designed to revise Part 1915.

LIST OF PUBLIC LAWS

Note: No public bills which have become law were received by the Office of the Federal Register for inclusion in today's List of Public Laws.

Last List October 16, 1984

CFR CHECKLIST

This checklist, prepared by the Office of the Federal Register, is published weekly. It is arranged in the order of CFR titles, prices, and revision dates.

An asterisk (*) precedes each entry that has been issued since last week and which is now available for sale at the Government Printing Office.

New units issued during the week are announced on the back cover of the daily Federal Register as they become available.

A checklist of current CFR volumes comprising a complete CFR set, also appears in the latest issue of the LSA (List of CFR Sections Affected), which is revised monthly.

The annual rate for subscription to all revised volumes is $550 domestic, $137.50 additional for foreign mailing.

Order from Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Charge orders (VISA, MasterCard, or GPO Deposit Account) may be telephoned to the GPO order desk at (202) 783-3238 from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. eastern time, Monday—Friday (except holidays).

Semiannual Agenda of Regulations and Regulatory Flexibility Agenda

AGENCY: Department of State.

ACTION: Publication of regulatory agenda.

SUMMARY: As required by Executive Order 12291 and OMB Bulletin No. 84-16, the October 1984 agenda of regulations of the Department of State is set forth below. The agenda also contains regulatory flexibility information required by the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980 (Pub. L. 96-354).

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: K. E. Malmborg, Assistant Legal Adviser for Management, Department of State, Room 4427A, 2201 C Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20520, telephone (202) 632-2350.

DATED: August 23, 1984.

Willard A. DePree,

Acting Under Secretary for Management.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE (STATE) — Current and Projected Rulemakings

FOREIGN MISSIONS ACT REGULATIONS

Legal Authority: 22 USC 4301 et seq; 22 USC 254(e)

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Abstract: The Foreign Missions Act creates certain authorities for the Secretary of State relating to the regulation of foreign missions, diplomatic, consular, and international organizations. Exercise of those authorities could involve restricting or controlling the access of such missions to American vendors of goods and services. Exercise of other authorities in the Foreign Missions Act could affect the location of premises of foreign missions. Exercise of authority in the Diplomatic Relations Act, 22 USC 254(a) et seq., as amended by Title VI of P.L. 98-164, will have an impact on the acquisition of liability insurance coverage for the operation of motor vehicles, vessels, and aircraft by personnel of foreign missions, and could in certain situations, subject foreign missions to surcharges or fees. The regulations under consideration would provide procedures for exercise of these authorities. These regulations are at the stage of preliminary consideration. No timetable has been established other than that established in Title VI of P.L. 98-164.

Department Regulations Agenda; Semiannual Summary

AGENCY: Department of Transportation.

ACTION: Department Regulations Agenda.

SUMMARY: The Regulations Agenda is a semiannual summary of all current and projected rulemakings, reviews of existing regulations and completed actions of the Department. These are matters on which action has begun or is projected during the succeeding twelve months or such longer period as may be anticipated, or for which action has been completed since the last Agenda. The Agenda provides the public with information about the Department of Transportation's regulatory activity. It is expected that this information will enable the public to be more aware of, and allow it to more effectively participate in, the Department's regulatory activity.

ADDRESSES: The mailing address for the initiating offices of the Department which appear in the Agenda are 400 Seventh Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590, except for the Federal Aviation Administration which is located at 800 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20591; the U.S. Coast Guard, which is located at 2100 Second Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20593; and the Saint Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, which is located at 400 Seventh Street, S.W., Box 44090, Washington, D.C. 20026-4090.

Background

Improvement of government regulations is a prime goal of the Reagan Administration. There should be no more regulations than necessary, and those that are issued should be simpler, more comprehensible, and less burdensome. Regulations should not be issued without appropriate involvement of the public; once issued, they should be periodically reviewed and revised, as needed, to assure that they continue to meet the needs for which they orginally were designed.

To help the Department of Transportation ("Department") achieve these goals, and in accordance with Executive Order 12291 ("Federal Regulation"; 46 FR 13193; February 19, 1981) and the Department's Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979), the Department prepares a semiannual Regulations Agenda for publication in the Federal Register. The Agenda summarizes all current and projected rulemaking, reviews of existing regulations and completed actions of the Department. These are matters on which action has begun or is projected during the succeeding twelve months or such longer period as may be anticipated or for which action has been completed since the last Agenda.

The Agendas are based on reports submitted by the initiating offices in January and July each year. After these reports are consolidated for, and reviewed by, the Department Regulations Council, the Department's Regulations Agenda is prepared and published in the Federal Register. The Department's last Agenda was published in the Federal Register on April 19, 1984 (49 FR 16074). The next one is scheduled for publication in the Federal Register in April 1985.

Regulatory Flexibility Act

In 1980, Congress passed the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA), Pub. L. 96-354, which requires the designation of those regulations for which a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis will be prepared, i.e., those regulations that would have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The heading "Small Entity" will indicate whether a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis is required by a "yes" or a "no." If a regulatory flexibility analysis will be prepared for a particular rulemaking, that fact also will be noted under the heading "Analysis."

The RFA also requires that each year the Department publish a list of those regulations that have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities and are to be reviewed under the Act during the succeeding twelve months. The Agenda includes those regulations to be reviewed under the RFA or those for which review has been concluded since the last Agenda. A "yes" or "no" will be found under the heading "small entity," for each such regulation. It should be noted, however, that after a preliminary assessment of the regulations listed for RFA review, it may be found that the regulations, in fact, do not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities and a full RFA review will be unnecessary.

Definitions

The Agenda covers all rules and regulations of the Department, including those that establish conditions for financial assistance. The following definitions are provided for ease in understanding the information in this document.

(1) Initiating office means an operating administration or other organizational element within the Department, the head of which is authorized by law or delegation to issue regulations or to formulate regulations for issuance by the Secretary.

(2) Significant regulation means a regulation that is not an emergency regulation and that in the judgment of the head of the initiating office, or the Secretary, or the Deputy Secretary

(a) Is a major regulation;

(b) Concerns a matter on which there is substantial public interest or controversy;

(c) Has a major impact on another operating administration or other parts of the Department or other Federal Agency;

(d) Has a substantial effect on State and local governments;

(e) Has a substantial impact on a major transportation safety problem;

(f) Initiates a substantial regulatory program or change in policy;

(g) Is substantially different from international requirements or standards; or

(h) Otherwise involves important Department policy.

(3) Major regulation means a significant regulation for which a Regulatory Impact Analysis is required to be prepared.

(4) Emergency regulation means (a) a regulation that, in the judgment of the head of the initiating office, circumstances require to be issued without notice and opportunity for public comment or made effective in less than 30 days after publication in the Federal Register; or (b) is governed by short-term statutory or judicial deadlines.

(5) Nonsignificant regulation means a regulation that, in the judgment of the head of the initiating office, is neither a significant nor an emergency regulation.

A preliminary and final Regulatory Impact Analysis is required for each proposed and final regulation, respectively that

(1) Is likely to result in:

(a) An annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more;

(b) A major effect on the general economy in terms of costs, consumer prices, or production;

(c) A major increase in costs or prices for consumers; individual industries; Federal, State, or local government agencies; or geographic regions;

(d) Significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets; or

(2) The Secretary or head of the initiating office determines deserves such an analysis.

Explanation of Information on the Agenda

The format for this Agenda is required by Office of Management and Budget Bulletin No. 84-7 (December 29, 1983).

First, the Agenda is divided by initiating offices. Then, in accordance with the OMB Bulletin, for each initiating office the Agenda is divided into three categories: (1) current and projected rulemakings, (2) reviews of existing regulations, and (3) completed actions. These categories are further subdivided into priority rulemakings (or regulations) and other rulemakings. Priority rulemakings are divided into major and non-major, with non-major including all significant rulemakings that do not require a regulatory impact analysis. The priority entries include those regulations that were designated for review by the Presidential Task Force on Regulatory Relief. The "other rulemakings" include all those defined by the Department as nonsignificant, including the routine and frequent rulemakings. For each entry, the Agenda provides the following information: (1) a short descriptive title; (2) the legal basis for the action being taken or the regulation being reviewed; (3) the related regulatory citation in the Code of Federal Regulations; (4) an abstract of the review or the proposed or final regulation; (5) a timetable, including the earliest expected date for a decision on whether to issue the proposed or final regulation, or complete the review and determine the corrective action to be taken. (The action taken can be revocation or revision of the regulation, or it can be a determination that no regulatory action is necessary because the regulation is found to be achieving its goals and the goals and objectives of Executive Order 12291 and the Department's Regulatory Policies and Procedures.); (6) a statement as to whether the Regulatory Flexibility Act applies because of the rulemaking's effect on small entities; (7) if there is information that does not fit in the other categories, it will be included under a separate heading, entitled "Additional Information"; (8) a listing of any analyses an initiating office will prepare or has prepared for the rulemaking document; e.g., a Regulatory Impact Analysis or Evaluation, an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS), a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis, or an Urban Impact Analysis. (It should be noted that, even though a Regulatory Impact Analysis is not required for some items on the Agenda, the Department requires an economic analysis for all of its regulations. This economic analysis is contained in the Regulatory Evaluation.); (9) an agency contact office or official who can provide further information, including advice on how to obtain documents referenced in the Agenda; and (10) a "RIN" number assigned solely to identify an individual action in the Agenda. Finally, for priority rulemakings, the method by which it was determined that the rulemaking was "priority" is also provided.

For nonsignificant regulations issued routinely and frequently as a part of an established body of technical requirements (such as the Federal Aviation Administration's Airspace Rules) to keep those requirements operationally current, only the general category of the regulations, the identity of a contact office or official, and an indication of the expected number of regulations are included; individual regulations are not listed.

If a regulatory docket number has already been established, it may be provided under the "Additional Information" heading. If a member of the public desires further information regarding a particular proposal or regulation, reference should be made to this docket number. The Federal Highway Administration also provides an FHPM number at this point for easier reference by those who use the Federal-aid Highway Program Manual (FHPM). The numbers following the FHPM represent, respectively, the volume, chapter, section and subsection at which the material is located in the FHPM.

In the "Timetable" column, abbreviations are used to indicate the particular documents being considered for issuance by that date. ANPRM stands for Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, SNPRM for Supplemental Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, NPRM for Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, and FR for Final Rule. Listing a future date in this column is not an indication that a proposal or a final rule will be issued on that date; it is the earliest date on which a decision is expected to be made on whether to issue the document listed. Submittal of any proposed or final rule to the Office of Management and Budget for review, under Executive Order 12291, must follow such a decision. For major rules, this review could take 60 days or more. If any document is issued, publication in the Federal Register would follow within a few days. In addition, these dates are based on current schedules. Subsequently received information could result in a decision not to take regulatory action or in changes to proposed publication dates. For example, the need for further evaluation could result in a later publication date; evidence of a greater need for the regulation could result in an earlier publication date.

It should be noted that some of the items on the Agenda result from programs that were established to review existing regulations and revoke or revise those regulations that the initiating office determined were not achieving their intended purpose. Projects under regulatory development that resulted from a review of existing regulations to determine whether they should be revoked or revised are preceded by the word "Review" in the "Title" column. Because some reviews can be large-scale undertakings, and because there are already a number of these in the regulatory development process, the Department thought it would provide the public with valuable information if it indicated not only which regulatory reviews are under consideration but also which reviews have now reached the stage where proposed revisions are being, or have been, prepared. The number of regulatory projects that an initiating office can handle is limited by available resources. Therefore, the number of projects in the regulatory development stage may limit the number of reviews that can be added.

General

To allow for easier use of the Agenda and for quick comparison with earlier Agendas, the Department has instituted the following additional procedures in the Agenda: (1) Items listed on the Agenda retain the same order in each semiannual publication. If subheadings are used within an initiating office's listing, then the same order is retained within each subheading. (2) New items generally are added at the end of the appropriate portion of the Agenda. A dot (●) preceding an entry indicates that the entry appears in its present section of the Agenda for the first time.

Mailing Lists for Regulatory Documents

To assist the public in obtaining regulatory documents issued within the Department of Transportation, an Appendix A has been included in this document. The appendix contains instructions on how to be placed on mailing lists for copies of regulatory documents, including the Department's Semiannual Regulations Agenda, issued by the operating administrations of the Department and the Office of the Secretary. There is no charge for this service; however, because of the costs involved, the number of copies of a document forwarded to an individual requestor may be limited. Persons already on mailing lists for particular documents within the Department will remain on those lists and should not reapply.

By following the instructions specified in the appendix, a person can be placed on a mailing list for future copies of the Department's Regulations Agenda, which will be updated and published in the Federal Register every year during April and October. By using the Agenda, individuals can determine which Notice or Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, to be issued by elements of the Department, is of interest to them. Then, using the instructions in the appendix, such persons also can be placed on a mailing list to ensure that, after the document of interest is issued, a copy will be mailed to them for their review and comment. In this way, individuals will be relieved of the burden of having to review the Federal Register, perhaps on a daily basis. The Department expects that this process will ensure that those people placed on mailing lists will receive early notice so that their views on the document can be adequately prepared and presented within the established comment period.

General Rulemaking Contact Persons

To assist persons desiring to obtain general information concerning the rulemaking process within the Department's operating administrations, an Appendix B has been added to the Agenda. This appendix sets forth the addresses and the telephone numbers of the persons who can respond quickly to requests for general rulemaking information. Please note, however, that questions related to particular rulemaking actions should still be referred to the contact person listed with the particular rulemaking on the Agenda.

Public Rulemaking Dockets

To facilitate the inspection of docket files and the submission of comments by the public, an Appendix C sets forth the addresses and working hours for the Rules Docket for each operating administration.

Request for Comments

Agenda

Our Agenda is intended primarily for the use of the public. Since its inception, we have made modifications and refinements that we believe provide the public with more helpful information as well as make the Agenda easier to use. We would also like you, the public, to make suggestions or comments on how the Agenda could be further improved. For example, do you find the information presented in an easily understandable manner? Do you find it easy to follow a regulation's development from Agenda to Agenda? Do you find that the format for setting out the information enables you to use the Agenda easily? Do you find that the explanation of the information in the Agenda is clearly explained in the preamble to the Agenda? Your responses to these questions or any other comments or suggestions you may have should be sent to Neil R. Eisner, whose address appears above.

Reviews

In an effort to comply further with the spirit of Executive Order 12291 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act, we are also seeking suggestions on existing regulations that should be included in our review of existing regulations list; that is, which existing regulations issued by an operating administration of the Department or the Office of the Secretary do you believe need to be reviewed to determine whether they should be revised or revoked? The Department is particularly interested in obtaining information on requirements that have a "significant economic impact on small entities" and therefore, must be reviewed under the Regulatory Flexibility Act. If you have any suggested regulations, please send them, along with your explanation of why they should be reviewed, to the concerned operating administration or the Office of the Secretary, at the appropriate address noted in the "Addresses" paragraph above.

In accordance with the Regulatory Flexibility Act, comments are specifically invited on regulations that are targeted for review under the RFA. Those comments should be addressed to the "contact" person of the operating administration involved, at the appropriate address noted in the "Addresses" paragraph above.

Purpose

The Department is publishing this Regulations Agenda in the Federal Register to share with interested members of the public the Department's preliminary expectations regarding its future regulatory actions. This should enable the public to be more aware of the Department's regulatory activity. Knowledge of the nature and scope of this activity, as well as the specific proposals and reviews being considered, should result in more effective public participation in the Department's regulatory activity. For example, awareness of the dates when notices may be issued seeking public comment should allow appropriate planning and more efficient use of the comment period. By providing the expected date for a decision on whether to issue a final rule, the Department expects that more appropriate planning by those concerned with the regulation will also be possible. This publication in the Federal Register does not impose any binding obligation on the Department, or any of the offices within the Department, with regard to any specific item on the Agenda or the Review List. Regulatory action in addition to the items listed is not precluded. If further information is desired on any of the items listed in the Agenda or the Review List, the public is encouraged to contact the individual listed for the particular item. Additional information concerning the Agenda, in general, or the Department's Regulatory Policies and Procedures may be obtained from Neil R. Eisner, whose address and telephone number appear above.

Issued in Washington, D.C. on October 3, 1984.

Elizabeth Hanford Dole,

Secretary of Transportation.

Appendix A - Instructions for Obtaining Copies of Regulatory Documents

United States Coast Guard (USCG)

Persons who desire to obtain a copy of any regulatory document to be issued by the USCG that is listed in this Agenda should communicate with the contact person listed with the regulation either by telephone or by letter to the contact person at the following address: (Name of contact person), United States Coast Guard, 2100 Second Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20593.

Federal Aviation Administration (FAA)

The FAA has a mailing list system for Notices and Advance Notices of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRMs and ANPRMs). Persons interested in obtaining future copies of all of those documents to be issued by the FAA or only of those concerning certain parts of the Federal Aviation Regulations should request a copy of Advisory Circular No. 11-2, which describes the application procedure, by calling 202-426-8058 or by writing to: Federal Aviation Administration, Office of Public Affairs. Attention: Public Information Center, APA-430, 800 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20591.

Federal Highway Administration (FHWA)

The FHWA maintains a consumer mailing list for individuals and agencies wishing to routinely receive Federal-aid highway related rulemaking actions. Persons may selectively choose to receive rulemaking materials in a number of separately identified program categories from the Code of Federal Regulations, Title 23. Those wishing to take advantage of the FHWA consumer mailing list may obtain additional information by writing to: Consumer Affairs Representative, Office of Public Affairs, Room 4208, Federal Highway Administration, 400 7th Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590.

Persons who desire to obtain a copy of any regulatory document to be issued by the FHWA that is listed in this Agenda should communicate with the contact person listed with the regulation either by telephone or by letter to the contact person at the following address: (Name of contact person), Federal Highway Administration, 400 7th Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590.

Federal Railroad Administration (FRA)

Persons who desire to obtain a copy of any regulatory document to be issued by the FRA that is listed in this Agenda should communicate with the contact person listed with the regulation either by telephone or by letter to the contact person at the following address: (Name of contact person), Federal Railroad Administration, 400 7th Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590.

National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA)

Persons who desire to obtain a copy of any other regulatory document to be issued by the NHTSA that is listed in this Agenda should communicate with the contact person listed with the regulation either by telephone or by letter to the contact person at the following address: (Name of contact person), National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 400 7th Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590.

Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA)

Persons who desire to obtain a copy of any regulatory document to be issued by UMTA that is listed in this Agenda should communicate with the contact person listed with the regulation either by telephone or by letter to the contact person at the following address: (Name of contact person), Urban Mass Transit Administration, 400 7th Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590.

Saint Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation (SLSDC)

Persons who desire to obtain a copy of any regulatory document to be issued by SLSDC that is listed in this Agenda should communicate with the contact person listed with the regulation either by telephone or by letter to the contact person at the address specified below: (Name of contact person), Saint Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, 400 7th Street, S.W., Room 5424, P.O. Box 44090, Washington, D.C. 20026-4090.

Research and Special Programs Administration (RSPA)

Persons wishing to be placed on mailing lists for regulatory documents to be issued by RSPA should contact: Mr.

Roosevelt McKinley, Jr., Information Services Division, DMT-11, 400 7th Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590.

Maritime Administration (MARAD)

Any one desiring a copy of a MARAD regulatory document referred to in the Agenda may request a copy of that document by contacting Mrs. Georgia Stamas, Secretary, Maritime Administration, 400 Seventh Street, S.W. (Room 7300), Washington, D.C. 20590, (202) 426-5746.

Office of the Secretary (OST)

Persons desiring to receive future copies of the Regulations Agenda should submit their request to: Assistant General Counsel for Regulation and Enforcement, C-50, Office of the General Counsel, Department of Transportation, Washington, D.C. 20590, (202) 426-4723.

Persons who have an interest in specific regulatory documents to be issued by the Office of the Secretary should forward requests for copies of those documents to the same address. These requests should fully identify the document desired.

Appendix B - General Rulemaking Contact Persons

The following is a list of persons who can be contacted within the Department for general information concerning the rulemaking process within the various operating administrations.

USCG - Capt. Chris Holland, Marine Safety Council, USCG Headquarters Building, Room 4402, 2100 Second Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20593. Telephone: 202/426-1477.

1. ALLOCATION OF "SLOTS" AT WASHINGTON NATIONAL AIRPORT

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1303; 49 USC 1347; 49 USC 1348(a); 49 USC 1348(b); 49 USC 1348(c); 49 USC 1354(a); Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, Sec 103; Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, Sec 306; Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, Sec 307(a); Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, Sec 307(b); Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, Sec 307(c); Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, Sec 313(a); 49 USC 106(g); Act for the Administration of Washington Natl Airport, Sec 2

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 93

Abstract: Proposed amendment to establish procedures for allocating the hourly number of instrument flight operations (takeoffs and landings) or "slots" that may be reserved at Washington National Airport (WNA) in accordance with the FAA's High Density Rule. This proposal is considered a significant rulemaking project due to substantial public interest and potential costs to airlines. The Civil Aeronautics Board and the Department of Justice have expressed concerns about continuing the antitrust immunity under which the airline scheduling committees currently allocate slots at WNA. A new method of allocation may become necessary.

Additional Information: The CAB in conjunction with the FAA commissioned the Polinomics Research Laboratories, Inc., to research the allocation problem. A report of its findings has been prepared. Another report by Econ, Inc., analyzing a slot allocation auction procedure has been prepared under an FAA contract. The emergency regulation was published in the Federal Register on November 3, 1980 (45 FR 72637). The NPRM for a long term solution to the slot allocation problem was issued on October 27, 1980 (45 FR 71236). A public hearing was held on February 13, 1981, and the comment period was extended until February 26, 1981 (46 FR 932, January 5, 1981). On June 1, 1984, the FAA issued NPRM 84-6, dealing with slot transfers among carriers, and NPRM 84-7 proposing a slot allocation method for use if a scheduling committee should fail to allocate slots. These NPRM's are discussed in the FAA portion of the agenda.The withdrawal of this NPRM might be accomplished in conjunction with final action on NPRMs 84-6 and 84-7.

2. NONDISCRIMINATION ON THE BASIS OF HANDICAP (MASS TRANSIT PROGRAMS)

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 29 USC 794 Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended; 49 USC 1612(a) Urban Mass Trans. Act of 1964, as amended; 23 USC 142 Note Federal-aid Highway Act of 1973, as amended; 49 USC 1612 (second(c)) Urban Mass Trans. Act of 1964, as amend

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 27

Abstract: The Department's rule concerning mass transit service for handicapped persons is currently an interim final rule published July 20, 1981 (48 FR 37488). This rule was issued after a court decision said that section 504 did not authorize the Department's previous mass transit requirements. In 1983, Congress enacted section 317(c) of the Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982, which requires the Department to publish a new rule. The Department published an NPRM for this new rule on September 8, 1983 (48 FR 40684). The Department will review the comments and publish a final rule based on this NPRM.

3. CONSTRUCTION DIFFERENTIAL SUBSIDY (CDS) REPAYMENTS; TOTAL REPAYMENT POLICY

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 46 USC 1114(b)Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, Sec. 204(6); 46 USC 1117 Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, Sec. 207; 46 USC 1156 Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, Sec. 506; 46 USC 1204 Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, Sec. 714

CFR Citation: 46 CFR 276

Abstract: The regulation would amend 46 CFR 276 which would set forth the Department's policy in considering requests for repayment of construction-differential subsidy as authorized under the provisions of the Merchant Marine Act of 1936, as amended.

4. TITLE VI CIVIL RIGHTS REGULATION

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2000d-4

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 21

Abstract: In 1981, the Department proposed a consolidation and expansion of its existing Title VI regulation (49 CFR Part 21). Few comments were received on this NPRM, and a final regulation was never published. The Department reviewed the existing regulation to determine if changes were needed. It was concluded that the Department can continue to enforce Title VI appropriately through the existing regulation. Consequently the Department does not anticipate further rulemaking action, and intends to withdraw the NPRM.

5. MINORITY BUSINESS ENTERPRISE PROGRAM (DIRECT CONTRACTING)

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: EO 11625; EO 12138; 45 USC 803; PL 95-507

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 23

Abstract: As part of the NPRM that proposed its minority business program rule, (49 CFR Part 23), the Department proposed rules concerning minority business involvement in direct DOT procurement. However, because of the program established by Public Law 95-507, these proposed rules became unnecessary, and were never finalized. That program provides for subcontracting plans and goals in certain direct Federal contracts as well as for disadvantaged business set-asides under the Small Business Administration 8(a) program. The Department intends to withdraw this proposal.

6. REVIEW: MINORITY BUSINESS ENTERPRISE PROGRAM (FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS)

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2000d Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title VI; 49 USC 1730; 45 USC 906; 49 USC 1615

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 23

Abstract: The Department is reviewing its regulation establishing a minority business enterprise (MBE) program in its financial assistance programs (49 CFR Part 23). This regulation has been controversial, is of interest to most DOT grant recipients and contractors, and affects the operations of all DOT financial assistance programs. As part of the Administration's program of reviewing regulations that are costly or controversial, the Department has decided that it is necessary to consider revisions of the existing rule. The aim of the revisions would be to reduce regulatory burdens associated with the present rule and clarify the administration of some provisions about which questions have been raised. On the basis of this review, the Department intends to publish an NPRM that would propose changes in the administrative mechanism through which the Department's minority business program is carried out.

7. PUBLIC AVAILABILITY OF INFORMATION

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 5 USC 552 Freedom of Information Act

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 7

Abstract: This involves a revision of DOT's Freedom of Information Act regulations. Specific areas to be revised may include the fee schedule and the policy on waivers of fees for public interest groups and the press. This rulemaking is significant because of substantial public interest. It is needed because the Freedom of Information Regulations need periodic revision to keep current with changes in case law, policy, and implementation costs.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1968, as amended, Sec 22(a); RR Revitalization & Regulatory Reform Act of 1976, Sec 905; 49 USC 1615 Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended; 29 USC 794 Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Sec 504

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 1.48(c); 49 CFR 2.49(u); 49 CFR 1.51(a)

Abstract: The proposed regulation would set forth requirements and procedures for all State Departments of Transportation (DOTs) equal employment opportunity compliance programs. It would also consolidate FHWA, FRA, and UMTA responsibilities in this area. This proposed regulation is significant because it would affect the equal opportunity employment programs of all State transportation agencies. It is needed because OST, FHWA, FRA, and UMTA each have responsibility for implementing the equal employment opportunity programs of State DOTs. This proposed rule would assure full coordination among these departmental elements, reduce the burden on the recipients, simplify reporting requirements, and eliminate duplication of effort.

Abstract: This regulation would establish cost-effective policies and procedures governing Federal and Federally-assisted relocation assistance and real property acquisition programs under the Uniform Act. The Department published this NPRM at the request of OMB, and it is anticipated that when a final rule is issued, it will serve as a model for other Federal agencies covered by the Uniform Act.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: PL 95-504, Airline Deregulation Act of 1978; 49 USC 1301 et seq, Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended; 49 USC Subtitle I.

CFR Citation: 49 CFR Chapter II, Subchapter B

Abstract: On January 1, 1985, the Civil Aeronautics Board sunsets. Most of the continuing functions of the CAB will transfer to DOT. This rulemaking would revise the CAB procedural rules by deleting unnecessary and redundant provisions and designating the appropriate DOT Offices to handle transferred responsibilities. This rulemaking is significant because of substantial public interest.

16. TITLE VI REGULATION

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2000(d) Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title VI

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 21

Abstract: This regulation prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, or national origin in programs and activities receiving DOT financial assistance, provides examples of prohibited practices, and establishes enforcement procedures. Because the regulation affects all DOT financial assistance programs, creates administrative burdens for DOT and its recipients, and is an old regulation that has not been extensively revised since the early 1970s, it is an appropriate subject for a priority regulatory review, which will be led by the Departmental Office of Civil Rights with the participation of other affected DOT offices. The purposes of the review will be to make recommendations for how to carry out Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and prevent discrimination in DOT-assisted programs more efficiently and with fewer administrative burdens.

17. DAMAGE STABILITY AND FLOODING PROTECTION STANDARDS FOR GREAT LAKES BULK DRY CARGO VESSELS (80-159)

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 46 USC 3306

CFR Citation: 46 CFR 45; 46 CFR 93

Abstract: Would require a level of subdivision for new ships which is at least equivalent to that required for Maritime Administration construction loan guarantees. Would reduce the risk of catastrophic sinking and increase the time available to utilize recently improved survival gear. This project is significant because it would initiate a significant change in policy which differs substantially from international standards. Additionally, it could result in a major price increase for an individual industry.

18. SEGREGATED BALLAST, DEDICATED CLEAN BALLAST, AND CRUDE OIL WASHING ON EXISTING TANK VESSELS OF 20,000 TO 40,000 DEADWEIGHT TONS (82-028)

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 46 USC 3705(c); 46 USC 3706(d); 46 USC 2104; 46 USC 3306

CFR Citation: 33 CFR 157

Abstract: This project would amend 33 CFR pt. 157 for the purpose of implementing the tanker construction and equipment standards in 46 USC 3705(c) and 46 USC 3706(d). These statutes require tank vessels of 20,000 to 40,000 DWT that are 15 years old or older to have segregated ballast tanks, dedicated clean ballast tanks or a crude oil washing system by January 1, 1986 or the date they reach 15 years of age; whichever occurs later. This rulemaking is considered significant because of the economic impact of the statute on industry, and Congressional and Administration interest. It is needed because implementing standards mandated by the Port and Tanker Safety Act, will reduce operational pollution from ballasting, tank cleaning and sludge removal on existing tank vessels that are 15 years old or older.

19. SHIPPING FAIRWAY SYSTEM OFF THE COAST OF CALIFORNIA (83-032)

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 33 USC 1223

CFR Citation: 33 CFR 166

Abstract: Would implement the results of the Port Access Route Study mandated by the Ports and Waterways Safety Act. As a result of the study, the Coast Guard has preliminarily determined that potential conflicts between oil drilling and shipping require creation of a fairway system off the coast of California from the vicinity of San Francisco to Los Angeles/Long Beach and changes to the San Francisco and Santa Barbara channel traffic separation schemes. No structures would be permitted in the fairway.

Abstract: Would redefine and establish qualifying criteria for certifying individuals engaged in the carriage and transfer of the various categories of dangerous cargoes in bulk. This is considered significant because of passage of the Port and Tanker Safety Act of 1978 and the fact that the International Convention on the Standards for Training, Certification and Watchkeeping for Seafarers of 1978 will enter into force on April 28, 1984. This rulemaking is necessary because most pollution incidents are the result of personnel error; consequently, the minimum qualifications of persons involved in handling polluting substances should be specified.

Abstract: Would amend the licensing regulations to simplify administration and improve readability to the public. CFR Citation: 46 CFR 31; 46 CFR 61; 46 CFR 71; 46 CFR 91; 46 CFR 107; 46 CFR 167; 46 CFR 189

Abstract: Various Coast Guard regulations specify the intervals for drydocking and tailshaft examinations on inspected vessels. The Coast Guard is considering changing these intervals. Extending the interval between drydockings, if it could be accomplished without diminishing overall vessel safety, could result in significant savings to vessel operators. The ANPRM sought information from industry on developing technology. This regulation is significant because it

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1354(a) Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 313(a); 49 USC 1421 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 601; 49 USC 1423 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 603

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 21

Abstract: Would (1) simplify the procedure for approving a PMA applicant's design on the basis of identicality to an already approved design; (2) reduce PMA application and reporting requirements; and (3) add a marking requirement which will facilitate field installation of replacement parts manufactured under a PMA and help avoid use of incorrect parts. The proposed revision is considered to be significant because it is controversial. Differences of opinion exist with respect to the methods available for showing identicalness of parts. Also the Parts Manufacturer Approval application and reporting requirements may be unnecessarily burdensome.

Additional Information: Docket No. 17147. This project was initiated December 23, 1975. NPRM No. 77-19 was published in the Federal Register (42 FR 43985). Comment period later reopened until January 4, 1978 (NPRM No. 77-19A, 42 FR 61048) and again reopened until May 15, 1978 (NPRM No. 77-19B, 43 FR 15432). Portions of NPRM 77-19 dealing with other subjects were handled separately. Supplemental Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (SNPRM) was published January 15, 1981 (46 FR 3775). Initial comment period closed April 15, 1981; reply comment period closed May 15, 1981. NPRM 77-19D reopening the comment period until August 24, 1981, and the reply comment period until September 21, 1981, was published July 23, 1981 (46 FR 38062). In view of the Congressional, Federal Agency, and public comments on this rulemaking, a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis will be prepared, whether or not required by the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

118. AIRBORNE LOW-LEVEL WIND SHEAR EQUIPMENT REQUIREMENTS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1354(a) Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 313(a); 49 USC 1421 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 601; 49 USC 1424 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 604

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 121

Abstract: Would revise existing regulation to require all large passenger-carrying aircraft be equipped with a device that will display wind shear information to the pilots. This action is considered a significant project because it will generate substantial public interest and will be controversial. As a result of several accidents involving wind shear, it is necessary to identify equipment that will enable pilots to identify low level wind shear conditions.

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 150

Abstract: Would revise and replace with a final rule the interim rule (FAR Part 150) on this subject, (1) prescribing requirements for airport operators choosing to submit an airport noise exposure map or an airport noise compatibility program, (2) establishing a single system of measuring aircraft noise and a single system for determining the exposure of individuals to noise in the vicinity of airports, and (3) identifying land uses that are normally compatible (or noncompatible) with various levels of noise around airports. The proposed regulation is significant because it is of substantial interest to the public, potentially affecting State and local governments and the aviation community. The Aviation Safety and Noise Abatement Act of 1979 requires the Secretary of Transportation (and through delegation, the Administrator of the FAA) to establish items (1), (2), and (3).

Additional Information: LEGAL AUTHORITY: 49 CFR 1.47(m) also applies. The Aviation Noise Abatement Policy, issued November 18, 1976, establishes a pilot noise abatement planning program, the Airport Noise Control and Land Use Compatibility (ANCLUC) Program. The Aviation Safety and Noise Abatement Act of 1979 establishes the basis and legal requirement for this and the interim rule FAR Part 150. FAR Part 150, the interim rule, was adopted January 19, 1981, and became effective February 28, 1981. Comments were received on the interim rule through December 1, 1981.

Abstract: Would rescind the operations reservations rule as it applies to the John F. Kennedy, LaGuardia, and Chicago O'Hare Airports. Additional Information: Docket No. 22471. The rule was originally promulgated to reduce air traffic congestion and delay. With the advent of improved programs, procedures, and air traffic flow management, the rule is felt to be unnecessary. On March 6, 1984, the FAA issued an interim final rule that amended the High Density Rule (49 FR 8237; March 6, 1984). The agency will reexamine within the next 6-9 months (from the 3/1/84 issuance date) the capability of the air traffic control system to handle the unusual demands that a less constrained system may create, such as significant airborne holding and multiple requests by operators for release from gates. This will be examined in connection with airport capacity and the experience levels of air traffic control personnel.

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 93

Abstract: This rulemaking proposes to change the annual passenger ceiling at Washington National Airport from 16 million to 14.8 million or to a figure between 14.8 million and 16 million depending upon the highest annual passenger level forecasted within the next 2 years. It also proposes to allow commuter carriers utilizing smaller, quieter aircraft to conduct a limited number of "stolrunway" operations at National Airport in addition to the operations permitted by the current limitations. This amendment is proposed to guide the future operation and development of Washington National and Dulles International Airports and to improve the quality of the environment in the areas around National. This rulemaking is considered to be significant because of possible public interest.

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 121; 14 CFR 135

Abstract: This action proposes to change the regulations to expand the minimum flight data recorder (FDR) requirements for existing and newly manufactured pre-1969 type certificated aircraft operating under Part 121. This proposed action also would amend Part 135 to require cockpit voice recorders (CVR) on multiengine-powered, fixed-wing aircraft manufactured after a certain date if the aircraft requires two pilots and is certificated to carry six or more passengers. This is in response to an NTSB recommendation.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1354(a) Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 313(a); 49 USC 1421(a) Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 601(a); 49 USC 1423 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 603; 49 USC 1431(b) Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 611(b); 42 USC 4321 et seq. National Environmental Policy Act, Title I; EO 11514

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 21; 14 CFR 36

Abstract: Would revise noise certification standards for aircraft to add provisions applicable to helicopters. These would apply to civil helicopters in the normal, transport, and restricted categories, and would provide noise level limits and test procedures for the issuance of new and amended type certificates. It would also prohibit changes in type design of helicopters that might increase their noise levels beyond certain limits. Although this notice contains several provisions similar to those in an earlier notice, which was withdrawn in 1981, it differs from that notice in several important aspects. One is the absence of any limit on manufacture of older non-conforming types; another is the increased commonality between these proposed standards and those adopted by the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO).

Additional Information: Part 36 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 36) contains noise standards for aircraft type and airworthiness certification. As the part is currently organized, Subparts B and C and Appendices A, B, and C apply to transport category large airplane and subsonic turbojet powered airplanes regardless of category. Appendix F contains the provisions applicable to propeller driven light airplanes. This notice proposes to prescribe noise levels and test procedures for civil helicopters certificated in the normal, transport, and restricted categories. These proposals include rules governing the issuance of new and amended type certificates for helicopters for which application is made on and after the publication date of this notice. The proposed rule would prohibit certain growth or other design changes if those changes might result in noise levels beyond prescribed limits. The proposed rule also provides the test conditions and procedures for conducting helicopter noise tests to demonstrate compliance with the prescribed noise levels.

Abstract: This notice proposes a mechanism which would remove Government restrictions on the transfer of slots used by operators at high density airports. The proposal is, in part, in response to recommendations made by a number of air carriers in connection with the FAA's High Density Rulemaking. A separate NPRM on a procedure for initial allocation of slots in the event a scheduling committee is unable to allocate capacity at a high density airport has also been issued. CFR Citation: 14 CFR 93

Abstract: This proposed rule is designed to alleviate increased delays throughout the air traffic system. If implemented, the FAA would alter current airline scheduling through a lottery process to more evenly space arrivals and departures throughout the day. Alternatives include voluntary schedule changes by the airlines. The rule, or the alternatives, would benefit the airline industry and the public by limiting delays. CFR Citation: 14 CFR 23; 14 CFR 91

Abstract: This notice proposes to amend Parts 23 and 91 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (FAR) to require the installation of shoulder harnesses at all seats of normal, utility, and acrobatic category airplanes with a passenger seating configuration, excluding pilot seats, of nine or less, manufactured after December 31, 1984, and to require the pilot-in-command to brief passengers on how to fasten and unfasten their shoulder harness for takeoff and landings if shoulder harnesses are installed. This proposal responds to the conclusions of an FAA Crashworthiness Study Report, a Petition for Rulemaking from the General Aviation Manufacturers Association (GAMA), and Safety Recommendations from the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB). This proposal will enhance the crashworthiness of small airplanes manufactured after December 31, 1984. This regulation is significant because of substantial public interest.

Additional Information: This project was initiated on June 25, 1975, in response to a GAO evaluation of the FAA's Airport Certification Program and the result it has on improving the safety of airports. The project has been delayed for a number of reasons that impacted completion and publication of an NPRM. Some of these reasons are: FAA cost benefit analysis of CFR services, recent changes to the F.A. Act and proposed sunset of CAB. On November 22, 1982 FAA conducted a listening session with aviation industry representatives. A public meeting was held on July 14, 1983, to discuss areas of concern such as airport crash, fire and rescue equipment requirements, snow removal and extended safety areas.

Abstract: This review deals with the air traffic and general operating rules in Part 91 - the most fundamental aviation regulations. This action would reorganize and rearrange the rules without substantive change, to make them easier to use and understand. (Phase I). A later action will review and revise them to eliminate unnecessary burdens in keeping with E.O. 12291. (Phase II). AOPA withdrew its petition on November 20, 1980, so the FAA could proceed with this two-step review. ANPRM 79-2 published the original AOPA petition for comment on January 22, 1979 (44 FR 4571). NPRM 79-2A proposing reorganization of Part 91 was published on September 10, 1981 (46 FR 45256). NPRM 79-2B extended the comment period to April 9, 1982 (December 10, 1981; 46 FR 60461). Comments received on NPRM 79-2A will form a basis for proceeding with Phase II.

171. AIRPORT IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

Legal Authority: PL 97-248 Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 156, (Proposed)

Abstract: This action would prescribe requirements and procedures for applicants desiring to receive financial assistance under the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982. The program provides grants for planning and developing public-use airports and the implementation of noise compatibility programs. Generally, to receive funds, the applicant must be a public agency; although, in some instances, private airport owners may receive funds. Contents of the regulation will be governed by the requirements of the Act and OMB Circular A-102.

172. NOISE STANDARDS: AIRCRAFT TYPE AND AIRWORTHINESS CERTIFICATION

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1354 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 313; 49 USC 1421 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 601; 49 USC 1423 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 603; 49 USC 1431 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 611

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 36

Abstract: Part 36 prescribes noise type certification standards for turbo jet powered airplanes and propeller driven small airplanes regardless of category. This review will examine the need to reorganize and realign the noise standards to make them more understandable and easier to use. This review would reorganize existing material into several new subparts, and utilize an improved numbering system to provide for the easier inclusion of future changes. Other improvements would be made by deleting redundancies, obsolete compliance dates, and making other minor changes. Additionally, Part 36 will be reviewed in accordance with Executive Order 12291 to reduce regulatory burdens on the public, including the preparation of both a Regulatory Evaluation and a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis.

210. AIRMEN MEDICAL STANDARDS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1354(a) Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 313(a); 49 USC 1355 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 314; 49 USC 1421 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 601; 49 USC 1427 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 607

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 67

Abstract: These regulations specify the medical standards which must be met before a medical certificate is issued to an airman. For example, a medical certificate is required before a person can obtain a pilot license. During a recent rulemaking involving these regulations, a considerable number of commenters expressed the belief that the current standards should and could be revised to state, in generally applicable objective terms, all those circumstances in which the FAA will issue medical certificates. In the past, some certificates have been issued on a case-by-case basis, with appropriate limitations, under exemption and waiver provisions where strict compliance with the existing standards was not essential in the interest of safety. A comprehensive review of these regulations is necessary to determine if the commenters' arguments are correct. If they are and the requested regulatory changes are possible, it could greatly reduce burdens, both on the FAA and airmen, associated with the processing of medical certificates.

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1354(a) Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 313(a); 49 USC 1355(a) Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 314(a); 49 USC 1421 to 1430 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Secs. 601-610; 49 USC 1502 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 1102

Abstract: Review of rules governing: (1) air taxi operations conducted under Part 298; (2) transportation of mail by aircraft conducted under a postal service contract; and (3) carriage of persons or property for compensation or hire as a commercial operator in specified aircraft. These regulations are being reviewed to comply with the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

219. FLIGHT CREWMEMBERS: LIMITATIONS ON USE OF SERVICES

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1354(a) Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 313(a); 49 USC 1421 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 601; 49 USC 1422 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 602; 49 USC 1423 Federal Aviation Act of 1958, Sec. 604

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 121

Abstract: The FAA has established a project to determine the need to revise that provision of Part 121 which prohibits certificate holders from using the services of any person as a pilot flight crewmember if that person has reached his or her 60th birthday and to extend the rule to cover all flight crewmembers in air carrier operations. The "Age 60" rule is significant because, since its adoption, it has been objected to by pilots flying in Part 121 operations. Any actions that the FAA proposes can be expected to generate significant concern over the economic and career consequences to flight crewmembers and to air carriers. This project is needed in light of a recent government study on the "Age 60" rule and air carrier experience involving down-bidding of age 60 pilots to flight engineer positions.

Additional Information: Docket No. 20450. After further analysis and review in light of comments received to Notice 80-10, the FAA concluded that its authority to issue the proposed rule was unclear and that rulemaking should not proceed until the statutory basis for the proposed rule was clarified. For this reason, the FAA suspended action on the notice and on January 22, 1981, published in the Federal Register (46 FR 6975) a copy of its letter to Congress requesting clarification of its authority to regulate airports under Section 621 of the F.A. 230. SPLASH/SPRAY SUPPRESSANT DEVICES ON TRUCK TRACTORS, SEMITRAILERS AND TRAILERS

Legal Authority: 49 USC 2314; 49 USC 3102; Section 414 of STAA of 1982

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 393

Abstract: Section 414 of the Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982 (Pub. L. 97-424) states that Congress declares the visibility on wet roadways in the Interstate System should be improved by reducing splash and spray from truck tractors, semitrailers and trailers. Congress instructed the Secretary to establish, by regulation, minimum standards with respect to the performance and installation of splash and spray suppression devices on truck tractors, semitrailers and trailers. Further, Congress mandated that all vehicles in use 5 years from date of enactment, be equipped with such devices. The revisions to 49 CFR .393 will implement this mandate. This rulemaking is considered significant because of its economic impact on the motor carrier industry.

231. ● DRIVER'S RECORD OF DUTY STATUS

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 49 USC 3102

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 395

Abstract: A final rule with a request for comments will be issued to comply with an opinion issued by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. The FHWA is amending the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations (FMCSR) to (1) reinstate the 12 hour limitation in the 100 mile exemption provision in lieu of the present 15 consecutive hours, and (2) reinstate the 7 data items deleted from the recordkeeping requirement of the driver's record of duty status. The Court stated that the FHWA had not adequately demonstrated that the enforcement of drivers' hour requirements would not be compromised by the omission of the seven items or the expansion of the exception. A public docket is being opened and FHWA will determine if such a factual basis for future rulemaking can be demonstrated.

Timetable:

Action	Date	FR Cite
Final Action	10/00/84

Additional Information: The FHWA had issued a final rule on Driver's Logs (BMCS Docket No. MC-99) on November 26, 1982 (47 FR 53383), which revised the recordkeeping requirements of the driver's logs. It was determined that the final rule published on November 26, 1982, was a major regulatory reduction action under Executive Order 12291. This determination was based on projected cost savings which would result from the reduction in requirements for maintaining the driver's record of duty status. This rulemaking action will reinstate requirements which existed prior to the November 26, 1982, final rule as mandated by the United States Court of Appeals. For this reason, this rulemaking action will be considered a major rule under Executive Order 12291 and a significant regulation under the regulatory policies and procedures of the Department of Transportation. This regulation is significant because of substantial public interest.

232. MINIMUM CAB SPACE DIMENSIONS

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 49 USC 304; 49 USC 1655

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 393

Abstract: This regulation would have specified minimum sizes for the cab portion of the regulated commercial vehicles manufactured after a certain date. The rulemaking was considered to be significant because it had the potential of being costly if extensive changes to cab configurations became necessary. The FHWA has withdrawn the ANPRM. It has been determined that rulemaking action is not necessary at this time. The FHWA anticipates that future designs of tractor trailer combinations will provide for longer tractors with a corresponding increase in interior cab space.

Legal Authority: 23 USC 315; Sec. 133, 411, 412, 413, and 416 of the STAA of 1982

Abstract: This action establishes the final network of highways on which commercial vehicles with the dimensions authorized by the Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982 (STAA) may operate. Criteria for exceptions, additions, and withdrawals from the designated systems are included. The rule addresses width, length and weight of vehicles, grandfather clauses, reasonable access and specialized equipment. 234. REVIEW: DESIGN STANDARDS FOR HIGHWAYS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 23 USC 109; 23 USC 315; 23 USC 402

CFR Citation: 23 CFR 625

Abstract: This regulation would amend the existing geometric design standards for highways for the new construction and major reconstruction of Federal-aid highways by replacing several publications incorporated by reference in 23 CFR Part 625 with a single new publication. Public comments were requested on the geometric design criteria as presented in a draft of the new publication, "A Policy on Geometric Design of Highways and Streets" prepared by the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials (AASHTO). Comments received as a result of NPRM published February 14, 1980 (45 FR 10236) have been evaluated and recommended changes submitted to AASHTO for consideration. Notice regarding status of proposed rule published November 17, 1980 (45 FR 75690); it indicated further rulemaking action is not anticipated before Summer 1983. Based on the current AASHTO development schedule, submission of a final document to FHWA is not anticipated until mid-1984. This rulemaking is considered significant because it concerns a matter for which there is substantial public interest.

236. REVIEW: OUTDOOR ADVERTISING CONTROL AND ACQUISITION

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 23 USC 131; 23 USC 148; 23 USC 315

CFR Citation: 23 CFR 750, Subpart G

Abstract: This regulation would provide a definition of "effective control" of outdoor advertising as required by 23 U.S.C. 131. It would also set further requirements for signs exempt from control under the statute and establish the basic framework for State development of police power regulations and procedures. The regulation would also outline the requirements for Federal participation in the acquisition of compensable nonconforming outdoor advertising devices. This proposal is significant because it may involve substantial public interest, is controversial and involves important departmental policy. This regulation is necessary for the maintenance of national uniformity in the outdoor advertising control program. Since 23 U.S.C. 131 is regulatory in nature, it is necessary to establish and maintain minimum Federal program requirements. The proposal involves the consolidation of two existing regulations, 23 CFR pt. 750,subpts. D and G, and one interim regulation 23 CFR pt. 750, subpt. E. The regulations have been in effect since September 16, 1975 and July 29, 1974, respectively. The interim regulations have been in effect (cont)

ABSTRACT CONT: since October 18, 1976. The proposed consolidation will be issued as an NPRM. An ANPRM, published April 30, 1979, (44 CFR 25387) and a Notice, published May 17, 1979, (44 CFR 28946) announced public hearings as part of an overall review of the Highway Beautification Program. These currently proposed regulations may be modified as a result of this review. A Notice published June 15, 1979 (44 CFR 34516) announced a hearing site change and a change in hearing procedures. On June 25, 1979 (44 FR 37100), a Notice announced amendments to the Highway Beautification Act by the Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1978. A Notice published on July 12, 1979 (44 FR 40781) announced the establishment of a National Advisory Committee on Outdoor Advertising and Motorist Information. The need for further action is being reviewed by the Department of Transportation.

237. REVIEW: ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT AND RELATED PROCEDURES

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 42 USC 4321 et seq; 23 USC 101 et seq; 49 USC 1601 et seq; 49 USC 303(c)

CFR Citation: 23 CFR 771; 49 CFR 622

Abstract: This regulation covers the preparation of environmental impact statements and related documents and compliance with other Federal environmental requirements under FHWA and UMTA grant programs. The changes are intended to streamline the project development process and provide increased decisionmaking authority to agency field offices. The amendments are significant because they involve important departmental policy. They are needed to reduce burdens associated with the environmental review process.

238. AIR QUALITY PROCEDURES FOR USE IN FEDERAL-AID HIGHWAY AND FEDERALLY FUNDED TRANSIT PROGRAMS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 23 USC 109(h); 23 USC 109(j); 23 USC 315; 42 USC 4332; 42 USC 7401; 42 USC 7506

CFR Citation: 23 CFR 770

Abstract: This regulation proposes to consolidate and amend existing air quality requirements for transportation projects into a single amended air quality regulation. The amended regulation is intended to streamline and simplify (1) the process of determining which highway projects are exempt from the Federal assistance limitations of section 176(a) of the Clean Air Act (CAA), and (2) the conformity and priority procedures contained in 23 CFR 770. The amendments are also intended to provide more authority and flexibility to State and local agencies and to meet the objectives of the CAA in the most cost-effective and expeditious manner. The amendments are significant because they involve important departmental policy.

Legal Authority: 23 USC 112(b); 23 USC 140(a); 23 USC 315

CFR Citation: 23 CFR 230

Abstract: The proposed revisions would amend the existing FHWA regulation governing construction contract equal employment opportunity (EEO) compliance procedures, which concern the employment practices of construction contractors on Federal highway projects. Additional Information: Additional Information: An interim policy statement was published 6/6/83 (48 FR 25181) to implement acceleration methods for selected projects within existing regulations. Initially, FHWA had considered issuing a new regulation as a vehicle for accelerating Federal-aid projects pursuant to Section 129 of the STAA of 1982. However, it has been determined that the objectives of Section 129 can be best implemented by revisions to existing regulations. Therefore, separate regulations will not be issued regarding the acceleration program. This approach received the concurrence of Deputy Administrator Lamm on April 11, 1984. This regulation will be withdrawn.

Abstract: The FHWA is amending its regulation on recordkeeping and reporting requirements for on-the-job training on Federal-aid construction contracts. The revised regulation would no longer require contractors to submit the Federal-Aid Highway Construction Contractor's Semi-Annual Training Report (OMB No. 2125-0021) and would no longer require State Highway Agencies to complete and submit the Federal-Aid Highway Construction Semi-Annual Training Report (OMB No. 2125-0021). In addition, the specific recordkeeping requirement and documentation of contractor performance under the training special provision would be eliminated. The revisions are being proposed as a result of an effort to carry out an internal Cost Avoidance, Reduction, Efficiency, and Effectiveness (CARE) program.

262. REVIEW: COMPLIANCE WITH MOTOR CARRIER NOISE STANDARDS

Legal Authority: 49 USC 304

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 325

Abstract: The FHWA is considering amending the noise emission standards to add a new minimum distance of 31 feet from which to measure highway noise. FHWA is also considering eliminating the correction factor which allowed a variance for noise tests taken at hard sites, e.g., asphalt, compared to those taken at soft sites, e.g. grassy areas.

264. WRITTEN EXAMINATION

Legal Authority: 49 USC 304; 49 USC 1655

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 391.35

Abstract: The FHWA is considering a revision of the written examination requirement for commercial vehicle drivers. The options being considered are (1) rescission of the requirement, (2) leaving the requirement as it is and updating the questions, or (3) changing the requirement to a pass/fail situation. An ANPRM was issued on 03/04/82 (47 FR 4256). After further review and after consideration of comments, the FHWA issued a NPRM which proposes to rescind the requirement.

PLANNING

271. REVIEW: HIGHWAY PLANNING PROGRAM ADMINISTRATION

Legal Authority: 23 USC 104; 23 USC 307; 23 USC 315; Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982

CFR Citation: 23 CFR 420, Subpart A; 23 CFR 450, Subpart C

Abstract: This revision to an existing regulation would reflect policy changes in management of the highway planning and research program, e.g., allowing separate projects for components of the program (urbanized area planning, statewide planning, research and development), and applying matching rates to time periods rather than a fiscal year fund, etc. NPRM was published January 11, 1979 (44 FR 2400). As a result of comments received to the Docket, as well as internal coordination, FHWA is considering combining this regulation with 23 CFR Part 450, Subpart C, Metropolitan Planning Funds, since both deal with program administration. A revised NPRM combining parts 420 and 450 and incorporating requirements mandated by the Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982 is being prepared.

Legal Authority: 23 USC 103(e)(5)(6); PL 96-106, Sec 2(c)

CFR Citation: 23 CFR 480

Abstract: Federal Highway Administration regulations in 23 CFR Part 480 prescribe the circumstances under which states must repay the Federal Government for the Federal contribution to the purchase of property for Interstate highway projects that are later withdrawn. Congress, in Public Law 96-106, amended 23 U.S.C. 103(e) to change the circumstances under which repayment must be made. CFR Citation: 23 CFR 810

Abstract: The existing regulation would be revised to incorporate statutory changes mandated by the Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982 (STAA) and to make other revisions to update references to other regulations or statutes and to reflect administrative changes. The revisions would provide the basic criteria for determining whether mass transit and special use highway projects are eligible for Federal-aid funding under 23 USC 137, 142, and 149. 283. MINIMUM LEVELS OF FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY FOR MOTOR CARRIERS OF PROPERTY

Legal Authority: Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982 Section 406(a)

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 387

Abstract: Section 406(a) of the Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982 amended Section 30 of the Motor Carrier Act of 1980 by allowing the Secretary to extend the "phase-in-period" for the reduced minimum levels of financial responsibility from 2 years to 3 1/2 years. This rulemaking action extends the effective date for reduced liability limits to January 1, 1985, as specifically provided for by Section 406(a). This rulemaking is significant because the rulemaking action which initially set the reduced levels was considered significant. On June 28, 1983, the FHWA issued an emergency interim final rule extending the effective date for reduced liability limits from July 1, 1983, to July 1, 1984. This action was taken in an effort to maintain stability in both the insurance and motor carrier industries while further consideration was given to this matter.

Abstract: This revision would permit States to increase the maximum time interval between the inspections for certain types or groups of bridges, as opposed to retaining the mandatory 2-year interval as required under the regulation currently in effect. The revision would provide State highway agencies greater flexibility with which to utilize available inspection resources in a cost-effective manner. Legal Authority: 23 USC 112; 23 USC 315

Abstract: This document rescinds the existing regulation prohibiting bonus payments because such policy prohibiting those payments to contractors for completion of the contract in advance of time specified is no longer warranted. The increase in the costs for bonus payments will be more than offset by (1) reducing inflation costs, (2) minimizing inconvenience to traveling public caused by delays, (3) increasing safety through the construction zone, (4) reducing expenses associated with maintaining traffic control during construction, and (5) reducing the costs of project administration and inspection.

289. MOTOR CARRIER SAFETY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

Legal Authority: STAA of 1982, Secs. 401 to 404; 49 USC 2301 to 2304

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 350

Abstract: The interim final rule announced that the FHWA intends to make grants to qualified States for the development or implementation of programs for the enforcement of Federal rules, regulations, standards, and orders applicable to commercial motor vehicle safety and hazardous materials transportation by highway and compatible States' rules, regulations, standards, and orders. The interim final rule prescribes procedures for administration of the grant program until a final rule is promulgated. A final rule has been published.

290. ● BUY AMERICAN REQUIREMENTS

Legal Authority: 23 USC 315; PL 97-424, Sec 165; PL 98-229, Sec 110

CFR Citation: 23 CFR 635

Abstract: This final rule revised the existing Buy America regulation to implement the provision mandated by Section 10 of Pub. L. 98-229, 98 Stat. 55, enacted on March 9, 1984. Section 10 amends Section 165(a) of the Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982 (STAA of 1982) by striking the word "cement" from the statutory language. The revised language removed cement from the materials and products that are covered by the Buy America provisions of the STAA of 1982. The regulations contained in 23 CFR 635.410 implementing Buy America were revised to reflect the statutory amendment.

Legal Authority: 23 USC 110(a); 23 USC 315

CFR Citation: 23 CFR 630

Abstract: This document revised FHWA regulations to substitute Form PR-2 (Rev. 1-84), Federal-Aid Project Agreement for PR-2 (Rev. 10-75) of the same title. The revised, substituted form is necessary to incorporate statutory and regulatory requirements which have been issued since the form was last revised. The form PR-2 is prepared and executed for most Federal-aid highway projects in accordance with 23 USC 110. Editorial and format clarifications were also made to the form.

FEDERAL MOTOR VEHICLE SAFETY STANDARDS

295. HEAVY DUTY VEHICLE BRAKE SYSTEMS (FORMERLY TRUCK AND TRAILER BRAKE SYSTEMS)

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1392 National Traffic & Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966; 15 USC 1407 National Traffic & Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 571.121; 49 CFR 571.105

Abstract: Would establish a new brake standard for all trucks, buses and trailers with a Gross Vehicle Weight Rating (GVWR) over 10,000 pounds. This standard would replace Standard No. 121, Air Brake Systems, and that portion of Standard No. 105, Hydraulic Brake Systems, that applies to vehicles with a GVWR over 10,000 pounds. It would also establish new requirements for heavy trailers having other than air-actuated brakes. In developing the standard, the agency will consider compatibility with international regulations. Research programs in support of this new standard and possible future upgradings of the standard will investigate such long-term advanced braking system concepts as automatic brake adjustors, load-sensing proportioning valves, air driers, and retarders for heavy trucks, buses and trailers. This rule is considered significant because of the level of public and Congressional interest. It is necessary to prevent and reduce the severity of accidents involving heavy vehicles by providing increased accident avoidance capability.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1392 National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act ETC; 15 USC 1407 National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety ACT ETC

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 571.208; 49 CFR 572

Abstract: This rulemaking addresses the test procedures used in compliance testing, the dummy used for such testing, and the oblique angle test requirement in the automatic occupant crash protection standard. It also addresses some related issues including the standard's applicability to convertibles, reporting requirements for manufacturers, and the exercise of "due care" by manufacturers, in complying with the standard. This rulemaking will consider whether the Hybrid III dummy or a variation may be substituted for the dummy currently specified in 49 CFR 572 at some future time with corresponding changes in, or additions to the injury criteria established by the existing Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standard 208. The costs and benefits of these various proposed changes are not yet known. This regulation is significant because of its involvement with departmental policy.

FUEL ECONOMY STANDARDS

297. MY 1985-1986 LIGHT TRUCK FUEL ECONOMY STANDARDS

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2002

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 533

Abstract: In accordance with the mandatory requirements of section 502(b) of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act, this rulemaking would establish light truck average fuel economy standards for model year 1986 and revise the model year 1985 standard. The initial NPRM had proposed standards for MY 1987. That portion of the first proposal will be covered in a subsequent rulemaking. A second NPRM responded to a Ford Motor Co. petition for rulemaking to reconsider the model year 1984 and 1985 light truck fuel economy standard. The second NPRM proposed the maintenance of the 1984 standards and a lowering of the 1985 standards.

Abstract: In 1981, NHTSA rescinded the automatic restraint requirements of Standard No. 208. This action was reversed by a June 1982 opinion by the U.S. Court of Appeals (D.C. Cir.) and by a June 1983 opinion by the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court remanded the case to the Court of Appeals with directions to remand the matter to the Department for further consideration consistent with the Supreme Court opinion. (The Court of Appeals remanded the matter to the Department effective September 23, 1983.) On September 1, 1983, the Department published a notice suspending until September 1, 1984, the automatic restraint requirements of the standard, to permit the agency time for the further review contemplated by the Supreme Court decision. As a part of this review, the Department published a notice on October 19, 1983, proposing several alternative actions to provide protection for an automobile's front seat occupants in case of frontal, side-impact, and roll-over accidents. Public meetings were held in Los Angeles, Kansas City, and Washington, D.C. on November 28-29; December 1-2; and December 5-7, 1983, respectively. ABSTRACT CONT: rulemaking was published (49 FR 20460). This SNPRM asked for comments on remaining issues and four new alternatives. On July 11, 1984 the final rule was issued. This rule requires the installation of automatic protection systems in all new cars beginning with model year 1990 (September 1, 1989) unless, prior to that time, state mandatory belt usage laws are enacted that cover at least two-thirds of the U.S. population. The requirement would be phased in by an increasing percentage of production over a three-year period beginning with model year 1987 (September 1, 1986). To further encourage the installation of advanced technology, the rule would treat cars equipped with such technology other than automatic belts on the driver's side as equivalent to 1.5 vehicles during the phase-in.

305. SPLASH AND SPRAY SUPPRESSION DEVICES

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 49 USC 2314

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 583

Abstract: In accordance with the mandate of section 414 of the Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982, would establish minimum standards with respect to the performance of splash and spray suppression devices on truck tractors, semitrailers and trailers. Would also establish minimum standards with respect to the installation of splash and spray suppression devices on new vehicles. This regulation is significant because it is potentially controversial.

Timetable:

Action	Date	FR Cite
NPRM	10/00/84

Small Entity: Yes

Additional Information: NHTSA's rulemaking would only affect new vehicles and equipment. However, section 414 of the Surface Transportation Assistance Act also mandates that the Department of Transportation establish minimum standards with respect to the installation of splash and spray devices for vehicles already in service. The Federal Highway Administration will conduct the rulemaking to satisfy that mandate. The Federal Highway Administration has classified its rulemaking as major. The costs of that rulemaking are expected to be much greater than NHTSA's rulemaking since (1) the population of vehicles in service is many times the annual production of new trucks, (2) a truck manufacturer will pay less per unit for each splash and spray suppression device when ordered in large quantities, and (3) the labor time to install the devices is far less for a new truck manufacturer, since it can be done at the assembly plant.

Additional Information: In the past, states using Federal funds to purchase calibrating devices for evidential breath testing devices were required to purchase devices meeting NHTSA specifications, which were set forth in a standard. Since this requirement no longer applies to states, the reason for maintaining a standard no longer exists. The agency therefore plans to maintain the information in the form of guidelines.

FEDERAL MOTOR VEHICLE SAFETY STANDARDS

351. HYDRAULIC BRAKE SYSTEMS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1392; 15 USC 1407

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 571.105

Abstract: This standard, which currently applies to passenger cars and school buses, specifies requirements for hydraulic service brake and associated parking brake systems. (The standard became applicable, in modified form, to hydraulic braked trucks, all types of buses, and multipurpose passenger vehicles, in 1983. A priority review of this extension of the standard has already been completed.) The purpose of the standard is to ensure safe braking performance under normal and emergency conditions. The standard is being reviewed because of its relatively high costs, and the controversial nature of some of its requirements, as well as to refine previous agency estimates of its effectiveness. An evaluation report will be prepared and made available for public comment before completion of the review. At that time, the agency will consider whether changes should be made in the standard's requirements. It should also be noted that the agency is actively involved with the Economic Commission for Europe (ECE) in international harmonization efforts in this area. A review has determined that this rule has minimal effects on small entities, and therefore a Regulatory Flexibility Act Review (cont)

352. LAMPS, REFLECTIVE DEVICES, AND ASSOCIATED EQUIPMENT

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1392; 15 USC 1407

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 571.108

Abstract: This standard, which is applicable to both motor vehicles and equipment, specifies requirements for original and replacement lamps, reflective devices, and associated equipment necessary for signaling and for the safe operation of motor vehicles during darkness and other conditions of reduced visibility. The standard is being reviewed because of its relatively high costs and to refine previous agency estimates of its effectiveness. At the present time, the review is limited to the standards requirements for side marker lamps. An evaluation report will be prepared and made available for public comment before completion of the review. At that time, the agency will consider whether changes should be made in the standard's requirements. A review has determined that this rule has minimal effects on small entities and therefore a Regulatory Flexibility Act Review (RFA Review) is not required. The rule will still be reviewed as a priority review item.

354. SIDE DOOR STRENGTH

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1392; 15 USC 1407

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 571.214

Abstract: This regulation provides minimum standards for side door crash resistance for passenger cars under static test conditions. NHTSA estimates that the standard saves 2,800 lives and averts 7,000 injuries a year. A recurring cost of $300 million (an additional cost of $38 per vehicle) is associated with the requirement. An initial review of this regulation, originally promulgated in 1974, was completed in 1979.

355. FUEL SYSTEM INTEGRITY

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1392; 15 USC 1407

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 571.301

Abstract: This standard, which is applicable to passenger cars, school buses, and light trucks, specifies requirements for the integrity of motor vehicle fuel systems. The purpose of the standard is to reduce deaths and injuries occurring from fires that result from fuel spillage during and after motor vehicle crashes. The standard is being reviewed to refine previous agency estimates of its effectiveness. An evaluation report will be prepared and made available for public comment before completion of the review. At that time, the agency will consider whether changes should be made in the standard's requirements. Abstract: The NPRM invites comments on a proposed rule to address the problem of alcohol and drug use by employees engaged in rail operations. Alcohol and drugs may impair the performance of operating employees such as train and engine crews, and such impairment has been implicated in a number of serious railroad accidents. This rulemaking is significant because of substantial public interest.

Legal Authority: PL 96-354

Abstract: In accordance with the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA) review plan published in the Federal Register on June 30, 1981 (46 FR 33693), FRA has not selected any specific regulations for RFA review at this time. Instead, FRA has established a plan to develop regulatory definitions of the criteria used in the RFA for the selection of regulations to be reviewed. A notice was published in the Federal Register on August 3, 1981 (46 FR 39461) initiating a safety inquiry to evaluate the effectiveness of the safety regulatory program as it applies to small railroads.

Additional Information: The NPRM was published on January 19, 1981 (46 FR 6815). Comments on alternative approaches were invited until April 20, 1981. UMTA extended the comment period until May 20, 1981 (46 FR 23501). UMTA has reviewed this NPRM and determined not to proceed with this rulemaking. While this regulation is still effective and does apply to all UMTA funds obligated before Jan. 6, 1983, the Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982 (Pub. L. 97-424) imposes new and different Buy America requirements on UMTA recipients. Thus, UMTA has stopped all rulemaking activities on this regulation and issued a new Buy America regulation for new requirements in the 1982 STAA on September 15, 1983. UMTA has formally withdraw this NPRM.

392. REGULATION IMPLEMENTING THE NONDISCRIMINATION SECTION OF THE URBAN MASS TRANSPORTATION ACT

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1615 UMT Act Sec. 19

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 626

Abstract: The proposed regulations would unify the civil rights regulations that recipients of funds under the Urban Mass Transportation Act must meet. 402. ● BUY AMERICA REQUIREMENT

Legal Authority: PL 97-424, Sec 165 Surface Transportation Asst Act of 1982; PL 98-229

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 661.1(d); 49 CFR 661.5(a); 49 CFR 661.5(b)

Abstract: This final rule revises the existing Urban Mass Transportation Administration Buy America regulation to implement the provision mandated by Section 10 of Public Law 98-229 (98 Stat. 55), enacted on March 9, 1984. Section 10 amends Section 165(a) of the Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982 (STAA of 1982) by striking "cement" from the materials and products that are covered under Section 165. Cement and cement products are therefore deleted from the domestic preference requirements of the Buy America provision as of March 9, 1984.

403. ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY TARIFF OF TOLLS AMENDMENT

Legal Authority: 33 USC 988 68 Stat. 96

CFR Citation: 33 CFR 402

Abstract: Revision of 33 CFR Part 402 in accordance with the statutory requirements of 33 USC 988. The NPRM will set forth proposed changes to the charges to be assessed for the full or partial transit of the Saint Lawrence Seaway in 1985 and thereafter as appropriate. The changes will be the result of international negotiations between the Saint Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation and the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority of Canada. Cost will be borne primarily by foreign vessels, since these regulations relate to commercial users of the seaway. The economic benefits to be derived from a safe and efficiently operated St. Lawrence Seaway are considerable.

Legal Authority: 33 USC 981 to 990 68 Stat. 93-96; 33 USC 1221 92 Stat. 1471

CFR Citation: 33 CFR 401

Abstract: Periodic update of Subpart A, 33 CFR Part 401 operational regulations respecting the transit of vessels on the St. Lawrence Seaway developed jointly between the Saint Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation and the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority of Canada. Cost will be borne primarily by foreign vessels, since these regulations relate to commercial users of the seaway. The economic benefits to be derived from a safe and efficiently operated St. Lawrence Seaway are considerable.

405. REVIEW: PERFORMANCE-ORIENTED PACKAGING STANDARDS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1803; 49 USC 1804; 49 USC 1808

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 172; 49 CFR 173; 49 CFR 178

Abstract: To develop performance-oriented packaging standards for small packagings based on the Recommendation of the United Nations Committee of Experts on the Transport of Dangerous Goods. Also includes former non-significant rulemakings entitled "Consolidation of Specifications and Establishment of Performance Standards for Specification Bags" (Docket No. HM-153), "Specifications for and use of Specification 17 Steel Drums" (Docket No. HM-182), and "Organic Peroxide Requirements" (Project 186-72). The rulemaking is significant because a large number of specifications for packaging in the Hazardous Materials Regulations would be affected by this project. To a large extent the complexity and mass of the present Hazardous Materials Regulations are due to the detailed specification-type packaging standards contained in these regulations. To replace these with standards based on the U.N. system would both simplify the present regulations and facilitate international trade.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1803; 49 USC 1804; 49 USC 1809

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 171

Abstract: The current regulations require reports of hazardous material incidents. The objective of this review is to determine if the current data requirements can be modified to reduce the burden on industry but still result in the collection of the information needed for the hazardous materials safety program. Although safety programs, such as the one covered by these regulations, require data in order to function properly, it is possible that the data collection can be made less burdensome.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1804

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 171; 49 CFR 172; 49 CFR 173

Abstract: Requested comments on the burdens and benefits associated with incorporating EPA revised Reportable Quantities of Hazardous Substances into the Hazardous Materials Regulations. Discussion of the regulatory alternatives being considered is included. Potential costs and benefits are unknown at this time. This regulation is significant because of substantial public interest and because it is potentially controversial.

438. ● MODIFICATIONS TO DOT SPECIFICATION 21PF-1 OVERPACKS

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 178

Abstract: This rulemaking responds to a Department of Energy request that we improve the water resistance of overpacks used in the transportation of uranium hexafluoride. The natural form of mined uranium has low radioactivity; it must be purified to produce a form suitable for certain commercial uses. The purification process produces a small amount of radioactive uranium hexafluoride and a large amount of waste uranium hexafluoride enriched in the fissionable U-235 isotope that is of low radioactivity. This rulemaking addresses the packaging for the more highly radioactive, enriched uranium hexafluoride. It does not address the low level radioactive waste uranium hexafluoride, which is transported in plain cylinders.

In the recent capsize of a French vessel carrying uranium hexafluoride, there was a danger of radioactive contamination because the vessel was carrying a variety of uranium hexafluoride packages; some contained material that had been removed from spent reactor fuel and reprocessed for reuse. In the United States, this material is never reprocessed, furthermore, the enriched form of uranium hexafluoride is always carried (cont)

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: in the United States in the overpacks that are addressed in this rulemaking. RSPA has no data showing any releases of radioactivity from these overpacks. DOE has been rejecting some deliveries from its contractors because of water in the overpacks; this rulemaking would increase the resistance of the overpacks to water penetration and retention.

440. ● TRITIUM AND CARBON-14; LOW SPECIFIC ACTIVITY RADIOACTIVE MATERIALS TRANSPORTED FOR DISPOSAL

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1803; 49 USC 1804; 49 USC 1808

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 173.425(d)

Abstract: Currently, the transportation of tritium and carbon-14 is more strictly regulated than their disposal. In order to correct this disparity, MTB proposes to regulate their transportation to a degree more appropriate to the limited risk which they present. The proposal would permit shippers to disregard the radioactive hazard if the specific activity of the material does not exceed 0.05 microcuries per gram. This will permit disposal of these materials at other than radioactive material disposal sites. As this is a relaxation of the current rules there would be a cost savings to shippers. In addition, the scarce disposal sites for radioactive materials could be more efficiently used for the containment of more highly radioactive wastes.

Legal Authority: 46 USC 1114(b); 46 USC 1241(b)(2); PL 97-31

CFR Citation: 46 CFR 381

Abstract: The rule will set forth procedures governing the evaluation by U.S. departments or agencies of bids from subsidized U.S.-flag bulk vessel operators for the carriage of dry bulk preference cargoes. It is significant because it is expected to be of substantial interest to the various U.S. shipper departments and agencies and to the maritime industry for which the shipment of preference cargoes represents a major source of business.

Abstract: This rulemaking was intended to amend the ten regulations related to shipping operations that govern the activities of the NSA, within MARAD during times of war and national emergency. These regulations are exempt from the notice provisions of 5 USC 553 because they involve a military function. It has been determined that amendments would require an inordinate effort relative to the benefits to be derived at this time. This action has therefore been terminated.

477. REVIEW: CAPITAL CONSTRUCTION FUND

Legal Authority: 46 USC 1177; 46 USC 1114(b)

CFR Citation: 46 CFR 390

Abstract: Amendments to regulations would clarify existing provisions and remove restrictions on fundholders. Amendments would also establish a nonrefundable application fee and an annual "activity fee", assessed on each fundholder on a sliding scale. Based on reevaluation, a determination has been made that neither clarification nor new fees are essential at this time. This project has therefore been terminated.

Semiannual Agenda

AGENCY: Office of the Secretary, Treasury.

ACTION: Semiannual agenda.

SUMMARY: This notice is given pursuant to the requirements of the "Regulatory Flexibility Act" (Pub. L. 96-354, September 19, 1980) and Executive Order 12291 ("Federal Regulation," February 17, 1981), which require the publication of a semiannual agenda of regulations. The semiannual agenda of the Department of the Treasury conforms to the Unified Agenda Format developed by the Regulatory Information Service Center.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For additional information about a specific Office of the Secretary regulation contained in this agenda, contact the "agency contact" listed in the specific regulatory action. For general information concerning the agenda of the Department of the Treasury, contact Richard S. Carro, Special Assistant for Regulatory Affairs, Office of the General Counsel, Room 1422, 1500 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20220, (202) 566-8464.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The semiannual agenda of the Office of the Secretary includes the Office of the General Counsel and the Office of Revenue Sharing.

By direction of the Secretary.
DATED: August 27, 1984.

9. AGE DISCRIMINATION REGULATIONS

Legal Authority: 31 USC 6701 to 6724 The Revenue Sharing Act; 42 USC 6701 et seq Age Discrimination Act of 1975

CFR Citation: 31 CFR 51

Abstract: The Office of Revenue Sharing is required, pursuant to the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, to issue regulations implementing that Act. A proposed rule containing these regulations was issued on December 31, 1979 (44 FR 77456), as part of the overall revision of the revenue sharing regulations. Final regulations were drafted and submitted in 1979 for approval to HHS. The regulations will be issued shortly after HHS provides final approval.

Semiannual Agenda

AGENCY: Bureau of Government Financial Operations, Treasury.

ACTION: Semiannual Agenda.

SUMMARY: This notice is given pursuant to the requirements of the "Regulatory Flexibility Act" (Pub. L. 96-354, September 19, 1980) and Executive Order 12291 ("Federal Regulation," February 17, 1981), which require the publication of a semiannual agenda of regulations under development or review.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For additional information about a specific regulation contained in this agenda, contact the "agency contact" listed in the specific regulatory action.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The proposed regulations are not considered to be major regulations within the meaning of E.O. 12291 and will not have a significant impact on small entities within the meaning of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

DATED: August 16, 1984.

11. REVISION OF TREASURY DEPARTMENT CIRCULAR (TDC) NO. 1075, REGULATIONS GOVERNING WITHDRAWAL OF CASH FROM THE TREASURY FOR ADVANCES UNDER FEDERAL GRANT AND OTHER PROGRAMS

Legal Authority: 5 USC 301; 31 USC 6503; 42 USC 4213

CFR Citation: 31 CFR 205

Abstract: Revision of TDC No. 1075 will formally establish the Letter of Credit-Treasury Financial Communications System (LOC-TFCS). The two established letter of credit systems, the Letter of Credit-Federal Reserve Bank System and the Letter of Credit-Treasury Regional Disbursing Office System, do not provide the combination of Federal agency preaudit of payment requests and guaranteed payment time. The LOC-TFCS provides both of these features, thus enabling improved Federal control of advances made through letter of credit. In addition, other financing issues, such as developing more definitive guidelines for the immediate cash requirements of recipient organizations receiving advances of Federal funds, will be addressed at this time.

12. FEDERAL RECURRING PAYMENTS THROUGH FINANCIAL ORGANIZATIONS BY MEANS OTHER THAN CHECKS

Legal Authority: 5 USC 301; 12 USC 391

CFR Citation: 31 CFR 210

Abstract: Analysis showed the need to simplify and clarify the reclamation sections of the regulation, and to provide notice to account owners when the Government seeks recovery of post-death direct deposit/EFT payments from financial institutions. A notice of proposed rulemaking published August 7, 1984 explains the reasons for these changes. See 49 FR 31450.

Abstract: The amended regulations will revise United States Code references; revise titles of designated officials; reduce quarterly reporting requirements of insurance companies from an estimated 4,000 hours annually to approximately 2,000 hours; eliminate the admitted reinsurer requirement thereby eliminating the reporting requirements and fees of 150 companies and saving approximately 900 staff review hours. Other benefits will include the reduction in application and renewal fees currently $1,050 and $700 respectively (by 30 to 50 percent); reduction in staff hours required for annual reviews (cut from 3700 hours to 1850 hours); reduction in staff hours required for application reviews (cut from 1800 to 900) and quarterly reviews (cut from 200 to 100 hours). Purpose of the revisions is to substantially reduce the human and material resources needs of this operation.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 5 USC 301; 31 USC 3301 to 3302; 31 USC 3720

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Abstract: Authority to prescribe the timing and mechanisms for collection and deposit of Federal Agency Receipts will result in a development of an integrated government collection system, thereby reducing interest losses on collection float, providing accurate and timely cash position and account balance data, and provide for efficient handling of transactions. Regulations are required by Deficit Reduction Act of 1984, Division B, Title 6, Subtitle C, Section 2652.

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 5 USC 301; 31 USC 3301; 31 USC 3302; 31 USC 3720

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Abstract: To further enhance the deposit and collection operations of the Government, increased use of the most efficient delivery system, the Treasury Financial Communications System (TFCS), must be accomplished. Some of the increase can be gained via voluntary actions by Federal agencies; however, mandatory use of TFCS for very large dollar deposits is considered a must to increase the efficiency of a significant number of large dollar deposits. This regulation is currently in the research stage.

Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations

AGENCY: Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF), Treasury.

ACTION: General notice; Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations of regulatory projects under development, consideration, and review.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to section 5 of Executive Order 12291, entitled "Federal Regulations," ATF is publishing an agenda of proposed regulations that are expected to be issued and of proposed regulations that have been issued and an agenda of existing regulations that are being reviewed under the terms of the Executive Order, within the next six months. The latter agenda also lists regulatory projects identified for review pursuant to the ATF Regulatory Reform Program. Pursuant to section 610 of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354; 5 U.S.C. 610), ATF is also indicating whether a regulatory project is likely to have a significant economic impact upon a substantial number of small entities.

This general notice is designed to give the public adequate notice of the regulatory activities being contemplated by ATF.

The agenda is based on information available at the present time. The next Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations will be published in the Federal Register of April 1985.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For information about any particular regulatory project, contact the person listed in the subheading "Agency Contact," for the regulatory project.

28. LATE HARVEST DESIGNATION FOR WINE

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 27 USC 205E; 27 USC 205F

CFR Citation: 27 CFR 4.29

Abstract: Late harvest designations, based on the Brix (percent by weight) level of the grapes at harvest would indicate to consumers that the grapes used to produce the wine were left on the vine for express purpose of increasing the sugar content. The designations would indicate additional techniques and processes were used in the production of the wine.

29. CHANGE IN STANDARD OF IDENTITY FOR STRAIGHT WHISKIES OF THE SAME TYPE

Legal Authority: 27 USC 205

CFR Citation: 27 CFR 5.22(b)(1)(iii); 27 CFR 19.346(b)

Abstract: Current regulations do not provide for distilled spirits plant proprietors to mingle and still designate as straight whiskies of the same type produced at different distilleries or produced by different distillers. This project will allow such whiskies to be labeled as straight as long as the whiskies are produced within the same state. Their only alternative is to leave the regulations as they are and to not allow such whiskies to be mingled and designated as straight. We do not anticipate any extra costs to result from this change in regulations. This change will result in greater flexibility for distilled spirits plant proprietors.

31. EFFECT OF REDUCED CUSTOMS STAFFING AT CUSTOMS BONDED WAREHOUSES

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805

CFR Citation: 27 CFR 252; 27 CFR 251

Abstract: The Customs Bureau has withdrawn Customs Officers from Customs Bonded Warehouses, consequently, there are no Customs Officers present to certify ATF forms or to make gauges of distilled spirits. Because of possible jeopardy to the Federal Revenue, ATF has issued instructions to proprietors of customs bonded warehouses requesting them to certify ATF forms and make gauges of distilled spirits in the absence of customs officers. This change in regulations will formalize this procedure. The alternative to allowing customs bonded warehouse proprietors to sign forms and gauge spirits is to not require anyone to perform these functions. This would result in an unacceptable risk to the Federal Revenue. We do not anticipate any extra costs to result from this change in regulations. This change will ensure that there is no jeopardy to the Federal Revenue.

32. REDUCED PROOF DISTILLED SPIRITS PRODUCTS

Legal Authority: 27 USC 205

CFR Citation: 27 CFR 5.22

Abstract: ATF is publishing an ANPRM to gather information from consumers and industry on whether our regulations should be amended to provide for reduced proof distilled spirits products similar to "light beer", "light wine" and similar "light" products which have become increasingly popular with consumers in recent years. Since 1968, the words "light whisky" have referred to whisky produced by two processes which are different from other American whiskies and the term "light" does not refer to lower alcohol content. However, ATF is considering abolishing "light whisky" as a standard of identity, so that the word "light" can refer only to reduced alcohol content. Unlike wine and beer, distilled spirits products are usually sold at more than one bottling proof (e.g. whisky is frequently sold at 80 degrees, 86 degrees, and 100 degrees proof) with the difference in proof being the only distinction between products which are otherwise identical. Therefore, ATF must carefully consider labeling to insure there exists a clear cut difference in the minds of consumers between products at minimum bottling proof or above minimum bottling proof, and those which are reduced in proof.

Abstract: Currently, exporters of bottled distilled spirits are required to overprint the word "EXPORT" on the strip stamps (or alternative devices) affixed to each bottle that is exported (a tax-free removal). This requirement is burdensome for exporters in that it restricts flexibility over bottling operations.

ATF is proposing to eliminate this requirement, provided the exporter's records can be relied upon to accurately reflect all export transactions. Cases of bottled spirits will still be required to be marked in accordance with 27 CFR 252.103.

Abstract: Under current law (26 USC 7652), the excise taxes collected on all merchandise manufactured in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, and shipped to the U.S., are deposited into the Treasury of either Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands.

The Caribbean Basin Economic Recovery Act was passed to promote the economic revitalization of the Caribbean Basin area by removing the duty on certain merchandise from certified Caribbean Basin countries. In order to minimize any adverse effects this would have on Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, a provision was added to require that the excise taxes collected on all rum that is imported into the U.S. be deposited in the Treasuries of Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. This would be in addition to the amounts already transferred under 26 U.S.C. 7652 (a) and (b).

Semiannual Agenda of Regulatory Actions

AGENCY: Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, Treasury.

ACTION: Semiannual agenda of regulations.

SUMMARY: As required by the Regulatory Flexibility Act and Executive Order 12291, the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (Office) has prepared this semiannual agenda of its rules and regulations currently under review and scheduled for review. Regulatory actions taken since the publication of the Office's previous semiannual agenda on April 19, 1984 (49 FR 16209) are also included. It is expected that this semiannual agenda will enable the public to be more aware of, and allow it to more effectively participate in, the Office's regulatory activity.

ADDRESS: The mailing address for all contacts: Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, 490 L'Enfant Plaza East, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20219.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For general information about this semiannual agenda contact Nancy Lowther, Financial Analyst, Legislative and Regulatory Analysis Division, (202) 447-1177.

For additional information about a particular item on this semiannual agenda contact the individual identified as the contact person.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Office has determined that none of the rulemakings discussed in this semiannual agenda requires a regulatory flexibility analysis; all entries have been determined not to have a "significant impact on a substantial number of small entities," and therefore are not subject to the provisions of the Act. Additionally, none of the rules, with the exception of Minimum Capital Ratios, is a "major" rule as defined by Executive Order 12291. Executive Order 12291 defines a "major" rule as one likely to result in:

(1) An annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more;

(2) A major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State, or local government agencies, or geographic regions; or

(3) Significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

DATED: August 16, 1984.

H. Joe Selby,

Acting Comptroller of the Currency.

52. FIDUCIARY POWERS OF NATIONAL BANKS AND COLLECTIVE INVESTMENT FUNDS

Legal Authority: Sec 1, 77 Stat 668; 12 USC 92a; 12 USC 481

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 9

Abstract: Comments in response to a prior rulemaking [Final rule Docket No. 80-16 (46 FR 71571) published October 29, 1980] included recommendations that additional amendments should be made to 12 CFR Part 9. The Office believes that the issues raised by the commenters can best be addressed through a comprehensive review of its regulations concerning national bank fiduciary powers and collective investment funds. The Office requested comments from the public as to the desirability and feasibility of a comprehensive review of its trust regulations pertaining to collective investment funds, including specific matters which should be addressed. The effect on small entities will be considered in the development of this rulemaking.

53. SECURITIES EXCHANGE ACT DISCLOSURE RULES

Legal Authority: 15 USC 78

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 11

Abstract: Rule proposal addresses a series of amendments to the securities disclosure regulations of the Office. The proposed amendments govern such matters as the form and content of financial statements of national banks, prescribed formats for financial statements and schedules, and requirements prohibiting the falsification of accounting records and misrepresentations by officers and directors of national banks. The Office seeks to minimize the regulatory burden of the Securities Exchange Act disclosure requirements and to make these rules more understandable. The Office is particularly interested in meeting these goals in order to facilitate the development of conforming regulations concerning Securities Exchange Act disclosure requirements. The Office, together with the other banking agencies, is coordinating with the SEC in these efforts. The effect on small entities will be considered in the development of this rulemaking.

54. REQUIRED NOTIFICATION TO NOMINATE BANK DIRECTORS

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1 et seq

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 17

Abstract: This regulation states that national banks may adopt bylaws or articles of association that require any shareholder proposing to nominate a director, other than a management nominee, to file certain information in advance with the Office and the bank. A proposal to rescind this regulation was published in the Federal Register.

Because of the comments received on that proposal, the Office is now considering retaining the regulation in revised form. Alternative approaches are being considered together with revisions of other rules affecting the corporate governance of national banks with a view toward developing uniform federal standards. The effect on small entities will be considered in the development of this rulemaking.

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1 et seq; 12 USC 93a; 12 USC 1818; 12 USC 1881 et seq

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 7.5225

Abstract: This ruling governs the reporting of crimes involving bank personnel or bank funds. The Office is considering changing the ruling into a regulation and making revisions to decrease the reporting requirements of banks. Topics under review include the number of offices with which reports must be filed, the $1,000 threshold for reporting mysterious disappearances of funds, and the range of crimes intended to be covered by the reporting requirements. The effect on small entities will be considered in the development of this rulemaking.

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 27

Abstract: This regulation requires national banks to record and retain information on age, race, sex, and marital status of applicants for home loans. Its purpose is to gather data necessary to statistically analyze lending practices to detect possible illegal discrimination. The Office is reviewing this regulation to determine if it is achieving its intended result. Research is being conducted to determine if there are alternate means of collecting data or if nonessential data may be eliminated. Abstract: The Garn-St. Germain Depository Institutions Act of 1982, PL 97-320, empowered this Office to charter bankers' banks, i.e., limited purpose national associations which will be owned exclusively by--and provide services solely to--depository institutions. On January 26, 1983, this office published an advance notice of proposed rulemaking Docket No. 83-3 (48 FR 3624) in order to solicit comments on what is virtually a new area of law. 58. BANK SERVICE CORPORATIONS

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1861 et seq

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 5, (New Subsection)

Abstract: The Bank Service Corporation Act was significantly amended by Section 709 of the Garn-St. Germain Depository Institutions Act of 1982, PL 97-320. Under the amended Act, a national bank may now invest up to 10% of paid-in and unimpaired capital and surplus in a bank service corporation. Prior approval of the appropriate federal regulator is necessary for a national bank to invest in a bank service corporation under certain conditions. The Office will publish notice of proposed rulemaking to solicit comments on proposed policies and procedures for obtaining the required approval. The effect on small entities will be considered in the development of this rulemaking.

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 5.52; 12 CFR 12.6(e)

Abstract: Rule proposal addresses circumstances under which the brokerage activities of national banks should be conducted in operating subsidiaries of such banks. Such arrangements would appear to provide this Office with a more efficient means of supervising and examining bank brokerage activities. The effect on small entities will be considered in the development of this rulemaking.

61. ● DISCLOSURE OF FINANCIAL AND OTHER INFORMATION REGARDING NATIONAL BANKS

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1 et seq; 12 USC 93a

Abstract: The advance notice of proposed rulemaking requests comments on whether changes should be made in the current public disclosures required of national banks. The comments received in response to the 25 questions posed will be used in the assessment of the need for and content of a regulation regarding financial disclosure. These questions are in four general areas: general characteristics of an effective disclosure system, additional information about operations and management, additional disclosure of administrative enforcement actions, and cost-benefit considerations of possible changes. The effect on small entities will be considered in the development of this rulemaking.

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1 et seq; 12 USC 93a; 12 USC 161; 12 USC 1818; 12 USC 3907; 12 USC 3909

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 3, (New); 12 CFR 7.1100

Abstract: The proposed regulation would establish required minimum levels of capital for national banks and procedures to assure that national banks achieve and maintain adequate capital. This action is required by section 908 of the International Lending Supervision Act of 1983, 12 USC 3907. The proposed minimum ratios of capital to assets, definitions of primary and secondary capital, procedures, and other issues have been presented for comment and alternatives on these issues will be considered in conjunction with the final regulation. Because some banks, including several large banks, would need to raise or generate additional capital to meet the minimum ratios, underwriting costs may be significant, competition in capital markets is likely to increase, and dividends could be lower than historical averages until the required capital ratios have been achieved. Benefits of the proposal would include an increased capacity for banks to fund economic growth and to withstand losses, and increased stability in the nation's financial system. The minimum capital levels required by the regulation are lower than those currently contained in agency guidelines used to evaluate (cont)

64. RULES, POLICIES, AND PROCEDURES FOR CORPORATE ACTIVITIES

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1 et seq

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 5

Abstract: The Office is engaged in a comprehensive review of its rules, policies, and procedures governing corporate activities. On March 5, 1984 at 49 FR 7981 the Office issued a final rule to simplify the approval process for a national bank seeking to establish fiduciary powers by replacing the formal application with a simple letter of notification and by eliminating publication requirements. In addition, the final rule provided for delegation of approval authority to the district offices. On April 17, 1984 at 49 FR 15068 a final rule was published which simplified the approval process for a state bank seeking to convert to a national bank by replacing the formal application with a simple letter of notification and by eliminating the publication requirement. The effect of this rulemaking is expected to be beneficial rather than adverse, and small entities are expected to share the benefits of this rulemaking with larger institutions. Other regulations are currently being reviewed to streamline application processes. Proposed rules have been issued on new bank charters (January 6, 1984 at 49 FR 893) and on equity capital and subordinated (cont)

65. INDEMNIFICATION OF BANK DIRECTORS AND PERSONNEL

Legal Authority: 12 USC 24; 12 USC 93a

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 7.5217

Abstract: This interpretive ruling authorizes national banks to have indemnification articles in their articles of association providing for indemnification of directors and officers either in situations where local law or the Model Business Corporation Act would allow it. These choices replace the ruling which permitted an indemnification article allowing for indemnification where the director or officer did not commit a willful act leading to liability. This interpretive ruling also addresses special situations where administrative action results in assessment of personal liability. It provides for insurance coverage of the acts of directors, officers and employees except where civil money penalties have been assessed. It attempts to balance the needs of banks in being able to easily recruit competent personnel and the desire to ensure conscientious performance of duties by directors or officers. This ruling will not require national banks to expend any funds or file reports, and will not otherwise have an adverse effect on their prices and costs.

66. DATA PROCESSING SERVICES

Legal Authority: 12 USC 24(7)

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 7.3500

Abstract: This interpretive ruling concerns national bank data processing It was revised to eliminate certain language which had caused some confusion in the past. As revised, the interpretive ruling contains no examples or lists of permissible data processing activities. Rather the ruling provides the analytical framework for deciding the permissibility of particular data processing activities of national banks. This framework is based on the premise that data processing is not itself a distinct type of bank service. Rather, it is a technology used to render banking services. As such, data processing can be used by a national bank to perform any service which the bank may legally perform.

67. CHARGES BY NATIONAL BANKS

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1 et seq

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 7.8000

Abstract: This interpretive ruling, which concerns the charges that may be imposed by national banks, was revised to make it clear that the ruling itself does not preempt state law regarding national bank service charges on deposit accounts. The Office believes that the comprehensive federal statutory scheme enacted over the years, together with more recent legislative actions deregulating bank deposits, leaves no room for states to impose restrictions on national bank deposit account service charges. In addition, this amendment makes it clear that the Office has the authority to deal with instances of unacceptable pricing.

68. ACCOUNTING FOR INTERNATIONAL LOAN FEES

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1 et seq; PL 98-181, Sec 906

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 20.7; 12 CFR 20.9

Abstract: This regulation and similar regulations of the Federal Reserve System and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, establish uniform requirements for the accounting for fees associated with restructuring of international lending arrangements and nonrefundable fees charged by banking institutions in connection with other international loans. The regulations cover flat fees which are designed to increase the yield of the loan, syndication and management fees, agency fees, commitment fees and other similar fees. The purpose of the regulation is to assure that the appropriate portion of such fees is accrued in income over the effective life of the relevant loan as required by section 906 of the International Lending Supervision Act of 1983. Since small banks generally do not engage extensively in international lending, they would not be affected by this rulemaking.

70. ASSESSMENT OF FEES; NATIONAL BANKS; DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA BANKS

Legal Authority: 12 USC 482

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 8.2

Abstract: The rule provides for a 12 percent increase in the assessment fees to be paid by national banks on or before July 31, 1984, and on or before January 31, 1985. The increase is necessary for the Office to continue its effective supervision of the national banking system. The regulation does not impose additional reporting or recordkeeping requirements on any bank subject to the jurisdiction of this Office, nor does it have a substantial impact on smaller banks.

72. ● ADJUSTABLE-RATE MORTGAGES

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1 et seq; 12 USC 93a; 12 USC 371

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 29.7(d)

Abstract: The disclosure statement under 12 CFR 29.7(d) must be reprinted in or affixed to bank loan application or note forms for short-term or demand mortgage loans in order to exempt such loans from ARM coverage. Recently, it has become apparent to this Office that the identifying language in the statement may confuse borrowers when used in conjunction with certain loan application and note forms in widespread use among banks. This amendment resolves the potential identification confusion by permitting banks to alter the statement so that its terminology identifying the borrower is consistent with that used in the banks' forms. Where a bank uses a loan application or loan note that is written in the first person, it may also insert first-person terminology, as appropriate, for second-person terminology in the disclosure statement. This Office believes that the language clarifications will ensure better communication between banks and borrowers and will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

73. ● REPORTING OF FOREIGN EXCHANGE ACTIVITIES

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1 et seq; 12 USC 161

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 20.5

Abstract: This final rule will conform this regulation to recent changes in the monthly foreign currency reporting of banks in the United States. Such changes included a transfer in the authority to collect this data from the Treasury Department to the Federal bank regulatory agencies (this Office, Federal Reserve Board, and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation) and changes to the reporting process and format. The final rule will reflect the revised reporting requirements and eliminate an unnecessary and possibly confusing requirement that copies of the former FC-1a and FC-2a reports be submitted to this Office. Since small banks do not engage extensively in foreign currency activities, they would not be affected by this rulemaking.

Semiannual Agenda

AGENCY: U.S. Customs Service, Treasury.

ACTION: Semiannual agenda.

SUMMARY: In response to Pub. L. 96-354, the "Regulatory Flexibility Act," and Executive Order 12291, "Federal Regulation," Customs has prepared and is publishing for public information a list of regulations either under development or under review.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For additional information regarding the substance of any particular regulatory project described in the agenda, please communicate with the person identified as the "Agency Contact." All agency contact persons are located at U.S. Customs Service Headquarters, the address of which is noted below. Comments or inquiries of a general nature about the agenda itself should be directed to Gertrude A. Bresnahan, Regulations Control Branch, Office of Regulations and Rulings, Headquarters, U.S. Customs Service, Room 2426, 1301 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C. 20229 (202-566-8237).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Pub. L. 96-354, the "Regulatory Flexibility Act" (RFA) and Executive Order (E.O.) 12291 of February 17, 1981, "Federal Regulation," require semiannual publication, in April and October of each year, of an agenda of regulations which are "likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities" and "major" regulations, respectively. The RFA and E.O. 12291 also require agencies to include in their agendas currently effective rules which are under agency review. Customs agenda includes a brief abstract of each regulatory project ("project") being considered, an indication of whether the project will have an RFA impact, the section(s) of the Code of Federal Regulations affected, the legal authority for the action being taken, the name, title, and telephone number of an agency contact and, where applicable, an approximate timetable of completing action on any project for which Customs has published a notice of proposed rulemaking. In addition, the status of projects referred to in previously published agendas is shown.

The following is the eighth semiannual agenda to be published by Customs under the RFA and E.O. 12291. It has been determined that none of the projects listed as being under development meets the standards required of a "major" regulation provided in E.O. 12291.

General statutory authority for the development or review of regulations relating to Customs matters is found in section 301, title 5, United States Code (5 U.S.C. 301), and in sections 66 and 1624, title 19, United States Code (19 U.S.C. 66, 1624). When appropriate, additional specific statutory authority is indicated as the legal authority for the project.

DATED: August 17, 1984.

Director, Office of Regulations and Rulings.

Improving Government Regulations; Semiannual Agenda of Regulations

AGENCY: Internal Revenue Service, Treasury.

ACTION: Semiannual agenda of regulations.

SUMMARY: This semiannual agenda lists the regulations determined as of July 31, 1984, that the Internal Revenue Service will be developing from July 31, 1984 through October 1, 1985. The purpose of this semiannual agenda is to give the public adequate notice of regulatory activities of the Internal Revenue Service.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Robert A. Bley, Executive Assistant to the Director, Legislation and Regulations Division, Office of the Chief Counsel, Internal Revenue Service, 1111 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20224, Attention: CC:LR (202-566-3331), not a toll-free call.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

General

Section 5 of Executive Order 12291 and section 602 of the Regulatory Flexibility Act and the Treasury Directive implementing that Act all require that a semiannual agenda of regulations under development and review be published in the Federal Register. The next semiannual agenda of the Internal Revenue Service will be published in the Federal Register in April of 1985.

Description

This Semiannual Agenda of Regulations lists all projects within the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.) as of July 31, 1984, for the development of regulations to appear in the Code of Federal Regulations. This agenda lists existing regulations under development by the Legislation and Regulations Division and the Employee Plans and Exempt Organizations Division of the Office of Chief Counsel, I.R.S. The following information is provided for each regulation project: the Title; priority status; whether the regulation is currently under review; its effect, if any, on small businesses; the part of the Code of Federal Regulations affected; the legal authority for issuing the regulation; a brief description of the problem to be addressed in the regulation; and a timetable of action taken and to be taken. Under additional information there is provided the control number of the project within the Chief Counsel's Office, and the name and telephone numbers of the drafting and reviewing attorneys.

By direction of the Secretary of the Treasury.

Roscoe L. Egger, Jr.,

Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 103 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations would provide guidance to issuers, purchasers and users of tax-exempt obligations relating to whether amounts are replaced by the proceeds of such obligations. As such, such amounts will be treated as proceeds of such obligation and would be required to be invested at less than a materially higher yield. If such amounts are not invested at less than a materially higher yield than the yield on the obligations then the obligations would be arbitrage bonds.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 103 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The amendments to the regulations would provide additional rules to determine under what circumstances property is treated as functionally related and subordinate to an exempt facility, such as a dock or wharf, and, therefore financeable with tax-exempt industrial development bonds. Furthermore, the regulations would examine the public use requirement which generally restricts tax-exempt financing to exempt facilities used by the general public.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 103(b) Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: This regulation would define the meaning of the term "principal user of a facility" for purposes of applying the limitation set by the Internal Revenue Code upon the permissible size of a small issue of tax-exempt industrial development bonds, as diminished by certain other capital expenditures. This regulation would help identify other facilities the capital expenditures from which must be taken into account in determining whether that issue exceeds the small issue limitation.

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulation would provide guidance regarding the effect of an urban development action grant with respect to a specific facility, upon the capital expenditures limitation with respect to a small issue of tax-exempt industrial bonds issued to finance such facility. The regulation may also provide guidance regarding the required size of such grant in relation to the cost of the facility to be financed by the bond issue, and the nexus between the grant and the financed facility.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 103(b)(6) Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: This regulation would establish revised procedures whereby the issuer of a small issue of tax-exempt industrial development bonds can elect to have a $10 million limitation rather than a $1 million limitation apply in determining the maximum allowable size of such issue. This regulation would centralize the filing of documents relating to this election to make its requirements more administrable.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 103(c) Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations would provide miscellaneous changes to the arbitrage regulations. The changes would provide guidance to issuers, purchasers and users of tax-exempt obligations. The regulations would relate to the calculations of yield for purposes of determining whether obligations are tax-exempt. If the yield on obligations acquired with the proceeds of a governmental obligation are materially higher than the yield on the governmental obligation then the interest paid on the governmental obligation is not tax-exempt.

146. TO PROVIDE REGULATIONS REQUIRING CERTAIN DEBT OBLIGATIONS TO BE ISSUED IN REGISTERED FORM

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 103 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 163 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The rules will provide that certain debt obligations issued after December 31, 1982, must be in registered form. The rules will provide examples of certain obligations that are not subject to the registration requirements. The sanctions for not issuing an obligation in registered form are the denial of an interest deduction and the denial that the interest is tax exempt.

147. TO PROVIDE REGULATIONS UNDER SECTION 103(B)(10) RELATING TO LOCAL DISTRICT HEATING AND COOLING FACILITIES

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code; 26 USC 103 Internal Revenue Code

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations would provide guidance to issuers, purchasers and users of industrial development bonds substantially all of the proceeds of which are to be used to provide local district heating and cooling. As such, the regulations will provide guidance with respect to which parts of heating and cooling facilities may be financed with the proceeds of such bonds.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 103 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The proposal will clarify the information reporting requirements with respect to private activity bonds. Industrial development bonds must be publicly approved--failure to fulfill this requirement results in loss of tax exemption for the interest on these bonds. Issuers of student loan bonds, charitable use bonds and industrial development bonds are required to supply certain information to the Internal Revenue Service. Failure to comply with this requirement will result in the loss of tax exemption for the bond's interest.

150. DEFINITION OF "MATERIALLY HIGHER" FOR ACQUIRED PURPOSE OBLIGATIONS GUARANTEED BY FEDERAL DEPOSITORY INSURANCE

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code; 26 USG 103 Internal Revenue Code

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations would provide guidance to issuers, purchasers and users of tax-exempt obligations the proceeds of which are used to acquire acquired purpose obligations which are guaranteed by Federal Depository Insurance. Thus, the regulations would determine whether the yield produced by certificates of deposit are materially higher than the yield on the tax-exempt obligations. If the yield on acquired purpose obligations is materially higher than the yield on such obligations then the interest paid thereon is not tax-exempt.

151. TO PROVIDE REGULATIONS UNDER SECTION 103A RELATING TO MORTGAGE SUBSIDY BONDS FOR COOPERATIVE HOUSING CORPORATIONS

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code; 26 USC 103A Internal Revenue Code

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations will interpret the rules under section 103A, relating to mortgage subsidy bonds, as those rules relate to cooperatives. A mortgage subsidy bond is an obligation a significant portion of the proceeds of which are used to provide financing for single-family, owner-occupied residences. The proposed regulations also would provide rules for the treatment of certain leasing cooperatives under section 103 (b) (4) (A), relating to industrial development bonds for residential rental projects.

152. INTEREST EXEMPT OTHER THAN UNDER THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 103(m) Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The proposal would describe the application of new Code section 103 (m) to interest earned on obligations which are exempt from taxation under Federal laws outside the Internal Revenue Code. Section 103 (m) broadens the types of obligations described in section 103 (a) to include obligations on which the interest is tax-exempt under provisions of Federal law outside of the Code. Section 103 (m) provides that interest on obligations described in section 103 (m) is considered to be interest described in section 103 (a) for all purposes of the Code.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 168(e)(3) Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The temporary regulations would provide guidance to public utilities relating to the transitional rules for the public utility normalization requirements of ACRS under section 168 (e) (3). Prior to ACRS some public utilities did not have to normalize in order to use accelerated depreciation. Under the transitional rule these utilities are given until January 1, 1983 to meet the normalization requirements of section 168 (e) (3).

253. INCOME TAX--DEDUCTIBILITY OF PAYMENTS OF DEFERRED COMPENSATION TO INDEPENDENT CONTRACTORS

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 404(d) Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 404(b) Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations provide rules for taking a deduction under section 404(d) of the Internal Revenue Code for deferred compensation paid to independent contractors. A deduction is permitted only when there is a corresponding income inclusion by the plan participant. In addition, the regulations provide guidance with regard to the amendment of section 404(b) of the Internal Revenue Code by section 133 of the Revenue Act of 1978, which clarified that a method of compensation or contributions having the effect of a plan deferring the receipt of compensation does not have to be similar to a stock bonus, pension, profit-sharing, or annuity plan to be subject to 404(a) of the Internal Revenue Code. The regulations describe methods of compensation or contributions subject to the section 404(a) rules.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 408 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; PL 98-369, Sec 147

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: On June 28, 1983, the Internal Revenue Service issued news release IR-83-88 requiring new information reporting by trustees of individual retirement accounts and issuers of individual retirement annuities (including accounts and annuities that are simplified employee pensions). Form 5498, Individual Retirement Arrangement Information, was prescribed in the news release as the information return to be used for this purpose. This regulation project will amend the regulations under section 408 to conform them to the reporting requirements announced in the news release. In addition, section 147 of the Tax Reform Act of 1984 amended section 408 (i) of the Code to require that contributions be identified as to the taxable year to which they apply. This amendment will be included in this regulation period.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 409A Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 48 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 401 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 6699 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

Abstract: The regulations provide rules for electing the employee plan credit under section 48(n) of the Internal Revenue Code, establishing a tax credit employee stock ownership plan under section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code, and providing voting rights to participants of certain defined contribution plans under section 401(a)(22) of the Internal Revenue Code. Further, the regulations provide guidance for determining the applicability of and calculating the assessable penalties relating to tax credit employee stock ownership plans under section 6699 of the Internal Revenue Code. The regulations reorganize and modify the current regulations which are based on section 301(d), (e), and (f) of the Tax Reduction Act of 1975, and provide a single set of rules that would apply to tax credit employee stock ownership plans established under the provisions of the Tax Reduction Act of 1975 and the 1978 Revenue Act.

277. INCOME TAX--CREATION & TREATMENT OF INCENTIVE STOCK OPTIONS

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 422A Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations would provide guidance for taxpayers who either grant or receive incentive stock options. The grant of an incentive stock option to an employee by, generally, the employer, will not be a taxable event. At the time such an option is exercised by the employee, no amount of the spread will be included in the employee's gross income. When the stock acquired subject in the option is sold, the entire gain will be treated as capital gain and not ordinary income.

296. INCOME TAX--DETERMINATION OF AMOUNTS AT RISK WITH RESPECT TO CERTAIN ACTIVITIES

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 465 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; Section 204 Tax Reform Act of 1976

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations would provide guidance to taxpayers for purposes of determining the amount the taxpayer is at risk in certain activities. This guidance is necessary because a taxpayer's deductions are limited to the amount the taxpayer is at risk in the activity. This at risk limit applies to most activities except the holding of real property and certain equipment leasing by closely-held corporations.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 465 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations would provide guidance to taxpayers with respect to the extension of the at-risk rules to all activities other than the holding of real property. The regulations would also provide guidance with respect to the exception to the at-risk rules for closely-held corporations actively engaged in equipment leasing, and the recapture provision.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 474 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: This project provides regulations pertaining to an election by a small business, which employs the dollar value LIFO method of pricing inventories, to use a single inventory pool. The regulations define "small business," thereby giving the rules of eligibility under this provision. Further, the regulations set forth the procedures of making a proper election and give transitional rules to govern pricing in the year of election.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 483 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations would provide for the semiannual compounding of the test rate of interest used to determine if a deferred payments contract contains unstated interest. Thus, in the case of a contract for the sale of property that provides for no interest or an unreasonably low rate of interest that does not satisfy the test rate of interest compounded semiannually, interest will be imputed under the contract.

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1; 26 CFR 20; 26 CFR 25

Abstract: This regulation project relates to the exemption of certain amateur athletic organizations from tax and the deductibility of contributions to organizations that qualify for the exemption. Changes to the applicable tax law were made by the Tax Reform Act of 1976 and the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982. The regulations affect organizations that foster national or international sports competition and provide them with guidance needed to determine whether they qualify for the exemption.

331. INCOME TAX--AMENDMENT OF SEC 1.731-1(C) TO CLARIFY THE TAX TREATMENT OF A DISTRIBUTION OF PROPERTY BY A PARTNERSHIP TO A PARTNER WHO HAD RECENTLY CONTRIBUTED OTHER PROPERTY

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 731 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations provide that if property is contributed to a partnership and within a short period other property is distributed to the contributing partner, the distribution may fall outside of the nonrecognition provision of section 731. The regulations would provide that the substance of the transaction, rather than its form, determines whether the distribution is tax- free. The regulations would provide examples illustrating contribution/distribution transactions that will be treated as a taxable sale or exchange.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 897 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 6039C Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: These proposed regulations concern the information returns which must be filed with respect to foreign investment in United States real property interests by certain corporations, partnerships, trusts, estates and nonresident alien individuals. They also concern procedures for establishing that a corporation is not a United States real property holding corporation, and for foreign corporations to elect to be treated as domestic corporations. The proposed regulations also contain provisions defining relevant terms.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 897 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: Proposal would provide rules concerning the effect of certain distributions, including dividends, redemptions, distributions pursuant to reorganizations, and liquidations on corporations and their shareholders under the Foreign Investment in Real Property Tax Act. Proposal would also provide rules for determining the extent to which nonrecognition would apply to certain transfers of real property interests and the extent to which certain reorganizations will be treated as sales of property at fair market value.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 904(f) Internal Revenue Code of 1954; PL 97-248, Sec 211

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations would provide rules for determining the amount of and recapturing overall foreign losses. An overall foreign loss under any one of the separate limitations on the foreign tax credit may offset the taxpayer's United States tax on United States source income in the year of the loss. The recapture rules provide that a portion of the taxpayer's foreign taxable income under the same limitation in subsequent years is to be recharacterized as United States source income, thereby reducing the taxpayer's foreign tax credit and preventing a double tax benefit from the loss.

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1; 26 CFR 301

Abstract: The regulations will establish procedures for taxpayers by which they must notify the Service of a change in foreign tax liability for a taxable year for which they claimed the foreign tax credit. The regulations provide special rules for redetermining the taxpayer's United States tax liability when the dollar value of the foreign currency fluctuates between the time for which the foreign tax credit is originally claimed and the time for which the foreign tax credit is redetermined. In addition, the regulations set forth deadlines for compliance with the notification requirements.

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1; 26 CFR 31

Abstract: Section 911 provides two exclusions and one deduction that may be claimed by certain United States citizens and residents living and working abroad. The exclusions are for foreign earned income up to a ceiling ($75,000 in 1982, $80,000 in 1983-1987, $85,000 in 1988, $90,000 in 1989, and $95,000 after 1989) and for the housing cost amount of a qualified individual to the extent it is attributable to employer provided amounts. The deduction is for the portion of the housing cost amount that is not attributable to employer provided amounts. The total of the exclusions and deduction may not exceed foreign earned income for the taxable year. These regulations will provide rules relating to the section 911 exclusions and deduction.

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations would provide rules for determining the basis of player contracts acquired by a purchaser upon the sale or exchange of a sports franchise. Generally, the purchaser's basis with respect to player contracts is to be determined by reference to the seller's adjusted basis and the gain the seller recognizes from the transfer of the player contracts. Exceptions are provided in the cases of certain corporate one-year liquidations, certain like-kind exchanges and for certain transfers relating to decedents. Furthermore, a presumption is provided that in the sale or exchange of a sports franchise, not more than 50-percent of the consideration will be allocable to player contracts unless the taxpayer can satisfy the Secretary it is proper to allocate an amount in excess of 50-percent.

360. REGULATIONS UNDER SECTION 1232A RELATING TO ORIGINAL ISSUE DISCOUNT TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT ON BASIS OF CONSTANT INTEREST RATE

Legal Authority: 26 USC 163 Internal Revenue Code; 26 USC 1232A Internal Revenue Code

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: Regulations would provide guidance as to computation of amount to be included in income by holders and amount to be deducted by issuers of certain bonds issued after July 1, 1982. With respect to these bonds, original issue discount is computed on the basis of a constant rate. Provision is made for the computation of original issue discount in special circumstances where the interest rate is variable, where put and call options are present, and in other circumstances.

361. REGULATIONS UNDER SECTION 1232B RELATING TO THE TAX TREATMENT OF STRIPPED BONDS

Legal Authority: 26 USC 1232B Internal Revenue Code

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: Regulations would provide guidance as to treatment of proceeds of sale of stripped coupons and stripped bonds issued after July 14, 1982. If a stripped bond or stripped coupon is disposed of after July 1, 1982, the purchaser must include in income an amount computed under section 1232A(a). The stripper must allocate his basis in the bond components (stripped bond and stripped coupons) on the basis of their fair market value.

369. ● ORIGINAL ISSUE DISCOUNT REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code 1954; 26 USC 1275 Internal Revenue Code 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: Section 1275 (c) (2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 as amended by section 41 of the Deficit Reduction Act of 1984 requires the issuer of a publicly offered debt instrument having original issue discount to furnish the Secretary certain information with respect to such an issue. These temporary regulations require that an issuer of a publicly offered debt instrument issued at a discount furnish the Secretary with his or her name, address, and taxpayer identification number, the issue date, maturity date, and CUSIP number of the issue, the amount of original issue discount for the entire issue, the issue price (expressed as a percentage of the stated redemption price at maturity), the stated redemption price at maturity, the stated interest rate and dates of interest payments, and a description of the issue. The information will be used to update Publication 1212, a list of publicly offered original issue discount obligations to enable brokers and other middlemen to identify publicly traded OID obligations.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 2210 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 2002 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 6018 (c) Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: Allows estate tax liability for employer securities to be assumed by ESOP's rather than by the executor. To qualify, a qualified amount of employer securities must be acquired by the ESOP from "or on behalf of" the decedent. In addition, the executor must elect, in writing, to assume the attributable estate tax liability on behalf of the ESOP. The ESOP then becomes liable for the estate tax.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 4994(c) Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 51

Abstract: These regulations would provide rules relating to the treatment of front-end tertiary oil under the crude oil windfall profit tax. The proposed regulations explain the exemption from the windfall profit tax for domestic crude oil that is removed from the premises before October 1, 1981, and that is treated as front-end oil and used to finance a front-end tertiary project on one or more properties each of which is a qualified property.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 6011 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations would require certain returns to be filed on magnetic media. Prior to enactment of section 319 of the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982, there was no statutory or regulatory requirement that any particular return be filed on magnetic media or in other machine-readable form. The regulations would provide standards for determining which returns would be required to be filed on magnetic medias.

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations would provide that certain foreign-owned corporations which transact business with other related corporations must furnish information about those transactions and the transacting corporations. The purpose of the reporting requirement is to verify that income is being reported accurately. The regulations would also amend existing penalty provisions for failure to supply information relating to certain foreign corporations, to conform those provisions to new statutory penalties imposed under the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 6045 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: The regulations in this project clarify the definition of the term "commodity" for purposes of broker reporting. Rules are provided for determining whether personal property (including gold and silver) is a commodity. Generally, the term "commodity" is defined as personal property that is deliverable in satisfaction of a regulated futures contract, certain specified personal property that the secretary determines is to be treated as a commodity or any form or quality of or any interest in such personal property. The term "commodity" does not include a security, regulated futures contract, forward contract, or a form of tangible personal property if the gross proceeds from its sale exceed by more than 15 percent its value as a commodity. The rules proposed include alternative methods (the "exact" and "approximate" methods) of tangible personal property valuation.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 6045 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: These regulations were designed in order to alleviate certain situations in which multiple deductions or exclusions were being claimed with respect to a single payment made with respect to a single security. These situations developed because of shortcomings in the broker reporting system. These regulations provide that a broker must furnish statements to its customers with respect to certain substitute payments received by the broker on behalf of its customer. These regulations also provide that brokers must make returns of information respecting any customer to which such broker is required to furnish a statement.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 6045 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1(T)

Abstract: These regulations were designed in order to alleviate certain situations in which deductions and exclusions were being claimed more than once with respect to payments made on the same securities. These situations developed because of shortcomings in the reporting system. These regulations provide that a broker must furnish statements to its customers with respect to certain substitute payments received by the broker on behalf of its customer. These regulations also provide that brokers must make returns of information respecting any customer to which such broker is required to furnish a statement.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 7609 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 7610 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 301

Abstract: An administrative summons is used by the Internal Revenue Service to obtain taxpayer records in the hands of a third party recordkeeper, such as a bank. Sections 331, 332, and 333 of the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982 amended sections 7602 and 7609 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 relating to administrative summonses. The amendments alter the circumstances under which an administrative summons may be issued and also alter the rights and obligations of the subject taxpayer and third-party recordkeeper. This regulation project will provide guidance relating to these new administrative summons procedures.

491. ● TEMPORARY INCOME TAX REGULATIONS UNDER THE TAX REFORM ACT OF 1984, RELATING TO BELOW-MARKET INTEREST RATE LOANS.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 7872 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1T

Abstract: These regulations provide guidance to taxpayers who enter into certain below-market interest rate loan transactions. The regulations will explain what type of transactions are treated as loans and what type of loans are subject to the provisions of section 7872. If the loan is subject to the provisions of section 7872, the below-market loan will be recharacterized as an arms-length market interest rate loan coupled with a payment by the lender to the borrower in an amount equal to the inputed interest. The regulations provide rules for determining the amount and character of the inputed transfers.

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 901(f) Internal Revenue Code of 1954

CFR Citation: 26 CFR 1

Abstract: Section 901 (f) denies, under certain conditions, a foreign tax credit for any payment made to a foreign country in connection with the purchase or sale of oil and gas extracted in that country. The section does not apply if either the taxpayer has an economic interest in the oil and gas or the taxpayer purchased and sold the oil or gas at fair market value. The regulations will define the terms "economic interest in oil or gas" and "fair market value of oil or gas." The regulations will provide rules for determining the amount of foreign taxes paid or accrued in connection with the purchase or sale of oil or gas.

530. ● TEMPORARY REGULATIONS UNDER THE HIGHWAY REVENUE ACT OF 1982 AND THE TAX REFORM ACT OF 1984, RELATING TO HEAVY VEHICLE USE TAX, TAX ON DIESEL FUEL, TAX ON THE SALE OF PIGGYBACK TRAILERS, ETC

Legal Authority: 26 USC 7805 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 4041 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 4051 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 4481 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 4482 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 4483 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 6151 Internal Revenue Code of 1954; 26 USC 6427 Internal Revenue Code of 1954

Abstract: These temporary regulations impose a tax on heavy vehicles used on the public highways. Heavy vehicles used 5,000 miles or less on the public highways (7,500 miles or less in the case of agricultural vehicles) will be exempt. The tax is reduced by 25 percent in the case of logging trucks. This tax will be effective on July 1, 1984. There will be a one-year reduced rate of tax available for truck fleets of 5 or less. The regulations will also impose an increase in the tax on diesel fuel to 15 cents a gallon and provide a onetime credit or refund to original purchasers of lightweight diesel-powered highway vehicles. The increased diesel fuel tax is effective August 1, 1984. The regulations will also provide for a reduced rate of tax for a one-year period on the sale of piggyback trailers and semi-trailers and provide for an extension of the payment due date for certain fuel taxes.

ACTION

45 CFR Ch. XII

Executive Order 12291, Federal Regulation, Semiannual Agenda of Regulations

AGENCY: ACTION.

ACTION: Publication of semiannual agenda.

SUMMARY: This agenda announces the regulations that ACTION will have under development, revision or review during the 12 month period from October 1984 to October 1985. The purpose for publishing this agenda is to give notice of any regulatory activity by the Agency in order to allow the public an opportunity to participate in the rulemaking process.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: The public is encouraged to contact the Agency official listed for the particular agenda item. For other information concerning ACTION regulations or this semiannual agenda contact Ronald C. Owens, Associate General Counsel, ACTION, 806 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20525, (202) 634-9333.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In accordance with Executive Order 12291, Federal Regulation, and the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 605) executive agencies are required to publish in the Federal Register semiannual regulatory agendas in April and October of each year.

The regulations being considered by ACTION are not "major" rules within the meaning of E.O. 12291 and no Regulatory Impact Analysis is required. ACTION has determined that the regulations under consideration will not impose compliance costs or reporting burdens on the public; and that the regulations will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Accordingly, no Regulatory Analysis is required under 5 U.S.C. 602.

ACTION is currently working with the Department of Justice in developing the nondiscrimination regulations.

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 800

Abstract: In order to streamline and increase the effectiveness of the Council's regulations at 36 CFR Part 800, the Council is in the process of preparing revisions to its regulations. The reason for the revisions is to implement new regulatory authorities set forth in PL 96-515, and to improve the efficiency of the historic preservation review process. The alternative to revision of the regulations is to leave them as they are, which would not achieve the goals the Council seeks. The revisions are expected to reduce the cost of complying with the regulations.

Environmental Protection Agency

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

EPA

40 CFR Ch. I

[FRL #2680-5]

Regulatory Agenda

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Regulatory Agenda.

SUMMARY: EPA's Regulatory Agenda is a semiannual publication that appears in the Federal Register in April and October. It provides specific information on the status of regulations that are under development, revision, and review at EPA. This publication is necessary to keep interested parties informed of the progress of EPA regulations.

ADDRESSES: For information on a regulation in the Agenda, please contact the person listed with each entry.

If you have suggestions for improving this publication, or need general information about the Agenda, please call or write to Angela Tyler, Regulation Management Staff, Environmental Protection Agency, PM-223, Washington, D.C. 20460, (202) 382-7203.

If you want to be on the mailing list for the Regulatory Agenda, please call or write to Penelope Parker, Regulation and Information Management Division, Environmental Protection Agency, PM-223, Washington, D.C., 20460, (202) 382-5475.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Angela Tyler, (202) 382-7203.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Organization of the Agenda

The regulation entries are organized by statutory area -- generally by the titles of the major legislation authorizing EPA's pollution control programs. In a few cases, the Agenda combines regulations with differing statutory authorities that have closely-related subject matter. For example, the Fuel Economy Data regulation under the Energy Policy and Conservation Act appears together with mobile source regulations under the Clean Air Act. As requested through previous public comment, a list of abbreviations of terms used in this document is included as Appendix A.

The statutory areas appear in the following order:

The Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA) and the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetics Act (FFDCA)
The Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA)
The Clean Water Act (CWA) and the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act (MPRSA)
The Atomic Energy Act (AEA) and the Uranium Mill Tailings Radiation Control Act (UMTRCA)
The Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA)
The Noise Control Act (NCA)
The Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA)
The Clean Air Act (CAA) and the Energy Policy and Conservation Act (EPCA)
The Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act--"Superfund" (CERCLA)
General--Other Acts (including general grant and procurement regulations and regulations that cut across several programs)

Within each statutory area the entries are divided into three categories: (1) Current and projected regulations; (2) regulations under review; and (3) regulations and reviews of regulations that EPA is deleting from the Agenda because they have been completed, withdrawn, or postponed indefinitely. Detailed information on each of these sections is presented below.

Current and Projected Regulations

Current and projected regulations are generally listed in the Agenda once they are within a year of scheduled publication as a notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) or final action. Very important regulations will also appear when the scheduled publication dates are more than a year away.

The current and projected regulations appear as: (a) "New Regulations," i.e., actions that will create new CFR parts, subparts, or subsections; or (b) "Revised Regulations," i.e., actions that revise or amend already existing CFR parts, subparts, or subsections. The word "revision" will appear in parentheses after the title of each revised regulation. All regulations appearing in the Agenda for the first time are marked with bullets.

The regulations are ordered numerically by section number of the authorizing legislation. For example, all air regulations under section 109 of the Clean Air Act will appear before those under section 111.

The current and projected listings include most of the regulations under development that are:

- Subject to Executive Order 12291;
- Have been identified by the Presidential Task Force on Regulatory Relief; or
- Have been designated by the Agency for priority development or revision.

However, the listings exclude: (a) Specialized categories of actions (such as EPA approvals of state plans and other actions that do not apply nationally); and (b) routine actions (such as pesticide tolerances and minor amendments to existing regulations).

For each current and projected regulation the Agenda includes:

- The title,
- The priority classification (if applicable),
- The legal authority,
- The CFR reference,
- A short abstract,
- An analysis section (if a Regulatory Impact Analysis (RIA) and/or a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis (RFA) is being prepared),
- A timetable of existing and scheduled actions,
- A reference to small entity impacts,
- An Agency contact, and
- An additional information section.

The additional information section includes the FTS phone number for the Agency contact. It also includes the Start Action Request (SAR) number, which is assigned to the regulation for internal tracking purposes.

Regulations Under Review

The Agenda identifies existing EPA regulations: (1) That are now under review, or (2) whose review will begin before the next Agenda is published. The purpose of such reviews is to determine whether the regulation should be revised, rescinded, or left unchanged. If EPA decides to revise or rescind the regulation, the action will then appear as an entry in the appropriate current and projected area of the Agenda, and will state the timetable for completing the revision or rescission.

The review section also includes evaluations of major information collection activities the Agency is conducting under the Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA). These reviews are done in four regulatory areas: Toxic Substances, General Pretreatment, New Source Performance Standards, and Superfund. The purpose of these reviews is to assess the quality, utility, effectiveness and efficiency of information requirements.

For each regulation under review, the Agenda provides the title, a short abstract, legal authority, CFR reference, any analysis EPA is preparing, contact person, and the schedule for completing the review. It also indicates the "review authority," which in many cases is different from the regulation's statutory authority. Regulations are reviewed under various mandates, and some satisfy more than one of these mandates. The principal mandates are:

Executive Order 12291 establishes the general policy that EPA should review its existing regulations to ensure that the costs of these regulations are justified by their benefits.

The Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 USC 610) requires that EPA review existing regulations that have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities, including small businesses, small organizations, and small governments at least once every ten years. EPA issued its plan for conducting these reviews on July 16, 1981 at 46 FR 36930 and has used those comments in identifying candidates for review. EPA invites public comment on the need to revise these regulations.

Beginning with this Agenda, when reviews of regulations with a significant impact on small entities are completed, the Agenda entry will include an abstract that announces the Agency's decision of whether to revise, rescind, or leave the regulation unchanged. The Agency is doing this to comply with the Regulatory Flexibility Act and EPA's July 1981 plan for reviewing regulations under this Act. These reviews are identified by a "Yes" in the "small entity" category. Appendix B includes announcements for several reviews that originally appeared in previous Agendas and are now completed.

The Paperwork Reduction Act requires that Federal agencies reduce unnecessary paperwork burdens on the public. EPA reviews information collection activities for duplication, practical utility, and burden on the public.

EPA's authorizing environmental statutes also set review schedules for specific regulations.

Completed Actions

These are actions that appeared in the last Agenda, but are being deleted because they are completed or are no longer under consideration. The information given on these regulations and reviews of regulations is less detailed than for those that are still under consideration. Generally, it includes (1) the date and Federal Register citation, if any, of the last action on the regulation, and (2) an explanation of why the Agency is deleting the regulation from the Agenda.

Results of reviews under the Regulatory Flexibility Act that appeared in several previous Agendas. Through an oversight, the Agency did not include these summaries with the completion notice.

Review of NSPS for Grain Elevators (40 CFR Part 60, Subpart DD)

Results of review: The review indicated that no revision to the standards is necessary, because no significant problem was identified. The emission control technology and its performance have remained essentially the same since the original investigations to develop the regulation. The standards do not apply to small grain elevators, and the review indicated that it is not appropriate to extend the requirements to small elevators.

Review completed: February 1984.

Review of Experimental Use Permits (40 CFR Part 172)

Results of review: EPA reviewed the procedures followed by registrants who request Experimental Use Permits. The Agency determined that the procedures are adequate and no revisions are necessary. The Agency will, however, clarify the internal procedures for reviewing applications.

Review of Standards for Owners/Operators of Waste Facilities: Land Treatment (40 CFR Part 264)

Results of review: The Agency discontinued the Land Treatment review as a separate action, but is considering information gathered during this review in revising the Liner and Land Disposal standards.

EPA performed a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis (RFA) for the current Part 264 land disposal regulations. The RFA indicated that, first, the design and operating requirements of the land disposal regulations alone do not have a significant impact on small firms within any of the industry groups. Second, the cost of the corrective action requirements may be sufficient to have a significant impact on those small firms required to take corrective action. The following industry groups contain a substantial number of small firms that the RFA predicts would experience significant impacts if required to take corrective action: Wood preserving (SIC 2491), Phosphate fertilizers (SIC 2874), Explosives (SIC 2892), and Secondary smelters - nonferrous metals (SIC 3341).

Review withdrawn: August 1983.

Review of Standards for Owners/Operators of Waste Facilities: Surface Impoundments (40 CFR Part 264)

Results of review: Same as above.

Review withdrawn: August 1983.

Contact: Cliff Rothenstein, (202) 382-2791.

Review of Standards for Owners/Operators of Waste Facilities: Location (40 CFR Parts 122, 264, 265)

Results of review: The Agency postponed this review indefinitely. It worked on several studies but reached only a few conclusions. The seismic location standards should be revised to address additional earthquake problems other than faults. EPA did not complete the floodplain studies but is planning no further work at this time.

Review postponed indefinitely: February 1984.

Contact: Penny Hansen, (202) 382-7917.

Review of Standards for Owners/Operators of Waste Facilities: Storage (40 CFR Part 264)

Results of review: The Agency is no longer reviewing this as a separate action, but is combining it with the "Standards for Storage of Hazardous Wastes in Tanks," which is currently under revision. EPA is basing modifications to these existing standards on additional information gained from this study and implementation experience.

Review combined with RIN:2050-AA57: February 1984.

Contact: William Kline, (202) 382-4781.

Current and Projected Rulemakings

1. USER CHARGES FOR PESTICIDE REGISTRATIONS

Legal Authority: 31 USC 483a / Independent Offices Appropriation Act of 1952

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Abstract: Under the authority of the Independent Offices Appropriations Act (IOAA) of 1952, the Agency is proposing to establish user fees for processing pesticide registration actions which constitute special services to registrants. The proposed registration fee system would place part of the burden of payment for the Agency's services on those who benefit from the service rather than on the Agency.

2. RESTRICTED USE CLASSIFICATION FOR CERTAIN ACTIVE INGREDIENTS USED IN FUMIGANTS

Legal Authority: 7 USC 136 / FIFRA 3

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 162.31

Abstract: FIFRA requires that pesticides be classified for either general use or restricted to trained, certified pesticide applicators, or people under their direct supervision. This rule would classify certain active ingredients in grain fumigants for restricted use based on an evaluation of the incremental risks and benefits of unrestricted use. Classification for restricted use permits the continued use of certain pesticides which, if used without restrictions may have unreasonable adverse effects on the environment.

3. DATA REQUIREMENTS FOR REGISTRATION (REVISION)

Priority: Task Force

Legal Authority: 7 USC 136(a) / FIFRA 3

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 158

Abstract: This regulation will specify the kinds of data that will normally be required to support the registration of a pesticide based on its product type and use pattern. It will state whether the requirements apply to manufacturing-use products or to end-use products. These requirements will provide two principal benefits: 1) generation of data needed to evaluate pesticides' effects, and 2) more efficient and faster pesticide development and registration. EPA is revising this regulation at the request of the President's Task Force on Regulatory Relief.

4. COMPREHENSIVE REVISION OF PESTICIDE REGISTRATION, LABELING, AND CLASSIFICATION PROCEDURES (REVISION)

Priority: Task Force

Legal Authority: 7 USC 136(d) / FIFRA 3

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 162

Abstract: These regulations will revise procedures and requirements for the registration and reregistration of pesticide products, the labeling of such products, and the classification of pesticide products as restricted use products.

5. SPECIAL REVIEW CRITERIA AND PROCEDURES (REVISION)

Priority: Task Force

Legal Authority: 15 USC 136 / FIFRA 3

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 162.11

Abstract: The Agency is revising its criteria for initiating special reviews of pesticides (previously known as the Rebuttable Presumption Against Registration (RPAR) Process). These revisions will make the special review process consistent with statutory changes and program experience. The Agency is also revising the procedures for special review of chemicals to make the process more efficient and to promote public discussion. The criteria are being revised at the request of the President's Task Force on Regulatory Relief.

6. PESTICIDE PRODUCTS; PACKAGE SIZE EXEMPTION FOR CHILD RESISTANT PACKAGING (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 7 USC 136d / FIFRA 3

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 162

Abstract: EPA is proposing to amend its regulations on the use of child resistant packaging for pesticide products to provide for exemptions for certain products based on the size of the package in which the product is distributed. This revision should reduce the cost of packaging for producers who market large-size containers to the pest control service segment of the user community.

7. TOLERANCE FEES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 21 USC 346(a) / FFDCA 408

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 180.33

Abstract: Section 408(o) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act authorizes EPA to collect fees from registrants seeking approval of tolerance petitions. The tolerance fee structure originally was designed to cover the Agency's processing costs for reviewing tolerance petitions and for establishing tolerance levels for pesticides used on food products. The Agency has not modified its tolerance fee structure since 1972. This proposed regulation will establish a new tolerance fee structure based upon the Agency's increased costs for processing tolerance petitions.

8. ● ENFORCEMENT POLICY REGARDING FAILURES TO REPORT INFORMATION UNDER SECTION 6(A)(2) OF THE FEDERAL INSECTICIDE, FUNGICIDE, AND RODENTICIDE ACT (FIFRA)

Legal Authority: 7 USC 136d / FIFRA 6

Abstract: FIFRA section 6 (a)(2) requires that registrants report to EPA additional factual information regarding unreasonable adverse effects of their products. In addition to reiterating enforcement policy established in July 1979, this policy notice will expand upon the types of factual information which must be reported, and establish a uniform timeframe in which they must comply.

9. ● RESCISSION OF EFFICACY DATA WAIVER FOR VERTEBRATE CONTROL PRODUCTS

Legal Authority: 7 USC 136 / FIFRA 3

11. RULE GOVERNING ISSUANCE OF EMERGENCY EXEMPTIONS FROM FIFRA (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 7 USC 136 / FIFRA 18

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 166

Abstract: The Agency intends to revise certain provisions of this rule. These revisions will reflect the results of the Agency's investigation of the consistency of decisions to grant emergency exemptions under FIFRA. These revisions will examine the force of the rule to ensure enforceability of limitations embodied in emergency exemptions, and will also eliminate duplicative reporting requirements in the regulation. This rule is being developed as part of a pilot effort on negotiated rulemaking which would give interested parties outside the Agency greater involvement and commitment to the decision-making process.

12. GUIDELINES ON DISPOSAL AND STORAGE OF PESTICIDES (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 7 USC 136q / FIFRA 19

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 165

Abstract: EPA's Office of Pesticide Programs is updating the Guidelines on Disposal and Storage of Pesticides to make them consistent with current regulations and technology. The Office of Pesticide Programs is also adding interpretive guidance on compliance with RCRA regulations on hazardous waste as they may apply to the disposal and storage of pesticides. These guidelines serve as guidance only and compliance is completely voluntary.

13. WORKER PROTECTION STANDARDS FOR AGRICULTURAL PESTICIDES (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 7 USC 136 / FIFRA 25

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 170

Abstract: The worker protection standards for agricultural pesticides will be revised to reflect new and developing registration and reregistration of pesticide activities. The current standards need to be revised in order to update the provisions, clarify definitions and responsibilities, and improve implementation, compliance, and enforcement.

26. PMN EXEMPTION FOR SITE LIMITED INTERMEDIATES AND LOW VOLUME CHEMICALS

Priority: Task Force

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2604 / TSCA 5

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 723

Abstract: Section 5(a) of TSCA requires manufacturers of new chemical substances to submit a premanufacture notice (PMN) to EPA before manufacture or import begins. Section 5(h)(4) authorizes the Administrator to exempt any person from the provisions of section 5 if the Agency determines that the substance will not present an unreasonable risk. This rule would exempt manufacturers of certain chemicals produced at 10,000 kg or less per year and certain site-limited intermediates from PMN requirements. This revision is being made at the request of the President's Task Force on Regulatory Relief.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2604 / TSCA 5; 15 USC 2607 / TSCA 8

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 704; 40 CFR 721

Abstract: EPA has instituted a program to monitor the commercial development of existing chemicals of concern. As these chemicals are identified, EPA will initiate rulemaking under TSCA Sections 5 or 8 to require reporting by the manufacturers and processing of these chemicals. Individual proposed or final rules will be published at different times throughout the period of October 1984 to October 1985 on at least the following chemicals: 4,4-Methylene-bis(2-chloroaniline), (MBOCA) and Hexamethylphosphoramide (HMPA) and Urethane.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2604(b)(4) / TSCA 5

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 700

Abstract: EPA is announcing a proposed rulemaking to implement TSCA Section 5(b)(4), which provides EPA authority to develop by rule a list of substances which present or may present an unreasonable risk of injury to health or the environment. Submitters of TSCA section 5 notices for substances on the list must submit data which they believe show that the substances will not present an unreasonable risk of injury. The rule under consideration would list categories of chemicals which have frequently presented risk concerns to the Agency in the Section 5 premanufacture (PMN) review process.

32. PCB TRANSFORMERS IN BUILDINGS (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2605 / TSCA 6(e)

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 761.31

Abstract: Polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB) equipment is owned and operated by utilities and building owners throughout the U.S. Over the past two years, electrical transformers containing PCBs have been involved in several office fires. If the fire occurs in an occupied building, and ventilation ducts spread volatized toxic chemicals, such an incident could create a major public health problem. Although the intent of regulation would be to reduce the risk of future fires in PCB transformers that are located in buildings, the regulation would indirectly regulate the environmental dispersing of toxic chemicals that are created in transformer fires.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2603 / TSCA 6

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 764

Abstract: The purpose of this action is to initiate a regulatory investigation into the possibility of regulation of the manufacture and/or the uses of 2-methoxyethanol (2-ME), 2-ethoxyethanol (2-EE) and their acetates. Recent data suggest that inhalation of these chemicals causes teratogenic effects and testicular damage at concentrations as low as 10 and 50 ppm and perhaps lower.

35. ● REGULATORY INVESTIGATION OF METALWORKING FLUIDS

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2605 / TSCA 6

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 749

Abstract: The formulation of water-based metalworking fluids with nitrite in combination with alkanolamines may present an unreasonable risk to machinists due to the formulation of nitrosamines, particularly in n-nitrosodiethanolamine (NDELA). Recent studies indicate that NDELA is a potent animal carcinogen. EPA plans to prepare a rule to ban the use of sodium and potassium nitrite as corrosion inhibitors in any water-based metalworking fluid which contains alkanolamines. The removal of nitrite as a corrosion inhibitor will increase the cost of water-based metalworking fluids. Approximately 90% of metalworking fluid formulators and a large number of users are small businesses and will be affected by the rule.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2605 / TSCA 6

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 765

Abstract: As described in the Federal Register on May 23, 1984, the Agency will investigate regulatory options for the reduction of three categories of exposure to formaldehyde: 1) residents exposed to formaldehyde emissions from wood products used in the construction of mobile homes; 2) similarly exposed residents of conventional homes; 3) apparel manufacture employees exposed to formaldehyde released from treated fabrics. This investigation may lead to regulation under Section 6 of TSCA.

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 5 USC 556 / TSCA 6; 5 USC 557

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 749

Abstract: EPA is initiating a regulatory investigation to assess the potential risks posed by leaking underground storage tanks. Leakage of products stored in underground tanks has a significant potential for contaminating groundwater. In addition, EPA is currently conducting a statistically designed nationwide survey which will help the Agency assess the magnitude of the leaking tank problem and obtain information to support regulatory decisionmaking.

Legal Authority: 5 USC 556 / TSCA 6(e)(3)(B); 5 USC 557

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 761

Abstract: On July 10, 1984, EPA promulgated a rule concerning inadvertently generated PCBs. This rule may affect 49 pending petitions for exemptions from the ban on manufacture, processing, and distribution in commerce of polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs). Therefore, EPA has deferred action on these petitions. If an exemption is still required, petitioners must renew their petitions by October 1, 1984. EPA will then propose a rule to respond to any renewal of any exemption petitions. Section 6(e)(3)(B) of TSCA allows the Administrator to grant exemptions from these prohibitions for not more than one year.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2607 / TSCA 8

40. HEALTH AND SAFETY DATA REPORTING; SUBMISSION OF TESTS AND COPIES OF HEALTH AND SAFETY DATA

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2607 / TSCA 8(d)

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 716

Abstract: Current regulations provide that once the Interagency Testing Committee (ITC) recommends chemicals to EPA for priority consideration, the chemicals are automatically subject to section 8(d) of TSCA. This rule will amend the automatic reporting requirements to include for reporting those chemicals the ITC recommends for test rules but are not designated for EPA's priority consideration. 43. PARTIAL UPDATING OF CERTAIN TSCA INVENTORY DATA

Priority: Task Force

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2607 / TSCA 8(a)

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 1

Abstract: This proposal would update, under the authority of section 8(a) of TSCA, the production volume and plant site data for certain substances reported for the TSCA Chemical Substances Inventory. The information is needed by EPA to perform a number of activities associated with the implementation of TSCA. The current Inventory data base was compiled in 1979, based on 1977 data. The obsolescence of the Inventory data base and the lack of an alternative source that can fully satisfy EPA's requirements have formed the basis for the proposed action. One option would be to require certain manufacturers/importers of certain substances to report changes in production volume, plant site location, and site-limited status on an event-precipitated basis following the first reporting year during which time every person subject to this rule would be required to report.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2608 / TSCA 9

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 764

Abstract: The Agency has concluded that the manufacture and use of 4,4'-methylenedianiline presents an unreasonable risk to the health of workers. The Agency is considering a referral of this action to the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) under Section 9(a) of TSCA. This referral action will be submitted to OSHA and published in the Federal Register.

49. RULES RESTRICTING THE COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL USE OF ASBESTOS FIBERS

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2605 / TSCA 6

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 763

Abstract: The Agency is evaluating methods for controlling risks of the commercial and industrial use of asbestos. The Agency plans to propose two regulations which will phase out the use of asbestos over a period of several years. The first rule will ban certain products containing asbestos, while the second rule will phase out all remaining uses of asbestos over a ten-year period. EPA will coordinate its asbestos activities with those of the Federal Asbestos Task Force.

50. REVIEW OF TSCA SECTION 8(C) ADVERSE REACTIONS REPORTING AND RECORDKEEPING REQUIREMENTS

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2607 / TSCA 8

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 717

Abstract: Under Section 8(c) of the Toxic Substances Control Act, manufacturers, processors, and distributors are responsible for recording allegations that their products caused significant adverse reactions to health or the environment. As stated in the existing rule, EPA will, within 18 months, review the information requirements of the TSCA 8(c) to assess the quality, utility, effectiveness and efficiency of the requirements. This review will be conducted jointly with OPTS and the recommendations, where appropriate, will be implemented through revisions to the 8(c) rule.

85. WATER QUALITY PLANNING AND MANAGEMENT REGULATIONS (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 33 USC 1256 / CWA 106; 33 USC 1288 / CWA 208; 33 USC 1313 / CWA 303

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 35 G

Abstract: The Clean Water Act authorizes EPA to provide grants and other assistance to States and other governmental jurisdictions to develop and implement water quality management programs. EPA is revising the existing regulations to simplify the requirements and to remove any aspects of the regulations that are unduly detailed or inflexible.

Legal Authority: 33 USC 1361 / CWA 201

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 35.2205

Abstract: This rule proposes to specify a maximum allowable project cost which will limit increases on grants for construction of publicly owned treatment works (POTWs). This limit is intended to provide additional incentive for communities to manage their grant funds as efficiently as possible. It will limit the allowable cost increase for grants awarded after the effective date of this rule.

Abstract: This action will develop an NPDES application form for new manufacturing, commercial, mining, and silvicultural operations. Besides obtaining information necessary for setting effluent discharge limitations, it will also help permit writers to determine whether the facility is a new source. This action will also develop a short, two-page application form for use by non-process wastewater dischargers. CFR Citation: 40 CFR 414; 40 CFR 416

Abstract: The Agency has proposed BPT, BAT, NSPS and pretreatment standards for the organic chemicals portion of this industry (SIC 2865, 2869). Pollutants include aromatic chlorinated hydrocarbons, phenolic compounds, and metals. EPA also proposed BCT, BAT, BPT, NSPS, and pretreatment standards for the plastics and synthetics portion of this industry (SIC 2821, 2823, 2824). CFR Citation: 40 CFR 439

Abstract: EPA has promulgated revised portions of the previous interim final BPT, BAT, NSPS, PSES, and PSNS effluent limitations and standards for the pharmaceutical manufacturing point sources. Additionally, the Agency is promulgating NSPS regulations to control the discharge of conventional pollutants for new source direct dischargers. The Agency further intends to promulgate limitations for the BCT control level. However, BCT limitations will not be established. The Agency has also postponed a final decision on the BAT and NSPS regulations that would control the discharge of the nonconventional COD pollutant.

Legal Authority: 33 USC 1311 / CWA 301; 33 USC 1314 / CWA 304; 33 USC 1316 / CWA 306; 33 USC 1317 / CWA 307; 33 USC 1361 / CWA 501

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 446

Abstract: The Agency is withdrawing the proposed BAT, NSPS, PSES, and PSNS effluent limitations and standards for the caustic and/or water wash subcategory, and also the pretreatment standards for the solvent wash subcategory. The authority for this decision is provided for under the EPA-NRDC Settlement Agreement, Paragraph 8. The Agency intends to publish a guidance document which will describe the details supporting its decision to exclude these standards from further regulation.

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 454

Abstract: The Agency intends to promulgate the proposed BPT standards for seven subcategories and NSPS standards for four subcategories. However, the Agency will be withdrawing the proposed BAT limitations and the proposed pretreatment standards. Authority for these exclusions is provided under paragraph 8 of the NRDC - EPA settlement agreements. In addition to publishing the final BPT and NSPS standards the Agency will publish a guidance document describing the basis for the exclusion of the BAT and pretreatment standards.

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 455

Abstract: EPA is developing effluent limitations and standards for BAT, BPT, BCT, NSPS, and Pretreatment (PSES, PSNS) controls for manufacturers and formulator/packagers of pesticides and related products. Pollutants of concern include active ingredient pesticides, organic solvents, and metals. The Agency also proposes to establish test procedures for the analysis of 66 of the 137 nonconventional pesticide pollutants for which effluent guidelines were proposed in November of 1982 (47 FR 53994). These analytical procedures will be used in supporting the final effluent guidelines and will also be used for filing applications for NPDES permits, state certifications, and for compliance monitoring under the Clean Water Act.

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 463

Abstract: The Agency has proposed BPT, BAT, BCT, NSPS, PSES, and PSNS for the plastics molding and forming industry. These limitations address processes that blend, mold, or otherwise form plastic materials into intermediate or final plastic products. This regulation is distinct from the primary manufacture of plastic materials and compounds to be covered by regulations in the organic chemicals, plastics, and synthetic fibers category. The pollutants of concern are biochemical oxygen demand, total organic carbon, total phenols, and some organic and metal priority toxic pollutants.

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 415

Abstract: EPA has proposed to withdraw BAT and substitute limits for COD and metals equivalent to BPT for nine subcategories. Lead limits for three subcategories were studied and revisions to these limits are being made. Rubber reclaimers covered by subparts H and I have been re-examined for BCT, BAT, and NSPS regulations. CFR Citation: 40 CFR 430

Abstract: EPA has promulgated effluent limitations and standards for BPT, BAT, NSPS, PSNS, and PSES levels of control for the Pulp and Paper point source category. BCT limitations will not be established until promulgation of the general methodology for determining appropriate levels of conventional-pollutants control under BCT. The Agency has proposed BAT and NSPS regulations that would limit the discharge of PCBs into waters of the United States from mills in this industrial category where fine and tissue papers are made from deink wastepaper. In response to a court remand of the final 1977 BPT regulation, EPA has also proposed a revised BPT limitation for the conventional pollutant BOD in the acetate grade production subpart of the dissolving sulfite pulp subcategory. The Agency further intends to promulgate limitations for the BCT technology control level, the control of the pollutant PCB (polychlorinated biphenyls), and the BOD limitation for the acetate grade production in the dissolving sulfite pulp subcategory.

Abstract: EPA is revising the cost reasonableness test for BCT effluent limitations for primary and secondary industries, primarily food processors and light manufacturers. EPA issued a notice withdrawing the existing BCT limitations on February 17, 1982 (47 FR 6835). EPA proposed new BCT limitations for the affected industries, including seafood processing and meat packing, pulp and paper, timber, metal finishing, inorganic chemicals, ore mining, and leather tanning. EPA is making these revisions in response to a court decision. This revision also fulfills the request for review of the program by the President's Task Force on Regulatory Relief.

On September 20, 1984, EPA issued a notice of data availability concerning the proposed rule for best conventional pollutant control technology (BCT). This notice requested comments on new information that EPA is considering using in the final BCT methodology. The new information focuses on the cost of secondary and advanced secondary treatment at publicly owned treatment works. Following analysis of the comments we receive on the notice, EPA will either publish a reproposal or final BCT methodology.

Legal Authority: 33 USC 1342 / CWA 402

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 123.45

Abstract: This rule will revise certain program reporting requirements for the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES). It will revise the program requirements for quarterly noncompliance reports (QNCR) on major dischargers which are prepared by EPA Regions and NPDES States. The primary reason for this change in the QNCR is to establish a consistent basis for reporting noncompliance. The change should produce a more accurate and meaningful assessment of permit noncompliance by major dischargers within each State.

121. REVIEW OF GENERAL PRETREATMENT PROGRAM INFORMATION COLLECTION REQUIREMENTS

Legal Authority: 33 USC 1342(b) / CWA 402(b)

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 403

Abstract: The pretreatment program requires designated states, publicly-owned treatment works and their industrial users to collect data, submit reports and maintain records on pollutant dischargers, compliance actions, and related facilities descriptions. EPA is reviewing the reporting and recordkeeping requirements to determine if improvements can be made, such as increasing efficiency or eliminating unnecessary requirements. Where appropriate, the recommendations will either be incorporated into the amendments to relevant regulations and/or they will appear as part of EPA's revised policy and guidance documents.

129. RESIDUAL RADIOACTIVITY

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201 / AEA; 42 USC 2021 / AEA

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 194

Abstract: The Agency is determining whether to develop standards or guidance to control radiation exposure levels to the public from residual radioactivity after cleanup of sites and facilities where radionuclides were used and where unrestricted use will be allowed. This action may also control radiation exposure levels to the general public from materials contaminated with radionuclides which will be recycled into general commerce.

133. ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION STANDARDS FOR HIGH-LEVEL RADIOACTIVE WASTE

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2021 / AEA 274

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 191

Abstract: EPA is developing environmental standards which state the public health and environmental requirements to be met for disposal of high-level radioactive waste. These consist of general design and site selection principles as well as numeric performance requirements for high-level waste repositories. ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY (EPA)—Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA)

Current and Projected Rulemakings

135. NATIONAL PRIMARY DRINKING WATER REGULATIONS: MAXIMUM CONTAMINANT LEVELS FOR VOLATILE ORGANIC CHEMICALS FOUND IN DRINKING WATER

Legal Authority: 42 USC 300 / SDWA 1412

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 141

Abstract: EPA will propose Recommended Maximum Contaminant Levels (RMCLs) and Primary Drinking Water Regulations to certain volatile synthetic organic compounds (VOCs). These VOCs have been most commonly found in drinking water drawn from groundwater sources. These chemicals include such compounds as trichloroethylene, tetrachloroethylene, and vinyl chloride. Aeration and granular activated carbon (GAC) systems are treatment technologies that can reduce these contaminants to a low level. Preliminary estimates show that average residential monthly bills for affected systems could rise from $1 - $14 depending on the size of the drinking water system and the type of technology selected. The Agency will promulgate RMCLs (i.e. nonenforceable health goals) before it promulgates the Maximum Contaminant Levels (MCLs) (i.e., enforceable standard).

Legal Authority: 42 USC 300 / SDWA 1412

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 141

Abstract: The monitoring requirements and MCLs in the National Interim Primary Drinking Water Regulations will be comprehensively reviewed for inorganic and organic compounds, microbiological contaminants and turbidity and radionuclides. EPA will conduct an assessment of exposure, analytical methods, potential health effects, and the performance and costs of treatment technologies. The Agency will promulgate Recommended Maximum Contaminant Levels (RMCLs) as non-enforceable health goals, before it promulgates the maximum contaminant levels (MCLs) as enforceable standards.

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 261

Abstract: This regulation will add 122 chemicals to the list of commercial chemical products defined as hazardous when discarded. Thirty-five of these chemicals would be classified as acutely hazardous wastes, and the remaining 87 would be classified as toxic hazardous waste. In addition, 120 compounds would be classified as hazardous constituents; their presence in other waste could, in the future, serve as a justification for listing hazardous waste streams. CFR Citation: 40 CFR 261

Abstract: This action will add to 261.4(b)(7) of RCRA the phrase, "but not including wastes from processing beneficiated ores (other than smelter slag and phosphogypsum) or wastes from refining metals." Wastes removed from the exclusion therefore will be subject to Subtitle C regulation if they are hazardous. This action also will relist: aluminum spent potliners, copper acid plant blowdown sludge, lead surface impoundment solids, zinc

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6921 / RCRA 3001; 42 USC 6932 / RCRA 3002

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 266

Abstract: Pursuant to the requirements of the Used Oil Recycling Act (incorporated into RCRA by amendment in 1980), the Agency is evaluating what types of regulatory controls should apply to the re-use and re-cycling of used oil. EPA will propose regulations based on these evaluations. In addition the Agency is considering proposal of near term interim controls including notification requirements for facilities that blend, distribute, and burn used oil fuel sold to non-industrial boiler owners.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6921 / RCRA 3001

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 261.2; 40 CFR 261.6

Abstract: This action would modify the definition of solid waste and the applicability of RCRA standards to recycled solid wastes. It would regulate those recycling activities which have posed an environmental threat. It will reduce the regulatory burden for recycling. Some materials presently defined as wastes may be excluded from hazardous waste control; others, some presently excluded, may be subject to some level of regulatory control.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6921 / RCRA 3001

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 261.24

Abstract: This action modifies the hazardous waste characteristics of extraction procedure (EP) toxicity. It amends the existing regulation (which regulates on the basis of total chromium) to a standard based on hexavalent chromium (CR (+6)). This is the valence state of chromium which is of environmental concern. The regulation also includes a test method for determining CR(+6). This amendment will reduce the regulatory burden for many wastes.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6921 / RCRA 3001

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 261.31; 40 CFR 261.32

Abstract: Existing regulations include a list of hazardous wastes. This action modifies this list to add particular wastes containing certain chlorinated dibenzo-p-dioxins and dibenzofurans, chlorophenyls, phenoxy acids, amines, and esters derived from these chlorophenols. These contaminants are among the most toxic known, and consequently these wastes are of particular environmental concern. These wastes also would be subject to special management standards when land disposed or incinerated.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6921 / RCRA 3001

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 264

Abstract: This action would restrict the land disposal of certain types of hazardous wastes. EPA is considering establishing criteria for identifying wastes to be restricted. These criteria will then be used to promulgate a list of wastes which should be prohibited from land disposal based on their persistence, mobility, toxicity and tendency to bioaccumulate. The Agency also expects to publish a schedule identifying when it will review wastes for possible restriction.

159. PERSONS MANAGING RECYCLED HAZARDOUS WASTES (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6921 / RCRA 3001

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 261.6(b)

Abstract: 40 CFR 261.6 defines standards for hazardous wastes which are used, re-used, recycled, or reclaimed. Certain hazardous wastes (those listed or those that are sludges) are subject to transportation and storage controls prior to such use, re-use, recycling, or reclamation. This action corrects some accidental omissions since substantive standards in Part 264 were not added to this section as they were developed. These corrections clarify the rules to read as they were intended to apply, and as they, in general, have been interpreted.

160. RCRA SMALL QUANTITY GENERATOR RULE (REVISION)

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6921 / RCRA 3001

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 261.5

Abstract: Currently under Part 261 small generators of less than 1000 kilograms per month are exempt (although for certain more hazardous waste there are lower cut-off points). The Agency has begun a two-year study of alternatives which may result in an amendment to the current rule and proposal of a new set of standards applicable to small quantity generators. Congress is currently considering amending RCRA to lower the 1000 kg/mo exemption which may result in significantly more small businesses coming under RCRA regulations.

Abstract: 40 CFR 261.4 excludes household waste from regulatory control under RCRA. 168. IDENTIFICATION AND LISTING OF HAZARDOUS WASTE: TOXICITY CHARACTERISTIC MODIFICATION

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6921 / RCRA 3001

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 261

Abstract: A number of chemicals will be selected that pose a health hazard such as CAG carcinogens, pesticides, and compounds found to cause damage (these chemicals and concentration levels will be added to the toxicity characteristics). Using ADI's and CAG risk values, waste concentration values would be derived which would yield hazardous exposure levels. This revision would require that each waste generator assess this waste to determine if the waste exhibits this toxicity characteristic; a positive finding would then require its management as a hazardous waste.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6921 / RCRA 3001

Abstract: Under the current waste regulations, a listed waste can be excluded (delisted) from the list of hazardous waste if it can be demonstrated that the waste is non-hazardous based entirely on the factors and constituents of concern used by the Agency to list the waste. This amendment would allow the Agency to consider factors other than those for which the waste was listed if it is a reasonable basis to believe that such additional factors could cause the waste to be as hazardous waste.

Abstract: This action updates the RCRA manual of approved test methods (test methods for Evaluating Solid Waste, SW-846) with respect to methods for ground water and incinerator monitoring. This action would codify the guidance given to the regulated community by requiring that these methods be used in all aspects of the RCRA program. At present the tests are required, as appropriate, for hazardous waste definition and for incinerator stack monitoring. Legal Authority: 42 USC 6922 / RCRA 3002

Abstract: Current regulations allow generators of hazardous waste to accumulate waste on-site for 90 days without a permit, provided the accumulation is in accordance with certain standards. This action will add an initial period for "satellite" accumulation, defined as waste accumulated in small quantities at or near a point of generation before the standards for 90 day accumulation apply. The 90 day period would begin only after the initial period is completed. This change will be more appropriate and less burdensome for short term satellite storage activities than are the existing requirements. This action would also waive the contingency plan requirement for satellite storage.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6924 / RCRA 3004; 42 USC 6925 / RCRA 3005

Abstract: General performance requirements will be established for hazardous waste management units which 40 CFR 264 does not currently address. These types of facilities include deep mines, silos, salt mines, thermal treatment units, and open detonation units. This action will also create performance requirements for facilities engaging in hazardous waste research activities. EPA's objective is to encourage research and development of hazardous waste management technology while assuring environmental protection.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6924 / RCRA 3004

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 264, (Revision)

Abstract: The interim final rule of March 22, 1982 prohibiting the landfill disposal of containers holding free liquids will be revised to incorporate a test procedure to determine whether a waste contains free liquids, and to clarify the term "free liquids" and "free standing liquids" currently used in the regulations. A proposed revision to the landfilling of bulk liquids will also be made.

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 122; 40 CFR 265; 40 CFR 267

Abstract: Under the settlement agreement in NRDC v EPA, EPA is proposing to allow existing hazardous waste management facilities greater flexibility to expand and modify their operation during interim status. Among other things, these amendments would: (1) allow the addition of tanks and containers to treat or store waste; (2) allow increases in design capacity.

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 122; 40 CFR 124; 40 CFR 264; 40 CFR 266

Abstract: This regulation will amend EPA's hazardous waste management permitting regulations by establishing a class permit application form for use by facilities whose only activity subject to RCRA permitting consists of storing in above-ground tanks or containers hazardous wastes that have been generated on-site. Promulgation of this rule would expedite the permitting process for this class of facility. This is the first RCRA class/permit the Agency will issue.

181. EXISTING PORTION CONCEPT IN LAND DISPOSAL REGULATIONS (REVISION)

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6924 / RCRA 3004

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 265

Abstract: Three related areas regarding coverage of the Part 264 land disposal regulations have been challenged in public comments. These relate to requirements for liners at existing facilities. Amendments to be developed under this task are to "tighten-up" on the number of situations where operation of facilities after January 26, 1983, can continue without liners. Three issues will be addressed: (1) "expansions during interim status" (2) effective date of liner requirements, and (3) retrofit of liners.

182. STANDARDS FOR OWNERS/OPERATORS OF WASTE FACILITIES: CORRECTIVE ACTION FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6924 / RCRA 3004

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 264 H

Abstract: This rule would require owners and operators of hazardous waste disposal facilities to demonstrate financial responsibility for corrective action should the groundwater protection standard be violated as a result of such disposal. Failures to undertake corrective action by owners or operators will result in increasing degradation of groundwater resources and increased clean-up costs to the public. Firms with low net worth may not be able to obtain or afford other financial assurance mechanisms as they are currently structured in 40 CFR Part 264, Subpart H. The Agency is examining the effects of a national fund and restructured financial assurance instruments.

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 264; 40 CFR 265 G; 40 CFR 265 H

Abstract: These revisions would clarify ambiguities in the closure care (Subpart G) and cost estimates (Subpart H) regulations. They would amend the regulations to address areas identified by industry and the Regions, and provide regulatory relief to industry by simplifying some of the provisions.

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6924 /1 RCRA 3004, 3005

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 264

Abstract: Burning of hazardous waste in boilers for the purpose of heat recovery is currently exempt from regulation under RCRA. Legal Authority: 42 USC 6924 /RCRA 3004; 42 USC 6925 /RCRA 3005

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 264; 40 CFR 265

Abstract: The Agency is planning revisions to the existing Subpart G and H regulations in accordance with the terms of the American Iron and Steel Institute (AISI) litigation. In addition, the revisions will clarify ambiguous language in the current regulations. Failure to promulgate these revisions directly violates the AISI settlement agreement. Failure to clarify ambiguous language will create problems as the Agency implements those closure and post closure requirements.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6925 / RCRA 3005

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 270.42

Abstract: Existing regulations allow EPA to make specified minor modifications to existing RCRA permits without going through the draft permit and public participation procedures required to make more substantial changes to permits. Under the settlement agreement in NRDC v EPA, EPA is proposing an amendment which would expand the kinds of permit modifications that qualify as minor modifications and thus are exempt from most procedural requirements.

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 123; 40 CFR 264; 40 CFR 270.50

Abstract: Existing EPA regulations provide that EPA-issued permits for hazardous waste treatment, storage and disposal facilities are effective for a fixed term not to exceed ten years. Under the settlement agreement in NRDC v EPA, EPA is proposing to revise the regulation by making permits effective for the designed operating life of the facility. Permit terms for land disposal facilities would include the post-closure care period as well. EPA would also increase opportunities for the Agency to modify permits during their term. EPA will also propose to amend State program requirements to allow authorized States to adopt similar standards to vary the duration of permits.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6925 / RCRA 3005

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 122; 40 CFR 123; 40 CFR 124

Abstract: Existing EPA regulations require that an owner or operator of a hazardous waste management facility receive a RCRA permit before beginning construction of the facility. Abstract: This rulemaking action makes several conforming changes to the Part 265 interim status standards to provide consistency with the Part 264 permitting requirements. The regulation modifies the following portions of the interim status standards for surface impoundments, landfills, and land treatment units:

A. Surface Impoundments - General Operating Requirements

B. Surface Impoundments and Landfills - Closure and Post-closure Care

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6921 / RCRA 3001

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 265

Abstract: EPA is reviewing the interim status groundwater monitoring requirements for hazardous waste facilities that manage wastes in surface impoundments, in landfills or through land treatment. One purpose of this review is to determine whether the groundwater monitoring procedures succeed in identifying which facilities are adversely affecting groundwater. Another purpose is to review how useful the data is for EPA and other agencies. EPA will determine whether the resource burdens imposed on these facilities are justified by the expected benefits of the monitoring program.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7410 / CAA 110; 42 USC 7423 / CAA 123; 42 USC 7601 / CAA 301

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 51

Abstract: The U.S. Court of Appeals recently ordered EPA to revise the Stack Height Regulations (40 CFR 51) promulgated on February 8, 1982, at 47 FR 5864. Sierra Club and NRDC v. EPA, No. 82-1384 et al. (D.C. Circuit October 11, 1983). The Court required EPA to reconsider several issues and to revise its regulation by 01/08/85.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7410 / CAA 110; 42 USC 7601 / CAA 301; 42 USC 7619 / CAA 319

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 58

Abstract: This action will revise Part 58 to clarify and incorporate changes to the regulations deemed appropriate as a result of the past four years of experience. One of the principal revisions will propose allowing 120 days after the end of each quarter instead of the current 90 days for the submittal of National Air Monitoring System (NAMS) air quality and precision data to EPA. The 90 days were too short a time period to properly validate the air quality data. Another revision will propose to use the 1980 census data and urbanized area boundaries instead of the 1970 values for network design and evaluation purposes.

213. RESTRUCTURE CFR PARTS 51, 52 (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7410 / CAA 110

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 51; 40 CFR 52

Abstract: This rule will revise 40 CFR 51, which specifies the requirements for the adoption, preparation, and submittal of state implementation plans. The revisions will be done in several phases. Phase I will delete obsolete provisions, reduce reporting requirements, and clarify portions. References to Part 51 within Part 52 will be similarly revised. 214. ● DETERMINATION FOR INTERSTATE AIR POLLUTION CONTROL

Legal Authority: CAA 126; CAA 110(a)(2)(E)

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 52

Abstract: Sections 126 and 110 (a)(2)(E) of the Clean Air Act provide that any state may petition the Administrator of EPA for certain forms of relief against interstate pollution. A petitioning state may request the Administrator to find that a major pollution source in another state either: (1) prevents it from attaining or maintaining national ambient air quality standards, or (2) interferes with measures it must take under Part C of CAA: (a) to prevent significant deterioration of air quality, or (b) to protect visibility. 216. NSPS: STATIONARY INTERNAL COMBUSTION ENGINES

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7411 / CAA 111

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 60, Subpart FF

Abstract: These regulations will require the application of best available demonstrated technology to control nitrogen oxide emissions from stationary diesel and dual-fuel internal combustion engines. Some small oil drilling companies and municipal electric generation facilities may be affected by this standard. EPA will issue separate standards for gas and gasoline-fueled stationary I.C. engines later. The Agency is considering exempting engines with a displacement of less than 560 cubic inches per cylinder.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7411 / CAA 111

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 60

Abstract: The scope of the SOCMI reactor processes NSPS includes all reactor processes (other than air oxidation reactor processes) used to manufacture 182 synthetic organic chemicals produced in quantities of at least 100 million lb/yr. These large-volume chemicals account for about 90 percent of the total domestic chemical production from the SOCMI. Furthermore, production of these large-volume chemicals is expected to have the greatest impact on nationwide VOC emissions, since the magnitude of emissions from reactor process units are generally proportional to chemical production rates.

254. SECOND ROUND NONFERROUS SMELTER ORDER REGULATIONS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7419 / CAA 119

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 57

Abstract: These rules establish the minimum required contents of primary nonferrous smelter orders (NSOs) and the criteria and procedures EPA will use in issuing NSOs and in evaluating NSOs issued by the states. NSOs allow eligible smelters until January 1, 1988 to come into compliance with their State Implementation Plans for sulfur dioxide. These rules could affect approximately six copper, lead, zinc and other primary nonferrous smelters in the United States.

256. "GUIDELINE ON AIR QUALITY MODELS" (REVISION)

Legal Authority: CAA 165(e)

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 51.24(1); 40 CFR 52.21(m)

Abstract: This action proposes to revise the "Guideline on Air Quality Models" (issued in April 1978) to reflect changes to the state-of-the-science of modeling and changes to current practice and policies. Revisions to the Guideline were developed in 1980 and public hearings were held. Based on public comments, EPA has conducted studies to resolve some issues. Additional evaluation studies of models, suggested by commenters and performed in accordance with the recommendations of the American Meteorological Society, are underway. Early results of both are now available and should become part of EPA's guidance. The revised guideline should greatly reduce inconsistencies in the development and revision of emission limitations and in the determination of PSD increment consumption. New modeling procedures allow potentially greater accuracy in modeling results and the attainment of clean air goals at less cost.

257. HEAVY-DUTY DIESEL PARTICULATE STANDARDS

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7521(a)(3) / CAA 202

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 86

Abstract: Diesel engines emit 40-100 times the particulate matter emitted by catalyst-equipped vehicles operated on unleaded gasoline. EPA has proposed an emission limit of .25 grams per brake horsepower-hour and intends to repropose a standard for particulate matter concurrent with the proposed heavy-duty NOx standard. This will result in a significant reduction in fine particulate from these vehicles.

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7521 / CAA 202; 42 USC 7525 / CAA 202; 42 USC 7526 / CAA 202; 42 USC 7541 / CAA 202

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 86

Abstract: Heavy-duty vehicles and light-duty trucks produce 15 percent of total NOx emissions. The Clean Air Act requires EPA to establish emission standards for heavy-duty vehicles which represents a 75% reduction in nitrogen oxides. At the request of the President's Task Force on Regulatory Relief, EPA will consider relaxing the statutory limit for 3 years to a level which can be achieved by diesel engines. These standards will prevent growth in NOx emissions and future non-attainment. These standards will be set in conjunction with the heavy-duty particulate standards (RIN 2060-AA51).

Abstract: This rule will develop emission standards and test standards and test procedures applicable to methanol-fueled light-duty vehicles, light-duty trucks and heavy-duty engines. Current regulations apply only to gasoline-fueled and diesel-powered vehicles. The lack of regulations is a hindrance to the development of methanol-fueled vehicles. Legal Authority: 42 USC 7525(g) / CAA 206; 42 USC 7601(a) / CAA

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 86

Abstract: This regulation will allow manufacturers of 1985 HDEs to sell their engines even though they fail to meet 1985 and later model year regulatory requirements for specific pollutants, provided that emissions do not exceed a specified maximum level and that the manufacturer pays a nonconformance penalty for each HDE sold. The penalty will remove any competitive advantage of noncompliance and still provide manufacturers with an incentive to meet the standard. 264. ● SMALL-VOLUME MANUFACTURERS CERTIFICATION PROCEDURE

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7401 / CAA 206

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 86

Abstract: This action will result in rules to provide for certification of emissions compliance for commercial importers and individuals importing vehicles into the United States. By a separate action, the Manufacturers Operations Division is revising its rules for individual vehicle importation. This action is necessary to provide an appropriate mechanism to import vehicles into the United States under certification regulations and assure their compliance with the exhaust emission standards. Current rules for small-volume manufacturers were not intended to apply to conversion of previously manufactured but uncertified configurations. However, increasingly large numbers of manufacturers who import vehicles for resale have applied for EPA certification as an alternative to individual vehicle importation. This will primarily impact small business organizations involved in importing motor vehicles. The likely impact of these changes will be increased costs to these organizations.

265. ● EMISSION PERFORMANCE WARRANTY REGULATIONS (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7541(b) / CAA 207(b)

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 85

Abstract: This rulemaking will address the issue of establishing: (1) test procedures and standards for heavy-duty gasoline vehicles, (2) new standards for light-duty vehicles and light-duty trucks, and (3) alternative dynamometer loadings for the loaded short tests. These amendments are necessary so that owners of heavy-duty vehicles will have emissions warranty protection and owners of light-duty vehicles and trucks will be entitled to warranty protection.

266. FUELS AND FUEL ADDITIVES

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7545 / CAA 211

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 79

Abstract: These protocols will help determine effects of fuel and fuel additives on public health and emission control devices. They will ensure that motor vehicle fuels and additives will not harm the public health. They will also ensure that they do not damage emission control devices in motor vehicles.

267. ● LEAD PHASEDOWN (REVISION)

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7545 / CAA 211

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 80

Abstract: This rule proposes a lead content standard of 0.10 gram of lead per gallon of leaded gasoline (gplg), effective January 1, 1986. This standard would replace the current standard of 1.10 gplg. Comments are sought on a total ban of leaded gas effective in 1995. EPA is taking this action due to concerns about the misfueling of cars equipped with catalytic converters and the health effects of exposure to lead, especially in small children. This should significantly reduce the amount of lead in the environment. Alternatives have been considered to relax this standard in some way for small refiners. These alternatives have been rejected because they would not allow EPA to meet the environmental goals of this regulation. Relaxation would be achieved either by setting a higher standard or allowing more lead time for small refiners.

268. FUEL ECONOMY TEST PROCEDURES; PROPOSED PROCEDURES FOR ADJUSTMENT TO TEST RESULTS TO ACCOUNT FOR TEST PROCEDURE CHANGES

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2001 et seq / EPCA 301

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 600

Abstract: In January, 1982, the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit issued an order requiring EPA to initiate rulemaking to establish adjustment factors for the 1980-85 Corporate Average Fuel Economy (CAFE) test results. This proposal is in response to the Court Order and will result in adjustments to EPA calculations of CAFE.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7411 / CAA 111

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 60

Abstract: The NSPS program is a national program to develop and implement standards for emissions from new and modified stationary sources. EPA is reviewing the information requirements of five NSPS and conducting in-depth examinations of one of these standards. The purpose of the study is to assess the quality, utility, effectiveness, and efficiency of the information components. The study will collect data from affected facility owners; regional, state and local authorities responsible for monitoring the program; and primary users of the information. Where appropriate, the recommendations will be incorporated in the NSPS rules and associated Information Collection Requests (ICRs).

Current and Projected Rulemakings

301. DESIGNATION OF ADDITIONAL HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES

Legal Authority: 42 USC 9602 / CERCLA 102

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 302

Abstract: Section 102 of the Act requires EPA to designate hazardous substances which may present substantial danger to the public health or welfare or the environment if released into the environment. EPA is developing this regulation to supplement the lists of hazardous substances already developed under CWA 307, 311, RCRA 3001, CAA 112, and TSCA 7. It will augment the lists in 40 CFR 302 as proposed 5/25/83.

302. NOTIFICATION OF RELEASE OF HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES AND DETERMINATION OF REPORTABLE QUANTITIES

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 302

Abstract: EPA is developing reportable quantities for hazardous substances under Section 102 of CERCLA that will trigger the requirements in Section 103 of CERCLA. The rulemaking also amends 40 CFR 117.3 to make the reportable quantities of each hazardous substance under CERCLA 102 the reportable quantity for that substance under CWA 311(b)(2).

Legal Authority: 42 USC 9602 / CERCLA 102; 42 USC 9603 / CERCLA 103

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 304

Abstract: Section 103(a) requires that persons notify the National Response Center of releases of hazardous substances. Section 103(f) provides an exemption to these reporting requirements. 304. ADJUSTMENT OF REPORTABLE QUANTITIES OF HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES IDENTIFIED AS CARCINOGENS AND CHRONICALLY TOXIC SUBSTANCES (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 96021 / CERCLA 102; 33 USC 1321 / CWA 311

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 302

Abstract: EPA has developed proposed determinations of reportable quantities under Section 102 of CERCLA that trigger the notification requirements of Section 103 of CERCLA. This rule will amend the regulation on Determination of Reportable Quantities for Hazardous Substances (40 CFR 117) to adjust the reportable quantities for hazardous substances identified as carcinogens and chronically toxic substances. This rule will also amend 40 CFR 117.3 to make these requirements applicable under CWA 311 (b).

305. AMENDMENTS TO THE HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES RESPONSE PROVISIONS OF THE NATIONAL OIL AND HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES POLLUTION CONTINGENCY PLAN (SUBPART F) (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 33 USC 1321 / CWA 311

CFR Citation: 40 CFR 300.61

Abstract: These revisions will streamline the National Contingency Plan (NCP). This regulation will expand the National Priority List (NPL) to include Federal Facilities, add provisions for consideration of community relations, address the use of environmental standards for determining appropriate response actions, clarify authorities and responsibilities of officials and Agencies involved in response.

317. EMISSIONS TRADING POLICY (REVISION)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7503 / CAA 110

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Abstract: EPA is developing emissions trading policy guidance governing the use of the bubble, emission offsets netting, and emission reduction banking. This policy guidance and accompanying Technical Issues Document will provide states with a framework for incorporating emissions trading activities into their state implementation plans. Through the use of emissions trading industry can substitute more controls where costs are low for less control where costs are high. This policy statement contains simplified administrative procedures and significantly expands opportunities for state and industry to use emissions trading. It takes the place of the previously announced banking regulation and incorporates EPA's recently proposed changes to its Bubble Policy.

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

EEOC

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY COMMISSION

29 CFR Ch. XIV

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

AGENCY: Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

ACTION: Semiannual regulatory agenda.

SUMMARY: This semiannual regulatory agenda is published in accordance with the requirements of Executive Order 12291 (46 FR 13193, February 19, 1981) and the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980 (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.). The agenda lists those guidelines which have been designated for review by the Presidential Task Force on Regulatory Relief under section 3(i) of the Executive Order; proposed guidelines and regulations, or their amendments and revisions, that have been noticed in the Federal Register for public comment; the need and legal basis for the actions being considered; the name and telephone number of a knowledgeable official, the status of items previously reported; and a list of proposed guidelines and regulations, or their amendments and revisions, currently being developed or under consideration for development. An assessment of EEOC's regulations under review and development shows that only one of the proposed regulations, the Uniform Guidelines on Employee Selection Procedures, is likely to fall within the Executive Order's definition of a major rule. In addition, two proposed regulatory actions, the Interpretative Bulletin on Employee Benefit Plans and the Recordkeeping Regulations, are likely to be subject to the Regulatory Flexibility Act requirements. These two items are published here to particularly allow interested small entities a meaningful and early opportunity to comment and participate in all stages of Commission regulatory development.

DATE: This information is current as of October 1984.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Allyson K. Duncan, Acting Associate Legal Counsel, Legal Services, Office of Legal Counsel, Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, 2401 E Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20507; telephone (202) 634-6592.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Executive Order 12291 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act require that a regulatory agenda of regulations under development and review be published in the Federal Register in April and October of each year.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 25th day of September, 1984.

For the Commission.

Clarence Thomas,

Chairman, Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

1. COLLECTION OF APPLICANT DATA FOR AFFIRMATIVE ACTION PURPOSES

Legal Authority: 29 USC 791 Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1613.706

Abstract: This amendment permits federal agencies to collect handicap information from applicants for employment in order to implement and evaluate special recruitment programs undertaken for affirmative action purposes. Implementation of the final regulation is dependent on the development of an interagency report form which is in the process of being developed by OPM with the approval of OMB.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2000e-16 Section 717 of the Civil Rights Act of 1964

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1613

Abstract: Proposed amendments provide that an agency or the Commission may award a complainant reasonable attorney's fees and costs and backpay when an allegation of discrimination prohibited by Section 717 is resolved in favor of the complainant. Final regulations have been approved by the Commission and are in interagency coordination pursuant to Executive Order 12067. 4. COORDINATION OF FEDERAL EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY PROGRAMS

Legal Authority: EO 12067 Sec 1-303; EO 12067 Sec 1-304

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1690

Abstract: These amendments to 29 CFR 1690 will implement an agreement reached by EEOC and the Department of Justice with the Office of Management and Budget which clarified the sequence to be followed when agencies are required to seek prepublication clearance of equal employment opportunity rules from EEOC under E.O. 12067, DOJ under E.O. 12250, and from OMB under E.O. 12291 and the Paperwork Reduction Act. In addition to clearance by the EEOC under E.O. 12067, equal employment opportunity rules issued under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, or any other provision of Federal statutory law which prohibits discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance, require clearance from DOJ under E.O. 12250. 12. ● COVERAGE OF APPRENTICESHIP PROGRAMS UNDER THE AGE DISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT ACT

Legal Authority: 29 USC 628 Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1625.13; 29 CFR 1625.21

Abstract: The Department of Labor on January 9, 1969, published an interpretative guideline which provided that apprenticeship programs were not covered by the ADEA. On July 1, 1979, the Commission assumed responsibility and authority for enforcement of the ADEA. On September 29, 1981, the Commission republished the Department of Labor's guideline, 29 CFR 1625.13. After an exhaustive review of the ADEA and its legislative history, the Commission proposes to rescind 29 CFR 1625.13, as it presently exists, and promulgate a substantive rule providing that apprenticeship programs are covered by the ADEA. The extension of ADEA coverage to apprenticeship programs is consistent with the purpose of the Act. It will allow those forty years of age and older the same opportunities to participate in apprenticeship programs as are currently enjoyed by younger individuals.

Legal Authority: 29 USC 628 Age Discrimination in Employment Act

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1627.15

Abstract: The purpose of the proposed amendment to 29 CFR 1627.15 is to give those covered by the ADEA more specific information about what they should do if they do wish to seek an exemption from any or all of the ADEA's prohibitions. The advantage is that the establishment of a specific procedure will facilitate the processing of exemption requests.

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1607

Abstract: UGESP Recordkeeping Provisions. On March 15, 1983, the Commission voted to review those portions of the recordkeeping provisions of the Guidelines which relate to the maintenance of data necessary to determine adverse impact. Pursuant to that vote, the Commission published in the Federal Register a notice seeking public comment in general and on several specific questions about UGESP recordkeeping. 48 Fed. Reg. 34766 (Aug. 1, 1983). Approximately 45 comments were received. The Commission is currently reviewing the comments and is considering further action. On June 12, 1984, the Commission voted to prepare an NPRM concerning certain UGESP recordkeeping requirements. Prior to publication for comment, co-signatories to UGESP will engage in discussion of recommended changes and other affected agencies will be consulted under E.O. 12067. 15. RECORDKEEPING REGULATIONS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2000e et seq Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 1602

Abstract: The Commission proposes to revise its recordkeeping regulations to require certain employers and labor unions to maintain lists of applicants for employment and to retain employment records for two years or until termination of a Commission or court processing. The Commission is considering further revisions to the proposed amendments as the result of a study on the feasibility of a uniform government-wide equal opportunity recordkeeping regulation. The study on the feasibility of a uniform government-wide EEO regulation is complete and will require further consideration by staff. Commission action on UGESP will require staff to evaluate impact of proposed regulations on 1602 recordkeeping.

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

FEMA

FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY

44 CFR Ch. I

Semiannual Agenda

AGENCY: Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

ACTION: Semiannual Agenda.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to section 5 of Executive Order 12291 (Federal Regulation) the Federal Emergency Management Agency is publishing its semiannual agenda for FEMA. The agenda lists regulations that will be under development or review during the period October 1, 1984 to October 1, 1985.

ADDRESS: Rules Docket Clerk, Office of General Counsel, Room 840, 500 C Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20472.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For general information contact William L. Harding, Assistant General Counsel, Legislation and Regulations, Office of General Counsel, Federal Emergency Management Agency, Washington, D.C. 20472 (202) 287-0377. For additional information about a specific regulation contact the person listed as the contact point in the agenda.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Executive Order 12291, "Federal Regulation," directs each Executive agency to adopt procedures to improve existing and future regulations. Publication of an agenda of significant regulations is called for at least semiannually in order to give the public adequate notice of agency rulemaking activities; also publication of a regulatory flexibility agenda concerning rules likely to have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities must be published in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 602 and 605.

In fulfillment of requirements imposed by the Executive Order and 5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., this agenda describes current and projected regulations, and regulations which will be under review during the period October 1, 1984 to October 1, 1985. This agenda also contains information on regulations on which action was completed since the last FEMA semiannual agenda published April 19, 1984, 49 FR 16432.

Public comment on the agenda, including that by State and local governments, is invited and should be submitted to the Rules Docket Clerk.

The agenda is not limited to major or significant rules and contains as much information as possible concerning all FEMA regulations to be published in the next 12 months except for routine flood elevation determinations, listing of eligible communities under the National Flood Insurance Program, listing of suspended communities and similar designations.

DATED: August 20, 1984.

George Jett,

General Counsel.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 5121 et seq Disaster Relief Act of 1974

CFR Citation: 44 CFR 205, Sub-Part M

Abstract: The proposed rule revision clarifies the hazard mitigation provisions of the Disaster Relief Act of 1974 by specifying general plan requirements and guidelines as well as other procedural requirements. The Hazard Mitigation Requirement is intended to serve as an aid to State and local governments in developing an overall mitigation program to minimize the costs of natural disasters.

4. CLAIMS UNDER THE MILITARY PERSONNEL AND CIVILIAN EMPLOYEES' CLAIMS ACT OF 1964

Legal Authority: 31 USC 3721

CFR Citation: 44 CFR 11.60 to 11.69

Abstract: The Military Personnel and Civilian Employees' Claims Act of 1964 31 USC 241, authorizes the head of an agency, with certain exceptions, to pay the claim made by a member of the uniformed services under the jurisdiction of that agency or by a civilian officer or employee of that agency, for damage to, or loss to, personal property incident to his or her service. This rule would implement the statute.

8. ENFORCEMENT OF NONDISCRIMINATION ON BASIS OF THE HANDICAP IN FEMA PROGRAMS

Legal Authority: 29 USC 794

CFR Citation: 44 CFR 16

Abstract: This rule effectuates for FEMA the nondiscrimination requirements of section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended in 1978 to include activities conducted directly by Federal agencies. A draft regulation has been prepared and submitted to the Department of Justice and the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission for review.

9. FEDERAL DISASTER ASSISTANCE SUB-PART E PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Legal Authority: 42 USC 5201

CFR Citation: 44 CFR 205.76

Abstract: This proposed rule makes changes in the FEMA disaster assistance regulations implementing the Disaster Relief Act of 1974 (PL 93-288). Changes are made in the eligibility of costs of public assistance to State and local governments. This is being done in recognition of the commitment to the disaster effort now being made by applicants in the form of cost sharing of eligible costs.

10. FLOOD PLAIN MANAGEMENT CRITERIA FOR FLOOD-PRONE AREAS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 4001 et seq; EO 12127

CFR Citation: 44 CFR 59; 44 CFR 60

Abstract: A rule will be issued that will revise the minimum floodplain management standards that deal with the placement and anchoring of mobile homes in floodprone areas. The rule will be based on comments received in response to an ANPRM (Dec. 13, 1982, 47 FR 55752) and data gathered by a mobile home study that is now underway. Other changes may include revisions to requirements for elevation certificates on new structures and to clarify or eliminate minor inconsistencies in program requirements.

11. PROCEDURES FOR FLOOD INSURANCE MAP CHANGES

Legal Authority: 42 USC 4001 et seq; EO 12127

CFR Citation: 44 CFR 60; 44 CFR 65; 44 CFR 70

Abstract: Certain procedures for map changes need to be clarified and set forth as rules. These procedures are for revising maps under 44 CFR 65 and 44 CFR 70 and for permitting communities to revise regulatory floodways. Among changes are requirements that FEMA costs to modify maps be reimbursed by the one who requests review.

12. FLOOD INSURANCE PROGRAM ARRANGEMENTS WITH INSURANCE INDUSTRY

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 42 USC 4001 et seq; EO 12127

CFR Citation: 44 CFR 59; 44 CFR 61; 44 CFR 62

Abstract: Involvements of private industry will enable program to be carried out under highest insurance standards in use in private sector, benefit the policyholders with better service, the taxpayers with cost containment efficiencies in use in private sector. NFIP will also broaden its marketing base, thereby capturing more premium and improving its underwriting base via greater spread of the risk. Negligible costs are compensated for by increased marketing at no cost to government. Procedures will be provided for this involvement, known as the Write-Your-Own (WYO) program. These procedures will include the standard WYO arrangement, to be published, along with effective date, premium collection and premium refund rules conforming to the customary business practices of WYO companies in their other similar lines of property insurance business (e.g., homeowners); and other insurance business rules, as needed, to conform the provision of flood insurance coverage by WYO companies with their customary business practices.

14. ● FLOOD INSURANCE POLICY COVERAGE CHANGES

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 42 USC 4001 et seq; EO 12127

CFR Citation: 44 CFR 61

Abstract: As a result of a continuing reappraisal of the National Flood Insurance Program, coverage changes will bring the insurance contract more in line with property insurance policies in the private sector, make the program more responsive to victims of catastrophe flood loss and promote fiscal soundness. Benefits are as described; no cost implications. Alternative is to do nothing to change coverage.

17. ● RADIOLOGICAL PROTECTION PROGRAM

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 50 USC App 2253 Sec 201 Federal Civil Defense Act of 1950; Reorganization Plan #3 of 1978 (3 CFR 1979, Comp. p. 329); EO 12148

CFR Citation: 44 CFR Chapter I, Subchapter E

Abstract: Review 44 CFR and PL 81-920 Federal Civil Defense Act of 1950, as amended, to determine if a part is needed in 44 CFR pertaining to the development and implementation of a radiological protection program at Federal, State, and local levels of government. The Radiological Protection Program provides for the protection of the citizens and property from the radiological hazards including nuclear attack and technological threats, that are a potential threat to the jurisdiction. Radiation threat of nuclear attack is unique. No alternative to this program is being considered. Funding for this program is provided by FEMA. The major benefit of this program is to provide all levels of government the capability to respond and survive a nuclear attack or peacetime radiological incident.

18. ● POPULATION PROTECTION PLANNING PROGRAM

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 50 USC App. 2253 Sec 201, Federal Civil Defense Act of 1950; Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1978 (3 CFR 1979 Comp. 329); EO 12148

CFR Citation: 44 CFR 313

Abstract: The Population Protection Planning Program is designed to insure the protection of people and property from hazards each jurisdiction is likely to face. It directly supports the Integrated Emergency Management System (IEMS) and provides for the development, exercise and maintenance of a single emergency operations plan detailing tasks and procedures for coping with natural disasters, technological hazards and nuclear attack with specific procedures on sheltering and evacuation. No alternative to this program is being considered. Funding for this program is provided by FEMA. The major benefit of this program is to provide State and local jurisdictions the capability to respond and recover from a disaster, accident or incident.

Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations

AGENCY: General Services Administration.

ACTION: Semiannual agenda.

SUMMARY: This agenda announces the proposed regulatory actions that GSA plans for the next 12 months and those actions that were completed since April 1984. This agenda was developed under the guidelines in OMB Bulletin No. 84-16, dated June 5, 1984. GSA's purpose in publishing this agenda is to allow interested persons an opportunity to participate in the rulemaking process.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: William W. Hiebert, Acting Chief, Directives and Reports Management Branch (202) 535-7647.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: GSA has two priority regulations designated by the Presidential Task Force on Regulatory Relief and three regulations that will have an effect on small businesses or other entities. These regulations are listed under the category of current and projected rulemakings. None of the regulations listed are considered major under Executive Order 12291, Federal Regulations.

3. VENDING FACILITY PROGRAM FOR BLIND PERSONS

Legal Authority: PL 93-516

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-20.2

Abstract: Update the subpart to reflect the priorities and newly authorized provisions granted licensed blind vendors in GSA-controlled buildings by the Randolph-Sheppard Act Amendments of 1974 (Pub. L. 93-516). Some specific provisions to be revised are the threshold criteria, site selection, notification procedure, sale of State lottery tickets, change of title from Department of Health, Education, and Welfare to read "Department of Education," inclusion of agency policy regarding renovation of existing facilities, emphasis on assignment of vending machines to State licensing agencies (SLA), permits, operation of cafeterias by blind vendors, and reports. The continued implementation of the Randolph-Sheppard Act in GSA-controlled buildings will not be of any significant increase in cost to the agency. The benefits, however, are significant. While the provision of essential services to Government employees are expanded and improved, the primary goal of the act, to provide remunerative employment for blind persons, is enhanced.

4. SUPPLY SOURCES AND RELATED PROGRAMS

Legal Authority: 40 USC 486(c)

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-26

Abstract: Part 101-26 prescribes policies and procedures that govern the procurement of personal property and nonpersonal services by Federal agencies from or through GSA supply sources. A number of executive agencies have indicated that the current policies and procedures in this part need to be revised to clarify the content, eliminate duplication, and remove obstacles to satisfying requirements for these types of items. Representatives from the major executive agencies are currently developing a revised draft of this part that will be designed to more adequately meet their needs.

12. REVISION OF U.S. GOVERNMENT BILL OF LADING STANDARD FORMS

Legal Authority: 40 USC 486(c); 31 USC 3726

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-41

Abstract: This amendment prescribes the use of revised SF 1103, U.S. Government Bill of Lading (GBL); SF 1109, U.S. GBL Continuation Sheet, and SF 1131, U.S. Government Transit Bill of Lading. These revisions will make these transportation documents more efficient and more responsive to data information systems. To accomplish the provisions of this directive, there will be an outlay of resources by GSA to print the forms but this expenditure will be offset by income derived from purchases of these forms by other Federal agencies. The amendment will have no impact on the public.

13. SELECTIVE SERVICE SYSTEM NATIONAL EMERGENCY TRAVEL WARRANT AND DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE RESERVIST/RETIREE MILITARY EMERGENCY TRAVEL WARRANT

Legal Authority: 31 USC 3726; 40 USC 486(c)

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-41

Abstract: This regulation provides for the procurement of passenger transportation services and billing and payment for such services in connection with the Selective Service System National Emergency Travel Warrant and the DOD Reservist/Retiree Military Emergency Travel Warrant systems. During periods of national emergency the Selective Service System (SSS) and the Department of Defense (DOD) will use travel warrants to obtain transportation for registrants who are ordered to report for induction into military service and for selected military reservists and retirees who are ordered to active duty with the armed forces of the U.S. SSS and DOD will issue travel warrants transmitted by Western Union Mailgrams authorizing issuance of tickets to selected individuals for travel to designated places of induction or mobilization. Implementation of the travel warrant programs will provide simple and efficient systems to procure transportation and pay for services furnished, and will impose no additional burdens on the Government or the public since the warrants will be used instead of GTR's.

15. UNUSED TICKET REFUND PROCEDURES

Legal Authority: 31 USC 3726; 40 USC 486(c)

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-41

Abstract: This regulation revises procedures for collecting carrier refunds of unused tickets. It provides for carriers to refund to the Government the value of expired unused tickets for which no SF 1170's have been received. Carriers will be reimbursed if, after an initial ticket refund to GSA, a ticket is subsequently used for transportation or a second refund is made using an SF 1170. These revised procedures will permit the recovery of outstanding monies that might otherwise remain unrefunded to the Government or unpaid to carriers for extended periods of time.

Legal Authority: 31 USC 3701 to 3711; 31 USC 3726; 40 USC 486(c)

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-41

Abstract: This rule will enable Government agencies to collect by administrative offset when carriers fail to make refunds for totally unused passenger tickets in accordance with 41 CFR 101-41.210. It will also permit agencies to assess interest and penalties on delinquent refunds due the Government for totally unused tickets. It will further improve the efficiency of Government-wide efforts to collect debts owed the U.S. as prescribed by applicable Federal regulations.

Legal Authority: 31 USC 3726; 40 USC 486(c)

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-41

Abstract: This rule proposes to change the sequence of the Standard Form 1103, set U.S. Government Bill of Lading, by positioning one copy of SF 1103-A, Memorandum Copy, as the third form in the set and the remaining SF 1103-A's to be positioned following the SF 1103-B. 19. FEDERAL PROPERTY MANAGEMENT REGULATIONS; REVISES THE REPORTING REQUIREMENTS FOR REAL PROPERTY

Legal Authority: EO 12411

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-3

Abstract: This regulation revises FPMR 101-3 with changes and additions to the data elements currently collected as part of the World-Wide Real Property Inventory System. It also displays the revised forms to be used when supplying this information. These changes are necessary to monitor government-wide space reduction initiatives mandated by Executive Order 12411 - Government Work Space Management Reforms and Temporary Regulation D-70-Work Space Management Plans.

The General Services Administration has determined this is not a major rule for the purposes of Executive Order

12291 of February 17, 1981, because it is not likely to result in an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more; a major increase in costs to consumers or others; or significant adverse effects. Therefore, a Regulatory Impact Analysis has not been prepared. GSA has based all administrative decisions underlying this rule on adequate information concerning the need for, and the consequence of this rule; has determined that the potential benefits to society from this rule outweigh the potential (cont)

20. ELIMINATE REQUIREMENT TO CERTIFY SUBSTITUTE DOCUMENT

Legal Authority: 40 USC 486(c); 31 USC 3726

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-41

Abstract: This proposed amendment will permit the use of an uncertified substitute document when the original GBL, SF 1103, is lost or destroyed. By eliminating the certification requirement, carriers can submit vouchers with uncertified substitute documents directly to finance offices for payment enabling carriers to be paid faster. Electronic recordkeeping within paying offices will eliminate the possibility of duplicate payments. This change in administrative procedure will result in reduced document handling costs for both industry and Government.

Legal Authority: 40 USC 486(c); 31 USC 3726

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-41

Abstract: This proposed amendment will add a provision to the "Terms and Conditions" section of SF 1103, U.S. GBL-Original, advising users that interest will be assessed on overcharges issued by GSA's Office of Transportation Audits. Due to the passage of a law that permits the Government to collect interest on debts owed to the U.S., steps are being taken to include such a provision in the FPMR's. This provision added to the GBL will serve as a notice to carriers of the Government's intent.

22. CANCEL STANDARD FORM 1172, CERTIFICATE IN LIEU OF LOST U.S. GOVERNMENT TRANSPORTATION REQUEST

Legal Authority: 40 USC 486(c); 31 USC 3726

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-41

Abstract: This proposed amendment cancels SF 1172, Certificate in Lieu of Lost U.S. GTR and provides alternative procedures for billing when a carrier loses or misplaces a GTR. Substitute procedures prescribe that a carrier will make certification on the face of the SF 1113 transportation voucher billing document and attach copies of pertinent ticket coupons with the related GTR number visible on the face of the coupons. Cancellation of the SF 1172 will eliminate the need for the Government and the carrier industry to print and stock the form. Further economies will result because the carrier will no longer have to prepare and process the certificate.

23. ● COLLECTION OF CLAIMS OWED THE UNITED STATES

Legal Authority: PL 97-365, Sec 10

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 105-55, (New)

Abstract: The regulations will implement the Debt Collection Act of 1982 within the General Services Administration. The regulations are required by Section 10 of the Act and by means of these regulations GSA will be better equipped to pursue claims owed to the Government arising out of GSA activities. Although the benefit will be improved claims collections, there is no way to precisely quantify the costs or benefits at this time.

24. ● USE OF TRAVEL AGENCIES FOR OFFICIAL TRAVEL

Legal Authority: 31 USC 3726; 40 USC 486(c)

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-41

Abstract: This rule will provide guidance concerning the use of travel agents to secure official Government travel which was formerly prohibited by General Accounting Office Regulations. GAO has removed its regulatory restriction (49 FR 17721). This action may result in greater private sector participation in handling Federal travel arrangements.

Legal Authority: 31 USC 3726; 40 USC 486(c)

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-41

Abstract: This rule revises the Standard Form 1170, Redemption of Unused Tickets, and General Services Administration Form 7958, Certificate of Indebtedness, by incorporating wording prescribed by the Debt Collection Act of 1982. This will improve Government-wide effort in collecting debts due the United States.

Legal Authority: 40 USC 486(c)

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-47.203-5(b)

Abstract: In the past, screening of surplus Federal properties with the Federal agencies that sponsor public benefit uses occurred at the same time as screening with local public bodies for such uses and subsequent to the screening of property at the excess stage for direct use by Federal agencies. Addition of section 101-47.203-5(b) will provide for concurrent screening of properties for direct use by Federal agencies and for public benefit uses sponsored by Federal agencies. This change will expedite the disposal process by eliminating screening in cases where no potential for public benefit use is indicated by sponsoring Federal agencies.

Abstract: This rule updates GSA's policies and procedures concerning the Federal surplus personal property donation program. It would: (1) prescribe new and revised definitions; (2) implement Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972; (3) change procedures for donating aircraft, drugs, biologicals, and reagents; (4) clarify cannibalization procedures; (5) add additional terms to the State agency distribution documents; (6) clarify that conditional title, not unrestricted title, passes to a donee at the time it takes possession of the property; (7) prohibit reimbursement to State agencies for certain sales expenses; (8) change reporting requirements; (9) establish an informal appeals procedure; and (10) revise eligibility criteria for educational activities. This amendment is necessary to comply with the provisions of Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, section 502(a) of Public Law 94-241, and the Congressional Reports Elimination Act of 1980 (Public Law 96-470). Its intent is to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of the donation program. There should be no significant costs to the public as a result of this regulatory action. Abstract: The Office of Federal Supply and Services (FSS) has submitted legislation to Congress to effect "Full Cost Pricing" and its companion "Industrial Funding." This legislation will permit FSS, for the first time, to charge customers for the purchase price of commodities and all direct and indirect costs associated with providing the goods or services. The legislation also makes FSS the mandatory source of supplies and services for items under its control. This proposed FPMR Temporary Regulation will establish parameters for agencies that consider it necessary to obtain a product from a non-GSA supply source. A request for waiver shall be based on either of two criteria: (1) Unforeseen urgency does not permit the application of the normal GSA supply source processing time or (2) a fully suitable product is available from a non-contract source at a lower total cost to the Government. This temporary regulation is intended to stimulate competition within the Federal community and force FSS to maintain price competitiveness, thereby achieving overall greater savings to the Government.

54. ● AGENCY PLANNING - PROJECT 84.32T

Legal Authority: 40 USC 486(c)

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 201-16; 41 CFR 201-17

Abstract: Federal agency information resources managers must do a better job of planning. This proposed FIRMR temporary regulation will provide more comprehensive guidance to Federal agencies on the subject of planning and how to do it effectively. The regulation shall also define and obtain from the agencies additional data elements (not provided in current planning documents) that are essential to improving information resources management and agency planning.

56. ● TRIENNIAL REVIEW OF AGENCY ADMINISTRATION AND OPERATION OF INFORMATION MANAGEMENT ACTIVITIES - PROJECT 84.33T

Legal Authority: 40 USC 486(c)

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 201-19

Abstract: This proposed FIRMR temporary regulation will establish the Federal Information Resources Management (IRM) Review Program. It will prescribe the policies and procedures that Federal agencies and the General Services Administration will follow in carrying out the review responsibilities of the Paperwork Reduction Act (44 U.S.C. 3513). The review program's purpose is to ensure that Federal agencies are carrying out their information management activities in an efficient, effective, and economical manner.

Legal Authority: 44 USC 2103; 44 USC 2901 to 2910; 44 USC 3101; 44 USC 3303; 40 USC 486(c)

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-11; 41 CFR 101-36

Abstract: GSA is responsible for providing a wide range of records management standards, procedures, and guidelines and fulfills this mission by issuing Federal Property Management regulations, bulletins, and handbooks. Since few of these directly address the management of electronic records, several agencies have requested standards and guidelines in this area. As a result, GSA is studying the information management issues surrounding the Federal government's increasing dependence on electronic records. An interagency task group will explore these problems and based upon its findings, will propose specific solutions to the problems of electronic recordkeeping.

Legal Authority: Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964; Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973; Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, as amended; Sec 606 of the Fed Property & Admin Service Act of 1949; Age Discrimination Act of 1975, as amended

Abstract: The General Services Administration proposes this regulation to implement all of the above cited Federal laws. These statutes prohibit discrimination, in whole or in part, so that no person in the United States shall on the grounds of race, color, national origin, handicap, sex, or age be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subject to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal assistance from the General Services Administration. In addition, the objectives of the regulation are to streamline certain administrative procedural requirements by consolidating prohibitions of discrimination into one regulation and to make requirements clear and convenient for applicants and recipients to comply with, as well as making the regulation manageable for GSA to administer. This approach permits us to retain the substance of the prohibitions against discrimination, while reducing the cost of implementing and enforcing separate regulations for each of the four distinct laws for preventing discrimination.

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-16; 41 CFR 101-17

Abstract: This regulation provides procedures for the development and maintenance of planning information and reporting systems to ensure the efficient utilization of Federal work space and related furnishings. It implements E.O. 12411 and merges FPMR Temporary Regulation D-68, which pertained to space assignment and Utilization of GSA-Controlled Space, with FPMR Temporary Regulation D-70, which pertained to all Federal work space.

The regulation vests major responsibility for the achievement of efficient utilization of space with the Heads of Agencies. GSA's major roles include receiving the streamlined and simplified space inventory reports and establishing objectives for work space use for each agency.

Through the achievement of more efficient work space utilization the administrative costs of the Federal Government will be reduced.

Legal Authority: 44 USC 3101; 44 USC 2901 to 2909; 40 USC 486(c)

CFR Citation: 41 CFR 101-11.202

Abstract: The head of each Federal agency is required to make and preserve records containing adequate and proper documentation of the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, and essential transactions of the agency. The introduction of modern technology into Federal records systems presents problems in meeting this requirement because of the erasable storage media and complex storage formats. The Administrator of General Services is required to provide guidance and standards to agencies and has delegated the responsibility to the Archivist of the United States. Thus the National Archives and Records Service is reviewing the regulations regarding proper and adequate documentation to determine if they are sufficient to insure proper retention and retrievability of the information until its authorized disposition under an approved records control schedule. If this review determines agencies need different or new guidance, consideration is being given to providing such information through the FPMR Bulletin Structure.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT COOPERATION AGENCY

Agency for International Development

22 CFR Ch. II

Federal Regulations; Agency Regulatory Agenda; Semiannual Summary

AGENCY: Agency for International Development, IDCA.

ACTION: Agency Regulations Agenda.

SUMMARY: The Agency for International Development (A.I.D.) is publishing this Agenda as required by section 5(a) of Executive Order 12291, Federal Regulation (46 FR 13193, February 19, 1981) and by the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354, September 30, 1980). This Agenda reports the status of those regulations currently under review and gives A.I.D.'s plan for the issuance of proposed regulations during the next twelve months. It is expected that the information provided in this agenda will enable the public to be more aware of, and more effectively participate in A.I.D.'s rulemaking process.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

General: For further information on the Agenda or the Review list, in general, contact: Mr. Fred D. Allen, Office of Information Resources Management, Agency for International Development, Washington, D.C. 20523, Telephone (202) 632-3378.

Specific: For further information about any particular item on the Agenda, contact the individual listed as the contact for that item.

Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA)

The Agency does not have any rulemaking activity that falls within the requirements of RFA and does not anticipate any during the next reporting period.

R. T. Rollis, Jr.,

Assistant to the Administrator for Management.

NONDISCRIMINATION ON THE BASIS OF SEX IN EDUCATION PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES RECEIVING OR BENEFITTING FROM FEDERAL FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

Legal Authority: 20 USC 1681 to 1683; 20 USC 1686

CFR Citation: 22 CFR 219, (New)

Abstract: This regulation will address the problem of discrimination on the basis of sex in education programs and activities receiving or benefitting from financial assistance from the Agency for International Development. The regulation is intended to implement title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, as amended. The regulation provides procedures for 1) assuring that such discrimination does not occur and 2) effecting compliance. The Agency is not considering any alternatives for addressing the problem. There will be some minor costs in administering the regulation; there are potential benefits to individuals who might otherwise be discriminated against.

DONATION OF DAIRY PRODUCTS TO ASSIST NEEDY PERSONS OVERSEAS (416 PROGRAM)

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1431; PL 97-253, Sec 110

CFR Citation: 22 CFR 210, (New)

Abstract: This regulation sets forth provisions of the Agency for International Development (A.I.D.), acting as an Agent for the USDA/Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), to carry out part of the responsibilities for selecting, approving, administering and implementing the Section 416 program of the Agricultural Act of 1949, as amended. This program will assist needy persons overseas and reduce surplus stocks of dairy products in CCC inventory. The donation of commodities under this new authority will be coordinated with, but not replace, assistance provided under the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954, as amended, Pub. L. 83-480. The Agency is not considering any alternatives for addressing the problem. There are some minor costs in administering the regulation. The potential benefits will go to needy persons overseas.

NON-DISCRIMINATION IN FEDERALLY ASSISTED PROGRAMS OF THE AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT, -- EFFECTUATION OF TITLE VI OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964

Legal Authority: 22 USC 2402

CFR Citation: 22 CFR 209

Abstract: The regulation will address the problem of discrimination on the basis of race, color, or national origin in any program or activity receiving assistance from the Agency for International Development. The regulation provides that no person in the United States on the ground of race, color or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance from AID. The regulation provides procedures for 1) assuring that such discrimination does not occur and 2) effecting compliance. The Agency is not considering any alternatives for addressing the problem. There will be some minor costs in administering the regulation; there are potential benefits to individuals who might otherwise be discriminated against.

Office of Management and Budget

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

OMB

OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET

5 CFR Ch. III

Federal Regulations; OMB Directives Included in the Semiannual Agenda of Upcoming Activities AGENCY: Office of Management and Budget.

ACTION: Publication of Semiannual Agenda.

SUMMARY: The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) is publishing its semiannual agenda of upcoming activities on OMB Circulars and Office of Federal Procurement Policy Letters (OFPP Policy Letters). This action is in accordance with OMB's internal procedures for implementing Executive Order No. 12291. OMB directives are issued under authority derived from several sources including: Subtitles I, II, and V of Title 31, United States Code, Executive Order No. 11541, and other specific authority as cited. The agenda includes actions on issuances which are not regulations, but which are of public interest.

OMB Circulars and OFPP Policy Letters are directives that communicate significant government-wide policy of a continuing nature. For purposes of this agenda, we have included Circulars and Policy Letters which are designed to implement, interpret, or prescribe law or policy, or describe the procedure or practice requirements of an agency. Excluded are directives that outline procedures to be followed in connection with the President's budget and legislative programs, and directives that affect only the internal functions, management, or personnel of Federal agencies.

OMB, in coordination with agency Assistant Secretaries for Management, is currently conducting a review of all OMB Circulars presently in effect, as part of the Reform 88 initiative. That review is being conducted in addition to the specific actions listed in this agenda. As additional actions result from that review, they will be included in future agendas.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: See agency person listed for each entry in the agenda, c/o Office of Management and Budget, Washington, DC 20503. On the overall agenda, contact Candice C. Bryant at the above address.

FEDERAL INFORMATION RESOURCES MANAGEMENT POLICIES

Legal Authority: PL 96-511; PL 89-306; PL 93-579; EO 11893; EO 12046; See preamble

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Abstract: In accordance with statutory requirements, the Office of Management and Budget has issued a number of policies regarding the management of Federal information resources such as computers and personal records. The enactment of the Paperwork Reduction Act, P.L. 96-511, requires that the policies be brought up-to-date, integrated and made uniform. The Assistant Secretaries for Management group made a similar recommendation. The objective of this initiative is to develop a government-wide policy structure that will provide positive incentives for the efficient and effective management of Federal information resources.

STATISTICAL POLICY DIRECTIVES

Legal Authority: 31 USC 1104 Budget & Accounting Procedures Act 1950 (Sec 103); PL 96-511 Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980; See preamble

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Abstract: General policies for the gathering, compiling, analyzing, publishing, and dissemination of statistical information for any purpose by the various agencies in the Executive Branch of the Federal Government were last codified by the Commerce Department in 1978. Specific Directives were subsequently amended in 1980, 1981, and 1982 as provided in Executive Orders 10253, 12013, and 12318. All directives are under review. Affected agencies will be consulted on particular directives as provided in E.O. 10253.

BOARD OF CONTRACT APPEALS - POSITION ALLOCATION PURSUANT TO PUBLIC LAW 95-563 (OFPP POLICY LETTER 79-2, SUPPLEMENT NO. 1)

Legal Authority: 41 USC 601 et seq; See preamble

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Abstract: The Contract Disputes Act provides for establishment of Boards of Contract Appeals (BCAs) in the various executive agencies; initial allocation of positions was made by the Administrator, OFPP, based on workload studies of existing BCAs. The Act provides for update of workload studies every three years; update of the Policy Letter appears necessary, due to update of workload studies.

POLICY GOVERNING CHARGES FOR RENTAL QUARTERS AND RELATED FACILITIES (CIRCULAR NO. A-45)

Legal Authority: 5 USC 5911; See preamble

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Abstract: Nearly twenty years have elapsed since this Circular was issued. It requires updating and simplification. Some of the major issues to be addressed were (1) calculation of unusual transportation costs, and (2) the definition of an established community. Among the principal benefits to be sought are more equitable rental rates for government quarters and simplified guidelines for determining rates.

FEDERAL CREDIT POLICY (CIRCULAR NO. A-70)

Legal Authority: Budget and Accounting Act of 1921; PL 93-944; See preamble

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Abstract: OMB Circular No. A-70 provides guidance to Federal agencies in reviewing or proposing credit program legislation, Congressional and other proposals on credit, and credit program policies and procedures. The A-70 guidelines apply to both existing and proposed credit programs. Among other requirements, A-70 requires agencies to provide an explicit statement of the subsidies they make available to borrowers, to specify the minimum direct loan interest rates or loan guarantee fees to be charged by reference to benchmark interest rates or loan guarantee fees in the private market, and to encourage meaningful participation by the private sector in financing guaranteed loans.

COST PRINCIPALS FOR NONPROFIT ORGANIZATIONS - LOBBYING AND RELATED ACTIVITIES (CIRCULAR NO. A-122)

Legal Authority: See preamble

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Abstract: The purpose of this revision is to establish a government-wide set of cost principles regarding lobbying and related activities that will provide clear guidelines for grantees where none now exist, and protect grantees against excessive paperwork requirements. It is designed to ensure that federally-appropriated funds are not used by contractors or grantees for such activities and to assure compliance with a myriad of statutory provisions mandating that no federal funds be used for lobbying purposes. The intent is not to discourage or in any way penalize organizations for lobbying efforts with their own funds, but to ensure that the federal government does not subsidize such activities.

Parallel revisions were published for defense and civilian contractors by the Department of Defense and the General Services Administration.

PATENTS - SMALL BUSINESS FIRMS AND NONPROFIT ORGANIZATIONS (CIRCULAR NO. A-124)

Legal Authority: PL 96-517; See preamble

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Abstract: This Circular implements P.L. 96-517 which establishes uniform patent policy for universities, nonprofits, and small business with respect to inventions made under Government funding arrangements. The President's February 18, 1983 statement on Government Patent Policy extended, to the extent permitted by law, the policy in P.L. 96-517 to large business. An amendment to Circular No. A-124 was considered to implement the President's memorandum. On March 26, 1984, Part 27 of the Federal Acquisition Regulation implemented the President's memorandum. A policy letter is, therefore, not necessary.

FEDERAL PROCUREMENT POLICY ON SUBCONTRACTING UNDER FEDERAL CONTRACTS (PROPOSED MODIFICATION TO OFPP POLICY LETTER)

Legal Authority: PL 93-400; See preamble

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Abstract: The proposed modification to Policy Letter 80-2, April 29, 1980, would authorize departments and agencies, under appropriate circumstances, to relieve a prime contractor of the responsibility under the existing policy letter of reviewing and approving a subcontractor's plan.

Public comment on the proposed modification was requested and received by the Office of Federal Procurement Policy. Subsequently, prime contractors which had requested the modification withdrew their request. We have concluded that a policy letter is not required.

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Abstract: This Policy Letter sets forth guidelines to establish, use, review, and end the sponsorship of FFRDCs. It requires a thorough assessment of existing alternative sources before establishing an FFRDC or expanding the scope of an existing FFRDC's sponsoring agreement. A sponsoring agreement will clearly delineate the purpose of the FFRDC and describe the scope of effort to be performed by the FFRDC. It also describes the role the FFRDC has in accomplishing the agency's mission. Tasks assigned to the FFRDC must be within the scope of this sponsoring agreement.

POLICIES FOR ESTABLISHING THE PROFIT OR FEE PRENEGOTIATION OBJECTIVE (OFPP POLICY LETTER 80-7)

Legal Authority: PL 93-400; See preamble

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Abstract: OFPP Policy Letter 80-7, dated December 15, 1980, established a facilities capital cost-of-money cost principle for contracts with commercial organizations and uniform policies for establishing the profit or fee portion of the Government prenegotiation objective. Agencies were required to develop a structured approach for determining the profit or fee portion of the Government prenegotiation objective in acquisitions requiring cost analysis. The structured approach adopted by the agency had to permit tailoring of profit or fee on an individual contract to fit the particular circumstances of that contract. Sunset review was established as January 1, 1984. With the issuance of the Federal Acquisition Regulation on April 1, 1984, our review concluded that the policy letter was no longer needed and it is, therefore, cancelled.

Regulatory Agenda

AGENCY: Office of Personnel Management.

ACTION: Semiannual agenda of regulations.

SUMMARY: The following Office of Personnel Management regulations are scheduled for review or development from October 1, 1984 through September 30, 1985. This agenda carries out OPM's responsibilities to publish a semiannual agenda under E.O. 12291, Federal Regulation, and the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. chapter 6). This publication in the Federal Register does not impose a binding obligation on the Office of Personnel Management with regard to any specific item on the agenda. Regulatory action in addition to the items listed is not precluded.

ORGANIZATION OF THE GOVERNMENT FOR PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT; PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT IN AGENCIES

Legal Authority: 5 USC 1104; 5 USC 1302; 5 USC 3301; 5 USC 3302; EO 10577

CFR Citation: 5 CFR 230; 5 CFR 250

Abstract: Deletes Part 230 and transfers its regulations to Part 250, to maintain parallel structure with 5 U.S.C. Combines material formerly in Part 230 with regulations now found in Part 250 to present all regulations on agencies' authorities for personnel management in a single part of the Code of Federal Regulations. Changes improve the technical integrity of the CFR by eliminating redundancies and improving the efficiency of OPM's regulations. No change in the coverage or substance of affected regulations.

REMOVAL, REINSTATEMENT AND GUARANTEED PLACEMENT IN THE SENIOR EXECUTIVE SERVICE

Legal Authority: 5 USC 3595; 5 USC 3596

CFR Citation: 5 CFR 359

Abstract: Proposed regulations to add a new subpart to implement Pub. L. 97-35, August 13, 1981, as amended by Pub. L. 97-346, October 15, 1982, which added provisions to Title 5 to govern SES reduction- in-force actions affecting career executives. Regulations are needed to cover certain areas not in the law, such as notification to employees and retention of records, and to implement the provisions in the law dealing with OPM's responsibility to help place career executives identified for reduction-in-force.

PANAMA CANAL COMMISSION

35 CFR Ch. I

Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations

AGENCY: Panama Canal Commission.

ACTION: Publication of semiannual agenda of regulations.

SUMMARY: The purpose of this agenda is to report the proposed rulemaking activities of the Panama Canal Commission. This information will allow the public to participate in the rulemaking process.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For information about a particular regulatory project, contact the person listed in the subheading "Agency Contact" for that project. For general information, contact Michael Rhode, Jr., Secretary, Panama Canal Commission, Suite 312, Pennsylvania Building, 425 13th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20004, (202) 724-0104; or John L. Haines, Jr., Esquire, General Counsel, Panama Canal Commission, APO Miami 34011.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Executive Order 12291, Federal Regulation, and the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601, et seq. require that executive agencies publish in the Federal Register a semiannual notice of regulations which are under development or review or for which action has been completed. The Panama Canal Commission agenda contains certain regulations which are limited in public impact, but they are included to increase public awareness of Commission activities and to allow for increased public participation in the agency's regulatory review and development process. This agenda was prepared under the guidelines established by OMB Bulletin No. 84-16.

DATED: August 17, 1984.

CFR Citation: 35 CFR 113, (Revision); 35 CFR 101, (Revision); 35 CFR 103, (Revision); 35 CFR 123, (Revision); 35 CFR 107, (Revision)

Abstract: Many of the International Maritime Conventions concerning hazardous cargoes, tank ships, gas carriers, training and other maritime matters have been adopted by the United States and other maritime nations using the Panama Canal. New hazardous cargoes are being added to the trade. The existing regulations should be revised. Revisions would substitute the provisions of certain international conventions. Using international standards would improve safety through ease of compliance and enforcement.

RULES FOR MEASUREMENT OF VESSELS

Legal Authority: 22 USC 3791 Panama Canal Act of 1979

CFR Citation: 35 CFR 135

Abstract: In July 1982 forty-eight nations, representing more than eighty percent of world shipping, began implementing a new, uniform method for tonnage determination in accordance with the International Convention on Tonnage Measurement of Ships, 1969. The present Panama Canal measurement system is based upon the old national tonnage measurement systems. To continue the present Panama Canal System may require that new ships be measured twice, once under the new system and again under the now out-dated national system. No timetable for rulemaking has been established. This proposal is still under study by the Panama Canal Commission. The Commission is in the process of evaluating comments received from Canal users which will assist in determining whether the present system should be changed.

Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

PBGC

PENSION BENEFIT GUARANTY CORPORATION

29 CFR Ch. XXVI

Agenda of Regulations Under Development

AGENCY: Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation.

ACTION: Agenda of regulations.

SUMMARY: This document sets forth the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation's regulatory agenda issued under Executive Order 12291 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act. The agenda lists regulations that are currently under development or that PBGC expects to have under development during the next twelve months and regulations that are currently under review for possible amendment. The effect of this agenda is to advise the public of PBGC's current and future regulatory activities.

ADDRESS: Corporate Policy and Regulations Department (611), Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation, 2020 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For further information on the agenda in general, contact Renae R. Hubbard, Special Counsel, Corporate Policy and Regulations Department, 202-254-6476. For information about a specific regulation project listed on the agenda, contact the person designated in the agenda for that regulation.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Under the President's Order on Federal Regulation, Executive Order 12291, 46 FR 13193, (the "Executive Order"), each agency is required to publish in April and October an agenda of regulations currently or soon to be under development. The Executive Order requires that the agenda also include those currently effective regulations that are being reviewed by the agency pursuant to the Executive Order. The Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601, Pub. L. 96-354, 94 Stat. 1164, has a similar agenda requirement. Under that law, the agenda must list any regulation that is likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

The Office of Management and Budget has issued guidelines (OMB Bulletin No. 84-16) prescribing the form and content of the regulatory agenda. Under those guidelines, the agenda must list all regulatory activities being conducted or reviewed in the next twelve months and provide certain specified information on each regulation. All the items on this agenda are current or projected rulemakings. Two items, the rule on guaranteed benefits and the rule on limitation on guaranteed benefits, are existing regulations that PBGC has under review pursuant to the Executive Order.

The guidelines also require that "priority regulations" be identified. Priority regulations are those designated for priority development and review by the agency head or those that are "major rules" under the Executive Order. PBGC has determined that all the regulations listed in this agenda are necessary to the effective implementation of the insurance program and, therefore, each is considered a "priority regulation."

Finally, the guidelines require a description of the potential costs and benefits of each regulation. The regulations listed on the agenda fall into three general categories. Some lessen statutory requirements, thereby lowering costs to the public and minimizing burden on plans and plan sponsors. Others simply implement statutory requirements and, although costs may be imposed because of these statutory requirements, the public is benefited by clear and unambiguous rules which lessen the probability of disputes, litigation and public confusion. Others of the regulations in the agenda reallocate costs necessarily imposed by the statute so that, although certain contributing employers may experience greater costs, others will experience an equivalent reduction in costs resulting in a net effect of zero. Where applicable, additional costs and benefits are stated separately in the item relating to the particular regulation.

Unless otherwise indicated, all citations in the agenda are to sections of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, Pub. L. No. 93-406, 88 Stat. 829, as amended by the Multiemployer Pension Plan Amendments Act of 1980 ("the Multiemployer Act"), Pub. L. No. 96-364, 94 Stat. 1208 ("ERISA"), 29 U.S.C. 1001 et seq. (1982).

Executive Director, Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation.

ARBITRATION OF DISPUTES IN MULTIEMPLOYER PLANS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b)(3) ERISA; 29 USC 1321(a)(2) ERISA

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2641

Abstract: Section 4221 of ERISA provides that any dispute between an employer and the sponsor of a multiemployer plan regarding the determination of the employer's withdrawal liability to the plan shall be resolved through arbitration. Section 4221(a)(2) of ERISA provides that an arbitration proceeding under this section shall be conducted in accordance with fair and equitable procedures prescribed by the PBGC. The regulation will set forth those procedures. This regulation is needed to provide the rules of procedure under which an arbitration proceeding will be conducted. PBGC expects that the rule will minimize costs on plan sponsors and contributing employers because it provides a clear set of rules designed to clarify the Act's provisions and the responsibilities of the respective parties.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF PLAN SPONSORS OF PLANS TERMINATED BY MASS WITHDRAWAL: NOTICES OF BENEFIT REDUCTIONS AND SUSPENSIONS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b)(2) ERISA; 29 USC 1441(c) ERISA; 29 USC 1441(d) ERISA

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2675

Abstract: Section 4281 of ERISA contains rules relating to the administration and payment of benefits under multiemployer plans that have terminated by mass withdrawal. Under certain circumstances, the plan sponsor is required to amend the plan to eliminate benefits not eligible for PBGC's guarantee under Section 4022A. In addition, if the terminated plan becomes insolvent, the sponsor is required to suspend payment of any benefits that are in excess of those guaranteed under Section 4022A. The PBGC is authorized to modify the statutory duties of the plan sponsor, including the duty to provide participants and beneficiaries with notice of benefit reductions, and is required to prescribe rules that ensure that plan participants and beneficiaries receive adequate notice of the benefit suspensions. This regulation will prescribe the requirements for these two notices, and will also modify the statutory rules concerning when a plan sponsor must make determinations of plan solvency. This regulation will benefit multiemployer plans by reducing the number of notices that would otherwise be required under ERISA, thus reducing plan costs. In addition, the regulation will (cont)

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: benefit plan participants and beneficiaries by requiring that they receive timely and informative notices of benefit reductions and suspensions. These benefits cannot be quantified. While providing the notices required by the regulation will obviously entail a cost to plans, the aggregate cost will be low: PBGC estimates that fewer than 10 plans per year will terminate by mass withdrawal, and only a very few of those will ever be required to reduce or suspend benefits.

NOTICE OF INSOLVENCY

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b)(3) ERISA; 29 USC 1426(e) ERISA

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2674

Abstract: Section 4245(e) of ERISA requires the plan sponsor of a multiemployer plan, upon determining that the plan may become insolvent, to give notice of that fact to the PBGC, contributing employers, affected employee organizations and plan participants. In addition, the plan sponsor must inform those parties of the plan's resource benefit level for the insolvency year. Section 4245(e)(4) of ERISA requires that the notices be given in accordance with regulations prescribed by the PBGC. This regulation will establish the procedures for issuing and the contents of the insolvency notices. The early notice of potential plan insolvency to the collective bargaining parties will enable the parties, if they so choose, to negotiate additional contributions in order to avoid insolvency and the consequent benefit suspensions. This is of benefit to plan participants and beneficiaries, although it is not possible to quantify that benefit.

SUPPLEMENTAL GUARANTEE PROGRAM

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b)(3) ERISA; 29 USC 1322a(g)(2) ERISA

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2690 to 2699

Abstract: Section 4022A(g)(2) of ERISA requires PBGC to issue regulations establishing a supplemental program to guarantee benefits under multiemployer plans that would otherwise be guaranteed but for the limitations in section 4022A(c) of ERISA. Participation by plans in this supplemental program is optional. ERISA requires that the supplemental guarantee program be entirely self-supporting. The information PBGC has indicates there is very little public interest in this program. Therefore, PBGC has determined that the program is financially unfeasible, and accordingly this project is being deferred indefinitely.

RULES DEFINING THE "BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY"

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b)(3) ERISA; 29 USC 1383(b) ERISA

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2646

Abstract: Section 4203(b) of ERISA contains special withdrawal rules applicable to the building and construction industry. ERISA does not, however, contain a definition of the term "building and construction industry"; nor does it define two other terms critical to the special rules, "primarily" and "substantially." This regulation would provide those definitions. Because there are conflicting views among the public as to the need for this regulation, and because of the difficulty in developing appropriate definitions of these terms, PBGC issued an advance notice of proposed rulemaking on this matter. PBGC is still studying the question of whether to proceed with a regulation.

REDUCTION OR WAIVER OF COMPLETE WITHDRAWAL LIABILITY

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b)(3) ERISA; 29 USC 1387(a) ERISA

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2647

Abstract: Section 4207(a) of ERISA requires the PBGC to establish rules for reducing or waiving the liability of an employer who has completely withdrawn from a multiemployer plan and subsequently resumes covered operations or renews the obligation to contribute under the plan. This regulation will prescribe the circumstances under which an employer's liability will be reduced or waived and the rules for computing the employer's liability for a complete or partial withdrawal after it has reentered the plan. This regulation will benefit multiemployer plans by encouraging some employers who have withdrawn from these plans to renew their participation in the plans. By the same token these employers will benefit by having some or all of their withdrawal liability waived. While the plans will incur the cost of foregoing collection of some of the withdrawal liability owed them, the assumption underlying this statutory provision is that these costs will be offset by the contributions employers will make to the plans after their reentry. PBGC is unable to quantify these benefits and costs, because it cannot predict the number of employers who will avail themselves of this rule.

TRANSFERS OF LIABILITIES TO SINGLE-EMPLOYER PLANS: WAIVER OF MULTIEMPLOYER PLAN'S CONTINGENT LIABILITY

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b)(3) ERISA; 29 USC 1412(c) ERISA

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2679

Abstract: Under section 4232(c), a multiemployer plan that transfers liabilities to a single-employer plan is contingently liable to PBGC, up to the amounts specified in section 4232(c), if the single-employer plan terminates within five years after the transfer. PBGC is authorized, however, to waive the contingent liability if it determines that its interests and the interests of plan participants and beneficiaries are adequately protected. This regulation will provide procedures for applying to PBGC for a waiver and standards under which waivers will be granted. Because of the small number of waiver requests received to date, PBGC has determined that this project is not a high priority, and that limited staff resources can be better applied to other projects. Accordingly, this regulation is deferred for the time being.

Abstract: The rules for determining an employer's withdrawal liability do not necessarily allocate a plan's total unfunded vested benefits because of the rules reducing or eliminating withdrawal liability, such as the de minimis rule. Therefore, if all or substantially all the employers in a plan withdraw, there may be large unallocated amounts that would constitute a potential claim on the insurance system. In order to avoid this result, section 4219(c)(1)(D) requires the determination or redetermination of withdrawal liability, in order to fully allocate a plan's unfunded vested benefits, upon either the termination of the plan through the withdrawal of every employer, or the withdrawal of substantially all the employers pursuant to an agreement or arrangement to withdraw. This regulation will set forth rules implementing this requirement. This regulation primarily benefits the multiemployer insurance program and the plans that are required to pay premiums under it, by insuring that in the event of a mass withdrawal (or the withdrawal of substantially all the employers pursuant to an agreement to withdraw), the liability for all unfunded vested benefits is allocated to the (cont)

VALUATION OF PLAN ASSETS AND PLAN BENEFITS FOLLOWING MASS WITHDRAWAL

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b)(3) ERISA; 29 USC 1441(b) ERISA

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2676

Abstract: A plan that has terminated by mass withdrawal is required under section 4281(b) of ERISA to perform an annual valuation of the plan's nonforfeitable benefits and assets (including outstanding claims for withdrawal liability). This valuation is to be done in accordance with PBGC regulations. In addition, when a plan experiences a mass withdrawal, section 4219(c)(1)(D) requires the plan sponsor to allocate fully the plan's unfunded vested benefits to all withdrawing employers. In order to do this allocation, the plan sponsor must first value the plan's benefits and assets. This regulation will prescribe the rules for these valuations. The regulation on valuing outstanding claims for withdrawal liability listed on previous PBGC agendas (RIN 1212-AA17) has been merged into this regulation.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b)(3) ERISA; 29 USC 1341a ERISA; 29 USC 1441(d) ERISA

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2675

Abstract: Section 4041A of ERISA provides rules with respect to the termination of multiemployer plans and the payment of benefits under those plans. Under section 4041A(f)(2), PBGC is authorized to prescribe rules for the administration of those plans that are appropriate to protect the interests of plan participants and beneficiaries or to prevent unreasonable loss to the insurance system. Under section 4281(b), the plan sponsor of a plan that has terminated by mass withdrawal is required annually to determine the value of the plan's nonforfeitable benefits and assets. If the value of the benefits exceeds the value of the assets, the sponsor must amend the plan to eliminate benefits not eligible for PBGC's guarantee under section 4022A(b), to the extent necessary to insure that the plan assets are sufficient to pay all nonforfeitable benefits. This determination of sufficiency is to be made in accordance with rules prescribed by PBGC. This regulation would establish the rules for administering plans that have terminated by mass withdrawal, including the rules for determining sufficiency in the circumstances described above. Abstract: On January 19, 1981, PBGC issued an interim regulation dealing with alternative methods for allocating unfunded vested benefits in multiemployer pension plans. PBGC now plans to re-promulgate that regulation in order to correct ambiguities that have arisen under it, to conform the procedures contained in it to other PBGC regulations, and to reduce the information reporting requirements in the regulation. NOTICE OF INTENT TO TERMINATE FOR NON-MULTIEMPLOYER PENSION PLANS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302; 29 USC 1341

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2616

Abstract: Section 4041(a) of ERISA requires that a plan administrator file with the PBGC a notice that the plan is to be terminated. This rule would amend PBGC's regulation on Notice of Intent to Terminate for Single-Employer Plans, 29 CFR Part 2616, to provide that a notice or action document shall be deemed filed on the date on which it is received by the PBGC. The current regulation provides that a document is generally deemed filed on the date of the U.S. Postal Service postmark. Confusion has resulted because of the widespread use of private postage meters and the fact that the date on which a document is placed in a mailbox may not correspond with the U.S. Postal Service postmark. This amendment also would clarify the procedures for filing a notice of intent to terminate when a plan administrator chooses to use an alternative procedure for demonstrating sufficiency under PBGC's regulation on Determination of Plan Sufficiency and Termination of Sufficient Plans, 29 CFR Part 2617. This amendment, which will minimize confusion over the correct date and manner of filing, will be issued in conjunction with the amendment to 29 CFR Part 2617.

Abstract: This amendment to the existing PBGC regulation on valuing plan assets, 29 CFR Part 2620, will set forth rules for valuing group insurance contracts as plan assets. This regulation applies to single-employer plans. This rule is necessary to provide uniform standards for plan administrators and employers to use in valuing insurance contracts. The rule will enable plans which are funded through insurance contracts to have clear guidance on how this asset should be treated in the plan termination context, and alleviate time-consuming costly delays due to uncertainty on how this commonly used plan funding vehicle should be valued.

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2623

Abstract: The PBGC is preparing a final regulation to set forth rules designed: (a) to reduce benefit overpayments made to plan participants after the date of plan termination by requiring plan administrators to reduce benefit payments to the estimated level of Title IV benefits payable; (b) to define the circumstances under which the PBGC will recover overpayments from plan participants; and (c) to describe the method(s) by which the PBGC will recover overpayments. The regulation applies only to single-employer plans. This regulation is needed to establish rules and procedures for the prompt reduction of benefits after the date of plan termination in order to minimize overpayments to participants and to establish a formal procedure for PBGC recovery of overpayments to participants. This regulation will provide guidance to plan administrators and participants and minimize costs to the insurance system. No new costs will be added to plan sponsors because PBGC presently requests plan administrators to cut back benefits after termination to estimated guaranteed benefits. DETERMINATION OF PLAN SUFFICIENCY AND TERMINATION OF SUFFICIENT PLANS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302; 29 USC 1341; 29 USC 1344

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2617

Abstract: On January 28, 1981, PBGC issued a final rule on Determination of Plan Sufficiency and Termination of Sufficient Plans, requiring administrators of plans that are not "clearly insufficient" to follow a specified procedure for demonstrating whether the plan is sufficient. Pursuant to this procedure, the plan administrator must, inter alia, value the plan's assets and liabilities as of a proposed distribution date and submit the valuation data to the PBGC. In light of its experience in processing plans under this regulation, the PBGC has concluded that for some plans the data submission requirement is unnecessary. Accordingly, PBGC now plans to amend that regulation to set forth, as an alternative method for demonstrating sufficiency, the submission of an enrolled actuary's statement certifying that the value of plan assets determined in accordance with the regulation does or does not, whichever is applicable, equal or exceed the value of plan benefits determined in accordance with the regulation. This amendment sets forth a simplified optional procedure for demonstrating sufficiency and may reduce costs for (cont)

VALUATION OF PLAN BENEFITS IN NON-MULTIEMPLOYER PLANS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302; 29 USC 1341; 29 USC 1344; 29 USC 1362

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2619

Abstract: This rule would amend PBGC's regulation on Valuation of Plan Benefits in Non-Multiemployer Plans, 29 CFR Part 2619. That regulation sets forth the rules for valuing benefits in terminating plans that are covered by the insurance program under ERISA, which valuation is needed to determine if plan assets are sufficient to provide for plan benefits and to properly allocate assets to those benefits. After review of this regulation pursuant to Executive Order 12291, the PBGC is amending the rules for valuing benefits payable as lump sums upon termination. The effect of this amendment is to prescribe the range of interest rates that may be used to value lump sums that are paid in lieu of annuities. The amendment, in the form of an interim final rule, is needed to protect recipients of lump sum distributions from loss of benefit value resulting from the use of inappropriate interest rates to compute the lump sum amounts.

This rule would amend PBGC's regulation on Payment of Premiums, 29 CFR Part 2610, to accelerate collection of PBGC premium revenue from plans with 500 or more participants. The amendment would change the premium due date for such plans to the last day of the second month following the close of the plan year. VARIANCES FOR SALES OF ASSETS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 29 USC 1302(b)(3) ERISA; 29 USC 1384(c) ERISA

CFR Citation: 29 CFR 2643

Abstract: Section 4204 of ERISA provides that the sale of assets by an employer who contributes to a multiemployer plan, which would normally constitute a withdrawal from the plan, will not be considered a withdrawal if certain requirements are met. This regulation will provide exemptions or variances from the purchaser's bond/escrow requirement and the sales-contract requirement of section 4204 (a)(l)(B) and (C) of ERISA under certain conditions. This regulation will assist employers who engage in sales of assets to structure those transactions so as to avoid any immediate liability for the seller's withdrawal from a multiemployer plan. Further, by waiving the requirement that the purchaser post a bond or establish an escrow account, the regulation frees up funds that the purchaser may use for other purposes. In 22 cases decided so far in which the PBGC has granted individual exemptions from this requirement, the total amount of the bonds/escrows waived is approximately $11.4 million.

Abstract: Section 4043 of ERISA sets forth several types of events with respect to which plan administrators must notify the PBGC and authorizes the PBGC to waive the thirty-day notification requirements for any of those events. The Multiemployer Act amended section 4065 of ERISA to authorize PBGC to waive the requirement that a list of reportable events be included in the Annual Report filed with the PBGC. In addition, the Multiemployer Act established separate reporting and notification requirements for multiemployer plans. Accordingly, the PBGC is amending its reportable events regulation, 29 CFR Part 2615, which modifies certain of the statutory requirements, to further delete unnecessary reporting requirements for both single-employer and multiemployer plans. The regulation will reduce the reporting and notification requirements to which plan administrators are subject.

RAILROAD RETIREMENT BOARD (RRB)

Current and Projected Rulemakings

1. PART 220 DISABILITY DETERMINATIONS

Legal Authority: 45 USC 231f(b)(5)

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 220

Abstract: The Board's regulations with respect to disability determinations have not been updated for several years and they are, in certain respects, obsolete. When revised, this regulation should ease the administration of disability benefits and result in greater consistency in disability determinations.

2. PRIMARY INSURANCE AMOUNT DETERMINATIONS

Legal Authority: 45 USC 231f(b)(5)

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 225

Abstract: The computation of benefits under the Railroad Retirement Act of 1974 is quite complex and is not easily understood by beneficiaries. This proposed regulation would explain primary insurance amount determinations in a manner that will enable claimants and beneficiaries to more easily understand this phase of benefit computations.

3. COMPUTING THE EMPLOYEE AND SPOUSE ANNUITY

Legal Authority: 45 USC 231f(b)(5)

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 226

Abstract: The Board's regulations on the computation of employee and spouse annuities must be updated to conform to the Railroad Retirement Act of 1974 and to amendments to the Act made by the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1981 and the Railroad Retirement Solvency Act of 1983.

4. DEFINITION AND CREDITABILITY OF SERVICE

Legal Authority: 45 USC 231f(b)(5)

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 210

Abstract: The Board's regulations on creditability of service have not been revised recently and a review of the regulations revealed that revisions are necessary to conform to amendments to the Act and to clarify the regulations in several respects.

8. REGULATIONS UNDER THE REGIONAL RAIL REORGANIZATION ACT OF 1973

Legal Authority: 45 USC 362(l); 45 USC 797; PL 97-102

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 390

Abstract: Pursuant to the Northeast Rail Service Act of 1981, appropriations statutes authorized by that Act, and the benefit schedules prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, the Board has certain duties, responsibilities, and powers to administer programs under Title VII of the Regional Rail Reorganization Act of 1973. Regulations are necessary to establish procedures to be followed in making claims under these programs and to establish procedures for resolving disputes and appeals.

9. DISCLOSURE OF BUSINESS INFORMATION

Legal Authority: 5 USC 552

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 200.3

Abstract: The Department of Justice recently directed Federal agencies to establish procedures, preferably as regulations, to cover requests under the Freedom of Information Act for business information provided by private business concerns. A regulation is under development to comply with this directive.

10. INITIAL DETERMINATIONS UNDER THE RAILROAD UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE ACT AND REVIEWS OF AND APPEALS FROM SUCH DETERMINATIONS

Legal Authority: 45 USC 355(b); 45 USC 362(l)

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 320

Abstract: The Board's regulation setting forth the procedures to be followed in rendering initial decisions and in requesting and handling reconsiderations and appeals from these decisions has been reviewed and a proposal to make certain revisions in this regulation is being developed. The proposed regulation would conform the procedures more closely to those applicable under the Railroad Retirement Act.

18. EMPLOYERS' CONTRIBUTIONS AND CONTRIBUTION REPORTS

Legal Authority: 45 USC 358(g); 45 USC 362(l)

CFR Citation: 20 CFR 345

Abstract: The Board's regulations currently provide for the payment of contributions by employers as required under the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act by the end of the second month after the quarter for which the contributions are payable or in the case of very small employers by the end of the second month following the close of the year for which contributions are payable. The Board is considering an amendment to this schedule which would conform the deposit schedule more closely to that for other taxes, accelerating the payments by one month.

Small Business Administration

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

SBA

SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

13 CFR Ch. I

Improving Government Regulations; Semiannual Agenda

AGENCY: Small Business Administration.

ACTION: Publication of the semiannual agenda of regulations under review or development by the Small Business Administration.

SUMMARY: This is SBA's 11th semiannual agenda of regulations. Although not a regulatory Agency, SBA has attempted to draft agendas that met both the criteria and the spirit of the regulatory review process. This agenda is published pursuant to Executive Order 12291 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., Pub. L. 96-354, effective January 1, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For further information on agenda items, the public is encouraged to contact the individual Agency official listed for the particular item.

For information concerning SBA overall Regulatory Review and Development Program or general semiannual agenda questions, contact Martin D. Teckler, Deputy General Counsel, Small Business Administration, 1441 L Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20416, 202/653-6642.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The SBA agenda will contain many regulations which are limited in public impact, but they are included to increase public knowledge of all SBA regulatory activities and allow for increased public participation in the review and development process.

Public comments on SBA's previous agendas have been general, and all were positive. None were directed at specific contents, nor were any changes suggested or recommended.

The agenda format has three parts. Part I, Current and Projected Rulemakings, includes rulemaking currently underway and scheduled to be completed shortly. Part II, Existing Regulations Under Review, includes existing regulations being reviewed within the Agency to determine whether to propose modifications through rulemaking. Part III, Completed Actions, includes regulations completed or withdrawn, and reviews completed since the preceding agenda.

Publication of this agenda does not impose any binding obligation on SBA with regard to any specific item in the agenda. Additional regulatory action not listed on the agenda is not precluded.

DATED: August 31, 1984.

James C. Sanders,

Administrator.

Regulatory Agenda

AGENCY: Tennessee Valley Authority.

ACTION: Regulatory Agenda.

SUMMARY: As a nonregulatory agency, TVA originates very few regulations and thus does not ordinarily have agenda items to announce. However, TVA has completed one regulation amendment and currently has one regulation under development and is therefore publishing a regulatory agenda in voluntary compliance with Executive Order No. 12291.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For further information on either regulation, please contact the person listed for that regulation.

● PROTECTION OF ARCHAEOLOGICAL RESOURCES

Legal Authority: 16 USC 470aa to 470ll

CFR Citation: 18 CFR 1312

Abstract: The planned regulations will implement provisions of the Archaeological Resources Protection Act of 1979 by providing protection of archaeological resources on public lands in TVA custody and control. TVA will seek to protect such resources through permits authorizing excavation or removal of resources, through civil penalties for unauthorized excavation or removal through preservation of archaeological resource collections and data, and through assuring confidentiality of information about resources when disclosure would threaten the resources. The planned regulations will supplement existing uniform regulations by assigning specific responsibilities within TVA.

● NONDISCRIMINATION IN FEDERALLY ASSISTED PROGRAMS OF TVA; EFFECTUATION OF TITLE VI OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964

Legal Authority: 16 USC 831 to 831dd TVA Act of 1933, as amended; 42 USC 2000d-1

CFR Citation: 18 CFR 1302

Abstract: This final rule amends TVA's regulations at 18 CFR 1302, implementing Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as to programs which receive financial assistance from TVA. The amendments adopt Department of Justice and Office of Management and Budget suggestions which clarify and improve the regulation. Other revisions remove unnecessary gender-specific language. The addition of "program or activity" language in various parts of the regulation is intended to conform to the language of Title VI.

AGENCY: Veterans Administration.

ACTION: Publication of Agenda of Regulations.

SUMMARY: This agenda announces the regulations that the Veterans Administration will have under review, development or revision during the 12 month period from October 1984 to October 1985. The purpose in publishing this Agency's regulatory development activities is to allow all interested persons the opportunity to participate in the rulemaking process.

ADDRESSES: Interested persons are invited to comment on the regulations listed in the agenda by contacting the individual agency contact listed for each regulation, or by writing to: Paperwork Management and Regulations Service (731), Veterans Administration, 810 Vermont Avenue, NW, Washington, D.C. 20420.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Celia Fasone, (202) 389-2340.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Executive Order 12291, Federal Regulation, and the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354) require that executive agencies publish in the Federal Register in April and October of each year, an agenda of regulations under development and review.

The Veterans Administration has no regulations considered major under the terms of E.O. 12291; however all of this agency's proposed rules and current rules under review, except those considered to be internal agency policy management or routine regulations, have been listed in accordance with section 5.(a) of the executive order. This agenda incorporates those categories of information required pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 602(a) and 610(c) (Regulatory Flexibility Act).

The Veterans Administration has found that all rules listed in this agenda, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities as they are defined in 5 U.S.C. 601 - 612.

This agenda has been prepared in accordance with OMB Bulletin 84-16.

DATED: August 21, 1984.

By direction of the Administrator.

Dominick Onorato,

Associate Deputy Administrator for Information Resources Management.

5. CONSIDERATIONS APPLICABLE IN DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY FOR DOMICILIARY CARE

Legal Authority: 38 USC 610(b); 38 USC 601(7)

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 17.48(c)(1)

Abstract: The existing regulation now defines the domiciliary program as the provision of a home with medical services as needed to veterans who have a chronic disability and who are unable to earn a living. The proposed change would clarify the mission of the domiciliary program as an integral part of the provision of health care services by the VA by refocusing the definition from the provision of housing to the provision of continuing medical and rehabilitative services at a less intensive level than that provided in a hospital or nursing home, but at a higher level than that available in a residential setting.

7. EXTENSIONS TO COMMUNITY NURSING HOME CARE

Legal Authority: 38 USC 620

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 17.51a

Abstract: Existing regulations that permit an extension to an approved 6-month period of Community Nursing Home Care at VA expense are not definitive enough regarding the circumstances of an unusual nature which provide the impetus for granting such extensions. The proposed change will correct that deficiency.

8. DEFINITION - DOMICILIARY CARE

Legal Authority: 38 USC 610(b); 38 USC 601(7)

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 17.30(n)

Abstract: The existing regulation now defines the domiciliary program as the provision of a home with medical services as needed to veterans who have a chronic disability and who are unable to earn a living. The proposed change would clarify the mission of the domiciliary program as an integral part of the provision of health care services by the VA by refocusing the definition from the provision of housing to the provision of continuing medical and rehabilitative services at a less intensive level than that provided in a hospital or nursing home, but at a higher level than that available in a residential setting.

12. VETERANS EDUCATION; EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE TEST PROGRAM

Legal Authority: PL 96-342

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 21.5700 to 21.5900

Abstract: VA and DoD have negotiated an agreement which requires VA to administer payments for the Educational Assistance Test Program. These regulations will implement this program. There are no alternatives. There must be regulations to permit proper administration of the program. The costs of the program arise from the law, not the regulations.

13. VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION AMENDMENTS

Legal Authority: 38 USC 1500 et seq

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 21.50 to 21.98

Abstract: Comprehensive evaluation of the veteran's situation as the basis for determining eligibility and entitlement to rehabilitation services. Conditions which must be met in each case before the veteran is eligible for and entitled to rehabilitation services. Content of the individual written rehabilitation plan. Limitations on duration of rehabilitation services. Establishes a multi-disciplinary group to assist seriously disabled veterans. Cost benefits are not estimated on a quantitative basis.

18. VETERANS EDUCATION; SPECIAL RESTORATIVE TRAINING AND SPECIALIZED VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Legal Authority: 38 USC 1736; 38 USC 1740; 38 USC 1741; 38 USC 1743

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 21.3300; 38 CFR 21.3301; 38 CFR 21.3303; 38 CFR 21.3304; 38 CFR 21.3306; 38 CFR 21.3307; 38 CFR 21.3331; 38 CFR 21.4105; 38 CFR 21.4232; 38 CFR 21.4276

Abstract: Replaces Vocational Rehabilitation Boards with Vocational Rehabilitational Panels. The Panel's role is to provide consultation and technical assistance in evaluating and developing rehabilitation plans for seriously handicapped dependents. The regulations will streamline the decisions being made regarding eligible children in special restorative training and regarding eligible dependents in specialized vocational training. The alternative would be to leave the regulations unchanged. This would result in separate boards making decisions concerning veterans and dependents. The costs and benefits of this change have not been estimated yet.

19. DISQUALIFICATION OF LENDERS

Legal Authority: 38 USC 210(c); 38 USC 1803(c)(1); 38 USC 1819(g)

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 36.4216; 38 CFR 36.4331

Abstract: Present regulations authorize the suspension of lenders and their principals and officers for practices detrimental to the best interests of veterans or the Government. In some cases, however, individual employees of lenders are found to have committed fraud or engaged in other improprieties. The amendment would authorize suspension of these employees from further participation in the Loan Guaranty Program.

21. SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBERS IN VETERANS BENEFITS MATTERS

Legal Authority: 38 USC 210(c); PL 97-365, Sec 4

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 1.575

Abstract: Authorizes the collection of a veteran's social security number and subsequent disclosure to the Internal Revenue Service as a condition of receiving a VA Guaranteed Home Loan or other extension of credit. This amendment is required by section 4 of Public Law 97-365, the Debt Collection Act of 1982, in order that Federal credit assistance decisions can be made with full knowledge of whether or not the applicant is a delinquent taxpayer.

22. OCCUPANCY REQUIREMENTS

Legal Authority: 38 USC 210(c); 38 USC 1803(c)(1)

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 36.4306

Abstract: Present regulations require that, for a home improvement loan or refinancing loan for the purpose of making improvements, the veteran must certify that he or she presently occupies the home. In the case of substantial rehabilitation, the home may not be available for occupancy until the repairs or improvements are completed. The amendment would authorize the veteran in these cases to certify that he or she intends to occupy the property upon completion of the rehabilitation.

Legal Authority: 38 USC 210(c); 38 USC 1803(c)(1); 38 USC 1819(g)

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 36.4300, Series

Abstract: Present regulations permit only loans for conventionally built homes to be under the authority of 38 U.S.C. 1810, loans for manufactured homes are currently guaranteed under separate regulations and under authority of 38 U.S.C. 1819. Guaranty under section 1810 provides more favorable terms for the loan, including a lower interest rate and a longer loan period. Pending legislation would permit certain manufactured homes, those treated as real estate under state law, to be guaranteed under section 1810. The regulation would implement the new legislation.

26. VETERANS' GROUP LIFE INSURANCE

Legal Authority: 38 USC 777(a)

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 9.36

Abstract: Under existing law, no person may carry a combined amount of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance and Veterans' Group Life Insurance in excess of $35,000 at any one time. Despite this provision, a significant number of insureds are paying premiums for both SGLI and VGLI in excess of the coverage allowed. The regulation will state that the Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance will be responsible only for the return of premiums paid in excess of the maximum allowable amount of coverage. There is no cost to the Government.

Legal Authority: 38 USC 770(c)

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 9.18(d)

Abstract: Under prior law, when a Servicemen's Group Life Insurance or Veterans' Group Life Insurance claim was not filed within four years of the insured's death, the proceeds would escheat to the SGLI revolving fund. The law was amended to ensure that no claims are denied because of a failure to file within the four year period. There is no cost to the Government and beneficiaries will benefit by not being deprived of the proceeds.

30. PREMIUM RATES; COLLECTION OF ANY INDEBTEDNESS; PREMIUM WAIVER

Legal Authority: 38 USC 706

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 8.3; 38 CFR 8.85; 38 CFR 8.113

Abstract: Under existing regulations, the premiums paid by National Service Life Insurance term policyholders increase every five years when the policies are renewed. Since term premiums become very high at the older renewal ages, this can result in financial hardship or discontinuance of coverage due to inability to meet the premium increases. Among regulatory alternatives under consideration is a change that will cap (or freeze) NSLI "V" term premiums at the age 70 renewal rate, thereby eliminating further premium increases for those older policyholders who wish to retain their term policies as permanent insurance protection. Since funding for this proposal is provided from NSLI Trust Fund assets, which consist of policyholder premiums and Trust Fund investment earnings, there is no cost to the Government.

Legal Authority: 38 USC 1788

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 21.4272; 38 CFR 21.4273

Abstract: The regulations governing measurement of courses have assumed that when a college is accredited by a regional accrediting association, the accreditation extends to all the college's courses. This is not always the case. Consequently, when regulation users attempt to apply these regulations, they become confused. This proposal will rewrite the regulations to take into account the fact that some regional accrediting associations accredit colleges at various degree levels (associate degree, bachelor's degree, etc.).

Legal Authority: 38 USC 1785

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 21.4009

Abstract: Educational institutions may be held liable under certain circumstances for overpayments of educational assistance allowance made to veterans and eligible persons. If an educational institution pays an amount for which it has been held liable and the money later is collected from veterans and eligible persons, the money is refunded to the educational institution. This will provide that any money recovered from veterans and eligible persons that is applied toward marshal fees, court costs, administrative costs of collection, and interest will not be considered when determining if the educational institution is due a refund.

Legal Authority: 38 USC 210(c); 38 USC 1816(a)

52. ENFORCEMENT OF NONDISCRIMINATION ON THE BASIS OF HANDICAP IN VA PROGRAMS

Legal Authority: 29 USC 794

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 15

Abstract: Provides for the enforcement of section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, as it applies to programs or activities conducted by the VA. Section 504 prohibits discrimination on the basis of handicap. There is no other alternative to the issuance of this regulation since it implements a legislative mandate. Qualified handicapped individuals will be assured of equal participation in programs or activities conducted by the VA.

54. REVISION OF FEES FOR COPIES OF VA RECORDS

Legal Authority: 38 USC 3302; 5 USC 552(a)(4)(A); 5 USC 552a(f)(5)

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 1.526; 38 CFR 1.555; 38 CFR 1.577(f)

Abstract: Revises VA fee schedules currently in effect for the Privacy Act, the Freedom of Information Act, and 38 U.S.C. Sec 3301 to remove inconsistencies and establish a comprehensive uniform fee schedule. The alternative would be to leave the regulations unchanged. This would result in continued confusion in their application and loss of revenue to the Government since an increase in the fees is contemplated. There is no increased cost to the Government due to these changes.

55. EFFECT OF GENERAL COUNSEL OPINIONS

Legal Authority: 38 USC 210(c)(1); 38 USC 4004(c)

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 14.507

Abstract: Clarifies the effect of General Counsel opinions with respect to binding and precedential legal interpretations. No alternatives are being considered. The change will assist VA personnel in understanding the effect of General Counsel opinions. It will benefit the public by enhancing the accessibility of General Counsel opinions.

56. ● INVENTIONS BY EMPLOYEES OF VETERANS ADMINISTRATION AS COINVENTORS UNDER FUNDING AGREEMENTS

Legal Authority: 35 USC 200 to 207

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 1.670 to 1.680

Abstract: Under affiliation agreements between VA Medical Centers and local Colleges or Universities, VA employees and University employees are sometimes coinventors. Universities have requested VA to assign its interest in any such inventions to the University. Pub. L. No. 96-517 authorizes the VA to so assign its interest in certain circumstances, provided the invention was made under a funding agreement between the agency and the coinventing entity. These regulations will set forth the procedure and criteria for determination of patent right ownership in these situations. No costs will be imposed on the public. The public will benefit from consolidation of patent rights on one entity because this facilitates licensing and marketing of the invention, and thereby makes the invention available for public use.

57. DISINTERMENTS FROM NATIONAL CEMETERIES

Legal Authority: 38 USC 1000

CFR Citation: 38 CFR 1.621(d)

Abstract: 38 CFR 1.621(d) currently states that disinterment of the remains of the dependent of a veteran which were interred in a national cemetery, based on an agreement by the veteran to be buried in the same or adjoining grave, may be authorized by the Chief Memorial Affairs Director. It has been determined that eligibility for burial of a dependent in a national cemetery is not contingent on the interment of the veteran in the same or any other national cemetery. Therefore, paragraph (d) no longer applies and is being removed from VA regulations. Paragraph (e) will be relettered as (d).

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

14 CFR Ch. II

Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations

AGENCY: Civil Aeronautics Board.

ACTION: Publication of Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations.

SUMMARY: As part of its implementation of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354, and in accordance with the policy announced in OMB Bulletin 84-16, the CAB publishes its part of the semiannual Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations.

DATES: Adopted: September 18, 1984.

ADDRESSES: Copies of the rulemaking documents listed in this agenda can be obtained from the Distribution Section, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington, D.C. 20428; (202) 673-5432. Each document should be identified by the designation appearing in parentheses after the Federal Register citation.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: About a specific rulemaking action listed in this agenda--the contact person listed below. About this agenda--Joanne Petrie, Office of the General Counsel, Civil Aeronautics Board, 1825 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20428; 202-673-5442.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Board is publishing this descriptive list of its rulemakings in the Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations in accordance with the Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354, and the policy announced in Bulletin 84-16, issued by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) on June 22, 1984. This is the last agenda that will be published by the Civil Aeronautics Board because the Board will sunset on December 31, 1984, under the Airline Deregulation Act of 1978. The Board's previous agenda appears at 49 FR 16552, April 19, 1984.

The agenda is divided into two categories, Current and Projected Rulemakings, and Completed Actions, in compliance with the Regulatory Information Service model of OMB. The Board is keeping its internal designation codes in the title so that items can be easily traced back to previous agendas.

For each rulemaking action listed in this agenda, the following information is set out: title, legal authority, CFR citation, abstract, timetable, effect on small entities, additional information, agency contact, and regulatory information number (RIN). For each proceeding in which a notice of proposed rulemaking has been issued, an estimated final action date is listed. The address for all contact persons is Civil Aeronautics Board, 1825 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20428.

The only rules that the Regulatory Flexibility Act requires an agency to include in its agenda are those that are "likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities." This agenda is more inclusive, listing all significant Board rulemaking activity. Items appearing to meet the statutory criterion of the Act are noted.

The Board has only found one of the rulemakings included in this agenda (D39. Computer reservations systems) to be "major" within the meaning of E.O. 12291. In addition, each rulemaking undergoes an analysis of benefits, costs, and alternatives, in a degree of detail and formality that is commensurate with the importance of the rule. The Board also retains the discretion to prepare a formal Regulatory Impact Analysis on any rulemaking.

Statements in the action schedule column that a notice or advance notice of proposed rulemaking is in preparation indicate that the staff is preparing a draft for Board action. They do not imply that the proposal will necessarily be issued, that the Board has endorsed the substance of the proposal, or that the petition (if any) prompting the rulemaking activity will necessarily be granted. The dates noted for final action are estimates only, and so do not bind the Board or indicate that a final rule will necessarily be adopted. In addition, since many of the Board's functions are being transferred to other Federal agencies when the Board sunsets, we do not know what items they will consider important and their scheduling plans.

Although this agenda is intended to list all significant Board regulations that are under development or review, it is not a complete guide to all significant rulemaking activity for the 6 months until publication of the next agenda. First, new rulemaking actions may arise and be completed between now and then. Second, we may have inadvertently omitted one or more items. Any such omission shall not preclude the Board from taking action on the item, and is not a ground for judicial review of the rule.

Abbreviations Used in This Agenda

"Act" means the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, 49 U.S.C. 1301 et seq., including amendments made by the Airline Deregulation Act and the International Air Transportation Competition Act, Pub. L. 96-192, 94 Stat. 35.

"Deregulation Act" means the Airline Deregulation Act of 1978, Pub. L. 95-504, 92 Stat. 1705.

"CFR" means Code of Federal Regulations.

"FR" means Federal Register.

"ANPRM" means advance notice of proposed rulemaking.

"NPRM" means notice of proposed rulemaking.

"SNPRM" means supplementary notice of proposed rulemaking.

Office abbreviations:

BCAA--Bureau of Carrier Accounts and Audits

BDA--Bureau of Domestic Aviation

BIA--Bureau of International Aviation

OC--Office of Comptroller

OCCCA--Office of Congressional, Community and Consumer Affairs

OEA--Office of Economic Analysis

OGC--Office of the General Counsel

ER-, EDR-, SPR-, SPDR-, and similar designations appearing in parentheses are the Board's internal designations for final rules and proposed rules. Using these designations, interested persons can obtain copies of documents from the Distribution Section at the address listed above. The Distribution Section will also establish and maintain a list of persons wishing to receive copies of future agendas.

Accordingly, the Civil Aeronautics Board publishes the attached Unified Agenda of Significant Regulations.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Phyllis T. Kaylor,

Secretary.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD (CAB) — Current and Projected Rulemakings

SMALL COMMUNITY AIR SERVICE PROGRAM

1. A1. ESSENTIAL AIR SERVICE SUBSIDY GUIDELINES

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1389

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 271, (Proposed)

Abstract: The Board provides subsidy to airlines to ensure that small communities receive essential air service at a level determined in accordance with 14 CFR Part 398. This rule would implement section 419(d) of the Act, which directs the Board to establish guidelines for computing the fair and reasonable amount of compensation necessary to guarantee that level of service.

2. A3. OBLIGATION OF CARRIERS TO PROVIDE ADEQUATE SERVICE AT ELIGIBLE POINTS

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1374; 49 USC 1389

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 398

Abstract: The Board has set essential air service levels under section 419 of the Act for eligible points (small communities). Some of these points are being served by air carriers that are not providing the required level of service. This rule would establish a new policy under which the Board would rely on the "adequate service" provision of section 404(a) of the Act as authority to order these carriers to provide adequate (i.e., essential) service at points they now serve.

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1324; 49 USC 1377; 49 USC 1389

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 324

Abstract: The Board is considering expanding Part 324 to include a description of the costing methodologies used in hold-in cases. It is also considering including a description of the types of situations where the various methodologies would be appropriate.

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1324; 49 USC 1502; Compact of Free Association

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 211, (Proposed); 14 CFR 271, (Proposed)

Abstract: The proposed Compact of Free Association and related Article IX of the Federal Programs and Services Agreement make provision for payment of subsidy, if necessary, to maintain essential air transportation to the Federated States of Micronesia and the Marshall Islands when they acquire their new status. The Compact and Agreement also permit the Board under certain conditions to pay subsidy to Freely Associated States air carriers and to authorize these carriers to carry local air traffic between Guam, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and Honolulu, Hawaii. This rule would establish the requirements and procedures for implementing these provisions.

FARES, RATES AND TARIFFS

5. B2. ELIMINATION OF MANDATORY JOINT FARES

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1374; 49 USC 1484; 49 USC 1601

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 399

Abstract: The mandatory joint fare requirements established in the Domestic Passenger Fare Investigation ended on January 1, 1983, with the end of the Board's jurisdiction over domestic passenger fares. The Board issued a proposal on its own initiative and in response to a petition filed by American Airlines to change the joint fare requirements in 1 of 3 ways. The Board considered eliminating the system in some or all markets, or making interlining mandatory upon request. The rulemaking will be terminated because the Board no longer has authority to regulate this area.

6. B10. HAWAIIAN JOINT FARES

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1374; 49 USC 1484; 49 USC 1601

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 399

Abstract: The Board proposed to require certain airlines to provide interline service in Hawaii until the end of 1982, to aid in the transition to domestic fare deregulation. This rulemaking is being terminated because the Board no longer has authority to regulate fares in domestic air transportation.

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1301; 49 USC 1302; 49 USC 1324; 49 USC 1378; 49 USC 1379; 49 USC 1386

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 296; 14 CFR 221

Abstract: This rule would permit indirect cargo air carriers to participate in joint tariffs filed by direct air carriers and direct foreign air carriers for the foreign air transportation of cargo. This exemption would require that advance notice be given to the shipper that the shipment will be interlined, and that the shipment is not otherwise consolidated for rating purposes.

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 399

Abstract: TWA petitioned the Board to establish an expanded policy of international cargo rate flexibility by which carriers would file for expedited effectiveness certain increased cargo rates on inbound traffic to the United States. The rate changes involved would be currency-related adjustments that carriers file in response to foreign government orders. TWA stated that this change is needed so that airlines are not exposed to penalties for failing to comply with foreign government directives. In addition, it argued that protracted Board review of these filings has a severe impact on airline revenues because an airline cannot change its tariffs to reflect currency devaluations.

11. C7. DIRECT CARRIER RESPONSIBILITY FOR RETURNING STRANDED CHARTER PASSENGERS

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1324; 49 USC 1371

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 207; 14 CFR 208

Abstract: This rule would make direct air carriers responsible for returning charter passengers stranded by strikes or other interruptions of their services by eliminating the force majeure clause from charter contracts. More recently, however, the Board has issued a comprehensive proposal (item C10 in this agenda) to revise and simplify air charter rules. The Board's final action in this proceeding will be consistent with that in item C10.

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 207; 14 CFR 208; 14 CFR 212; 14 CFR 298; 14 CFR 380

Abstract: The Board is proposing new charter rules for direct and indirect air carriers. The proposed rules retain the financial protections of existing rules for direct air carriers while eliminating rules restricting the types of groups (such as "affinity" or "single-entity") to whom charters may be sold. The proposal would also retain a security instrument and depository system for indirect air carriers, along with contract rules for public protection. The proposal also highlights depository bank and travel agent responsibilities in handling passenger funds. The proposal replaces one made earlier.

MISCELLANEOUS

13. D1. NONDISCRIMINATION ON THE BASIS OF HANDICAP BY AIRLINES

Legal Authority: 29 USC 794

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 382

Abstract: The final rule prohibits unlawful discrimination against handicapped air travelers and implements section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. The Board is now considering whether to include provisions regulating carrier employment practices. An NPRM was adopted by the Board on May 31, 1984. It has been sent to DOJ and EEOC for approval as required by the Rehabilitation Act.

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1302; 49 USC 1324; 49 USC 1376

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 233, (Proposed)

Abstract: This rule would end the Board's current practice of prescribing fixed rates for the transportation of mail by air, and in its place establish zones for each category of mail. Each zone would be defined by maximum and minimum rates prescribed by the Board, and airlines would be free to contract with the Postal Service for the carriage of mail at any price within the zone.

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1305

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 399

Abstract: This rule will set out final Board policies for regulation of the rates, routes, and services of airlines that have interstate authority. The Board has concluded that under section 105 of the Act it, not the States, is responsible for economic regulation (or deregulation, as the case may be) of all the routes, rates, or services of any airline holding either (i) a certificate of public convenience and necessity to provide interstate air transportation, or (ii) an exemption under section 416 of the Act from the requirement for such a certificate.

Legal Authority: PL 95-504; 49 USC 1371; 49 USC 1374; 49 USC 1386

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 205; 14 CFR 298

Abstract: This rule would set the minimum per-person aircraft accident liability insurance limits for U.S. and Canadian on-demand air taxi operators at $150,000, instead of at $300,000 as it is for other air carriers. The NPRM further includes alternative proposals to set the per-person limit at $75,000 or $100,000 or to eliminate all minimum amounts, requiring a public notice instead. Other rules for insurance coverage for these carriers would be as in 14 CFR Part 205, including the prohibition on safety-related exclusions.

19. D31. GROUP CONTRACTOR EXEMPTIONS

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1371; 49 USC 1386

Abstract: This rule would codify the Board's treatment of group contractors. A group contractor, like a charter operator, is an indirect air carrier that purchases air transportation from a direct air carrier and sells it to passengers as a principal rather than as an agent. Unlike charter operators, however, a group contractor is backed up financially by the direct carrier so that a passenger may look to the direct carrier for transportation or refund if the group contractor defaults. Group contracts are currently governed by the Board Order 81-7-109, July 31, 1981, as modified by Order 82-3-132, March 24, 1982. They are sometimes referred to as "contract bulk fare operators."

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 399

The Board is considering options such as term certificates of 5 years with or without a presumption of renewal, or indefinite certificates with a mechanism to "bump" the incumbent.

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 253; 14 CFR 399

Abstract: The Board proposed to amend its rules requiring notice of contract terms for domestic travel to require that actual notice be given passengers of terms absolving carriers from any responsibility to transport a passenger to the destination named on the ticket, or to reimburse the passenger for expenses in reaching the airport noted on the ticket when a flight is diverted to another airport in the same metropolitan area. Alternatively, the Board proposed to declare it to be an unfair and deceptive practice to divert a passenger without arranging and paying for alternate transportation to the destination airport named on the passenger's ticket.

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 221; 14 CFR 250

Abstract: The American Association of Airport Executives, the Airport Operators Council International and the Air Transport Association of America petitioned the Board to simplify its countersign requirements. Presently, the Board requires airlines to display four different consumer protection notices on their ticket counters. The petitioners alleged that the current notices are hard to read and, therefore, do not provide much notice to passengers. They proposed replacing the four notices with one simplified countersign.

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1371; 49 USC 1372; 49 USC 1381

Abstract: Transamerica petitioned the Board to investigate ways to protect consumers against service defaults by scheduled air carriers in domestic, overseas, and foreign air transportation. Transamerica suggested that the Board condition the award of operating authority to perform direct carrier scheduled service on air carriers developing a default protection plan. For foreign air travel, it suggested that the obligation be limited to outbound flights. The petitioner alleged prompt Board action is necessary in order to ensure continued public confidence in scheduled air service and to protect passengers from unnecessary financial hardship.

56. 323-1. SERVICE TERMINATIONS IN FOREIGN MARKETS

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1324; 49 USC 1377

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 323

Abstract: The Board eliminated all advance notice requirements for terminations of service in foreign air transportation. This has created problems in some limited designation markets where the incumbent carrier has terminated service without informing the Board. The Board is proposing to require carriers to report to the Board if they are terminating foreign air service so that the Board would have time to find a replacement, if necessary.

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1373; 49 USC 1386

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 372

Abstract: The reference to tariffs in the rule governing Overseas Military Personnel Charters (OMPC) has become obsolete, at least with respect to domestic air transportation. The Board is considering whether to eliminate the tariff requirement for all OMPC's and replace it with consumer protection requirements similar to those in its Public Charter rule in Part 380.

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 377

Abstract: In the past, the Board has held that a foreign air carrier's permit or exemption authority continues after the underlying bilateral Service Agreement expired, by virtue of section 558(c) of the Administrative Procedure Act. This rule would reverse that policy in order to ensure equal competitive opportunities for U.S. carriers.

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 399

Abstract: Republic Airlines petitioned the Board for emergency rulemaking and other relief concerning changes in carrier interline practices. It stated that a number of major carriers have withdrawn from the current multilateral interline traffic agreement and henceforth will maintain interline arrangements only pursuant to bilateral agreements that are terminable monthly without notice. It alleged that failure to notify passengers that interlining may cease abruptly and without notice could constitute an unfair or deceptive practice within the meaning of section 411. In addition, it argued that the right to terminate interline agreements without notice could be used for anticompetitive purposes. Republic asked the Board to adopt interim rules requiring notice to passengers and to institute a rulemaking proceeding to determine whether these no-notice bilateral interline agreements are an unfair method of competition. The Board denied the request for emergency rules and is considering whether to begin a rulemaking proceeding.

Abstract: The CAB adopted rules that deal with competitive abuses and consumer injury resulting from the practices of airlines that provide computer reservations systems to travel agents. The rule prohibits specific practices, including discrimination in price and other terms of access for information distribution services; tying access to information distribution services to the purchase of other services or goods; ordering the display of information in computer reservations systems on the basis of carrier identity; and including provisions in agreements with travel agents that impede agent access to objective service information. The rules also require the dissemination of certain computer-generated information.

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 211; 14 CFR 302

Abstract: The Board is proposing to revise its requirements and procedures for applications for foreign air carrier permits. The revision would reduce the information submitted in the applications and the number of persons on whom the application must be served. Service requirements would also be reduced for U.S. air carrier certificate applications. The proposed changes would simplify the processing of these applications for both the Board and carrier applicants.

75. ● [C12.] PAYMENT TO DIRECT AIR CARRIERS FOR CHARTER TRANSPORTATION

Legal Authority: 49 USC 1324; 49 USC 1371; 49 USC 1372; 49 USC 1386

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 207; 14 CFR 208; 14 CFR 212; 14 CFR 214; 14 CFR 380

Abstract: This interpretation concerns the Board's rules regarding payment to direct air carriers for charter transportation, and the carriers' corresponding obligation to provide return transportation where it has been paid for. Those rules state that the direct air carrier must be paid in full for the charter transportation (for both legs, if a round-trip charter) prior to the commencement of transportation. The rules are intended to ensure that individual passengers receive the transportation paid for, and therefore require the direct air carrier to provide such return transportation to round-trip charter passengers.

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 291; 14 CFR 296; 14 CFR 297

Abstract: The CAB exempted air carriers providing interstate cargo transportation within Alaska and within Hawaii from the statutory prohibition against unjust discrimination in air service. In addition, the rules exempted indirect cargo air carriers and foreign indirect air carriers in their domestic service from the same provision. The rules made the treatment of all carriers and shippers consistent.

Legal Authority: 31 USC 483a; 49 USC 1324; 49 USC 1502

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 389

Abstract: The CAB eliminated the offset procedures in its refund mechanism for past filing fees overpaid by the airlines. The Court of Appeals (D.C. The rule eliminated that procedure, thus replacing it with one based only on the individual fee paid.

CFR Citation: 14 CFR 256

Abstract: The Board adopted an emergency rule that prevents airlines owning computer reservations systems from denying access to their systems to carriers who coordinate their services under the same airline designator code. The rule also prohibits display discrimination against carriers who conduct such operations. The rule is intended to ensure that systems owners do not use their control of CRS's to limit the ways in which other carriers compete in marketing their services. COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION

17 CFR Ch. I

Regulatory Flexibility Agenda

AGENCY: Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

ACTION: Publication of regulatory flexibility agenda.

SUMMARY: The Commodity Futures Trading Commission, in accordance with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, is publishing a semiannual agenda of significant rules which the Commission expects to propose or promulgate over the next year.

ADDRESS: Comments should be sent to: Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 2033 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20581, Attention: Secretariat.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Harold L. Hardman, Esquire, Office of the General Counsel, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 2033 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20581 (202) 254-9880.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601, et seq. ("RFA"), sets forth a number of requirements for agency rulemaking. Among other things, the RFA requires that:

(a) During the months of October and April of each year, each agency shall publish in the Federal Register a regulatory flexibility agenda which shall contain:

(1) A brief description of the subject area of any rule which the agency expects to propose or promulgate which is likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities;

(2) A summary of the nature of any such rule under consideration for each subject area listed in the agenda pursuant to paragraph (1), the objectives and legal basis for the issuance of the rule, and an approximate schedule for completing action on any rule for which the agency has issued a general notice of proposed rulemaking; and

(3) The name and telephone number of an agency official knowledgeable concerning the items listed in paragraph (1).

5 U.S.C. 602(a). Accordingly, the Commission has prepared an agenda of significant rules which it presently expects may be considered during the course of the next year.[1] The agenda lists all significant rules which may be considered by the Commission within the next year, irrespective of their potential impact on small entities.[2]

The Commission's agenda represents its best estimate at this time of significant rules which will be considered sometime over the next twelve months. In this regard, section 602(d) of the RFA, 5 U.S.C. 602(d), provides: "Nothing in [section 602] precludes an agency from considering or acting on any matter not included in a regulatory flexibility agenda, or requires an agency to consider or act on any matter listed in such agenda." In addition to publishing the regulatory flexibility agenda, the Commission also makes available to the public, on a monthly basis, a calendar listing rules that the Commission intends to consider that month.

The Commission is publishing its October 1984 Regulatory Flexibility Agenda as part of the October 1984 Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations. The Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations is coordinated by the Office of Management and Budget pursuant to Executive Order 12291. While participation by executive agencies in that Agenda is mandatory, independent agencies, such as the Commission, participate in the Unified Agenda on a voluntary basis.

The Commission's October 1984 Regulatory Flexibility Agenda[3] is set forth below.

Issued in Washington, D.C., on August 30, 1984, by the Commission.

JEAN A. WEBB,

Deputy Secretary of the Commission.

BILLING CODE 6351-01-T

[1] Other than the Commission rules currently under review in conjunction with the Commission's pending and anticipated rulemakings as discussed above, the Commission does not intend to conduct any reviews of its existing regulations during the next year. In this regard, pursuant to the plan established by the Commission pursuant to section 610 of the RFA, 5 U.S.C. 610, for a ten year periodic review of its rules, the Commission will commence review of its rules in November, 1985. 46 FR 29952 (June 4, 1981). We note that the Commission is devoting significant resources to several studies mandated by Congress in the Futures Trading Act of 1982. See The Futures Trading Act of 1982, Pub. L. No. 97-444, 205(4) (trading activities of large hedgers in cattle, hog and pork belly markets), 236(a) (effects on economy of trading futures markets by persons possessing material nonpublic information), and 237 (regulatory experience of National Futures Association), 96 Stat. 2300, 2324-25, and 2325-26 (1983). Some of these studies could result in suggestions for the issuance or revision of Commission rules.

[2] The Commission has published its definitions of small entity to be used by the Commission in connection with rulemaking proceedings. 47 FR 18618 (Apr. 30, 1982). Pursuant to those definitions, the Commission is not required to list many of the agenda items contained in this regulatory flexibility agenda. See 5 U.S.C. 602(a)(1). Moreover, the Commission has previously certified, pursuant to section 605 of the RFA, 5 U.S.C. 605, that certain items contained in this agenda will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Accordingly, listing of an item in this regulatory flexibility agenda should not, in any event, be taken as a determination that a rule, when proposed or promulgated, will in fact require a regulatory flexibility analysis. However, the Commission hopes that the publication of an agenda which includes significant rules, regardless of their potential impact on small entities, may serve the public generally by providing an early and meaningful opportunity to participate in and comment on the formulation of new or revised regulations.

[3] In addition to the items discussed in the agenda, the Commission has issued an advance notice of proposed rulemaking and requested public comment on the adequacy of existing contract market rules and practices designed to prevent actual or apparent conflicts of interest from improperly influencing market or other actions taken by various governing bodies of designated contract markets. 47 FR 31703 (July 22, 1982). The Commission is reviewing the public comments received.

COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION (CFTC) — Current and Projected Rulemakings

1. REGULATIONS PERMITTING THE GRANT, OFFER AND SALE OF OPTIONS ON PHYSICAL COMMODITIES (DEALER OPTIONS)

Legal Authority: 7 USC 6c(b) Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 4c(b); 7 USC 6c(d) Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 4c(d); 7 USC 12a(5) Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 8a(5)

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 1; 17 CFR 3; 17 CFR 32

Abstract: Congress has directed the Commission to issue regulations permitting grantors and futures commission merchants to grant, offer and sell so-called "dealer options" on certain physical commodities subject to certain conditions specified by statute and such other uniform and reasonable requirements as the Commission may prescribe. At present, the only persons who may lawfully grant dealer options are United States domiciles who, on May 1, 1978, were in the business of granting options on a physical commodity and in the business of buying, selling, producing or otherwise using that commodity. The Commission has reproposed rules, principally concerning registration of dealer option grantors, requirements for the segregation of customer funds, disclosure to customers and prospective customers, and minimum financial requirements. The Commission intends to re-evaluate the proposed rules in light of regulatory changes that have occurred since 1980 and expects to decide whether to adopt or repropose these rules in 1984.

2. REGULATION OF LEVERAGE TRANSACTIONS

Legal Authority: 7 USC 12a Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 8a; 7 USC 23 Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 19; 7 USC 16a Futures Training Act of 1978, Sec 26; Futures Trading Act of 1982, Sec 237

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 1; 17 CFR 3; 17 CFR 4; 17 CFR 31; 17 CFR 145; 17 CFR 147; 17 CFR 190

Abstract: On January 16, 1984, the Commission adopted interim final rules which establish a comprehensive regulatory scheme applicable to certain leverage transactions. 49 FR 5498 (Feb. 13, 1984). The regulations, among other things, impose registration, financial, segregation, disclosure and recordkeeping requirements upon persons engaged in the business of offering and selling to the public leverage contracts for the delivery of certain commodities. Commission rules 31.1 and 31.2, which impose temporary moratoria on the entry of new persons or firms into the leverage business, remain in effect. Subsequently, the Commission solicited public comment concerning whether and how the interim rules could be amended to encompass the marketing of certain short sales of leverage transactions to the public. The Commission has determined to make such amendments to the interim rules. Certain of these amendments, which are technical in nature, will be published in final form without further notice and comment procedures. Other more substantive amendments will be published in proposed form for public comment. Under rules recently adopted, a leverage transaction merchant and its (cont)

On June 19, 1984, the Commission adopted a $3,500 fee for each application filed with the Commission for registration of a leverage commodity. On May 10, 1984, the Commission adopted an annual fee of $8,000 for its audits of leverage transaction merchants which are not members of a self-regulatory organization which has adopted rules approved by the Commission providing for the auditing of such firms by the organization. 3. LARGE TRADER REPORTING TO EXCHANGES

Legal Authority: 7 USC 6g Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 4g; 7 USC 6i Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 4i; 7 USC 7(d) Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 5(d); 7 USC 12a(5) Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 8a(5)

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 15; 17 CFR 16; 17 CFR 17; 17 CFR 18; 17 CFR 21

Abstract: The Commission has proposed a rule which would require exchanges to collect, process and forward to the Commission, in machine readable form, information which the Commission currently collects from futures commission merchants and foreign brokers on series '01 reports and form 102. The rule is intended to enhance effective market surveillance programs by the exchanges and to alleviate, to some extent, the duplicative reporting burden currently imposed on some exchange member firms.

Legal Authority: 7 USC 6d Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 4d; 7 USC 6f Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 4f; 7 USC 12a Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 8a

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 1.17

Abstract: The Commission has proposed amendments to certain of its minimum financial and related reporting requirements for futures commission merchants ("FCMs"), as well as the basic financial reporting form for FCMs, Form 1-FR. One proposed amendment would alter the minimum dollar amount of adjusted net capital which must be maintained by FCMs. The Commission has also proposed a further amendment to the minimum financial regulations regarding the treatment of undermargined accounts. In addition, the Commission has proposed one specific capital charge relating to concentration of positions, and has invited further comment to assist it in the development of further appropriate minimum financial regulations concerning concentration of positions.

5. AUTHORIZATION TO PERFORM PORTIONS OF THE COMMISSION'S REGISTRATION FUNCTIONS

Legal Authority: 7 USC 12a(10) Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 8a(10); 7 USC 21o Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 17o

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Abstract: The Futures Trading Act of 1982 permits the Commission to authorize any person to perform any portion of the Commission's registration function. In addition, that Act specifically permits the Commission to require a registered futures association to perform any portion of the Commission's registration function. The Commission by order has authorized the National Futures Association ("NFA") to process applications by, and grant registration to, introducing brokers and the associated persons of introducing brokers. The Commission also recently authorized NFA to perform certain functions relating to the issuance of temporary licenses to applicants for registration as associated persons. Over the next year, the Commission will consider authorizing NFA to perform other of the Commission's registration functions.

Additional Information: In connection with the timetable, the Commission notes that, in the Futures Trading Act of 1982, Congress directed registered futures associations, subject to Commission oversight, to establish training standards and proficiency examinations for persons involved in the solicitation of commodity futures transactions, the supervisors of such persons, and all persons for which it has registration responsibilities, as well as a program to audit and enforce compliance with such standards. Accordingly, the Commission has deferred temporarily its rulemaking proceeding regarding proficiency examinations for applicants for registration as associated persons (see 46 FR 20679 (Apr. 1, 1981)) pending the expected assumption of this responsibility by the National Futures Association, a futures association registered with the Commission.

Abstract: The Commission has proposed an amendment to rule 1.55 that would make explicit the existing fiduciary obligations of a futures commission merchant ("FCM") to its customers. As such, it would confirm that the prescribed risk disclosures, set forth in the regulation, are not the exclusive disclosures required from an FCM to its existing and prospective futures customers and that the FCM is still obliged to disclose all material information to its customers even if the information is not specifically required by the rule.

Abstract: Section 26 of the Commodity Exchange Act, as recently amended by Congress, confirms the Commission's authority to establish a schedule of fees for services rendered and activities performed by the Commission in conjunction with its administration and enforcement of the Act. In amending Section 26, Congress specifically intended the Commission to establish a schedule of fees for (1) audits of firms which are not members of contract markets or a registered futures association; (2) rule enforcement reviews and financial reviews of contract markets and registered futures associations; (3) initial and renewal registrations; (4) contract market designations; (5) reparations fees; (6) Commission publications; (7) Freedom of Information Act requests; and (8) transcripts of Commission meetings. The Commission has completed or initiated several rulemakings to implement Congress' intent regarding service fees. Rules concerning fees for registration and fees for applications for contract market designation were finalized last August. 48 FR 38214 (Aug. 23, 1983); 48 FR 34732 (Aug. 1, 1983). 8. SPECULATIVE POSITION LIMITS

Legal Authority: 7 USC 6a Commodity Exchange Act, Sec 4a

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 1; 17 CFR 150

Abstract: Section 4a of the Commodity Exchange Act was recently amended by Section 205 of the Futures Trading Act of 1982 to provide that it is a violation of the Commodity Exchange Act for any person to violate any bylaw, rule, regulation, or resolution of any contract market which fixes speculative position limits. Rules relating to Commission set speculative position limits will be considered in light of these amendments to the Act. In addition, the Futures Trading Act of 1982 amended Section 4a of the Act, 7 U.S.C. Sec. 6a (1982), to give the Commission additional authority with respect to speculative position limits.

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 3; 17 CFR 4

Abstract: In connection with the Commission's recent reauthorization, the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry recommended that the Commission should generally exempt certain otherwise regulated entities, that met certain criteria, from regulation as a commodity pool operator ("CPO") unless these entities have other attributes or features that would warrant their regulation as a CPO. These entities include an entity regulated under the Investment Company Act of 1940, an insurance company, a bank or trust company acting in its fiduciary capacity and subject to regulation by any state or the United States, and a defined benefit plan that is subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 and is insured by the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation. See S. Rep. No. 97-384, 97th Cong., 2d Sess. 80 (1980). The Commission has proposed a rule that, if adopted, generally would implement this Congressional recommendation.

Abstract: Section 4(b) of the Commodity Exchange Act, as amended by the Futures Trading Act of 1982, authorizes the Commission to adopt rules and regulations proscribing fraud in the offer and sale of foreign futures contracts in the United States and requiring minimum financial standards, the keeping of books and records, the safeguarding of customer funds and the registration with the Commission of any person located in the United States who engages in the offer and sale of such contracts. Abstract: The Commission is proposing to amend Commission regulation 33.4(a)(2), which currently provides that a contract market applying for designation to trade commodity option contracts must require full payment of option premiums by all purchasers of commodity options, and receipt of the premiums by the contract market's clearing organization. Under the proposed rule amendment, a contract market could choose instead to adopt rules permitting its members to make a deposit with respect to the option premium, subject to certain proposed requirements. In addition, the Commission is proposing to amend regulations 1.3, 1.12 and 1.17 to reflect in its minimum financial requirements for futures commission merchants the margin treatment which may be accorded option positions under proposed amendments to regulation 33.4(a)(2).

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 1.62

Abstract: Persons acting as floor brokers on a contract market are required to register as such with the Commission pursuant to section 4e of the Act. However, the Commission has found numerous instances in which persons apparently have acted as floor brokers without being registered as such. The Commission believes that contract markets can, as part of their own membership registration procedures and without significant additional burden, affirmatively assist the Commission to ensure that their members who engage in brokerage are registered with the Commission. The Commission thus is proposing to require that each contract market adopt a rule which provides that before a person may execute orders for others on the floor of that contract market, the person must be registered with the Commission as a floor broker.

Legal Authority: 7 USC 6c Commodity Exchange Act Sec 4c; 7 USC 12a Commodity Exchange Act Sec 8a; 7 USC 15 Commodity Exchange Act Sec 19

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 33.4

Abstract: The Commission recently has amended the regulations governing its pilot program for the trading of commodity options on domestic boards of trade. The Commission's regulations previously had permitted domestic boards of trade to be designated as contract markets for two options on futures contracts, two options on physical commodities or one option on a futures contract and one option on a physical commodity for all commodities other than those domestic agricultural commodities specifically enumerated in Section 2a (1)(A) of the Act. The new amendments modify the pilot program's numerical limitations with respect to options which do not involve domestic agricultural commodities to permit qualifying boards of trade to be designated for up to five such option contracts of which no more than two contracts could involve an option on a physical commodity. Options on futures contracts involving domestic agricultural commodities remain subject to existing restrictions. The rule amendment will become effective upon the expiration of 30 calendar days of continuous session of Congress after the transmittal of the amendment, and related materials to the House Committee on Agriculture (cont)

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION

16 CFR Ch. II

Regulatory Flexibility Act; Semiannual Regulatory Flexibility and Unified Agendas

AGENCY: Consumer Product Safety Commission.

ACTION: Publication of regulatory flexibility and unified agendas.

SUMMARY: The Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA) requires each Federal agency to publish twice each year a regulatory flexibility agenda listing for a 12-month period rules expected to be proposed or promulgated which may have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. In this document, the Commission publishes its eighth semiannual regulatory flexibility agenda.

Additionally, although not required to do so, the Commission has elected to comply voluntarily with those provisions of Executive Order 12291 which require executive agencies to publish an agenda of regulatory actions under development or review during the succeeding 12 months by the agency and which further provide that such an agenda may be incorporated with an agency's regulatory flexibility agenda published in accordance with the RFA.

DATE: The Commission welcomes comments from small entities, including small businesses, small organizations, and small governmental units, upon each subject area of the agenda. Written comments concerning the agenda should be received in the Office of the Secretary by December 20, 1984.

ADDRESS: Comments on the regulatory flexibility agenda should be sent to the Office of the Secretary, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207, telephone (301) 492-6800, and should be titled "Regulatory Flexibility Agenda."

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For further information on the agenda in general, contact: Iris R. Liskey, Office of Program Management, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207, telephone (301) 492-6554. All inquiries from the press and broadcast media should be directed to Lou Brott, Office of Public Affairs, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207, telephone (202) 634-7780. For further information regarding a particular item on the agenda, consult the individual listed in the column headed "Contact" for that particular item.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), contains several provisions intended to reduce unnecessary and disproportionate regulatory requirements on small businesses, small governmental organizations, and other small entities. Section 602 of the Act (5 U.S.C. 602) requires each agency to publish twice each year a regulatory flexibility agenda containing a brief description of any rule expected to be proposed or promulgated which may have a "significant economic impact" on a "substantial number" of small entities. The agency must also provide a summary of the objectives and legal basis for each agenda item and a schedule for acting on each item, as well as the name and address of the agency official knowledgeable about the items listed. Further, agencies are required to provide notice of their agendas to small entities and solicit their comments by direct notification or by inclusion in publications likely to be obtained by such entities.

In addition, President Reagan's Executive Order 12291 requires executive agencies to publish, twice each year, a regulatory agenda of proposed regulations under development or review and further states that such an agenda may be incorporated with an agenda published under the RFA. While the Commission, as an independent regulatory agency, is not required to follow Executive Order 12291, the Commission is complying voluntarily with those provisions concerning publication of a regulatory agenda.

The eighth semiannual regulatory flexibility agenda, published below, lists for a 12-month period anticipated regulatory activities under development or review. These include all such activities, not only those which may have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

The agenda contains a brief description and summary of each regulatory activity, including the objectives and legal basis for each; an approximate schedule of target dates, subject to revision, for the development or completion of each activity; and the name and telephone number of a knowledgeable agency official concerning particular items on the agenda. All agency contacts have the same address: Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207.

In response to the publication of the seventh semiannual regulatory flexibility agenda, the Commission received two comments.

A comment from the Wool Bureau, Inc. expressed support for efforts by the Commission to reduce requirements for testing and recordkeeping contained in flammability standards without diminishing the level of protection afforded to the public. This organization states that it has submitted written comments concerning two proceedings for amendment of regulations implementing the flammability standards for clothing textiles and vinyl plastic film, and those comments reflect its current position on the proposed amendments. This organization also confirms that a letter sent to the Commission on November 17, 1983, states its current position with respect to a voluntary program of the Upholstered Furniture Action Council to improve resistance to cigarette ignition of upholstered furniture.

A comment submitted on behalf of a manufacturer of toy plastic caps urged amendment of regulations implementing the Federal Hazardous Substances Act and codified at 16 CFR 1550.47 and 14500.86(a)(6) to permit a sound level as great as 158 decibels without any additional restriction. The regulations which are the subject of this comment are being reviewed by the staff to determine if any provisions should be modified or eliminated.

DATED: September 10, 1984.

Sadye E. Dunn,

Secretary, Consumer Product Safety Commission.

CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION (CPSC) — Current and Projected Rulemakings

1. CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY STANDARD FOR "CHAIN SAWS AND THEIR COMPONENT AND REPLACEMENT PARTS"

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2058(a) CPSA

CFR Citation: 16 CFR Chapter II

Abstract: The Commission staff has continued working with industry to develop a voluntary standard which addresses chain saw kickback injuries. The Commission staff's effort has led to several significant changes in the original kickback amendment submitted to the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) by the Chain Saw Manufacturers Association (CSMA). When efforts in 1979 and 1980 to develop a voluntary chain saw standard were deemed unsuccessful, the Commission decided that a mandatory standard was needed to reduce kickback injuries. On May 11, 1981, the Commission published a Notice of Proceeding to develop a safety standard. Subsequently, under amended statutory authority, the Commission issued an Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (ANPR) on May 5, 1982. Before, and since, the Notice of Proceeding, the Chain Saw Manufacturers Association has worked on a voluntary standard to address chain saw kickback. While the ANPR commences a proceeding to develop a mandatory standard, the Commission could support a voluntary standard if it finds that the standard could adequately address chain saw kickback injuries.

2. UPHOLSTERED FURNITURE CIGARETTE FLAMMABILITY STANDARD

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1193 FFA; 15 USC 1194 FFA

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 1633

Abstract: On August 15, 1984, the staff briefed the Commission on results of testing by the Commission's laboratory to evaluate resistance to cigarette ignition of upholstered furniture from current production. The samples tested by the Commission's laboratory were made in conformance with recently adopted changes to the Voluntary Action Program of the Upholstered Furniture Action Council for production of furniture with improved resistance to cigarette ignition. The staff reported that measurable improvements had been made to ignition resistance of upholstered furniture. The staff also discussed areas in which further improvements may be possible, and urged the Commission to continue cooperative efforts with the industry for development of the voluntary program. Industry representatives also discussed results of other testing of upholstered furniture performed by a commercial laboratory for upholstered manufacturers. In October 1981, the Commission voted to defer mandatory regulatory action on upholstered furniture in order to work with manufacturers participating in the Voluntary Action Program of the Upholstered Furniture Action Council (UFAC). 3. PETITION CP 82-6. PETITION TO INITIATE A MANDATORY STANDARD TO LIMIT THE FORMALDEHYDE THAT COULD BE RELEASED FROM PRESSED WOOD PRODUCTS MADE WITH UREA-FORMALDEHYDE RESINS

Legal Authority: 5 USC 553(e) Administrative Procedure Act; 15 USC 2051 Consumer Product Safety Act; 15 USC 2058 Consumer Product Safety Act

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Abstract: During FY 1983, the Commission's work in this project focused on developing information on consumer exposure to formaldehyde from pressed wood products in conventional homes, as well as developing improved formaldehyde measurement methods that could be used by manufacturers for quality control purposes. In correspondence received August 19, 1982, the Consumer Federation of America (CFA) petitioned the Commission to institute a mandatory product safety standard to limit the amount of formaldehyde that could be released from pressed wood products made with urea-formaldehyde resin. Work on this petition has been included within the Commission's ongoing priority project on pressed wood products. A staff briefing package on the status of this project and recommendations pertaining to the CFA petition will be forwarded to the Commission in FY 1985 for their consideration.

4. AMENDMENTS TO CLOTHING TEXTILE STANDARD APPAREL REVISION

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1194 FFA

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 1610.37; 16 CFR 1610.38

Abstract: On December 14, 1983, the Commission published an announcement to reopen the comment period on proposed amendments to regulations implementing the standard for the Flammability of Clothing Textiles (16 CFR 1610) to ensure that all interested parties, including consumers, consumer groups, small businesses, etc. have an opportunity to comment. On August 12, 1982, the original notice was published soliciting comments. The notice proposed that persons or firms subject to the standard, a) be permitted to devise and implement reasonable and representative tests to support guaranties, b) be exempt from further testing requirements to support guaranties for fabrics made entirely from acrylic, modacrylic, nylon, olefin and polyester fibers, and c) the record retention period of tests supporting guaranties be reduced from three years to one year. These amendments would reduce industry's testing and recordkeeping costs while maintaining the level of protection the standard affords consumers.

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 1500.3(b)(10); 16 CFR 1500.3(c)(6); 16 CFR 1500.43

Abstract: On April 26, 1984, the Commission published in the Federal Register a proposal to amend its regulations for classifying extremely flammable, flammable and combustible hazardous substances which release ignitible vapors. These flammability classifications are used for regulatory purposes, including hazard labeling. The amendments change the definition of these classifications and specify a different test method for determining the classification of these substances. If issued on a final basis, the changes would bring the Commission's procedures into general conformity with the practices of other federal agencies and voluntary standards setting organizations.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1193 FFA; 15 USC 1194 FFA

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 1610; 16 CFR 1611

Abstract: Clarifying amendments were proposed in 1981 to resolve questions which have arisen about interpretation of the standards and their applicability to various products, including multilayer fabrics with an outer layer of film or coated fabric, such as those used for disposable diapers. On Feb. 24, 1982, the Commission published a final amendment to the regulation to exempt plastic film used as the outer layer of a disposable diaper from any requirement for separate testing if a full thickness of the assembled article passes the test in the applicable standard. A notice to extend the period for receipt of written comments on all remaining issues was published at the same time.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1261 et seq FHSA; 15 USC 2058 CPSA; 15 USC 2080(b) CPSA

Abstract: Hazard information shows that asbestos presents a risk of cancer and respiratory disease. During FY 1985, the Commission will decide whether additional regulatory activity, including an ANPRM, may be appropriate. In July 1983, the Commission received the report of the Chronic Hazard Advisory Panel (CHAP) on Asbestos. The CHAP was convened in January 1983, based on a Commission decision of March 1982. The Commission is continuing to test selected consumer products for release of asbestos fibers and is a charter member in the Federal Asbestos Task Force.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1472 PPPA

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 1700.14

Abstract: On April 9, 1984, the Commission reproposed a rule, originally proposed in 1974, to exempt cyclically administered oral contraceptives from special packaging requirements under the Poison Prevention Packaging Act. The reproposal will seek public comments on information generated since 1974, which indicates that oral contraceptives do not present a risk of serious illness or serious injury if accidentally ingested by young children. This regulation, if issued in final form, will permit manufacturers to continue to market certain packages of oral contraceptives in non-child-resistant packaging.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2051 CPSA

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 1032

Abstract: On June 19, 1984, the Commission published a proposed amendment of rules governing Commission involvement in voluntary standards activities. Under the proposal, the Commission could select for recognition a limited number of voluntary standards that were developed with significant CPSC staff involvement. Possible Commission efforts regarding such standards might include public statements encouraging industry to adopt and use them, as well as information and education statements directed at consumers. The major purposes of such recognition would be to enhance consumer selection of safer consumer products and encourage industry to adhere to effective voluntary standards.

25. EXEMPTION FROM CLASSIFICATION AS A BANNED TOY OR OTHER BANNED ARTICLE FOR USE BY CHILDREN -- CAPS (PAPER OR PLASTIC)

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1261(f)1(D); 15 USC 1262(e)(1); 15 USC 2079(a); 15 USC 1261(q)(1)(a); 15 USC 1261(s)

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 1500.18(a)(5); 16 CFR 1500.86(a)(6)

Abstract: For more than ten years a regulation has existed under the Federal Hazardous Substances Act that was an "interim" regulation. Caps producing sound levels in the range of 138-158 decibels have been banned, but are exempt from the ban if they are properly labeled and if firms producing them report to the Commission on programs to reduce the sound levels. The Commission will be considering whether to revoke the exemption and thus ban the caps or to expand the exemption to allow their marketing without any restrictions. Any action will be based on as-yet-undetermined analyses of the various costs and benefits associated with these two approaches or any other approaches that the Commission might pursue.

ACTIONS THAT STARTED AND ENDED BETWEEN ISSUES OF THE UNIFIED AGENDA

37. ● REVOCATION OF DEFINITION OF STRONG SENSITIZER FROM FHSA RULES

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1261 FHSA; 15 USC 1269 FHSA

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 1500.3(c)(5)

Abstract: On May 30, 1984, the Commission revoked the regulatory definition of "strong sensitizer" after determining that this definition is incorrect, in part, and too narrow in scope to account for all current theories regarding the mechanisms of sensitization. For further regulatory proceedings, the Commission will rely on the broader, statutory definition which is appropriate for all substances currently regulated as strong sensitizers, and is adequate for any further regulatory determination that a substance is a strong sensitizer.

FARM CREDIT ADMINISTRATION

12 CFR Ch. VI

Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations

AGENCY: Farm Credit Administration.

ACTION: Department Unified Agenda of Regulations and Review List.

SUMMARY: The Farm Credit Administration, as an independent regulatory agency in voluntary compliance with Executive Order 12291, sets forth the following agenda of regulations which it will have under development and review during the period of October 1984 through April 1985.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Dorothy J. Acosta, Associate General Counsel, Office of General Counsel, Farm Credit Administration, 1501 Farm Credit Drive, McLean, VA 22102-5090 (703-883-4020).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601, et seq.), contains several provisions intended to reduce unnecessary and disproportionate regulatory requirements on small entities. Farm Credit Administration ("FCA") regulations which apply to Farm Credit System banks and associations do not and will not have a substantial impact on small entities. None of the entities regulated by the FCA fall within the definition of small entities in the Regulatory Flexibility Act. While many associations through which banks lend are smaller in size than their banks, they are not independently operated, as they are closely supervised by the banks, which must approve most of their operating policies. The associations rely exclusively on their supervising banks for their source of funds. Furthermore, the associations do not compete with each other since, as with their supervising banks, each serves only a particular geographic area.

While FCA is an independent Agency exempt from Executive Order 12291, we believe that participating in this joint publication will further the public interest by including FCA in a single source of information concerning current and projected rulemaking and reviews of existing regulations.

Donald E. Wilkinson,

Governor.

11. LIQUIDATION OF ASSOCIATIONS

Legal Authority: PL 92-181; 12 USC 2183(b)

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 611.1130

Abstract: The Farm Credit Administration will, on a priority basis, expand its existing regulation dealing with involuntary liquidation. Present regulations provide general authority for the Governor to declare an association insolvent and place it in the hands of a receiver or conservator under such terms as the Governor may prescribe on a case-by-case basis. The new regulations will address such topics as: who may act as receiver; the powers and duties of a receiver; the standards for the exercise of the Farm Credit Administration's discretion; procedural questions; jurisdictional questions and priority of claimants against the associations.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

47 CFR Ch. I

Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Publication of the Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations.

SUMMARY: The Commission publishes the Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations to provide the public with adequate notice of all major and other significant proceedings under development or review. The agenda also provides the CFR Citations and Legal Authorities which govern these proceedings. This is in accordance with Executive Order 12291 and OMB Bulletin No. 84-16. In addition, the agenda, in compliance with the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980 (Pub. L. 96-354) includes notations on the applicability of the Regulatory Flexibility Act to each item. The Unified Agenda will be published in the Federal Register in April and October of each year.

DATE: This information is current as of October 1984.

ADDRESS: Federal Communications Commission, 1919 M Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20554.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Claudette Pride, Management Planning and Program Evaluation Office, (202) 632-3906.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Unified Agenda of all major and other significant proceedings

The Commission encourages public participation in the FCC rule making process. To help keep the public informed of significant rule making proceedings, the Commission has prepared an agenda of important proceedings now in progress. OMB will publish the Unified Agenda in the Federal Register in April and October of each year.

The following terms may be helpful in understanding the status of the proceedings included in this report:

A docket number - is assigned to a proceeding if the Commission has issued either a Notice of Proposed Rule Making or a Notice of Inquiry in regard to the matter under consideration. Since January 1, 1978, the Commission has used docket numbers which consist of the last two digits of the calendar year in which the docket was established plus a sequential number which begins at 1 with the first docket initiated during a calendar year (e.g. Docket 80-1 or Docket 83-1). The abbreviation for the responsible Bureau usually precedes the docket number, as in "Docket 79-164." When a docket number consists of only five digits (e.g. Docket 29622), this indicates that the docket was established before January 1, 1978.

Notice of Inquiry (NOI) - issued by the Commission when it is seeking information on a broad subject or trying to generate ideas on a given topic. A comment period is specified during which all interested parties may submit comments.

Notice of Proposed Rule Making (NPRM) - issued by the Commission when it is proposing a specific change to the FCC Rules and Regulations. Before any changes are actually made, interested parties may submit written comments on the proposals.

Memorandum Opinion and Order (MO&O) - issued by the Commission to deny a petition for rule making, conclude an inquiry, modify a decision, or deny a petition for reconsideration of a decision.

Rule Making (RM) number - assigned to a proceeding after the appropriate Bureau/Office has reviewed a petition for rule making, but before the Commission has taken action on the petition.

Report & Order (R&O) - issued by the Commission to state a new or amended rule or state that the FCC Rules will not be changed.

William J. Tricarico,

Secretary, Federal Communications Commission.

111. POLICY REGARDING CHARACTER QUALIFICATIONS IN BROADCAST LICENSING

Legal Authority: 47 USC 154(i); 47 USC 308(b); 47 USC 319(a); 47 USC 403; Communications Act of 1934, secs 4(i), 308(b), 319(a), & 403

CFR Citation: 47 CFR 73.4280

Abstract: Formulation of a comprehensive policy statement establishing a detailed and systematic treatment of the character qualifications of broadcast applicants will provide guidance to broadcast licensees and the public and enhance the fairness and efficiency of the licensing process. This action should not impose any additional costs on broadcast applicants or the Commission. Conversely, broadcast applicants, the public, and the Commission should benefit from the formulation and adoption of a clear policy position consistent with the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, on the issue of character.

Legal Authority: 47 USC 154(i); 47 USC 308(b); 47 USC 319(a); 47 USC 403

CFR Citation: 47 CFR 1

Abstract: The notice seeks comment on a number of issues, including whether it is feasible to adopt more specific standards for determining when a renewal applicant's programming record is meritorious, so as to outweigh disadvantages an incumbent may face under diversification and other traditional comparative criteria. Amended comparative renewal criteria and standards may have the net effect of saving applicant's and the Commission's time and resources in the renewal process.

CFR Citation: 47 CFR 1.1621(b); 47 CFR 1.1622; 47 CFR 1.1623

Abstract: The FCC is considering inclusion of women as a group entitled to preferences when initial licensing in the mass media services is by lottery. The only service in which lotteries are currently used is low power television ("LPTV"). Such preference might be awarded either through inclusion of women in the "minority groups" currently entitled to the minority preference, or by creation of a special diversity preference for women. Approximately 11,000 applications for LPTV licenses are presently on file. Establishment of the preference would provide some advantage to small entities with majority female ownership seeking such licenses. Similarly, some small entities which are not majority-owned by women might be disadvantaged relative to female-controlled applicants.

119. COMMISSION'S POLICY REGARDING THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE UHF TELEVISION SERVICE

Legal Authority: 47 USC 154(i); 47 USC 303(r)

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Abstract: A proceeding looking towards abolishment of the Commission's UHF impact policy. Under this policy, the Commission generally has determined that applications for new or additional VHF television service may not be in the public interest if they threaten adverse economic impact on a UHF television station. In light of the significant advances made by the UHF television service, the proceeding seeks to re-examine the current relevance and effectiveness of this policy.

120. ● AMENDMENT OF PART 1 OF THE COMMISSION'S RULES TO IMPLEMENT SECTION 504 OF THE REHABILITATION ACT OF 1973, AS AMENDED, 29 U.S.C. SECTION 794

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 29 USC 794; 47 USC 4(i); 47 USC 303(r)

CFR Citation: 47 CFR 1.1601 to 1.1699

Abstract: As originally enacted in 1974, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act prohibited discrimination on the basis of handicap in federally assisted programs. The Amendment of 1978 extended the nondiscrimination mandate of Section 504 to programs and activities conducted by federal agencies. Under Executive Order 12250, the Attorney General is authorized to coordinate the implementation. To assist agencies in developing rules to implement the 1978 Amendment, the Department of Justice drafted a prototype which our proposed rules follow to prohibit discrimination on the basis of handicap on FCC programs.

121. ● POLICY REGARDING INTERIM AUTHORITY TO OPERATE BROADCAST FACILITIES

Legal Authority: 47 USC 154; 47 USC 303(r)

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Abstract: When the Commission denies a license renewal application or a licensee wishes to discontinue operations, the available frequency is opened to competing applicants for regular authority. Pending the outcome of that comparative proceeding, the Commission usually invites applications for interim authority to operate on the frequency. The Commission is reviewing its policy concerning the authorization of interim operations for broadcast facilities. The Commission is exploring whether interim operations should be authorized every time a frequency becomes available, and several alternative methods for selecting interim operators among competing qualified applicants.

FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION

12 CFR Ch. III

Semiannual Agenda of Regulations

AGENCY: Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

ACTION: Publication of Semiannual Agenda of Regulations.

SUMMARY: The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") is hereby publishing items for the October 1984 Regulatory Agenda. The agenda contains information about FDIC's current and projected rulemakings, existing regulations under review, and completed rulemakings.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Persons identified under regulations listed in the agenda. The address for all FDIC staff identified in the agenda is Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, 550 17th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20429.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Twice each year, the FDIC publishes an agenda of regulations to inform the public of its regulatory actions and to enhance public participation in the rulemaking process. Publication of the agenda is in accordance with both the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.) and the FDIC statement of policy entitled "Development and Review of FDIC Rules and Regulations" (44 FR 31007, May 30, 1979; 44 FR 32353, June 6, 1979; 44 FR 76858, December 28, 1979; 49 FR 7288, February 28, 1984).

FDIC amends its regulations under the general rulemaking authority prescribed in section 9 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (12 U.S.C. 1819) and under specific authority granted by the Act and other statutes.

The FDIC is voluntarily including its agenda in the "Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations." While the FDIC is an Independent Agency exempt from coverage by Executive Order 12291, it believes that its participation in this joint publication will further the public interest by including in a single source information concerning FDIC current and projected rulemaking and reviews of existing regulations. This agenda conforms to the standardized format of the "Unified Agenda."

Interested persons may petition the FDIC for the issuance, amendment or repeal of any regulation by submitting a written petition to the Executive Secretary, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, Washington, D.C. 20429. Petitioners should include complete and concise statements of their interest in the subject matter and reasons why the petitions should be granted.

DATED: August 28, 1984.

Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Hoyle L. Robinson,

Executive Secretary.

FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION (FDIC) — Current and Projected Rulemakings

PROPOSALS OUTSTANDING

1. CREDIT CARD AGREEMENTS AND CHECK GUARANTEES

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1819 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1816 Federal Deposit Insurance Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 332; 12 CFR 337

Abstract: On June 12, 1981 the FDIC issued proposed amendments to its regulations which prohibit an insured nonmember bank from guaranteeing the obligations of third parties. These proposed amendments were withdrawn on March 30, 1984. The FDIC has subsequently issued revised proposed amendments. The amendments are in the form of an exemption and are designed to allow banks to do two things: (1) to issue check guaranty cards, and (2) to sponsor customers in credit card agreements with other banks. A number of banks have asked that the present restrictions exclude check guaranty cards and customer-sponsored credit card accounts. The proposed amendments would allow banks to enter into such undertakings as long as they meet certain criteria pertaining to safety and soundness. The language of the proposed amendments is broad enough to include arrangements that have similar characteristics but have been termed differently.

2. UNSAFE AND UNSOUND BANKING PRACTICES; SECURITIES ACTIVITIES OF SUBSIDIARIES OF INSURED NONMEMBER BANKS

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1819 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1816 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1818(b) Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1828(j)(2) Federal Deposit Insurance Act; PL 97-320 Glass-Steagall Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 337

Abstract: The FDIC has determined that it is not unlawful under the Glass-Steagall Act for an insured nonmember bank to establish or acquire a bona fide subsidiary that engages in securities activities nor for an insured nonmember bank to become affiliated with a company engaged in securities activities. At the same time, however, the FDIC has found that some risk may be associated with those activities. In order to address that risk and to ensure the legality of insured nonmember bank indirect involvement in securities activities the FDIC has proposed to amend its regulations to (1) define bona fide subsidiary, (2) limit an insured nonmember bank's permissible direct and indirect investments in its securities subsidiary or subsidiaries, (3) require notice of intent to invest in a securities subsidiary, (4) limit the permissible securities activities of insured nonmember bank subsidiaries, and (5) place certain other restrictions on loans, extensions of credit, and other transactions between insured nonmember banks and their subsidiaries or affiliates that engage in securities activities. The proposed amendment is a continuation of a rulemaking (cont)

3. CAPITAL MAINTENANCE

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1815 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1816 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1818 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1819 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1828 Federal Deposit Insurance Act

Abstract: The FDIC is required by statute to evaluate the capital position of a bank before approving various bank applications. Also, it is necessary for FDIC to evaluate capital in determining the safety and soundness of banks it supervises and insures. A proposed rule has been issued by the FDIC that (a) defines capital, (b) establishes minimum standards for adequate capital, (c) establishes standards to determine when an insured bank is operating in an unsafe and unsound condition by reason of the amount of its capital, and (d) establishes procedures for issuing a Directive to require an insured state nonmember bank to achieve and maintain minimum capital.

4. ● CLARIFICATION AND DEFINITION OF DEPOSIT INSURANCE COVERAGE

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1813; 12 USC 1815; 12 USC 1817; 12 USC 1819; 12 USC 1820; 12 USC 1821; 12 USC 1822; 12 USC 3103; 12 USC 3104; 12 USC 3108

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 330; 12 CFR 346

Abstract: The FDIC is proposing changes to amend its International Banking Act regulations in regard to the asset pledge and asset maintenance requirements. The FDIC is also proposing to add a section to its regulation to address concentration of transfer risk. It is proposed that the asset pledge be modified in regard to the amount required and, correspondingly, in regard to the elimination of the allowance of credit for any other pledge-like transaction to a State or the Comptroller of the Currency. There would be no asset maintenance rule per se; rather, there would be a minimum capital equivalency ledger account evidencing funding of the branch by the parent bank. In regard to both the asset pledge and the capital equivalency ledger account, certificates of deposit would be included only if there is a valid waiver of offset agreement. The FDIC is also proposing to add regulatory limitations for concentrations of transfer risk to any one country by an insured branch. A change would also be made to indicate that deposits in the insured branch which are to the credit of an affiliated entity are not insured, and the definition of affiliate would be revised.

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 303; 12 CFR 308

Abstract: The FDIC is proposing to amend its regulations concerning the procedures for remote service facility applications ("RSFs") requests for reconsideration of denied applications, petitions, or requests, and public comment on merger applications. The amendments would (1) permit establishment of additional RSFs and relocation of existing RSFs after notice to the appropriate FDIC regional director provided that the regional director does not object to the proposal, (2) expand the Director of the Division of Bank Supervision's and regional directors' delegated authority to act on additional RSF applications and RSF relocation applications, (3) specify the content of petitions for reconsideration, (4) specify who within the FDIC will reconsider denied applications, petitions, or requests, and (5) shorten the time period over which comments on merger applications may be filed from 45 days to 30 days.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1817; 12 USC 1818; 12 USC 1819; 12 USC 1820

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 304

Abstract: The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") has adopted an interim final regulation requiring each FDIC-insured bank with combined brokered deposits and fully insured deposits of financial institutions in excess of either the bank's total capital and reserves or five percent of the bank's total deposits to report holdings of such deposits to the FDIC for every month in which such excess exists. The purpose of this regulation is to provide the FDIC with more frequent information on each FDIC-insured bank's involvement with brokered deposits and fully insured deposits of financial institutions.

8. INVESTMENTS IN BANK SERVICE CORPORATIONS

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1819 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; PL 97-320, Sec 709 Garn-St Germain Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 303; 12 CFR 304

Abstract: The Garn-St Germain Depository Institutions Act of 1982 empowers banks insured by the FDIC to invest in corporations that engage in "banking" activities. Banks that wish to take advantage of the authority conferred by the Garn-St Germain Depository Institutions Act of 1982 must first obtain the approval of their primary regulator.

The FDIC staff is developing a form for use by nonmember insured banks applying for the FDIC's permission to make investments of this kind.

9. ACTIVITIES OF INSURED BANKS; REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE BROKERAGE AND UNDERWRITING, DATA PROCESSING FOR THIRD PARTIES, AND TRAVEL AGENCY ACTIVITIES

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1816 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1819 Federal Deposit Insurance Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 332; 12 CFR 333; 12 CFR 337

Abstract: The FDIC staff is evaluating public comments concerning whether there is a need to regulate the involvement of insured banks and bank affiliated companies in the following activities: real estate or insurance brokerage and underwriting; data processing for third parties; travel agency activities; and other financially related activities. The FDIC will propose rules only if it finds such activities pose safety and soundness problems, present conflicts of interest, or are inconsistent with the purposes of Federal deposit insurance.

Legal Authority: 29 USC 504 Rehabilitation Act of 1973; 12 USC 1819 Federal Deposit Insurance Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 352

Abstract: The FDIC is developing a regulation that forbids the FDIC, in administering its programs and activities, to discriminate on the basis of handicap against qualified handicapped persons. The regulation will require the FDIC to make reasonable accommodations to ensure that qualified handicapped individuals may participate in FDIC programs or activities. The regulation will address employment of, and communication with, qualified handicapped persons, as well as FDIC program accessibility. The regulation will apply only to the FDIC and not to insured nonmember banks.

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 338

Abstract: The FDIC is considering amending its Fair Housing regulation, 12 CFR 338, to revise the recordkeeping exemption threshold. The current threshold of $10,000,000 in total assets may be too low. A measure more closely related to home loan activity will be considered. Raising the threshold should improve the efficiency and effectiveness of consumer examiners through more productive use of examination time, and additionally, should reduce the recordkeeping burden on banks.

FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION (FDIC) — Existing Regulations Under Review

POTENTIAL ACTIONS

15. SECURITIES RECORDKEEPING AND CONFIRMATIONS

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1819 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1817 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1818 Federal Deposit Insurance Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 344

Abstract: Part 344 of the FDIC's regulations requires insured State nonmember banks effecting securities transactions for customers to maintain chronological and account records of transactions and underlying order tickets reflecting specified information, provide customers with timely specified information, and establish written policies and procedures applicable to the securities activities performed for customers. The regulation serves to assure that customers are provided with adequate information about their securities transactions effected by the bank and that banks are maintaining adequate business records. It was issued through the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council on an interagency basis in 1979. All three Federal bank regulatory agencies have almost identical regulations. After several years of experience with these regulations, some changes may be desirable. The three banking agencies, as a joint effort under the Examination Council, are reviewing these regulations to determine the specific changes to be proposed.

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1815; 12 USC 1816; 12 USC 1817(j); 12 USC 1818; 12 USC 1819; 12 USC 1828; 12 USC 1829; 15 USC 1607

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 303

Abstract: The FDIC is reviewing the requirements of Part 303 of its regulations pertaining to bank application procedures to determine their appropriateness in a changing regulatory environment. The goal is to streamline the procedures to the extent possible under existing statutory requirements. Areas under consideration include applications for Federal deposit insurance for operating noninsured institutions and foreign entities, applications to exercise trust powers, applications to reduce or retire capital, and notices of acquisition of control pursuant to the Change in Bank Control Act of 1978.

17. EMPLOYEE RESPONSIBILITIES AND CONDUCT

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1819 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; EO 11222

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 336

Abstract: The FDIC adopted as a final rule a revision to Part 336 of its rules and regulations which governs the standards of ethical and other conduct of FDIC employees. Significant changes include increasing the categories of employees subject to credit restrictions; easing existing restrictions on credit from affiliates of prohibited creditors; permitting assumptions of home mortgage loans from prohibited creditors; easing existing restrictions on ownership of bank securities; reporting of family member employment by insured banks; increasing the categories of employees reporting indebtedness; and reporting the acceptance of private sector employment upon resignation.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1817 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1818 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1819 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1820(b) Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 15 USC 1691 et seq Equal Credit Opportunity Act; 42 USC 3605 Fair Housing Act of 1968; 42 USC 3608 Fair Housing Act of 1968

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 338

Abstract: The FDIC amended section 338.4 of its regulations to eliminate the current requirement that insured State nonmember banks collect and record in a log-sheet certain data concerning home loan inquiries while retaining the requirement that information on all such applications be recorded and retained for 25 months. This amendment was made because log-sheet entries about inquiries have not been effective in identifying those banks needing special attention in the fair housing lending monitoring program. The amendment will bring about cost savings for both banks and regulatory authorities and possible improvements in the quality of compliance examinations through the more efficient use of examiner time.

19. MANAGEMENT OFFICIAL INTERLOCKS; DELETING ALL REFERENCES TO SMSA'S AND SUBSTITUTING THEREFOR THE NEW CLASSIFICATIONS ADOPTED BY OMB

Legal Authority: 12 USC 3207 Depository Institutions Management Interlocks Act; 12 USC 1819 Federal Deposit Insurance Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 348

Abstract: The Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, and the National Credit Union Administration (collectively referred to as the "agencies") amended their respective regulations implementing the Depository Institution Management Interlocks Act which generally prohibit certain management official interlocks between unaffiliated depository institutions and depository holding companies depending upon their asset size and location. The amendments will conform the regulations to a change in the Depository Institution Management Interlocks Act which deleted all references to "Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas" ("SMSAs") and substituted therefor the new classifications for metropolitan statistical areas adopted by the Office of Management and Budget.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: PL 98-181, Sec 906 Int'l Lending Supervision Act of 1983; 12 USC 1819 Federal Deposit Insurance Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 351

Abstract: This final rule establishes uniform requirements for the accounting for fees associated with the restructuring of international lending arrangements and nonrefundable fees charged by banking institutions in connection with other international loans. This rule implements one aspect of the joint program of the Federal banking agencies to strengthen the supervisory and regulatory framework relating to foreign lending by U.S. banking institutions incorporated in section 906 of the International Lending Supervision Act of 1983.

21. PENALTIES FOR FILING INACCURATE REPORTS

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1817 Federal Deposit Insurance Act; 12 USC 1819 Federal Deposit Insurance Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 304

Abstract: The combination of recent reductions in the frequency of bank examinations and the newly expanded powers of banks makes it necessary for the FDIC to place greater reliance on bank prepared reports in discharging regulatory and insurance responsibilities. However, the utility of a substantial number of bank prepared reports continues to be impaired as a result of errors contained therein. In order to reduce errors in the future, the staff will propose that money penalties be imposed on banks filing inaccurate information.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: PL 98-181, Sec 905(b) Int'l Lending Supervision Act of 1983; 12 USC 1819 Federal Deposit Insurance Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 351

Abstract: Section 905(b) requires the banking agencies to consider whether bank loan loss reserves are adequate in light of international loan reschedulings. This proposed rulemaking, which is under development, is designed to ensure uniformity among banks in setting up such reserves with the objective of promoting sufficiency of such reserves against possible losses in such assets.

23. ● DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION

Legal Authority: 5 USC 552; 12 USC 1819

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 309

Abstract: Section 309.4(e) of FDIC regulations ("Publicly available information") provides that certain FDIC bank reports are located in the Data Base Section, Management Information Services Branch, Division of Accounting and Corporate Services ("DACS"). Because of a recent reorganization in DACS, these materials have been transferred to another unit of DACS. Therefore, section 309.4(e) was amended accordingly.

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 303

Abstract: The FDIC has amended its regulation delegating authority to the Director of the Division of Bank Supervision ("Director") to act on certain branch, main office or branch relocation, and remote service facility applications as well as the regulation limiting the Director's subdelegation of that authority to FDIC's regional directors. The amendments, which expand the delegated authority of the Director and the regional directors to act on branch, main office or branch relocation, and remote service facility applications, are expected to reduce the time necessary to process such applications and thereby benefit insured nonmember banks.

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 303

Abstract: The FDIC has amended its regulation to expand the delegated authority of the Director of the Division of Bank Supervision ("Director") and, where confirmed in writing by the Director, the delegated authority of the appropriate regional director, to act on certain merger applications. The FDIC has also amended its regulation to (1) authorize the Board of Review to deny as well as approve applications made pursuant to section 19 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act seeking approval of the FDIC for an individual who has been convicted of a criminal offense involving dishonesty or a breach of trust to serve as a director, officer, or employee of an insured bank and (2) authorize the Director and regional directors to approve, but not deny, any such section 19 applications. This set of amendments also delegates to the Board of Review the authority to approve or deny requests seeking exemptions from FDIC's regulation prohibiting certain management official interlocks. These amendments, which expand the delegated authority of the Board of Review, the Director, and the regional directors to act on the above applications and requests, are expected to reduce the time necessary to process such (cont)

ELIMINATION OF COMMODITY CHARGES FROM NATURAL GAS PIPELINE MINIMUM BILL PROVISIONS

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 16 USC 717 to 717w Natural Gas Act

CFR Citation: 18 CFR 154

Abstract: Minimum bill provisions generally require a purchaser of natural gas from a pipeline to pay a certain amount based on an assumed level of utilization of its contractual volumes whether or not that level is achieved. In the context of the transition to natural gas decontrol and today's market conditions, minimum bill provisions may not currently serve a legitimate purpose and, in fact, may be exacerbating current market disorders. The planned NOPR would prohibit recovery by a pipeline seller of gas costs not actually incurred under minimum bill commodity provisions. Docket No. RM83-71.

CALCULATION OF CASH WORKING CAPITAL ALLOWANCE FOR PUBLIC UTILITIES

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 16 USC 79 to 828c

CFR Citation: 18 CFR 35

Abstract: Proposed rule would provide that a public utility that files electric rate schedules may include in rate base no cash working capital allowance, unless it is demonstrated that the payment of certain current operating expenses by that utility is not, on the average, closely timed with the receipt of revenues from ratepayers, producing a significant "lead" or "lag" in revenue collection in relation to the payment of expenses. The new section would prescribe the expense elements includable in cash working capital, the parameters of the presumption against a cash working capital allowance, and the nature of the studies that may be submitted in support of, or in opposition to, any request for a cash working capital allowance. MONITORING FAIR LENDING PRACTICES

Legal Authority: 12 USC 2901; 15 USC 1691; 42 USC 3601 to 3619; 42 USC 1981; EO 11063; 14 USC 1437; 12 USC 1725; 12 USC 1726; 12 USC 1730; 12 USC 1464; Reorg. Plan No. 3 of 1947

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 528.6

Abstract: The Board is proposing to amend its Loan Application Register and Data Submission Report currently required to be maintained by all institutions that are members of the Federal Home Loan Bank System, for the purposes of monitoring fair lending practices. The proposed amendments would provide for efficient monitoring pursuant to Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968, the Equal Credit Opportunity Act, and the Community Reinvestment Act, while reducing paperwork of regulated institutions.

Abstract: The proposal is intended to establish uniform rules for securities offerings applicable to all institutions whose accounts are insured by, or who are applying for insurance from, the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, and to relieve current restrictions on securities activities by such institutions at their offices. The current lack of uniform rules puts institutions in danger of inadvertently violating the disclosure-oriented antifraud provisions of the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and the use of inadequate or misleading disclosures by individual institutions could have a significant adverse impact on the capability of other thrift institutions to raise capital and could result generally in illiquid and disorderly markets for the securities of insured institutions.

The alternatives under consideration are: (1) do nothing (no adoption of rules); (2) adopt unique disclosure rules for thrifts; or (3) adopt SEC-like rules (as proposed-public market recognition and comparability).

Costs/benefits have not been quantified; general (cont)

Unified Regulatory Agenda

AGENCY: Federal Maritime Commission.

ACTION: Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to section 5 of E.O. 12291 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.) the Commission anticipates having under consideration during the period from October 1, 1984, to September 30, 1985, actions in the areas listed below.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For further information concerning Commission rulemaking procedures or the status of any matter listed below, contact: Francis C. Hurney, Secretary, Federal Maritime Commission, 1100 L Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20573, (202) 523-5725.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Section 602 of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 602) requires the publication of an agenda of items for which regulatory agencies may propose or promulgate a rule which is likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Section 5 of Executive Order 12291 also requires executive agencies to publish a regulatory agenda; the Commission voluntarily complies with this section. The agendas include information on regulatory activities being conducted or reviewed during the succeeding 12 months by the Commission. The following is the Commission's Unified Regulatory Agenda. The agenda does not necessarily include petitions for rulemakings which are under staff review.

In addition, the Commission is publishing a compilation of the status of pending rulemaking proceedings and a listing of rules that have become final since the publication of the most recent regulatory agenda (April 1984). This list will be made available to the press and interested groups.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 5 USC 553; 46 USC app 1703 to 1706; 46 USC app 1716

CFR Citation: 46 CFR 572

Abstract: This interim rule with request for public comment would clarify the status of certain transshipment agreements where one party operates in the foreign commerce of the United States, and therefore is subject to the Shipping Act of 1984, and another party that operates in the United States domestic offshore trades and is still subject to the Shipping Act, 1916. The proposed rule would consider the domestic segment of such arrangements involving a through movement of cargo via transshipment in the foreign commerce of the United States to also be in the foreign commerce of the United States and therefore subject to the Shipping Act of 1984.

● RULES GOVERNING AGREEMENTS BY OCEAN COMMON CARRIERS AND OTHER PERSONS SUBJECT TO THE SHIPPING ACT OF 1984

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 5 USC 553; 46 USC app 1701 to 1710; 46 USC app 1712; 46 USC app 1714 to 1717

CFR Citation: 46 CFR 572

Abstract: These interim and final rules implement those sections of the Shipping Act of 1984 that govern agreements by or among ocean common carriers and other persons subject to the Act in the foreign commerce of the United States. The final rules will indicate the extent to which the authority conferred by agreements involving concerted activity needs to be express and specific, as to leave no doubt as to the activities being specifically authorized, including any limitations or restrictions upon such activities. Included in the rules are provisions that 1) define an "agreement", 2) set forth those types of agreements that are within the scope of the Act, 3) require parties to an agreement to file a copy of the agreement and other information, 4) establish procedures for Commission review and exemption and 5) for the filing of minutes and other reports.

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

12 CFR CH. II

Semiannual Regulatory Flexibility Agenda

AGENCY: Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

ACTION: Semiannual Agenda.

SUMMARY: The Board is issuing this Agenda under the Regulatory Flexibility Act and the Board's Statement of Policy Regarding Expanded Rulemaking Procedures. The Board anticipates having under consideration regulatory matters as indicated below during the period from October 1, 1984 through April 1, 1985. The next Semiannual Agenda will be published in April 1985.

DATE: Comments about the form or content of the Agenda may be submitted any time during the next six months.

ADDRESS: Comments should be addressed to William W. Wiles, Secretary of the Board, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D.C. 20551.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: A staff contact for each item is indicated with the regulatory description below.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Board is publishing its October 1984 Agenda as part of the October 1984 Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations, which is coordinated by the Office of Management and Budget under Executive Order 12291. Participation by the Board in the Unified Agenda is on a voluntary basis.

The Board's Agenda is divided into three sections. The first, Current and Projected Rulemakings, reports on regulatory matters that have been proposed and are under Board consideration, and other regulatory matters (designated by a plus sign (+)) the Board may consider for public comment during the next six months. The second section, Existing Regulations Under Review, reports on any major regulatory reviews under the Board's Regulatory Improvement Project that are scheduled for the next 12 months. A third section, Completed Rulemaking, reports on regulatory matters the Board has completed or is not expected to consider further.

A dot (●) preceding an entry indicates a new matter that was not a part of the Board's previous Agenda, and which the Board has not completed.

Barbara R. Lowrey,

Associate Secretary of the Board.

1. REGULATION: B - EQUAL CREDIT OPPORTUNITY (DOCKET NUMBER: R-0473)

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1691b Equal Credit Opportunity Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 202

Abstract: In June 1983, the Board published notice of its intention to review Regulation B (48 FR 28285, June 21, 1983) as part of its Regulatory Improvement Project. (See Entry RIN 7100-AA14.) In its review of Regulation B the Board will focus on ways to update the regulation to carry out more effectively the provisions of the Equal Credit Opportunity Act, without diminishing the consumer protections contained in the Act and implementing regulation. The Board's notice asked commenters for information about any aspect of Regulation B that they believe should be examined. The Board also requested comment on several technical issues identified by the staff concerning the regulation's sample adverse action notice form, consideration of credit history information shared with a spouse, circumstances under which adverse action notices must be sent, reapplications for open-end credit, and treatment of authorized users of open-end credit.

The Board is reviewing the public comments that were received and is also conducting additional study of legal, economic, and other issues in this area. The Board expects within the (cont)

2. REGULATION: E - ELECTRONIC FUND TRANSFERS (DOCKET NUMBER: R-0502)

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1693b Electronic Fund Transfer Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 205

Abstract: In January 1984, the Board published for comment two proposed amendments to Regulation E (49 FR 2204, January 18, 1984). The first proposal would bring within the definition of an electronic fund transfer, and thus within the coverage of the Electronic Fund Transfer Act and the regulation, transfers resulting from point-of-sale debit card transactions that are processed electronically but do not involve an electronic terminal at the point of sale.

Action is needed to resolve this matter because of current uncertainty about coverage of these transfers, and inquiries have been received by the Board from financial institutions, state agencies, and others. The proposed action also takes into account the fact that an increasing number of debit cards are being used for point-of-sale transactions. The point-of-sale proposal, if adopted, will provide clarification and guidance to financial institutions in the treatment to be given these transfers, and would provide additional time in these cases for error resolution. The proposal would also provide clear protection for consumers in areas such as liability for (cont)

The second proposal would give financial institutions the option to disclose charges for electronic fund transfers -- on periodic statements -- either on a transaction-by-transaction basis, or as a total sum. The proposal is in response to requests from financial institutions for such flexibility.

These proposals would affect all financial institutions, as that term is defined in the Electronic Fund Transfer Act and Regulation E -- that is, any person that, directly or indirectly, holds a consumer asset account, such as a checking account, savings account, or money market fund account, and any person that issues an access device and agrees with a consumer to provide electronic fund transfer services.

The Board will review the public comments and consider further action within the next three months. The proposals are not expected to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities because the compliance requirements are unlikely to be very burdensome.

3. + REGULATION: F - SECURITIES OF STATE MEMBER BANKS

Legal Authority: 15 USC 78(l) Securities Exchange Act of 1934

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 206

Abstract: The Board will consider issuing for comment a proposal to amend Regulation F to conform that regulation with a series of recent changes in the securities disclosure regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Pursuant to section 12(i) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, the Board is required to periodically update its securities disclosure regulations to make them substantially identical to comparable regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission or to publish reasons why they should not be so revised.

Adoption of the proposal is not expected to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small member banks, since only a few banks are subject to the Board's regulation and the revisions of the disclosure requirements are not likely to be severe.

Legal Authority: 12 USC 342 Federal Reserve Act; 12 USC 248(o) Federal Reserve Act; 12 USC 360 Federal Reserve Act; 12 USC 248(i) Federal Reserve Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 210

Abstract: In June 1984, the Board issued for public comment a proposal to improve the process by which checks are returned. Subpart A of Regulation J would be amended to require the paying bank to provide timely notice to the depository institution at which the check was originally deposited that the check is being returned unpaid (49 FR 26597, June 28, 1984). The Federal Reserve Banks would enhance the notification service they currently provide to assist paying banks in meeting this requirement, and also would make the service available to depository institutions for checks collected outside the Federal Reserve.

This proposal is a change in an earlier Board proposal issued in May 1981 and adopted in part by the Board in August 1981 (46 FR 42059, August 19, 1981). At that time the Board deferred action on three proposals: two have been incorporated in the new proposal and the other (an amendment incorporating provisions for collecting coupons and other securities similar to provisions regarding the payment and return of cash items) has been deferred pending further study. The Board has concluded that the new proposal should not have a significant economic impact (cont)

5. REGULATION: K - INTERNATIONAL BANKING OPERATIONS (DOCKET NUMBER: R-0498)

Legal Authority: 12 USC 3901 et seq International Lending Supervision Act, 1983

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 211

Abstract: In February and March 1984, the Board adopted regulations implementing the International Lending Supervision Act of 1983 (Title IX, Pub. L. 98-181) with respect to maintenance of reserves against certain international assets, disclosure of information on international assets, and accounting rules for fees on certain international loans. In publishing these regulations the Board requested comment on whether and to what extent the Act should apply to U.S. branches, agencies, and commercial lending company subsidiaries of foreign banks. By action of February 13, 1984 (49 FR 5587, 5591), the Board left open the comment period on this issue in order to allow for further public comment.

If the Board determines to propose regulations affecting foreign banks under the Act, such regulations would not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small businesses since the rules would affect only international banks.

Legal Authority: 12 USC 601 to 604a; 12 USC 611 et seq; 12 USC 1841 et seq

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 211

Abstract: In June 1984, the Board proposed for comment revisions to its Regulation K governing the international operations of U.S. banking organizations (49 FR 26002, June 25, 1984). The review and proposed revision of the regulation were undertaken pursuant to a provision of the International Banking Act of 1978 which requires a review every five years of the rules governing Edge Corporations.

The proposed regulation presents several alternatives designed to enable Edge Corporations to provide a broader range of banking services than is currently permitted in order to improve the competitive position of Edge Corporations. This rule incorporates, with several modifications, a previous proposal that was published for comment in February 1979 (44 FR 10509, February 21, 1979). Other major provisions include an increase in the Edge Corporation lending limit; a change in the capitalization requirement to conform to the Board's Capital Adequacy Guidelines; relaxation of the limits on investments in other organizations; establishment of procedures governing a change in control of an Edge Corporation; and several (cont)

7. REGULATION: Q - INTEREST ON DEPOSITS (DOCKET NUMBER: R-0514)

Legal Authority: 12 USC 371b

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 217

Abstract: In March 1984, the Board proposed amendments to its rules concerning advertising interest on deposits to incorporate a policy statement concerning advertisements for split rate time deposits and for deposits used as Individual Retirement Account (IRA) investments (49 FR 11642, March 27, 1984). Under the proposal, in the case of a split rate account where a schedule of fixed rates to be paid is established in advance and the first rate to be paid is higher than subsequent rates, the Board would regard any advertisement of a rate as misleading unless the advertisement includes each rate to be paid in equal size type together with a conspicuous statement as to how long each rate will be in effect and a conspicuous statement of the average effective annual yield. In addition, advertisements should refer to IRAs as "tax deferred" and not as "tax exempt" or "tax free." The proposal would not adversely affect small businesses because no additional reporting or recordkeeping requirements are imposed.

The Board will review the public comments and is expected to take further action during the next six months.

Abstract: In 1984, the Board may review a proposal submitted on behalf of a banking institution calling for an amendment to Regulation U that would permit banks to extend credit for options transactions in the same manner that broker-dealers may do so under Regulation T (Credit by Brokers and Dealers). In particular, the petitioner has requested the Board to change, if necessary, what is perceived to be a regulatory disparity between the treatment of banks and broker-dealers with respect to the financing of options transactions.

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1843(c)(8) Bank Holding Company Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 225

Abstract: In March 1984, the Board proposed for public comment an amendment to Regulation Y that would list certain additional nonbanking activities as generally permissible for bank holding companies under section 4(c)(8) of the Bank Holding Company Act and that may be applied for under the procedures of that section (49 FR 9215, March 12, 1984.) The activities proposed to be included in Regulation Y for the first time include: 1. commodity trading advisory services; 2. check guaranty services; 3. consumer financial counseling; 4. armored car services; 5. tax planning and tax preparation; and 6. operating a credit agency and credit bureau.

Consumer financial counseling and check guaranty services have been permitted previously by Board order on individual applications.

In addition the Board has proposed to expand the activities of property appraisal and providing advice in connection with future commission merchant activities. These activities have been included previously in the list of permissible activities (cont)

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1843(c)(8) Bank Holding Company Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 225

Abstract: In November 1983, the Board published for comment a proposal to eliminate the requirement in Regulation Y that bank holding companies engaging in credit life and credit accident and health insurance underwriting provide rate reductions or increased policy benefits in order to engage in this activity (48 FR 53125, November 25, 1983.) The Board took this action as a result of the suggestions of several commenters to the Board's recent revision of Regulation Y, who advocated elimination of the rate reduction requirement from the regulation. These commenters stated that in their view the requirement puts bank holding companies at a competitive disadvantage with respect to other providers of this service, and that they knew of no significant evidence that the performance of this activity has resulted in the adverse effects on the public considered by the Board in its 1972 decision approving this activity. It is expected that adoption of this proposal would lead to a relaxation of the regulatory burden on bank holding companies which engage in this activity.

The Board will review the public comments and is expected to take further action within the next six months.

11. + REGULATION: Y - BANK HOLDING COMPANIES AND CHANGE IN BANK CONTROL

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1861 Bank Service Corporation Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 225

Abstract: The Board will consider issuing for public comment a proposal to amend Regulation Y by adding authority for member banks to invest individually or jointly in bank service corporations under an amendment to the Bank Service Corporation Act made by section 709 of the Garn-St Germain Depository Institutions Act of 1982.

Under the new law, banks may invest without any prior regulatory approval in corporations offering "back office" clerical service to other depository institutions. In addition, if they obtain the prior approval of the Board, member banks may invest in corporations that offer to any person services that the bank may offer under state or federal law or services that have been found by regulation to be permissible under section 4(c)(8) of the Bank Holding Company Act.

Adoption of regulations to implement the change would enable all banks, large and small, to engage in certain activities that previously were not available to them. It is not expected that adoption of this proposal would have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small banks.

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1843 Bank Holding Company Act; 12 USC 1844(b) Bank Holding Company Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 225

Abstract: A provision of Regulation Y permits a state bank subsidiary of a bank holding company to engage through a nonbank subsidiary in any activity that is permissible under state law for the bank subsidiary itself, subject to the same limits as if the bank engages in the activity directly. (A similar rule applies to national bank subsidiaries regarding activities permissible for such banks under federal law.) The Board received comments on this provision in connection with its general request for comments in May 1983 regarding the proposed revision of Regulation Y. Some of the commenters challenged the Board's authority to issue this provision, although it has been part of Regulation Y since 1971. In taking final action on the revision of Regulation Y, the Board deferred consideration of the comments on this provision and allowed the existing rule to remain in effect in the interim (49 FR 794, January 5, 1984).

The Board plans to review this provision of the regulation in the near future. A determination to reverse the rule could have an adverse impact on many small banks that are subsidiaries of holding companies because they might be required to (cont)

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 208, Appendix A; 12 CFR 225, Appendix A; 12 CFR 263

Abstract: In July 1984, the Board proposed for comment amended Capital Adequacy Guidelines for bank holding companies and State member banks as well as a regulation embodying procedures to enforce these Guidelines (49 FR 30317, July 30, 1984). This proposal is designed to implement the requirement in the International Lending Supervision Act of 1983 that the Board "cause banking institutions to achieve and maintain adequate capital." The proposal seeks to establish uniform minimum capital levels for all federally regulated banks (in conjunction with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Comptroller of the Currency). The proposal would also raise the minimum capital requirements for larger regional and multinational state member banks and bank holding companies, and would establish a uniform minimum capital level for large and small banks and bank holding companies. The impact on small institutions would be a slight easing of minimum primary capital requirements.

14. REGULATION: Z - TRUTH IN LENDING (DOCKET NUMBER: R-0501)

Legal Authority: 15 USC 1604, as amended Truth in Lending Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 226

Abstract: In January 1984, the Board published for comment a proposed amendment to Regulation Z, which would clarify that all credit cards issued for use in transactions that are generally exempt from Regulation Z are still subject to the Regulation Z provisions that prohibit the unsolicited issuance of credit cards and that limit the cardholder's liability for unauthorized use to a maximum of $50 (49 FR 2210, January 18, 1984). The regulation already makes clear that these two provisions apply to cards issued for obtaining business-purpose credit, a class of credit that is otherwise exempt from Regulation Z.

The proposal is in response to questions from both the public and private sectors about the applicability of these two credit card provisions to cards used for other types of generally exempt transactions. The Board is concerned that, unless the credit card provisions apply to these cards, consumers who use them will not have any federal protections restricting unsolicited issuance of such cards and limiting their liability for the authorized use of cards.

However, cards issued for use with other types of exempt transactions (such as those issued for use with fixed credit lines over $25,000 that are not secured by real estate or a dwelling) would also be subject to the provisions on issuance and liability for unauthorized use. Because there are many small companies in the telecommunications industry, the Board specifically solicited comment on small companies or other potentially affected industries that currently have credit card programs, or that might develop them in the future.

If the amendment is adopted, the Board will also consider appropriate action to minimize initial compliance costs associated with the amendment.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 57a Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 227

Abstract: The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) Act requires that whenever the FTC enacts a rule covering unfair or deceptive acts or practices, the Federal Reserve Board must, within 60 days of the rule's effective date, promulgate a substantially similar rule governing banks. The Board may decline to issue such a rule only if the Board determines that such acts or practices of banks are not unfair or deceptive or that implementation of the rule with respect to banks would seriously conflict with essential monetary and payment systems policies of the Board.

In March 1984, the FTC published a trade regulations rule known as the Credit Practices Rule (49 FR 7740, March 1, 1984), which will prohibit certain provisions that sometimes appear in consumer credit contracts to aid in the collection of unpaid debts. It will also impose certain specific disclosure and contractual requirements on creditors. The rule will go into effect on March l, 1985 and will apply only to non-financial institution creditors.

Legal Authority: 12 USC 248(l) Federal Reserve Act, Sec 11(l)

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 268

Abstract: In August 1984, the Board issued for public comment proposals to revise and expand its Equal Employment Opportunity regulation for the following purposes: (1.) to conform the regulation in so far as possible to existing regulations of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission governing the substantive rights of employees and applicants for employment with Federal agencies; (2.) to designate clear responsibility for equal employment opportunity functions in light of changes in the Board's organizational structure; and (3.) to prohibit discrimination against the handicapped in programs and activities conducted by the Board.

17. ● PROPOSALS TO REDUCE RISK ON LARGE DOLLAR TRANSFER SYSTEMS (DOCKET NUMBER: R-0515)

Legal Authority: 12 USC 221 et seq

Abstract: In April 1984, the Board requested public comment on several proposals to reduce risks on large-dollar wire transfer systems (49 FR 13186, April 3, 1984). The Board took this action in response to its concern that developments that might arise in connection with such networks could destabilize financial markets and the economy. The proposals, if adopted, would likely apply only to financial institutions, although customers of such institutions may be affected indirectly. Because large-dollar funds transfer systems are typically used frequently only by the largest financial institutions, it is not anticipated that these proposals, if adopted, would have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

18. REGULATORY IMPROVEMENT PROJECT

Legal Authority: 12 USC 3501 Financial Regulation Simplification Act of 1980

Abstract: The Board's Regulatory Improvement Project involves, among other things, a substantive, zero-based review of all Federal Reserve regulations that affect the public to determine: (1) the fundamental objectives of the regulation and the extent to which it is meeting current policy goals, (2) nonregulatory alternatives that would accomplish the objectives, (3) costs and benefits of the regulation, (4) unnecessary burdens imposed by the regulation, and (5) the clarity of the regulation. The Project also participates in the development of proposals listed in this agenda to ensure that the objectives of the Project are met.

Legal Authority: 12 USC 461(a) Federal Reserve Act, Sec 19(a)

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 204; 12 CFR 217

Abstract: In August 1982, the Board requested public comment on a proposal to amend Regulations D and Q to increase the maximum size limitation on business savings accounts at member banks to $250,000 (47 FR 38137, August 30, 1982). Currently, member banks are not permitted to accept savings deposits in excess of $150,000 per depositor from organizations operated for profit. The Board also invited comment on the possibility of eliminating this limitation completely. Small banks would benefit from either a liberalization or elimination of this limit because the change would allow these institutions to compete more effectively with thrift institutions, which currently are subject to no such limitation. Further, small businesses should be aided by the opportunity to place larger cash balances in interest-bearing accounts.

In view of the availability of the Money Market Deposit Account category to businesses without limitation, it is not likely that this proposal will be adopted by the Board.

Abstract: In March 1984, the Board proposed for public comment a change in the definition of "margin security" to include those stocks designated by the Securities and Exchange Commission as qualified for trading in the National Market System (49 FR 9741, March 15, 1984). These stocks would become marginable upon the publication of their designation by the Securities and Exchange Commission in the Federal Register. The Board would continue to publish its List of OTC Margin Stocks three times annually to reflect the marginability of other OTC securities.

The Board reviewed the public comments and in September 1984, adopted the proposal in substantially the form proposed. It is not expected that the proposal would have a significant impact on a substantial number of small firms. The proposal should be beneficial since it will expedite the determination of the eligibility of certain securities on which broker-dealers may extend credit.

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

AGENCY: Federal Trade Commission.

ACTION: Semiannual regulatory agenda.

SUMMARY: The following agenda of Commission proceedings is published in accordance with the Federal Trade Commission Improvements Act of 1980, Pub. L. 96-252 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354. Each projected event reflects the FTC staff's assessment of events that it expects will occur in the listed proceedings during the coming year. No Commission determination on the need for or the substance of a trade regulation rule or any other procedural option should be inferred from the projected events included in this agenda.

Several agenda items concern proceedings that may affect a substantial number of small businesses as that term is used in the Regulatory Flexibility Act. Whether any such proceeding will result in a rule which is likely to have a significant economic impact on such entities depends upon final Commission determinations on the need for or on the substance of a trade regulation rule.

Except for notice of completed actions, the information in this agenda represents judgments of the FTC staff, based upon information now available. These views should not be regarded as a final staff position, nor should they be attributed to the Commission itself. The Commission will address the issues presented on the rulemaking record in the final consideration of each proceeding.

Agenda items include the projected timing of any future Commission action. In most instances the dates of future events are listed by month, not a specific day. Further details may be obtained from the agency contact responsible for a particular proceeding. Discovery of new information, changes in circumstances, or in the law may alter the information set forth in this agenda.

By direction of the Commission.

DATED: August 27, 1984.

Emily H. Rock,

Secretary.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION (FTC) — Current and Projected Rulemakings

1. EYEGLASSES II

Legal Authority: 15 USC 45 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 57(a) Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 456, (Revision)

Abstract: The staff of the FTC's Bureau of Consumer Protection has identified several state and private restrictions on the delivery of eye care goods and services which may decrease consumer access to vision care services, increase the cost of those services, and impede the growth of alternative methods of organizing eye-care practices. The principal question the Commission is exploring is the impact of such restrictions on the price, quality and availability of vision care. The Commission's investigation has sought, through the development of empirical market research, to determine whether higher prices result from these restrictions and, if so, whether offsetting consumer benefits also result. The primary impact of a rule on small businesses could stem from the increased competition in the vision care industry which can be anticipated as a result of deregulatory effect of the rule. Rule provisions removing certain restraints on commercial ophthalmic practice could enhance competition by permitting small entities (i.e., optometrists and opticians) to engage in alternate modes of practice; or to expand, should they desire to do so. The affirmative requirements of a rule could impose additional (cont)

2. HEALTH SPAS

Legal Authority: 15 USC 45 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 57(a) Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 443, (New)

Abstract: The rule proposed at the outset of this proceeding would require that health spa membership contracts provide consumers with a right to cancel and receive a full refund during a three-day cooling-off period. If a seller's facilities are not yet fully operational, the consumer would have ten days to cancel after notice that the spa facilities are fully operational. After this period, the consumer would have a right to cancel by paying up to a 5 percent cancellation fee plus a pro-rated portion of the contract price. Other provisions of the proposed rule would prescribe the form of the cancellation notices, limit contracts to two years, and prohibit the receipt of more than 5 percent of the contract price from consumers if a spa is not fully operational and available for use at the time the contract is signed. All industry members would incur costs for printing new contracts in order to comply with the proposed rule. Membership cancellations attributable to the requirements of the proposed rule would adversely affect the cash flow of health spas. Consumers would benefit from the proposed rule's unlimited cancellation rights to the extent they are not currently (cont)

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: granted by the industry. Staff is currently preparing a staff report. Alternatives under consideration include (1) a rule that would prohibit certain business practices by industry members and would require full disclosures of all ramifications of a health spa membership purchase; (2) changes in the nature of the refund requirement; (3) changes in other provisions of the rule; (4) case by case enforcement; and (5) consumer and business education. The proposed rule would have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities by varying required contract terms and imposing monetary refund requirements where none presently exist.

3. HEARING AIDS

Legal Authority: 15 USC 45 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 52 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 55 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 57(a) Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 440, (New)

Abstract: The proposed regulation currently under consideration would afford hearing aid purchasers a right to cancel the transaction within 30 days of purchase subject only to specified cancellation charges. Staff has explored alternative rule proposals that would require hearing aid dispensers to disclose whether they offer a trial period or would contain specific advertising prohibitions. In addition, staff has explored case by case enforcement and other alternatives to a Commission rule. If a trial period is required, the costs of the rule would be the dispenser's loss on the returned aid and the administrative expense of complying with the rule. This loss would be mitigated, among other things, by a cancellation fee and by the opportunity to re-sell the used aid. The greatest impact would be felt by dealers who do not currently offer customers trial periods with the sale of a hearing aid, particularly dealers with a high percentage of dissatisfied customers. Many dealers now offer trials. For those dealers the rule would be expected to have little impact beyond the administrative cost of complying with the rule, or any mandated changes in cancellation fees or other charges associated (cont)

The benefit would be to protect consumers from deceptive and unfair sales practices, and from the risk that a hearing aid will not significantly enhance hearing. The purposes of this rule would be to prevent deceptive and unfair sales practices in the sale of hearing aids and to give consumers contractual remedies against the risk that a hearing aid device will provide no significant benefit to the user. Since most hearing aids are sold by small businesses, the rule is expected to affect a large number of small businesses. Should some costs of implementing the rule be passed from dispensers to manufacturers of hearing aids (e.g., return of aids rejected by customer), there would be some impact on small manufacturers of aids as well.

4. AMENDMENT TO TRADE REGULATION RULE CONCERNING PRESERVATION OF CONSUMERS CLAIMS AND DEFENSES ("HOLDER-IN-DUE COURSE RULE")

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 45 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 57(a) Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 433

Abstract: The objective of the proposed amendment is to ensure that a purchaser's duty to pay is not separated from sellers' duty to perform when consumer sales are financed by third party creditors or purchase money lenders. The original rule requires sellers to ensure that credit contracts used in consumer installment sales and purchase money loans contain a provision that makes any holder of the contract subject to all legal claims and defenses related to the sale transaction which the buyer may have against the seller. The proposed amendment would extend to creditors the obligation to ensure that credit contracts contain the required provision. Benefits from the proposed amendments may include improvement in the retail market due to increased scrutiny by creditors of the sellers with whom they do business and availability to consumers of additional claims and defenses against creditors. Some creditors may have increased costs associated with screening contracts and monitoring the reputations of retailers with whom they deal. Alternatives considered by the Commission include: rejection of the amendment; postponement of decision pending additional information on (cont)

5. AMENDMENT TO LABELING AND ADVERTISING OF HOME INSULATION RULE

Legal Authority: 15 USC 57(a) Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 460.10; 16 CFR 460.18; 16 CFR 460.19; 16 CFR 460, Appendix B

Abstract: The Commission's home insulation trade regulation rule became effective on September 29, 1980. Among other things, it requires advertisers to disclose specific additional information in advertisements or other promotional materials when they make energy savings claims about an insulation product or refer to the product's thickness, R-Value or price. The Commission temporarily stayed the effective date of those disclosure requirements as they applied to television ads pending completion of these amendment proceedings. The Commission has announced its intention to reopen the rulemaking proceeding to consider whether it should amend the rule's disclosure requirements insofar as they apply to television advertising. (ANPR, 46 FR 47236, Sept. 25, 1981.) The TV ad disclosure requirements in the rule benefit consumers by ensuring that they have an opportunity to understand and evaluate claims that may otherwise lead to misguided purchasing decisions. In many cases, the disclosures should benefit smaller manufacturers whose products often compare favorably on an R-Value basis with those manufactured by the dominant members of the industry. The major cost to industry members is the (cont)

6. MOBILE HOME SALES AND SERVICE

Legal Authority: 15 USC 45 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 47(a) Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 441, (New)

Abstract: Almost all mobile homes are sold with a manufacturer's warranty but many buyers may not receive adequate and timely service under the warranty. The rule would address possibly inadequate performance of mobile home warranties through a number of possible remedies: setting specific service deadlines, prohibiting exclusion of set-up and transportation from warranty coverage, requiring written service agreements between warrantors and their service agents, and requiring maintenance of service records. Compliance costs estimated by staff will be approximately $145 per home for most firms affected, and could be less, depending on what provisions are actually adopted. An estimated 20% of buyers would benefit by saving about $242 for warranty repairs they would otherwise not get; another 15% of buyers would have service time cut by an estimated 4 months. The incidence of warranted defects could be reduced, increasing the useful life of homes. Buyers could also receive better financing terms due to lowering the incidence of defects that diminish resale value. Consumers might benefit from better information, if warranties accurately reflected what service is included (cont)

The proposed rule will have an impact on 200 mobile home manufacturers and 12,000 mobile home dealers, most of which are small businesses. There are alternatives to rule provisions. Instead of specific time deadlines for warranty repairs, manufacturers and dealers could set their own deadlines as long as they are disclosed in their warranties; instead of requiring manufacturers to disseminate consumer questionnaires, to monitor effectiveness of factory and dealer warranty repairs, manufacturers could select their own monitoring devices; some responsibilities and duties of the manufacturers may not be needed (e.g., pre-occupancy inspection, set-up and transportation damage).

7. PROPRIETARY VOCATIONAL AND HOME STUDY SCHOOLS

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 45 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 57(a) Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 438, (New)

Abstract: In 1979, the Second Circuit Court of Appeals set aside the rule as originally issued by the Commission, citing problems with some of the remedies that the rule provided to purchasers of proprietary vocational training. The Staff has prepared recommendations as to how the Commission should respond to the Court's decision. Alternatives under consideration include a rule that would give schools the option of providing either a strict pro rata refund remedy or a track record disclosure, a rule requiring some refunds but not on a strict pro rata basis, and a rule with no refund requirements at all. Alternatives to rulemaking include case-by-case enforcement, and FTC intervention before other state and federal agencies having jurisdiction over vocational schools to prevent deceptive practices. The rule may benefit consumers by enabling them to avoid expenditures on inappropriate courses and increasing the effectiveness of the vocational school industry in training and placing people in productive jobs. The cooling-off track record disclosures and refund components of the rule variations under consideration would impose real social costs on schools covered (cont)

Price increases may result from these costs as well as the possibility of paying out increased refunds. The rule should be most costly to schools that use unfair or deceptive practices to induce students to enroll in their courses. Schools that do not use these practices may not incur significant cost increases. The rule seeks to deter deceptive sales practices by requiring schools to provide material information to prospective students, and to provide students with contractual remedies which they can use to protect themselves when necessary. Most of the 6,000 schools that would be affected by the rule are small businesses.

8. PROTEIN SUPPLEMENTS

Legal Authority: 15 USC 45 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 52 Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 454, (New)

Abstract: The proposed rule addresses the advertising and labeling of protein supplements in three ways. First, there are provisions designed to inform consumers of certain health hazards. Thus, for example, a labeling disclosure would be required warning against use for infants. Second, the rule would prohibit certain false or deceptive claims, such as the claim that use of a protein supplement can counteract or delay the signs of aging. Third, the rule would require a general disclosure in the advertising and labeling of these products that most Americans receive all the protein they need from the food they eat. Public comments on the staff and presiding officer's reports have been analyzed by the rulemaking staff and are now being considered by the Bureau of Consumer Protection. Alternatives under consideration include a rule omitting any of the three major kinds of requirements of the proposed rule, as well as a case-by-case approach to enforcement. Adoption of the proposed rule may benefit the public by reducing and deferring the incidence of hazardous, false or misleading representations concerning the composition, use and effects of protein supplements. The costs to the public of adoption (cont)

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: of the Rule would include cost of changing labels and costs attributable to advertising disclosures. Apart from the loss of business obtained through misleading representations, the staff believes the costs to business of adoption of the rule are likely to be small. Objectives: the proposed rule was developed to limit misrepresentations in advertising and labeling, to provide information that some of these products may be inappropriate or hazardous for certain uses (e.g., for infants), and to remedy misrepresentations about the need for dietary protein supplements to the typical consumer diet. Large firms make most sales of protein supplements. However, a sizeable number of small firms also produce such products, and would be subject to the rule.

9. STANDARDS AND CERTIFICATION

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 45 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 46(g) Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 457, (New)

Abstract: Standards for products ranging from nuts and bolts to computers are set by trade associations, professional societies, testing laboratories, and other private sector groups. They are relied on by consumers, building code officials, government agencies, and others for regulatory and procurement purposes. These standards can provide significant benefits, such as lowering the cost of communications between buyers and sellers; improving the transfer of technology; encouraging efficiencies in design, production, and inventory; and assuring the safety, fitness, energy efficiency, or other aspects of product performance. However, substantial injury to competition and consumers can occur if standards or certification actions block the use of superior or lower cost technology, inflate product prices, or deceive consumers about the quality or safety of a product. In the proceeding, the Commission is examining whether a rule, guide, or other enforcement action is needed to address these competitive and consumer injuries. The Commission is particularly interested in the impact on injurious practices of other events, such as promulgation of OMB Circular A-119 and recent court (cont)

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 45; 15 USC 57(a); 15 USC 2309(b)

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 455, (New)

Abstract: On September 14, 1983, pursuant to a joint stipulation between the Commission and the petitioners for review, the Second Circuit remanded the rule to the Commission. (Miller Motor Car Corp. v. FTC, Nos. 81-4144 et al.) On July 10, 1984, the Commission tentatively adopted a rule that would require dealers to post a window form on used cars sold to consumers which discloses, in plain language, information concerning warranty coverage offered (if any), the meaning of an "As Is" sale (in which neither express warranties nor implied warranties are offered), and other important information. The form also informs consumers that oral promises are difficult to enforce and suggests that consumers ask about independent inspections. Alternatives that were considered included required inspections, voluntary inspections, and a requirement to disclose "known defects." The tentatively adopted rule was published for 30 days of technical comments and substantive comment on survey data that was included in the rulemaking record.

11. AMENDMENTS TO OCTANE POSTING AND CERTIFICATION RULE

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2801 et seq Petroleum Marketing Practices Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 306

Abstract: Title II of the Petroleum Marketing Practices Act ("PMPA", Pub. L. 95-297, June 19, 1978) required the Commission to promulgate a rule which establishes standard procedures for determining, certifying and posting, by means of a label on the fuel dispenser, the octane rating of automotive gasoline intended for sale to consumers. The Commission's rule was promulgated on March 30, 1979 and became effective on June 1, 1979. The rule is intended to enable consumers to buy a gasoline with an octane rating that is high enough to prevent inefficient and harmful "engine knock," and to avoid buying gasoline with an octane rating that is too high for their needs. Although compliance imposes costs on affected industry members, the rule's requirements parallel those in PMPA; therefore, the rule adds little, if any, additional cost. The rule requires refiners and importers to retain test records and distributors and retailers to retain octane certification records for one year, to facilitate tracing the source of inaccurate octane representations. While the Commission has attempted to minimize the burden on small business, the staff is considering (cont)

12. PRE-SALE AVAILABILITY OF WRITTEN WARRANTY TERMS (EXISTING REGULATION; MODIFICATIONS UNDER CONSIDERATION)

Legal Authority: 15 USC 2302(b)(1)(A) Magnuson-Moss Warranty--FTC Improvemts Act; 15 USC 2309(a) Magnuson-Moss Warranty--FTC Improvements Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 702

Abstract: The Magnuson-Moss Warranty Act (15 U.S.C. 2302(b)(1)(A)) requires that the Federal Trade Commission promulgate a rule to require that the terms of written warranties for consumer products be made available to consumers prior to purchase. The Rule modifications currently being considered are intended to achieve the Congressional objective more effectively by making the Rule requirements more flexible and thus lessening the costs and burdens of compliance while still ensuring consumers access to warranties prior to purchase. The current Pre-Sale Availability Rule requires that retailers of consumer products costing more than $15 make warranty texts available to consumers prior to purchase by placing the warranty text in one or a combination of four specified locations; (1) on the product, (2) in a binder, (3) on the package, or (4) on a sign. Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: sign indicating the availability of warranty text(s) upon customer request. In addition, staff is considering raising the dollar threshold for coverage of the Rule and automatic adjustment of this threshold amount to reflect the inflation rate. Modifications to manufacturers' compliance options are also under consideration, including a requirement that manufacturers affix the warranty text to all warranted consumer products. Changes in the rule could produce benefits by reducing the total costs of compliance with the present rule for retailers and manufacturers or by more efficiently allocating compliance obligations between retailers and manufacturers. Costs may arise from reductions in the benefits of the present rule in making warranty information available to consumers. Two large scale surveys are being conducted to examine consumer experience with warranties and to measure the effect of the current Rule on manufacturers and retailers. These surveys will estimate the effect on small business of both the existing rule and the alternatives under consideration.

13. RETAIL FOOD STORE ADVERTISING AND MARKETING PRACTICES

Legal Authority: 15 USC 41 et seq Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 424

Abstract: The Commission's Rule on Retail Food Store Advertising and Marketing Practices seeks to ensure that consumers receive the prices and goods offered in grocery stores' advertisements, and to enable the stores to compete fairly on the basis of price. Since the rule applies to all retail food stores, it may have had a significant effect on a substantial number of small grocery stores. The rule states that it is a violation of Section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act for grocery stores to advertise products at a particular price unless such products are in stock and conspicuously and readily available for sale at the advertised price during the effective period of the advertisement. The rule is intended to benefit consumers by ensuring that advertised items are available, that advertising-induced purchasing trips are not fruitless, and that store prices accurately reflect the prices appearing in the ads. The rule may cause costs to be incurred in maintaining sufficient inventory to meet anticipated demand, and costs associated with the monitoring of price changes, changing marked prices, and training of employees to comply with the rule. 14. COOLING-OFF PERIOD FOR DOOR-TO-DOOR SALES

Legal Authority: 15 USC 41 et seq Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 429

Abstract: The rule states that sellers of consumer goods or services with a purchase price of $25.00 or more who sell away from their place of business must furnish to the buyer certain information regarding the buyer's right to cancel sales within three business days and must give the buyer a full refund of any down payment upon the buyer's cancellation. The rule requires a seller to furnish the buyer with a complete receipt or copy of a contract, along with a notice informing the buyer of the right to cancel the transaction, to furnish the buyer with a completed Notice of Cancellation. The rule is intended to benefit consumers by permitting them to reflect on their purchase and the terms of any contract, to compare the purchase with offerings of other sellers, and to ascertain the accuracy of any representations made. The resulting costs to sellers include the costs associated with cancellation (processing cancelled orders, returning downpayments, retrieving delivered goods, and returning traded-in merchandise) and the additional cost of printing the required cancellation notices. Since the rule affects all door-to-door sellers, it may have a significant economic effect on a (cont)

15. MAIL ORDER MERCHANDISE

Legal Authority: 15 USC 41 et seq Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 435

Abstract: The Commission's rule concerning mail order merchandise was promulgated on October 22, 1975. The rule requires mail order sellers to possess a reasonable basis for any claims made concerning shipping date or, in the absence of any specifically stated date, to ship the ordered merchandise within thirty (30) days of receipt of an order. In the event of delays in shipment, the rule establishes notification procedures whereby buyers have the option either to agree to the delay or to cancel the order and receive a prompt refund. The Commission's rule is designed to address a number of significant consumer problems described on the record of the rulemaking proceeding, including failure to deliver ordered merchandise, unexplained delays in delivery, failure to make prompt (or any) refunds upon cancellation of an order, and inability to obtain responses to inquiries about pending orders. The rule enables consumers to obtain ordered merchandise within a reasonable time period or, if delays occur, to cancel the order and obtain a prompt refund, so that losses due to undelivered merchandise, delays, and inadequate or nonexistent refunds can be avoided. Pursuant to Sec. 610 of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, the Commission is undertaking a review of this rule to determine whether the rule has had a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities and, if so, whether the rule should be amended to minimize any such impact. The rule applies to all members of the mail order industry, including small firms. In addition, the staff is considering whether the rule should be amended to cover orders placed by telephone or other electronic means.

Priority: Task Force

Legal Authority: 15 USC 18a Clayton Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 801; 16 CFR 802; 16 CFR 803; 16 CFR 803, Appendix

Abstract: The Premerger Notification Rules and the Antitrust Improvements Act Notification and Report Form were adopted pursuant to Section 7A of the Clayton Act. Section 7A requires firms of a certain size contemplating mergers or acquisitions of a specified size to file notification with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and the Department of Justice (DOJ) and to wait a designated period before consummating the transaction. It also requires the FTC, with the concurrence of the Assistant Attorney General for Antitrust, to promulgate rules requiring that notification be in a form and contain information necessary to enable the FTC and DOJ to determine whether the proposed acquisition may, if consummated, violate the antitrust laws. Review of these rules and the Form focuses on reducing the paperwork burden imposed on the business community. On July 29, 1981, the Commission proposed several changes in the current premerger rules (46 Fed. Reg. 38710). These proposed changes, with some modification, were adopted in July 1983. On July 2, 1982, the Commission requested comments on several approaches to reduce further the burden imposed by the premerger rules and the Form. The staff (cont)

Legal Authority: 15 USC 45 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 57(a) Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 419.1

Abstract: The Commission's trade regulation rule concerning games of chance became effective on October 17, 1969. The rule establishes requirements for food and gasoline retailers in conducting and advertising games of chance by requiring disclosure of odds-of-winning and prize information in broadcast and print advertisements, as well as in point of sale information. During January, 1983, the Commission granted a temporary partial exemption to allow supermarkets and gas stations to advertise their games on radio and television without disclosing full information on prizes and odds-of-winning. In addition, the Commission also published an advance notice of proposed rulemaking on whether to make the broadcast exemption permanent. Finally, the Commission has proposed to reduce the recordkeeping requirements of the rule from three years to one year in keeping with the goals of the Paperwork Reduction Act, and requests public comment on other possible areas where amendments to the rule may be appropriate. The rule benefits consumers by allowing contestants to enter games of chance with full knowledge of all material information to enable equal competition for (cont)

18. FRANCHISING AND BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

Legal Authority: 15 USC 41 et seq Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 436

Abstract: The franchise trade regulation rule was adopted in response to evidence of deceptive and unfair practices in connection with the sale of the types of businesses covered by the rule. In some instances prospective franchisees lack a ready means of obtaining essential and reliable information about their proposed business investment. This lack of information reduces the ability of prospective franchisees either to make an informed investment decision or otherwise verify the representations of the business' salespersons. The rule attempts to deal with these problems by requiring franchisors and franchise brokers to furnish prospective franchisees with information about the franchisor, the franchise business and the terms of the franchise agreement. Franchisors and franchise brokers must furnish additional information if they have made any claim about actual or potential earnings, either to the prospective franchisee or in the media. All disclosures must be made (i) before any sale is made and (ii) by means of disclosure documents whose form and content are set forth in the rule. The rule requires disclosure of (cont)

19. RULES FOR USING ENERGY COST AND CONSUMPTION INFORMATION USED IN LABELING AND ADVERTISING OF CONSUMER APPLIANCES UNDER THE ENERGY POLICY AND CONSERVATION ACT

Legal Authority: 42 USC 6294 National Energy Conservation Policy Act; PL 94-163 Energy Policy and Conservation Act, Sec 324, 1975

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 305

Abstract: The Energy Policy and Conservation Act (EPCA) required the Commission to consider labeling rules for the disclosure of energy information, based on standard test procedures prescribed by the Department of Energy, for at least 13 categories of major household appliances. The Commission adopted a labeling rule for seven appliance categories: (1) refrigerators and refrigerator- freezers; (2) freezers; (3) dishwashers; (4) clothes washers; (5) water heaters; (6) room air conditioners; and (7) furnaces. The Commission exempted five other categories of appliances. Following DOE's adoption of final test procedures for central air conditioners (and heat pumps), the Commission initiated a rulemaking to consider including these products. The Commission is also considering including two new types of furnaces in the rule's current coverage of furnaces.

The rule mandates that specific energy costs or efficiency information for covered products be disclosed in catalogs and on a label (fact sheets are required for furnaces). The label must include a highlighted energy cost or efficiency disclosure, a range indicating the highest and lowest energy costs or (cont)

The primary purpose of the rule is to permit consumers to compare the energy usage of competing appliances and to weigh that information along with other product features.

Since the Commission's rule implements the statutory directives in EPCA, most of the costs imposed on industry members may not be attributable to the rule. The rule applies mainly to manufacturers of household appliances, but does impose some burdens on distributors and retailers. Some of these entities may be small businesses pursuant to Section 610 of the Regulatory Flexibility Act; therefore, the Commission will initiate a review of the rule during FY 1984 to determine whether the rule has had a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities and, if so, whether the rule should be amended.

20. LABELING AND ADVERTISING OF HOME INSULATION RULE

Legal Authority: 15 USC 45 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 57(a) Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 460

Abstract: The Commission's home insulation trade regulation rule became effective on September 29, 1980. In summary, the major provisions of the rule: (1) prescribe standardized test methods for determining the R-values, or effectiveness, of home insulation materials; (2) mandate prepurchase point-of-sale disclosures of R-values and related information to consumers on labels and fact sheets; (3) require installers and new home sellers to disclose to consumers information about the insulation installed; (4) require disclosure of R-values or related information in advertisements which make specific claims about home insulation products; and (5) require substantiation and qualifying disclosures in advertisements which make energy savings claims about home insulation products. The rule is designed to enable consumers to evaluate and compare the thermal performance characteristics of these materials, and to ensure that promotional claims for home insulation products will be fair and nondeceptive. The disclosure requirements of the rule may benefit smaller manufacturers and other sellers, whose insulation products often compare favorably on an R-value basis with (cont)

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 451, (New)

Abstract: On July 27, 1984, the Commission voted not to promulgate a rule that would have required certain warnings contained on the labeling of nonprescription antacids also to appear in the advertising for such products. The now-terminated proceeding explored and the Commission considered various alternatives, including no warnings, a general warning (which referred generally to the existence of risk and directed consumers to the label), various specific warnings (which specifically disclosed the existence of particular risk), and various combinations of general and specific warning. In deciding not to promulgate any rule, the Commission determined that the record evidence did not indicate that the potential benefits of any rule outweighed the potential cost.

Priority: Major

Legal Authority: 15 USC 45 Federal Trade Commission Act; 15 USC 57(a) Federal Trade Commission Act

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 444, (New)

Abstract: The Commission has promulgated a rule that will restrict certain remedies used by lenders and retail installment sellers in consumer credit contracts. Remedies addressed by the rule include: confessions of judgment; waivers of state property exemption; wage assignments; blanket security interests in household goods; late charges; and cosignors. Benefits from the proposed rule may include: reducing excessively large late fees; prevention of invasion of privacy or injury to the employment relationship; and improving consumers' legal defenses. The cost to consumers of the rule may potentially take two forms: increases in the price of consumer credit (i.e., interest rates) and reduction in availability of credit to certain consumers. All of the alternatives that were considered along with an analysis of their costs and benefits, are set forth in the Regulatory Analysis and Statement of Basis and Purpose at 49 FR 7740 to 7790. A petition for review of this rule has been filed in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. The effective date of the rule is March 1, 1985.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 68b(d) Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939; 15 USC 68d Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939

CFR Citation: 16 CFR 300

Abstract: The Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939 was enacted on October 14, 1940; the Act and the Commission's accompanying regulations became effective on July 15, 1941. The Act requires all wool products to bear a label showing the percentage of wool, recycled wool, and non-wool fibers contained in the product and the name of the manufacturer or other distributor. The Act prohibits the misbranding of wool products and is administered by the Commission, whose regulations establish the manner and format in which the information required by the Act is to be disclosed. The Act and accompanying rules are designed to protect producers, manufacturers, distributors and consumers from the unrevealed presence of substitutes and mixtures of fibers in manufactured wool products. Consumers are able to make more informed decisions and to avoid unwanted or unnecessary items. Since each manufacturer must accurately label its product, competition based on content is enhanced. Since the Commission's rules primarily implement statutory directives, most of the costs imposed on affected industry members are not attributable to the rules. Abstract: The Fur Products Labeling Act was enacted on August 8, 1951; the Act and the Commission's accompanying rules became effective on August 9, 1952. The Act and rules contain requirements for the labeling, invoicing, and advertising of fur products. The Act requires fur products to be labeled with the name of the animal which produced the fur; whether the furs are natural, dyed or otherwise artificially colored; and certain other characteristics of the fur product used. To ascertain compliance with the Act, fur products marketers must maintain records for each product sold. The Act prohibits the misbranding, false and deceptive invoicing, and false and deceptive advertising of fur products. It requires that animal names used conform to the Fur Products Name Guide established by the Commission, which is charged with administering the Act. The Act requires each household textile product to bear a label containing the percentage of each fiber contained in the product, the name of the manufacturer or distributor, and the country of origin if the product was manufactured principally in a foreign country. The Act prohibits misbranding and false advertising of the fiber content of textile products and requires that the appropriate generic name be used for all fibers. Generic names and definitions for manufactured fibers are established by the Commission, which is charged with administering the Act. The Act and accompanying rules are designed to protect producers and consumers from being deceived by misbranding and false advertising of the fiber content of textile products. [Ex Parte No. 420 (Sub-No. 7)]

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

AGENCY: Interstate Commerce Commission.

ACTION: Notice of semiannual regulatory agenda to be part of a Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to OMB Bulletin No. 84-16, issued under section 6(b) of E.O. 12291 to implement the provisions of section 5 of the Executive Order concerning Regulatory Agendas, the Commission is publishing an agenda of (1) current and projected rulemakings, and (2) existing regulations being reviewed to determine whether to propose modifications through rulemaking. Listed below are the regulatory actions to be developed or reviewed during the next 12 months. Following each rule identified is a brief description of the rule including its purpose and legal basis.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: A contact person is identified for each of the rules listed below.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Two lists of proceedings appear below. The first contains information about subject areas in which the Commission is currently conducting rulemaking proceedings or may institute such proceedings in the near future. The second contains information about existing regulations being reviewed to determine whether to propose modifications through rulemaking.

The agenda identifies regulations likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of "small entities." Accordingly, this information will satisfy the requirements of section 602 of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 602.

Finally, this agenda will comprise part of a Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations compiled by the Office of Management and Budget which is to be published in a single issue of the Federal Register in October 1984. The purpose of the Unified Agenda is to provide the public with more comprehensive documentation of the Federal government's current regulatory plans, and to provide a systematic means of monitoring regulatory activity in each agency.

This notice is issued pursuant to 49 U.S.C. 10321 and 5 U.S.C. 553.

Decided: August 20, 1984.

By the Commission, Chairman Taylor, Vice Chairman Andre, Commissioners Sterrett and Gradison. Chairman Taylor was absent and did not participate.

Kathleen M. King,

Acting Secretary.

COSTING METHODOLOGIES FOR THE NORTHEAST CORRIDOR; COMMUTER SERVICE

Legal Authority: PL 97-35, Sec 1163(a) Northeast Rail Service Act of 1981

Abstract: These rules establish an appropriate costing methodology for compensating Amtrak for the use of its trackage in the Northeast Corridor and other areas by commuter rail passenger and freight services. It is based on an avoidable costing methodology concept. Amtrak is treated as the dominant user and the other users of its properties as the minority users; this is for purposes of assigning joint costs. This proceeding is a continuing matter under the Northeast Rail Services Act of 1981; as such, completion dates are not pertinent.

REASONABLY EXPECTED COSTS

Legal Authority: 49 USC 10705a(b)(2) Staggers Rail Act of 1980

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 1129

Abstract: A railroad may impose a surcharge on traffic originating or terminating on certain light density lines. These surcharges may be applied without Commission interference unless the surcharge increases the carrier's share of joint-line revenues above 110 percent of variable cost plus 100 percent of the carrier's reasonably expected costs of continuing to operate the line itself; i.e., its on-branch costs. These rules establish the methodology for determining "reasonably expected costs." It will benefit the public by permitting shippers a mechanism to monitor and determine the appropriateness of a light density line surcharge. This proceeding is "open" pursuant to the Staggers Rail Act of 1980 and therefore, completion dates are not appropriate.

STANDARDS FOR DETERMINING RAIL SERVICE CONTINUATION

Legal Authority: 45 USC 715(d)(6) Regional Rail Reorganization Act of 1973; 49 USC 10362(b)(6) RR Revitalization & Reg. Reform Act of 1976

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 1125

Abstract: The standards define the terms "revenue attributable to the rail properties," the "avoidable costs of providing service," a "reasonable return on the value," and a "reasonable management fee." When a railroad receives Commission approval to abandon a portion of rail property because it is a burden on interstate commerce, a financially responsible person may offer an operating subsidy (i.e., a rail service continuation payment) to keep the rail line in operation. The standards establish a formula for calculating the estimated first year subsidy payment; the formula utilizes the terms defined above. This standard benefits the public by facilitating the continuation of essential freight service that would otherwise cease; it further provides a mechanism adequately compensating a carrier for the service provided. This proceeding is a continuing matter by statute based upon the Regional Rail Reorganization Act of 1973, modified by the Railroad Revitalization & Regulatory Reform Act of 1976; therefore, completion dates are inappropriate.

STANDARDS FOR DETERMINING COMMUTER RAIL SERVICE CONTINUATION SUBSIDIES AND EMERGENCY OPERATING PAYMENTS

Legal Authority: 45 USC 715 Regional Rail Reorganization Act of 1973; 49 USC 10362(b)(5); PL 94-210 RR Revitalization & Reg. Reform Act of 1976

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 1127

Abstract: These standards establish a methodology by which a subsidy amount may be calculated. This subsidy would be offered by a financially responsible party (usually a state agency or commuter authority) to a railroad to fund the deficits incurred in providing rail passenger commuter service in the Northeast. These standards benefit the public by facilitating the continuation of essential rail passenger service and providing a mechanism for adequately compensating a carrier for the service provided. Abstract: The Commission is proposing a maximum rail rate policy applicable to captive coal traffic. Under the proposed "constrained market pricing" approach, rail carriers' pricing of market dominant coal traffic would be subject to four upward constraints. First, a coal shipper could not be charged more than the "stand-alone cost" of serving its traffic. Second, captive shippers would not be required to bear the cost of obvious management inefficiencies. Third, carriers which have adequate revenues, as we have defined them, would not be permitted to increase their rates on captive coal traffic. Finally, carriers would generally not be permitted to increase their rates on captive coal traffic by more than 15 percent in a single year (after allowing for inflation).

RAIL GENERAL EXEMPTION AUTHORITY - MISCELLANEOUS PROCESSED AND MANUFACTURED COMMODITIES

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 49 USC 10505

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 1039

Abstract: 49 USC 10505 requires that the Commission exempt from regulation the movement by rail of traffic for which it finds continued regulation no longer necessary to serve the Nation's transportation policy objectives and to protect shippers from abuse of market power by the railroads. In examining the transportation characteristics and markets of various commodities moving by rail, there appear to be many products for which sufficient competition exists among transportation alternatives so that regulation may no longer be necessary. Exemption of such commodities should provide increased rate and service flexibility for railroads to meet shippers' needs and to compete more effectively for the subject traffic. Anticipated benefits include lower rates and improved service, at a possible "cost" of increased price instability and competition to alternative transport firms.

EXEMPTION OF TRANSACTIONS UNDER 49 U.S.C. 11343, EX PARTE NO. 55 (SUB-NO. 57)

Legal Authority: 49 USC 10321; 49 USC 10926; 49 USC 11343(c); 5 USC 553

CFR Citation: 49 CFR 1002; 49 CFR 1181; 49 CFR 1182; 49 CFR 1183; 49 CFR 1186

Abstract: This rulemaking proposes to exempt, on a class basis, all motor property finance transactions subject to regulation under 49 U.S.C. 11343(a)(1)-(5). The rulemaking proposes to establish procedural rules for processing transactions subject to the class exemption. Included in the proposal are motor carrier mergers and consolidations, the acquisition of control of a carrier by another carrier, or the sale of motor carrier operating authority. The proposal, if adopted, will substantially reduce the administrative burden of filing an application for approval to consummate any of the transactions covered by 49 U.S.C. 11343(a)(1)-(5), and thus carriers will be encouraged to enter into transactions which lower their costs and improve their operating efficiency. No potential costs are anticipated. If adopted, the proposal will also enable small motor carriers of property to use the procedural rules established in the class exemption to obtain approval for transactions subject to 49 U.S.C. 10926, such as the acquisition of motor carrier operating authority by a noncarrier. Action on this proposal will affect Ex Parte No. 155 (RIN 3120-AA27).

Semiannual Agenda of Regulations

AGENCY: National Credit Union Administration (NCUA).

ACTION: Semiannual Agenda of Regulations.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to its ongoing policy of reviewing regulations, NCUA is publishing a list of current and projected rulemaking, reviews of existing regulations, and completed actions as of August 13, 1984. NCUA is also including this Agenda in the "Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations."

DATE: This information is current as of August 13, 1984.

ADDRESS: National Credit Union Administration, 1776 G Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20456.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: On a particular regulation, contact the person named in the listing for that regulation at the above address.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The purpose of this Agenda is to enable the credit union community and the public to track regulatory development and review at NCUA and to enable interested parties to more effectively participate in that process. The Agenda is divided into three parts describing, respectively, (1) current rulemaking proceedings and regulatory reviews, (2) projected rulemaking and reviews and (3) actions completed since the last Agenda.

The Agenda is published pursuant to the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.) and NCUA's statement of policy concerning development and review of regulations (IRPS 81-4, 46 FR 2948).

NCUA will voluntarily include this Agenda in the Office of Management and Budget's next publication of its "Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations." The NCUA Board believes that participation in this joint publication will further the public interest by including NCUA in a single source of information concerning current and projected rulemaking and reviews of existing regulations.

Approved by the NCUA Board this 14th day of August, 1984.

Rosemary Brady,

Secretary of the NCUA Board.

3. CORPORATE CENTRAL FEDERAL CREDIT UNIONS

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1761; 12 USC 1766; 12 USC 1789

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 704

Abstract: These regulations set forth operational requirements particular to corporate central Federal credit unions, including special reserve requirements, management requirements, and annual audit requirements. Passage of the Garn-St Germain Depository Institutions Act of 1982 requires updating of this rule. Corporate central issues, such as chartering guidelines, bylaws, and operational programs, have been reviewed independent of this rule.

8. MERGERS OF CREDIT UNIONS, DIVISION OF ASSETS, LIABILITIES, AND CAPITAL

Legal Authority: 12 USC 1766 to 1789

CFR Citation: 12 CFR 708; 12 CFR 709

Abstract: These regulations set forth procedural requirements for a credit union to merge with another credit union. The regulations also prescribe procedures to enable members of a Federal credit union who are in a separately identifiable group to undertake an equitable division of their assets, liabilities and capital and to charter a new Federal credit union. The regulations will be reviewed to determine whether mandatory requirements are necessary or whether the subject may be covered in a manual.

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

10 CFR Ch. I

Regulatory Agenda

AGENCY: Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

ACTION: Semiannual publication of NRC Regulatory Agenda.

SUMMARY: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) is publishing its semiannual Regulatory Agenda in accordance with Pub. L. 96-354, "the Regulatory Flexibility Act," and Executive Order 12291, "Executive Regulations." The Agenda is a compilation of all rules on which the NRC has recently completed action or has proposed, or is considering action. This issuance updates any action occurring on rules since publication of the last semiannual Agenda on April 19, 1984 (49 FR 16693).

ADDRESSES: Comments on any rule in the Agenda may be sent to the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Branch. Comments may also be hand delivered to Room 1131, 1717 H Street, NW, Washington, DC between 8:15 a.m. and 5:15 p.m. Comments received on rules for which the comment period has closed will be considered if it is practical to do so, but assurance of consideration cannot be given except as to comments received on or before the closure dates specified in the Agenda.

The Agenda and any comments received on any rule listed in the Agenda are available for public inspection, and copying at a cost of seven cents per page, at the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street, NW, Washington, DC 20555. Single copies of the NRC Quarterly Agenda can be purchased from the NRC/GPO Sales Program, Division of Technical Information and Document Control, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20555 at a cost of $6.00 each or $16.00 for an annual subscription.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For further information concerning NRC rulemaking procedures or the status of any rule listed in this Agenda, contact John D. Philips, Chief, Rules and Procedures Branch, Division of Rules and Records, Office of Administration, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20555, Telephone (301) 492-7086. Persons outside the Washington, DC metropolitan area may call toll-free: (800) 368-5642. For further information on the substantive content of any rule listed in the Agenda, contact the individual listed under the heading "Agency Contact" for that rule.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The NRC is publishing its semiannual Regulatory Agenda. Although publication of the Agenda is only required semiannually in April and October, the NRC has chosen to update and publish its Agenda each quarter. However, the information contained in this semiannual publication is updated to reflect any action which has occurred on rules since publication of the last NRC semiannual Agenda on April 19, 1984 (49 FR 16693).

Organization of the Agenda

Rules in this Agenda are divided into two main categories, Action Completed Rules and Current and Projected Rulemakings. Rules in the Action Completed category include all rules which have been finally promulgated or withdrawn since publication of the last semiannual Agenda.

Current and projected rulemakings are those rules currently under development. This category is subdivided into three sections. Section I includes all rules which have been published in the Federal Register as proposed rules. Section II includes all rules which have been published in the Federal Register as advance notices of proposed rulemaking. Section III includes all unpublished rules on which the NRC expects to take action.

Within each category and section, the rules are ordered from lowest to highest 10 CFR part, and when more than one rule appears under the same part, the rules are arranged within the part according to the date of most recent publication. If a rule contains changes to more than one 10 CFR part, the rule is listed under the lowest affected part.

The information in this Agenda has been updated through September 30, 1984. The date included under the heading "timetable," for next scheduled action is considered tentative and is not binding on the Commission or its staff. This Regulatory Agenda is intended to provide increased notice and opportunity for public participation in the NRC rulemaking process. The NRC may, however, consider or act on any rulemaking even if it is not included in the Regulatory Agenda.

The NRC Agenda lists 111 rulemaking actions. Of these, no rulemaking items are considered to be priority or major as defined in section 1(b) of Executive Order 12291. In the Action Completed category there are 14 completed actions. In the Current and Projected rulemaking category: Section I contains 38 proposed rulemakings; Section II contains 13 advance notices of proposed rulemakings; and Section III contains 46 unpublished rulemakings. Seven rules potentially will have a "significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities" as defined in the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

Dated at Bethesda, Maryland this 6th day of September, 1984.

For the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

J. M. Felton,

Director, Division of Rules and Records, Office of Administration.

PROPOSED RULES

1. PROCEDURES INVOLVING THE EQUAL ACCESS TO JUSTICE ACT: IMPLEMENTATION

Legal Authority: 5 USC 504

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 1; 10 CFR 2

Abstract: The proposed rule provides new provisions intended to implement the Equal Access to Justice Act (EAJA). The provisions would provide for the payment of fees and expenses to certain eligible individuals and businesses that prevail in adjudications with the agency when the agency's position is determined not to have been substantially justified. The basis for these proposed regulations is a set of model rules issued by the Administrative Conference of the United States (ACUS) that have been modified to conform to NRC's established rules of practice. The proposed rule would further the EAJA's intent by insuring the development of government-wide "uniform" agency regulations and by providing NRC procedures and requirements for the filing and disposition of EAJA applications. A final draft rule was sent to the Commission in June 1982, but Commission action has been suspended pending a decision by the Comptroller General on the availability of funds to pay awards to intervenor parties. The decision from the Comptroller General has been rendered and is currently being analyzed.

2. LICENSING AND REGULATORY POLICY AND PROCEDURES FOR ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION; ALTERNATIVE SITE REVIEWS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 4332; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 2; 10 CFR 50; 10 CFR 51

Abstract: The proposed rule would provide procedures and performance criteria for reviewing alternative sites for nuclear power plants under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA). The proposal is intended to stabilize alternative site reviews of a license application by codification of the lessons learned in past and recent reviews of nuclear power plant sites into an environmentally sensitive rule. The proposed rule would focus on six major issues associated with alternative site selection: (1) information requirements, (2) timing, (3) region of interest, (4) selection of candidate sites, (5) comparison of the proposed site with alternative sites, and (6) reopening of the alternative site decision. The proposed rule would develop understandable, written NRC review and decision-making criteria that provide necessary protection of important environmental qualities while reasonably restricting the consideration of alternatives to permit a rational and timely decision concerning the sufficiency of the alternative site analysis. Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: After considering the comments on the proposed rule, the Commission published a final rule on May 28, 1981 (46 FR 28630). That final rule addressed the sixth issue, reopening the alternative site question after a favorable decision at construction permit or early site review stages insofar as it relates to operating license proceedings. Finalization of other portions of the proposed rule has been deferred until completion of a comprehensive review of radionuclide source terms from reactor accidents.

3. POSSIBLE AMENDMENTS TO "IMMEDIATE EFFECTIVENESS" RULES

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 2; 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The proposed rule indicates that the Commission is considering five alternative amendments to the "immediate effectiveness" rule for construction permit proceedings. Under the original "immediate effectiveness" rule (36 FR 828, January 19, 1971) construction of a nuclear power plant could begin on the basis of an initial decision by the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board (ASLB) even though that decision was subject to further review by the Commission. The Commission is concerned that the rule often prevented it from reviewing a case until construction was well underway and that this might have (1) allowed commitment of large sums of money to altering sites before a final decision was made on site-related issues and (2) promoted piecemeal review rather than promoting early resolution of all licensing issues to be considered. Present rules provide for limited review of ASLB decisions by the Atomic Safety and Licensing Appeal Board (ASLAB) and the Commission prior to issuance of construction permits. This proposed rule would help to determine whether NRC should return to the former "immediate effectiveness" rule or adopt one of the following alternatives:(1) require the ASLAB (cont)

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: to make a separate ruling on the question of effectiveness, or (2) require final ASLAB and Commission decisions on the merits of certain construction-related issues prior to authorizing issuances of the construction permit; (3) require final ASLAB and Commission decisions on the merits of all issues prior to authorizing issuances of the construction permit; and, return to the former "immediate effectiveness" rule, but relax the standards for obtaining a stay of the ASLAB decisions. The rule "Regulatory Reform of the Rules of Practice and Rules for Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities" proposed by the Regulatory Reform Task Force will determine which of the alternatives proposed in this rule will become effective.

4. MODIFICATIONS TO THE NRC HEARING PROCESS (LIMITED INTERROGATORIES AND FACTUAL BASIS FOR CONTENTIONS)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2239

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 2

Abstract: The proposed rule would expedite conduct of NRC adjudicatory proceedings by requiring intervenors in formal NRC hearings to set forth the facts on which contentions are based and the sources or documents used to establish those facts and limit the number of interrogatories that a party may file in an NRC proceeding. The proposed rule would expedite the hearing process by, among other things, requiring intervenors to set forth at the outset the facts upon which their contention is based and the supporting documentation to give other parties early notice of intervenor's case so as to afford opportunity for early dismissal of contentions where there is no factual dispute. The content of this rule is being considered as part of the regulatory reform rulemaking package. The Commission decided in November 1983 to seek public comment on the package. The package proposals were published in the Federal Register on April 12, 1984.

5. COMMISSION REVIEW PROCEDURES FOR POWER REACTOR CONSTRUCTION PERMITS; IMMEDIATE EFFECTIVENESS RULE

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 2

Abstract: The proposed rule would amend the immediate effectiveness rule with regard to rules of practice for granting a power reactor construction permit to conform to those for granting an operating license. It (1) would retain the requirement that the Commission conduct a limited review of an Atomic Safety and Licensing Board's decision to grant a construction permit pending completion of administrative appeals and (2) would delete the requirement that an Atomic Safety and Licensing Appeal Board conduct a similar review. The proposed rule would not affect the separate Appeal Board and Commission appellate reviews of the merits of Licensing Board decisions. It would reduce somewhat the time required for administrative review of construction permit decisions while retaining direct Commission oversight prior to permit issuance.

The comment period closed November 24, 1982. Nine comments were received. Half of the comments favored the proposed rule while half opposed it. This proposed rule does not preclude further action on five alternatives for amending the "Immediate effectiveness" rule presented in an earlier notice on (cont)

6. HYBRID HEARING PROCEDURES FOR EXPANSIONS OF ONSITE SPENT FUEL STORAGE CAPACITY AT CIVILIAN NUCLEAR POWER REACTORS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 2239

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 2; 10 CFR 72

Abstract: The proposed rule contains two options for implementing the hybrid hearing process in Section 134 of the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982. That section sets forth a hybrid hearing process for certain contested proceedings on applications for a license or a license amendment to expand the spent nuclear fuel storage capacity at the site of a civilian nuclear power reactor. Either version of the proposed rule would provide for an oral argument in the early stage of the hearing process and would designate only genuine and substantial issues for resolution in an adjudicatory hearing. Option 1 would add a new Subpart K to Part 2. Subpart K would require the use of hybrid procedures in all proceedings to which section 134 applies. It would also change the initial stages of the existing hearing process by allowing a person whose interest is affected to participate as a party and to obtain discovery without the need to plead contentions. Option 2 would permit the use of hybrid procedures at the request of any party to the proceeding. It would be implemented by means of an alternative form of summary disposition under a new Sec. 2.749a. (cont)

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: In all other respects, the existing Part 2 procedures would apply. The Commission is seeking comments on both proposals to aid in its choice of procedures for the final rule.

The hybrid hearing procedures are intended to simplify and expedite the licensing process for spent fuel storage facility expansions and transshipments. The proposed rule is needed to permit full realization of those statutory purposes. Because section 134 applies by its terms to applications filed after January 7, 1983, a final rule should be developed as soon as practicable. There are no alternatives to rulemaking that would meet the statutory objectives. The rule will simplify and expedite the hearing process resulting in less costly and shorter hearings for license applicants, intervenors, the NRC staff, and the Licensing Boards. Members of the public who seek to participate in NRC licensing proceedings will have an opportunity to request an oral argument but will be required to make a stronger showing of need in order to require that an adjudicatory hearing be held.

7. ● ELIMINATION OF REVIEW OF FINANCIAL QUALIFICATIONS OF ELECTRIC UTILITIES IN OPERATING LICENSE REVIEWS AND HEARINGS FOR NUCLEAR POWER PLANTS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 2231; 42 USC 2241; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 2; 10 CFR 50

Abstract: In response to a remand by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) proposed a rule that would eliminate financial qualifications review and findings for electric utilities that are applying for operating licenses for utilization facilities if the utility is a regulated public utility or is authorized to set its own rates. This proposed rule would not affect financial qualification review of a medical utilization, research and development, or a testing facility. The NRC is seeking comment on an alternative proposal that would eliminate financial qualification reviews for all NRC license or permit applicants.

8. EXCEPTIONS TO NOTICE AND COMMENT RULEMAKING PROCEDURES

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 2231; 42 USC 2241; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 2

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend the Commission's rules of practice by revising NRC procedures contained in Sections 2.804 and 2.805 to clarify the Commission's use of the exceptions to notice and comment rulemaking contained in the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553(b)). Exception to notice and comment rulemaking may be applied (1) to interpretive rules, general statements of policy, or rules of agency organization, procedure, or practice (5 U.S.C. 553(b)(A)) or (2) when the agency for good cause finds that notice and comment are impracticable, unnecessary, or contrary to the public interest (5 U.S.C. 553(b)(B)). This clarification is necessary in light of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia decision in Union of Concerned Scientists v. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, No. 82-2000 (D.C. Cir. June 30, 1983) which vacated a Commission rulemaking on the Environmental Qualification of electrical equipment. The court held that by making the rule immediately effective, instead of providing for notice and comment, the NRC had among other things, violated 10 CFR 2.804 of the Commission regulations which the Court read as a requirement for notice and comment in all (cont)

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: Commission rulemakings. The proposed rule will provide explicitly for Commission discretion to invoke, in appropriate situation the APA exceptions to notice and comment rulemakings cited above. There are no satisfactory alternatives to this proposed clarification. 9. NONDISCRIMINATION ON BASIS OF AGE IN FEDERALLY ASSISTED COMMISSION PROGRAMS

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 4

Abstract: The proposed rule would implement the provisions of the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, as amended. The proposed amendment makes it unlawful for any recipient of Federal financial assistance to discriminate on the basis of age in programs or activities receiving Federal financial assistance from the NRC. The Act also contains certain exceptions that permit, under limited circumstances, continued use of age distinctions or factors other than age that may have a disproportionate effect on the basis of age. The Act applies to persons of all ages. The proposed rule is necessary to comply with the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, which directs that all Federal agencies empowered to provide Federal financial assistance issue rules, regulations, and directives consistent with standards and procedures established by the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS). NRC's proposed and final regulations have been modeled after those HHS guidelines as published in 45 CFR 90. (cont)

10. † PRODUCTION OR DISCLOSURE IN RESPONSE TO SUBPOENAS OR DEMANDS OF COURTS OR OTHER AUTHORITIES

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 9

Abstract: The proposed rule would add Subpart D to 10 CFR Part 9 to prescribe procedures with respect to the production of documents or disclosure of information in response to subpoenas or demands of courts or other judicial or quasi-judicial authorities in state and Federal proceedings. The proposed rule would clarify the procedures to be followed by Commission employees in responding to demands for testimony, information, or documents and would ensure that the responsibility for determining the response to the demands is placed on the appropriate Commission official.

11. CHANGES IN RADIATION DOSE-LIMITING STANDARDS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2111; 42 USC 2201

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 19; 10 CFR 20

Abstract: The proposed rule was published because of the desire of the Commission to reduce the risks of occupational radiation doses in Commission-licensed activities, the Commission's continuing systematic assessment of exposure patterns, and new recommendations of the International Commission on Radiological Protection for controlling radiation dose. In preparing the proposed rule, the Commission has also taken into account recently published interpretations of epidemiological data and associated recommendations for lower dose standards as well as petitions for rulemaking to lower dose standards, PRM-20-6 and PRM-20-6A. The proposed rule would eliminate the accumulated dose averaging formula and the associated Form NRC-4, Exposure History, and impose annual dose-limiting standards while retaining quarterly standards. In addition to the imposition of annual dose-limiting standards, the proposed rule contains provisions that would express, in terms of new annual standards, the standard for dose to minors, the requirement for control of total dose to all workers, including transient and moonlighting workers. Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: The changes contained in the proposed rule are intended to benefit workers by increasing radiation protection for them and to encourage some NRC licensees to take further action to reduce occupational radiation doses. The content of this rule will be incorporated into the comprehensive revision of Part 20 to be issued as a proposed rule in October 1984.

12. AUTHORITY FOR THE COPYING OF RECORDS AND RETENTION PERIODS FOR SECURITY RECORDS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2073; 42 USC 2207

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 19; 10 CFR 21; 10 CFR 30; 10 CFR 40; 10 CFR 50; 10 CFR 70; 10 CFR 71; 10 CFR 73; 10 CFR 110

Abstract: The proposed rule would define more clearly the authority of an NRC inspector to copy and take away a licensee record that is needed for inspection and enforcement activities. It also would specify the period that a licensee physical security record must be maintained and codify guidelines for record retention periods. Because this action is only a clarification of an existing authority, and any copies to be made will be made at Commission expense, the impact is expected to be minimal. For that portion of the rule which codifies licensee practice for retention of physical security records, retention periods have been reduced in some instances, resulting in a savings of approximately $11,000 per year to the licensee.

13. REPORTS OF THEFT OR LOSS OF LICENSED MATERIAL

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2073

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 20

Abstract: The proposed rule would remove a discretionary clause that requires each NRC licensee to report a loss or theft of licensed material only when it appears to the licensee that the loss or theft would pose a substantial hazard to persons in an unrestricted area. The proposed rule would provide increased radiological safety to the public by requiring that all losses or thefts of licensed material be reported to the NRC if the loss exceeds the minimum quantity specified in the regulations.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2021; 42 USC 2073; 42 USC 2077; 42 USC 2111; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 30; 10 CFR 32; 10 CFR 70; 10 CFR 150

Abstract: The proposed rule would exempt from licensing and regulatory requirements technetium-99 and low-enriched uranium as residual contamination in any smelted alloy. The proposed rule would remove the Commission's present specific licensing requirement that has the effect of inhibiting trade in and recycling of metal scrap contaminated with small amounts of these radioactive materials. This requirement also prevents recycling by the secondary metals industry of smelted alloys containing these two radioactive materials. The NRC issued the proposed rule in response to a Department of Energy request. The rulemaking is currently being held in abeyance while an environmental statement evaluating the proposed recycle is being prepared.

15. PATIENT DOSAGE MEASUREMENT

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2111; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 35

Abstract: In order to ensure the safe use of radiopharmaceuticals, the proposed rule would require that the activity of each radiopharmaceutical dosage be measured before it is administered to a patient. This is not an urgent rulemaking action because the measurements are currently required by a condition included in each medical license. The only way to impose a requirement on all medical licensees is by license condition or regulation; therefore, no alternative action was considered. The proposed rule will require licensees to measure each dosage and make a record of each measurement. Because the requirement is currently imposed by license condition, there will be no cost savings or additional burden; the industry and NRC will benefit by having a clear, concise requirement in the regulation. The proposed rule is being incorporated into a proposed revision of 10 CFR Part 35, "Human Uses of Byproduct Material". NRC resources and scheduling are noted there.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 40; 10 CFR 70; 10 CFR 73; 10 CFR 110

Abstract: The NRC is amending its regulations in order to implement the provisions of the Convention on the Physical Protection of Nuclear Material. Since NRC is responding to implementing legislation enacted by Congress and signed by the President, no alternatives were considered. The proposed amendments would require (1) the physical protection of transient shipments of special nuclear material of moderate and low strategic significance and irradiated reactor fuel, (2) advance notification to NRC concerning the export of Convention-defined nuclear materials, and (3) advance notification and assurance of protection to NRC concerning the importation of Convention- defined nuclear materials from countries that are not parties to the Convention, and (4) advance notification and assurance of protection concerning transient shipments of Convention-defined nuclear material shipped between countries that are not party to the Convention. The adoption of the proposed amendments would result in improved security for Convention-defined nuclear material during international transport. (cont)

17. URANIUM MILL TAILINGS REGULATIONS: GROUND WATER PROTECTION AND OTHER ISSUES

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841; 42 USC 7901 Note

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 40

Abstract: The advance notice of proposed rulemaking seeks comment on NRC's tentative approach to making further amendments to its uranium mill tailings regulations. The contemplated rulemaking proceeding is intended to incorporate groundwater provisions and other requirements established by the Environmental Protection Agency for similar hazardous wastes into NRC regulations. This action is necessary to make NRC regulations consistent with EPA standards as required by the Uranium Mill Tailings Radiation Control Act. No alternatives to this action need to be considered. Comments on the ANPRM will help define the nature and scope of the action. EPA has estimated that compliance with their groundwater standards and with the stability, radon release, and other requirements recently promulgated will cost the industry from about $310 million to $540 million for all tailings generated by the year 2000. The range depends on the eventual cost of groundwater protection for future tailings. The EPA regulations are binding on NRC licensees in the interim. NRC resources and schedules are still being developed.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2133; 42 USC 2134; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 2232; 42 USC 2233

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The proposed rule would establish general criteria for designing fuel reprocessing plants in order to provide reasonable assurance that fuel reprocessing plants can be operated without undue risk to the health and safety of the public. The general criteria contain the minimum requirements that an applicant must use in the selection of principal design criteria for a fuel reprocessing plant. The principal criteria would establish design, fabrication, construction, testing, and performance requirements for structures, systems, and components important to the safety of the facility. This proposed rule was indefinitely deferred in 1975 by action of the Commission. The staff is planning to issue a notice of withdrawal for this proposed rulemaking.

20. TECHNICAL SPECIFICATIONS FOR NUCLEAR POWER REACTORS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The proposed rule would amend current regulations pertaining to technical specifications for nuclear power reactors. Specifically, the proposed rule would (1) establish a standard for deciding which items derived from the safety analysis report must be incorporated into technical specifications, (2) modify the definitions of categories of technical specifications to focus more directly on reactor operations, (3) define a new category of requirements that would be of lesser immediate significance to safety than technical specifications, and (4) establish appropriate conditions that must be met by licensees to make changes to the requirements in the new category without prior NRC approval.

The changes are needed because of disagreement among parties to proceedings as to what items should be included in technical specifications, and concern that the substantial growth in the volume of technical specifications may be diverting the attention of licensees from matters most important to the safe operation of the plant. The proposed rule would improve the safety of nuclear power plant operation by reducing the volume of technical specifications, place (cont)

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50; 10 CFR 70; 10 CFR 73

Abstract: When the Commission approved the set of final physical protection requirements for fuel cycle facilities possessing formula quantities (five formula kilograms or more) of strategic special nuclear material (SSNM), they exempted nonpower reactors from these requirements, and, instead specified a set of interim requirements. At that time the staff was directed to develop a set of permanent physical protection requirements for this class of nonpower reactors. This rulemaking is needed to replace the current interim regulations and establish permanent physical security requirements for nonpower reactor licensees who possess a nonexempt formula quantity of SSNM, to provide protection against insiders and to arrange for a response by local law enforcement or other agencies in time to prevent a theft of a formula quantity. The staff is using a performance-oriented regulatory approach which would give affected licensees flexibility in designing cost-effective measures for implementing the requirements of the final rule by allowing licensees to take advantage of existing facility design features. Not more than three facilities are expected to have to implement these (cont)

22. NOTICE AND COMMENT ON, PROCEDURES FOR STATE CONSULTATION ON, AND STANDARDS FOR MAKING DETERMINATIONS ABOUT WHETHER LICENSE AMENDMENTS INVOLVE NO SIGNIFICANT HAZARDS CONSIDERATIONS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; PL 97-415

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 2; 10 CFR 50

Abstract: Two interim final rules implement PL 97-415 specifying criteria for notice and public comment on, procedures for State consultation on, and standards for making determinations about whether amendments to operating licenses for certain facilities involve no significant hazards considerations. In addition, the rules specify procedures for consultation on these determinations with the State in which the facility of the licensee requesting the amendment is located. The rules permit the Commission to act expeditiously if circumstances surrounding a request for amendment require a prompt response and to issue an amendment before holding any required hearing, unless a significant hazards consideration is involved. The interim final rules were published on April 6, 1983 (48 FR 14868). A final rule will be issued by December 31, 1984.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2236; 42 USC 2282; 42 USC 5851

Abstract: The proposed rule would require 10 CFR Part 50 licensees, permittees, and applicants to ensure that procurement documents they issue or modify, specify that contractors and subcontractors post a notice to employees related to employee protection. The required notice would contain information notifying employees that an employer is prohibited from discriminating against an employee engaging in protected activities and that an employee may seek a remedy for prohibited discrimination by filing a complaint with the Department of Labor. The proposed amendment would affect licensees, permittees, applicants, and their contractors and subcontractors who are contractually responsible for construction of basic components or production and utilization facilities.

Abstract: The proposed amendment to Part 50 would provide procedures to be followed by nuclear reactor operating licensees to ensure the continued safe management of spent fuel beyond the expiration date of the reactor operating license. It would require licensees to submit plans concerning how spent fuel at these sites will be managed to NRC for review and approval five years before their operating licenses expire. The proposed amendment to Part 51 addresses the environmental aspects of extended spent fuel storage past the expiration date of reactor operating licenses; licensing for storage at the reactor site; or storage at an independent spent fuel storage installation.

Abstract: The proposed rule, to be published in response to a ruling by the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, would delete from NRC regulations a June 30, 1982, deadline for environmental qualification of safety-related electrical equipment imposed upon certain nuclear power plant licensees by previous Commission order. The Commission seeks to obtain public comment on the issue of whether, as a generic matter, the justifications for continued operation now on file are adequate to support deletion of the June 30, 1982, deadline for the affected nuclear power plants.

Abstract: The proposed rule would require licensees to establish and implement controls to provide reasonable assurance that persons with unescorted and escorted access to vital areas of nuclear power plants are fit for duty. The Commission initiated the rule in response to concern by members of the public that nuclear power plant personnel, like airline pilots, should not be permitted to perform activities that could degrade the public health and safety while unfit for duty as a result of actions such as the consumption of alcoholic beverages. The result of the proposed rule would be the further protection of the public health and safety by requiring persons with unescorted or escorted access to vital areas of nuclear power plants to be fit for duty.

29. PRESSURIZED THERMAL SHOCK

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2133; 42 USC 2134; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The proposed rule would codify the NRC staff's recommended near-term actions for protection against pressurized thermal shock (PTS) events. Specifically, the provisions of the proposed rule would establish screening criteria for axial and circumferential welds; require licensees with operating plants to submit data concerning their reactor vessels to the NRC staff for review; require certain licensees to submit an analysis and schedule for implementation of flux-reduction programs; and require certain licensees with operating pressurized water reactors (PWRs) to submit a PTS safety analysis to the NRC staff for review. The issue of pressurized thermal shock arises because in PWRs, transients and accidents can occur that result in severe overcooling (thermal shock) of the reactor pressure vessel concurrent with, or followed by, repressurization. In these PTS events, rapid cooling of the reactor vessel internal surface results in thermal stress with a maximum tensile stress at the inside surface of the vessel. The provisions of the proposed rule would apply only to PWRs. The major considered alternative to the proposed rule was taking no action.(cont)

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: With the possible exception of a few plants where large flux reduction options may be initiated in the near future, the only significant costs will be future analysis costs for those few plants that are expected to approach the screening RT-NDT limit. A value-impact analysis will be prepared for those plants after receipt of the plant specific analysis and the resulting determination of the particular corrective regulatory action necessary and expedient for the plant. It is anticipated that the value of such identified corrective actions will be large in comparison to the relatively low cost of performing the analyses necessary to identify those actions, and therefore the presently proposed rule is justified.

30. EXPLANATION TO TABLE S-3 URANIUM FUEL CYCLE ENVIRONMENTAL DATA

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2011; 42 USC 4321

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 51

Abstract: The proposed rule provides a narrative explanation of the numerical values established in Table S-3, "Table of Uranium Fuel Cycle Environmental Data," that appears in the Commission's environmental protection regulations. The proposed rule describes the basis for the values contained in Table S-3, the significance of the uranium fuel cycle data in the table, and the conditions governing the use of the table. The narrative explanation also addresses important fuel cycle impacts (e.g., environmental dose commitments, health effects, socioeconomic impacts) and the cumulative impacts of the nuclear fuel cycle for the whole nuclear power industry so that it may be possible to consider these impacts generically rather than repeatedly in individual licensing proceedings. The proposed rule was published for public review and comment in 1981 (46 FR 15154, March 4, 1981) but the final rulemaking was deferred pending the outcome of a suit (Natural Resources Defense Council, et al. v. NRC, No. 74-1486) in the U.S. Court of Appeals. The U.S. Court of Appeals (D.C. Circuit) decision on April 27,1982 invalidated the entire Table S-3 rule. 31. CRITERIA AND PROCEDURES FOR DETERMINING THE ADEQUACY OF AVAILABLE SPENT NUCLEAR FUEL STORAGE CAPACITY

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2011; 42 USC 2092; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 4332; 42 USC 5801; 42 USC 5841; 42 USC 5847; 42 USC 10152; 42 USC 10155

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 53

Abstract: The proposed rule would implement procedures and criteria that the NRC would use to determine whether a person owning and operating a civilian nuclear power plant would be able to store the spent nuclear fuel generated at the plant. This determination is necessary before the Secretary of the Department of Energy may enter into a contractual arrangement with the owner of the plant to provide interim Federal storage for limited amounts of spent fuel that the owner is unable to store. The proposed rule is necessary to meet NRC responsibilities under the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5842; 42 USC 10141

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 60

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) is considering amending its rules on the disposal of high-level radioactive wastes (HLW) in geologic repositories so that the technical criteria for geologic disposal in the saturated zone may be equally applicable to disposal within the unsaturated zone. The amendments are being proposed in response to public comments on the proposed technical criteria for geologic disposal in the saturated zone. Final technical criteria adopted by the Commission for disposal of HLW in the saturated zone were published in the Federal Register on June 21, 1983 (48 FR 28194).

33. MATERIAL CONTROL AND ACCOUNTING REQUIREMENTS FOR FACILITIES POSSESSING FORMULA QUANTITIES OF STRATEGIC SPECIAL NUCLEAR MATERIAL

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 70

Abstract: The proposed rulemaking would replace existing material control and accounting (MC&A) requirements for fuel cycle facilities, including reprocessing plants, that are authorized to possess and use formula quantities of strategic special nuclear material (SSNM). It would establish a performance-oriented regulation that emphasizes timely detection of formula quantity SSNM losses and provides for more conclusive resolution of discrepancies than is currently achievable. Experience with existing regulations has demonstrated weaknesses in the area of alarm resolution principally because of a lack of timely detection of anomalies and poor loss localization capabilities. The rulemaking would alleviate these liabilities by requiring tests on a more timely basis on small plant subdivisions. An alternative to rulemaking would be to implement the concepts through license amendments for the four involved licensees; however, such an action would be inconsistent with the Administrative Procedures Act and the direction provided in NRC's Policy and Program Guidance document. The protection of the public health and safety will be enhanced through earlier detection and more prompt resolution of (cont)

34. MATERIAL CONTROL AND ACCOUNTING REQUIREMENTS FOR LOW ENRICHED URANIUM FUEL CYCLE FACILITIES

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 70

Abstract: Under currently applicable regulations, material control and accounting (MC&A) requirements for low enriched uranium (LEU) and strategic special nuclear material (SSNM) differ very little. However, both NRC-sponsored and independent studies have concluded that safeguards risks associated with LEU are far less significant than risks associated with SSNM. Current requirements do not sufficiently reflect this fact. The objective of this rule is to eliminate unnecessarily burdensome regulatory requirements. Because of the generic application of this action, it should be accomplished through rulemaking rather than through individual license conditions. This rulemaking action will establish more cost effective MC&A requirements for LEU and reduce these requirements to a level commensurate with the material's low safeguards significance.

Although MC&A requirements for LEU will be reduced by this rulemaking, the public will not be affected since the new requirements provide appropriate protection for the public health and safety consistent with the low strategic significance of the material. The total estimated savings for the industry is

35. MODIFICATION OF PROTECTION REQUIREMENTS FOR SPENT FUEL SHIPMENTS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 73

Abstract: The rule would moderate the present interim requirements for the protection of shipments of irradiated reactor fuel cooled for 150 days or more. Recent research shows that the quantity of radioactive material that would be released as a result of successful sabotage is much smaller than was supposed at the time that the interim rule was issued. The alternatives considered were: (1) let the current interim requirements continue in force; (2) moderate the current requirements; and (3) eliminate all interim requirements. The alternative of moderating the requirements was selected. The moderated requirements would provide for (1) shipments to be accompanied by an unarmed escort, who may be driver or carrier employee and may have other duties, (2) on-board communications, and (3) immobilization capability for trucked shipments. Present interim requirements will continue to be effective for shipments of irradiated reactor fuel cooled less than 150 days. The benefit of the proposed rule would be the elimination of unnecessarily strict requirements which presently apply to spent fuel shipments. (cont)

36. SEARCHES OF INDIVIDUALS AT POWER REACTOR FACILITIES (PART OF INSIDER PACKAGE)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 73

Abstract: The proposed rule would revise the search requirements for individuals entering the protected area of nuclear power plants. Under the proposed requirements, all persons would be subject to equipment searches for firearms, explosives and incendiary devices. Physical searches would be required only when search equipment is not working properly or when the licensee suspects that an individual is attempting to carry into the plant prohibited devices or material. Random searches were considered as an alternative, but were deemed to be possibly disruptive. Since licensees already possess the necessary equipment, this rule will affect only licensee procedures at negligible additional cost.

Since requirements for searches have been in effect for some time, and modifications to those requirements are needed, alternatives to this rulemaking such as revised guidance would be inappropriate in that they would not carry the force of a regulation. (cont)

37. MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS CONCERNING PHYSICAL PROTECTION OF NUCLEAR POWER PLANTS (PART OF INSIDER RULE PACKAGE)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2101; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 73

Abstract: The proposed rule would require in Nuclear Power Plants (1) the designation of vital areas (to allow vital islands), (2) access controls to vital islands, (3) the protection of certain physical security equipment, (4) revised requirements for key and lock controls, and (5) revised searches of hand-carried items at protected area entry points. The requirements will clarify policy in these areas and reduce unnecessary burden on the industry while maintaining plant protection. This rule is a revision of the proposed rule entitled "Access Controls to Nuclear Power Plant Vital Areas." Initial development of a final rule produced significant changes, particularly the criteria for personnel access controls to vital areas, resulting in the need to publish a revised proposed rule. This proposed rule and the other components of the insider rule package were reviewed by the NRC Safety/Safeguards Review Committee which considered a number of alternative approaches to vital island configurations and provided recommendations that are reflected in the proposed rule. CFR Citation: 10 CFR 110

Abstract: The proposed rule would simplify licensing requirements for the export of nuclear equipment and material that does not have significance from a nuclear proliferation perspective by expanding or establishing general licenses for nuclear reactor components, gram quantities of special nuclear material, and certain kinds of source or byproduct material. The general licenses would ease current licensing restrictions by removing the requirement to obtain a specific export or import license for certain material and equipment. The proposed general licenses include a policy of facilitating nuclear cooperation with countries sharing U.S. non-proliferation goals. The proposed rule would increase international commerce and reduce the regulatory burden on the public and the NRC without increasing the risk to public health and safety or the common defense and security. The proposed rule would reduce NRC's minor case licensing workload by about 75%. The information collection burden would be reduced approximately 35% annually for licensees affected by this proposed rule. Abstract: This proposed rule would amend thirty-three sections of two parts affecting the hearing process associated with the issuance of licenses. In the screening process, the most significant changes would (1) establish a screening Atomic Safety and Licensing Board (ASLB) to act as a clearing house for all requests for hearings, petitions for leave to intervene, and proposed contentions, (2) require a participant in a hearing to show that he or she has an interest to protect in the proceeding, and (3) require evidence of a factual dispute for a contention to be admitted. During the conduct of hearings, the most significant changes would (1) not hear discovery requests requiring the staff to support positions other than its own, (2) permit the ASLB to decide the case on the basis of written material, (3) permit the ASLB to appoint a panel of technical experts if needed, (4) allow presiding officers to raise issues on their own motion (sua sponte) only in unusual cases, (5) allow summary disposition motions to be filed at any stage of the proceeding, (6) allow the Commission to designate a hearing examiner in lieu of a three-member ASLB, and (7) require the filing of cross examination plans. The proposals, submitted by the Commission's Regulatory Reform Task Force, represent suggestions for improving the reactor licensing process. The Commission is seeking public comment on the proposals before deciding whether it should consider adopting any or all of them. Although they are in the form of proposed rules, the proposals may change in light of the comments received. 40. RULES OF PRACTICE FOR DOMESTIC LICENSING PROCEEDINGS: ROLE OF NRC STAFF IN ADJUDICATORY LICENSING HEARINGS

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 2

Abstract: The Commission is considering amending its Rules of Practice concerning what role the NRC staff should have in adjudicatory licensing hearings to most effectively contribute to the protection of the public health and safety. This notice invites public comments and suggestions on four options and related questions, briefly described below. Option 1 would limit staff participation in contested initial licensing proceedings to only those controverted factual issues it disagrees with on a technical basis or rationale. This option is similar to the proposal of a Part 2 unpublished rule (3150-AB08), "Participation of the NRC Staff in Initial Licensing Proceedings," published in NRC's October-December 1983 agenda. Option 2 would require the NRC staff to supply the Commission and the Licensing Board with its views and analyses on every substantive issue raised in an initial licensing proceeding but would prohibit the staff's participation in any procedural matter. Option 3 would retain status quo, i.e., the NRC staff would participate as full party on all issues. Option 4 would expand public involvement in the prehearing stage of initial licensing proceedings, and (cont)

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: this option could be used in conjunction with any of the first three options. The staff would subsequently address each substantive issue raised in the Safety Evaluation Report.

The ANPR seeks to address what role is appropriate for the NRC staff in adjudicatory licensing proceedings, taking into account such factors as the staff's obligation to protect the public health and safety, the effective use of staff resources, and public perception of the staff's role. It is one of the reforms suggested by the Commission's Regulatory Reform Task Force, which the Commission has indicated should receive expedited treatment. Alternatives to rulemaking could include a policy statement or no action, depending on the option chosen. The possible means of addressing this issue through rulemaking are discussed above. The effects of the rulemaking, including benefits and costs, will depend on the option chosen. NRC resources needed for this rulemaking are estimated at 500 staff hours.

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 20

Abstract: The advance notice of proposed rulemaking seeks comments on a proposal to completely revise NRC's standards for protection against radiation (Part 20). This regulation applies to all NRC licensees and establishes standards for protection against radiation hazards under licenses issued by the NRC. Incorporated into the Part 20 revision is a proposed rule previously published under the title "Procedures for Picking Up, Receiving, and Opening Packages," which will broaden the requirements for monitoring packages used to transport radioactive material and thus provide increased radiological protection for transportation workers and the general public. The proposed revision reflects a comprehensive and systematic review of Part 20 and incorporates current standards for radiation protection into the revised regulation.

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 20

Abstract: The notice of proposed rulemaking seeks comment on a proposal to add amendments to 10 CFR Part 20 that would improve the accuracy and consistency of reported occupational radiation dose measurement by requiring proficiency tests of dosimetry processors who perform dosimetry for NRC licensees. The proposed amendments would require NRC licensees to have personnel dosimeters (devices carried or worn by each radiation worker to measure radiation exposure received during work) processed by a dosimetry service that is accredited by NBS/NVLAP. The Commission considered five alternatives for establishing a regulatory program intended to improve personnel dosimetry processing. These alternatives included: no change in current requirements; requiring licensees to participate in performance testing without specifying a testing laboratory; requiring licensees to participate in performance testing conducted by an NRC-specified testing laboratory; a request from Congress for the authority for NRC to license personnel dosimetry processors directly; and requiring licensees to obtain dosimetry services from an NRC-operated or contracted dosimetry service. Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: An evaluation of estimated annual costs to the dosimetry processing industry resulting from an NRC rule requiring licensees to utilize dosimetry processors accredited under an NBS/NVLAP program was projected to be about $717,000. This would result in an estimated net annual increase in the cost of providing monitoring for each worker per year of $0.51, a 2.1% annual increase. The major benefit of the proposed rule would be increased accuracy and reliability of dose measurement to workers in licensed installations. Other benefits include continued assurance of personnel dosimeter processor competence with minimal NRC staff and resource allocation; formulation of a program that can easily be utilized by other agencies; value to the industrial licensee through legal credibility of a nationally-recognized accreditation program; and value to the worker through more accurate assignment of dose. Abstract: The advance notice of proposed rulemaking sought comment on a proposal to develop a more explicit policy for decommissioning nuclear facilities. The proposal would provide more specific guidance on decommissioning criteria for production and utilization facility licensees and byproduct, source, and special nuclear material licenses. This action is intended to protect public health and safety and to provide the applicant or licensee with appropriate regulatory guidance for implementing and accomplishing nuclear facility decommissioning. Although it is planned to provide additional guidance through regulatory guides, it is necessary to amend the regulations in order to achieve appropriate assurances of funds for decommissioning. The major cost impact of the proposed rule would involve proper planning at all stages of nuclear facility operation. Proper planning includes providing for (1) financial assurance that funding will be available for decommissioning, (2) maintenance of records that could affect decommissioning, and (3) careful planning of procedures at the time of decommissioning. Abstract: The advance notice of proposed rulemaking would require all individuals who use byproduct material in the conduct of industrial radiography to be certified by a third party. Radiography licensees account for over 60 percent of the reported overexposures greater than five rems to the whole body. NRC regulations permit industrial radiographers to perform radiography independently. The NRC grants radiography licensees the authority to train and designate individuals competent to act as radiographers. The advance notice of proposed rulemaking seeks comment on a proposal that would enable NRC to verify the effectiveness of this training, thereby assuring that all radiographers possess adequate training and experience to operate radiographic equipment safely.

Abstract: The advance notice of proposed rulemaking seeks comment on several questions concerning the acceptance criteria for Emergency Core Cooling Systems (ECCS) in light-water-cooled nuclear power plants. Specifically, some of the questions to be commented on are (1) under what circumstances should corrections to ECCS models be used during licensing reviews without necessitating complete reanalysis of a given plant or an entire group of plants; (2) what would be the impact of the proposed procedure-oriented and certain specific technical rule changes; and (3) how should safety margins be quantified. The Commission is considering changing certain technical and nontechnical requirements within the existing ECCS rule. The technical changes would include consideration of new research information. The nontechnical changes would be procedure-oriented and would, among other things, allow for corrections to be made to vendor ECCS analysis codes during the construction review and during construction of the plant. 47. SEVERE ACCIDENT DESIGN CRITERIA

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The advance notice of proposed rulemaking was published to provide the nuclear industry and the public an opportunity to submit advice and recommendations to the Commission on what should be the content of a regulation requiring improvements to cope with degraded core cooling and with accidents not covered adequately by traditional design envelopes. The rulemaking proceeding will address the objectives of such a regulation, the design and operational improvements being considered, the effect on other safety considerations, and the costs of the design improvements compared to expected benefits. It is the Commission's intent to determine what changes, if any, in reactor plant designs and safety analysis are needed to take into account reactor accidents beyond those considered in the current design basis accident approach. Accidents under consideration include a range of loss-of-core-cooling, core damage, and core-melt events, both inside and outside historical design envelopes.

48. DESIGN AND OTHER CHANGES IN NUCLEAR POWER PLANT FACILITIES AFTER ISSUANCE OF CONSTRUCTION PERMIT

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The advance notice of proposed rulemaking was published to seek comments on a proposal that would make the procedure for facility licensing more predictable by (1) defining more clearly the limitations on what changes a construction permit holder may make to a facility during construction and (2) controlling the ways a construction permit holder implements NRC criteria. The proposal is intended to improve the present licensing process and to develop specific descriptions of essential facility features to which a construction permit holder is bound.Existing and proposed improvements in the NRC's regulations and licensing procedures for nuclear power plants in the post-construction permit stage combined with cancellations and indefinite postponements of nuclear power plants have eliminated the need to continue this specific rulemaking proceeding.

49. MANDATORY PROPERTY INSURANCE FOR DECONTAMINATION OF NUCLEAR FACILITIES

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: An advance notice of proposed rulemaking requested comments on the Long Report (NUREG-0891) entitled "Nuclear Property Insurance: Status and Outlook," in order to determine the adequacy of the NRC's property insurance requirements. This report, prepared by Dr. John D. Long, Professor of Insurance at Indiana University, was written as an outgrowth of the Three Mile Island-2 accident after it became apparent that nuclear utilities may need more property insurance than has previously been required. Based on comments responding to the advance notice, the staff prepared SECY-82-211, which forwarded a final rule entitled "Changes in Property Insurance Requirements for NRC Licensed Nuclear Power Plants" for the Commission's approval. The Commission did not accept certain recommendations made by the staff in the SECY paper, but instead directed the staff to increase the amount of insurance required and to evaluate the legal issues of Federal preemption of state prohibitions against utilities buying certain types of insurance and of a decontamination priority. A newly written proposed rule was submitted to the Commission July 28, 1984.

50. MODIFICATION OF THE POLICY AND REGULATORY PRACTICE GOVERNING THE SITING OF NUCLEAR POWER REACTORS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2133; 42 USC 2134; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 2232; 42 USC 5842

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50; 10 CFR 51; 10 CFR 100

Abstract: The advance notice of proposed rulemaking was published to seek comment on a proposal that would replace the existing reactor site criteria applicable to the licensing of nuclear power reactors with demographic and other siting criteria. The proposed rule would establish siting requirements that are independent of design differences between nuclear power plants. The proposed rule is intended to reflect the experience gained by the Commission since the original regulations on siting were published on April 12, 1962 (27 FR 3509). The proposed rule would ensure that Commission practices on nuclear power reactor siting afford sufficient protection to the public health and safety. The ANPRM also sought public comment on seven of the nine recommendations contained in NUREG-0625, "Report of the Siting Policy Task Force." Development of this rule has been deferred pending a two-year-evaluation program of NRC safety goals and a comprehensive reassessment of the new radioactive source term.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2133; 42 USC 2134; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 2232; 42 USC 5842

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 100

Abstract: The advance notice of proposed rulemaking was published to solicit public comment on the need for a reassessment of the Commission's criteria for the siting of nuclear power plants. The Commission determined that this action was necessary as a result of experience gained with application of current criteria and the rapid advancement in the state of the art of earth sciences. The NRC staff was particularly interested in finding out about problems that have arisen in the application of existing siting criteria. The public was invited to state the nature of the problems encountered and describe them in detail. The public was also asked to submit proposed corrective actions. Two petitions for rulemaking filed with the Commission, PRM-50-20 and PRM-100-2 will be addressed as part of this rulemaking.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 2231; 42 USC 2241; 42 USC 5841; 5 USC 552

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 0; 10 CFR 1; 10 CFR 2; 10 CFR 9; 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is proposing an amendment that would revise its procedural rules governing the conduct of all adjudicatory proceedings, with the exception of export licensing proceedings. The proposed rule would comprehensively restate current practice, retitle the hearing office, and revise and reorganize the Commission's procedural rules. The changes set out in this proposed rule are intended to enable the Commission to render decisions in a more timely fashion and reduce the burden and expense to the parties participating in the proceedings.

The amendments clarify the board's authority to decide issues related to a license application for the receipt of cold fuel at a reactor site prior to issuance of an operating license.

54. SEPARATION OF FUNCTIONS AND EX PARTE COMMUNICATIONS IN ON-THE-RECORD ADJUDICATIONS

Legal Authority: 5 USC 554; 5 USC 557

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 2

Abstract: The proposed rule would amend the Commission's rules of practice regarding the separation of functions and ex-parte communications in on-the-record adjudications. The proposed rule would allow the Commission greater flexibility in communicating with its staff by relaxing the restrictions on Commission-staff communications in initial licensing cases. The proposal would permit Commissioners to consult with staff members who were not personally involved in the proceeding and who did not consult privately with interested persons outside the agency. The proposed rule is intended to provide the Commission with better access to the expertise of its staff. It would replace the two options suggested by the Regulatory Reform Task Force. It would also supersede a prior proposed rule entitled "Ex Parte Communications and Separation of Adjudicatory and Non-Adjudicatory Functions" published in the Federal Register on March 7, 1979 (44 FR 12428). This issue is one that the Commission has indicated should receive high priority. NRC resources needed for this rulemaking are estimated at 500 staff hours.

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The ANPRM seeks public comment on a number of broad policy questions regarding the establishment of specific procedures for the long term management of the Commission's process for the imposition of new regulatory requirements for power reactors. This process, commonly referred to as "backfitting", includes both plant-specific and generic changes that are proposed for one or more classes of power reactors. The Commission intends, as the outcome of the proceeding, to replace its existing regulation (10 CFR 50.109) with a new rule.

Abstract: The proposed rule would implement the provisions of Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, as amended, that prohibit discrimination on the basis of sex in programs and activities receiving Federal financial assistance from the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. The proposed rule sets out the requirements necessary to comply with the legislation and the procedures to be followed by appropriate officials within the NRC in enforcing the requirements. 58. RETENTION PERIODS FOR RECORDS

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 4; 10 CFR 11; 10 CFR 21; 10 CFR 25; 10 CFR 30; 10 CFR 31; 10 CFR 32; 10 CFR 34; 10 CFR 35; 10 CFR 40; 10 CFR 50; 10 CFR 60; 10 CFR 61; 10 CFR 70; 10 CFR 71; ...

Abstract: This proposed rule would establish a specific retention period for certain NRC-required records. It would also provide a uniform standard acceptable to the NRC for the condition of a record throughout a specified retention period. Further, the rule would establish throughout NRC regulations, with some exceptions, uniform retention periods of two years, five years, ten years, and the life of a license. This rule would bring NRC regulations into compliance with the Office of Management and Budget's (OMB) regulation (5 CFR 1320.6) that requires a specified retention period for each required record. It also implements NRC's 1982 commitment to OMB to establish a record retention period of determinable length for each required record. Amending twenty parts of NRC regulations to specify clearly what records to retain, how long to retain them, and the condition of a record useful for NRC inspection, will be mutually beneficial to applicants and licensees and to the NRC. Recordkeeping labor for NRC's approximately 6,700 licensees who would be affected by the rule can be divided into four functions: (1) preparing the report, (2) storing the report, (3) maintaining the report (cont) reduced approximately 10 percent annually for these licensees by the proposed rule. An estimated 466,323 hours associated with recordkeeping or $28,000,000 annually would be saved. Preparing and publishing this rule would cost NRC approximately 500 hours of staff time at $60 per hour for an estimated total of $30,000.

59. LOWER RADIATION EXPOSURE LEVELS FOR FERTILE WOMEN

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2111; 42 USC 2201

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 19; 10 CFR 20

Abstract: The proposed rule would incorporate the intent of the recommendation of the National Council on Radiation Protection and Measurements (NCRP) in Report No. 39 that the radiation exposure to an embryo or fetus be minimized. It would help provide assurance that radiation exposures of fertile women and fetuses will be kept well within the numerical dose limits recommended by the NCRP without undue restriction on activities involving radiation and radioactive material. The proposed rule would amend NRC regulations to require licensees to instruct workers regarding health protection problems associated with exposure to radiation and radioactive materials by providing information about biological risks to embryos and fetuses. The proposed rule would also contain a Commission statement that licensees should make particular efforts to keep the radiation exposure of an embryo or fetus to the very lowest practicable level during the entire gestation period as recommended by the NCRP. The issue will be dealt with in the comprehensive revision of Part 20 to be issued as a proposed rule in October 1984.

Abstract: The proposed amendments would revise the requirement for advance notification of waste shipments to provide a more uniform level of hazard at which the report is required. The proposed level of hazard is expected to conform to the level at which the Department of Transportation imposes motor vehicle routing requirements. The proposed amendments would also clarify which of the general licenses in 10 CFR Part 71 require quality assurance programs. The proposed amendments would also adjust the limits for package monitoring on receipt in 10 CFR 20.205 to conform to the new A1/A2 system of Part 71.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 20; 10 CFR 30; 10 CFR 40; 10 CFR 70

Abstract: The proposed rule would establish residual radioactive contamination limits that must be met before buildings, structures, equipment, materials, and lands may be released for use on an unrestricted basis. Licensed facilities with residual levels of radioactive contamination below these limits would be eligible for unrestricted release and termination of the license. The proposed amendments are necessary to provide licensees with quantitative criteria to use in the decommissioning and cleanup of buildings, structures, equipment, materials, and lands used in NRC licensed activities. The proposed rule is intended to ensure that buildings, structures, equipment, materials, and lands used in NRC licensed activities will be decommissioned and decontaminated in a manner that protects public health.

62. PERFORMANCE TESTING OF BIOASSAY LABS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 20

Abstract: The proposed rule would require licensees, who provide bioassay services for individuals to assess internal radiation exposure, to use accredited laboratories after an accreditation program is established. The proposed rule would reduce unacceptable errors in measurements that have been revealed by programs designed to check the accuracy of laboratories that analyze materials for radioactivity. Thus, the accuracy and reliability of determinations of internal radiation exposure or intakes of radioactive material would be improved. An expert, primarily industry-based, committee of the Health Physics Society has written a draft standard. The draft standard has been revised to take into account early comments that the NRC solicited and received from industry. The NRC, in cooperation with the DOE, has established a performance testing study to test the standard, to provide the information necessary to complete the standard, and to design and set up an accreditation program. Results of Phase 1 of the study, involving tests of laboratory accuracy for measuring radioactivity in human excretion samples, have shown that ways must

The majority of persons in the affected industry still appear to favor a rule requiring accreditation (with testing) of laboratories providing radiobioassay services to NRC licensees. However, comments on the proposed rule, as well as further information to be obtained from the NRC-DOE study, will be used to determine the most cost-effective and reasonable manner for improving the measurements needed to determine internal radiation exposures.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 2282; 42 USC 5841; 42 USC 5846

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 21; 10 CFR 50

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend Part 21 and Sec. 50.55(e) of Part 50, both of which require the reporting of safety defects by licensees. This effort was prompted by TMI Action Plan Task II,J. 4 and has as its main objectives: (1) elimination of duplicate reporting among all requirements, (2) consistent reporting among all reporting requirements, (3) establishment of uniform and clear definitions for defects which need to be reported, (4) establishment of uniform time limits within which a defect must be reported and evaluated and, (5) establishment of a uniform format for reporting of defects. Approximately 300 and 5000 reports are issued annually under Part 21 and Sec. 50.55(e) respectively. The reports identify plant specific safety concerns and potential generic safety concerns for further NRC followup. These reports form the basis for numerous NRC bulletins and information notices. This proposed rulemaking will reduce the potential for duplicate reporting and evaluation that now exists and will establish a more coherent regulatory framework that is expected to reduce industry and NRC burden in this area without sacrificing safety effectiveness. Alternatives to this (cont)

Timetable:

Action	Date	FR Cite
NPRM	02/00/85

Small Entity: No

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: approach varied from establishment of a single rule for all reporting to maintaining a Status Quo for defect reporting. All alternatives were rejected since they would not result in any substantial improvement to the present regulatory framework. Current costs of reporting under Part 21 and 50.55(e) are estimated at $5,000,000 annually for industry and $2,600,000 annually for NRC evaluations. It is anticipated that industry reporting burden with the proposed rulemaking will be reduced by 219,750 hours or $2,570,000 while NRC burden should be reduced by 79,800 hours or $876,000. Additional burden to industry and NRC, while minimal, is anticipated in the areas of adherence to time schedules and enforcement, respectively.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2165; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 25; 10 CFR 95

Abstract: The proposed rule would incorporate a recently approved exception to the personnel security background investigation requirement for access to Communications Security (COMSEC) information, provide additional instruction for the processing of access authorization applications for immigrant aliens, and adopt a more flexible stance regarding the suspension of facility security approval for situations not directly endangering the common defense and security. These amendments are necessary to incorporate experience gained under the current regulations and implement an exception to current policy recently approved by the National Communications Security Committee.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2093; 42 USC 2111; 42 USC 2201

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 30; 10 CFR 40

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is currently reevaluating the policy, criteria, and regulations that govern the use of radioactive material in consumer products. This action was taken in order to determine whether a proposed rule was needed to: (1) codify the NRC policy on consumer product approval criteria; (2) review and revise regulations in Part 30 providing exemptions for consumer products; (3) review, revise, and reorganize regulations in Part 40 providing exemptions for consumer products. The NRC has decided to terminate this rulemaking effort because (1) the consumer product approval criteria, although not codified, has been used satisfactorily for nearly 20 years, and (2) consumer product regulations appear, in most cases, to be adequate. However, the need for a proposed rule in this area will be re-considered after one year.

67. FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY OF MATERIALS LICENSEES FOR CLEANUP AFTER ACCIDENTAL AND UNEXPECTED RELEASES

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 30; 10 CFR 40; 10 CFR 61; 10 CFR 70; 10 CFR 72

Abstract: The advance notice of proposed rulemaking (ANPRM) seeks comments on the advisability of having NRC require a mechanism to assure financial capability on the part of certain NRC materials licensees (e.g., fuel fabricators and users of sealed radiation sources) to undertake prompt cleanup of accidental releases or contamination, both on and off site. The cited regulations do not address this responsibility. Estimates for cleanup costs in the recent past have ranged up to $2 million for a single event. To date, cleanup has been conducted by the state or Federal government, but frequently public monies are used only after lengthy delays. Use of an alternative, i.e., the 1980 Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act (CERCLA), is effectively blocked by EPA policy. CERCLA provides funds for cleanup if the owner or operator is unable to do so and if the release is not covered by "Price-Anderson" provisions, which address liability and do not provide funds for cleanup per se. EPA maintains that NRC has full authority to require cleanup of accidental releases by licensees; thus, CERCLA public funds should not be used for this purpose. (cont)

Abstract: The proposed rule would be an editorial revision of the regulations governing the domestic licensing of byproduct material and the exemptions from domestic licensing requirements. The proposed rule would reflect the application of good regulatory drafting practices. The proposed rule would simplify and clarify the format of the present regulations so that persons subject to byproduct material regulations can conveniently use and understand them. From the time of publication of the criteria for the periodic and systematic review of regulations in 10 CFR Chapter I on January 23, 1981 (46 FR 7388), through the present time, the NRC has amended or proposed to amend 10 CFR Parts 30 and 32 to such an extent that the NRC has met the objective of this Agenda entry, i.e., a comprehensive review of the regulations in 10 CFR Parts 30 and 32. Accordingly, there is no longer a need to continue this specific rulemaking proceeding.

69. RADIATION SURVEYS AND IN-HOUSE INSPECTION SYSTEMS IN RADIOGRAPHY

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2111; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 2232; 42 USC 2233; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 34

Abstract: The proposed rule would require that the in-house inspection description in a radiography license application specify a method for inspecting each radiographer and radiographer's assistant's knowledge of applicable regulations, license conditions, and performance of established procedures at intervals not exceeding three months. This action is intended to further ensure that radiographic operations are conducted safely.

The cost of performing the inspection is estimated to be $432,960 per year for the entire industry. There is no impact on the NRC staff. The proposed rule would also require a licensee to perform and record a radiation survey of a radiographic exposure device made when storing the device after use instead of recording the results of the radiation survey made after the last exposure. This action, which is taken in response to petition for rulemaking (PRM-34-3) is intended to provide an acceptable procedure for assuring that the sealed source has been properly stored within the device.

Alternatives to rulemaking were considered including preparation of guidance recommending a time-of-storage survey or Requiring an additional radiation survey at the time of storage provides additional assurance that accidental exposures will not occur to members of the public as well as workers. The cost of this survey requirement to the entire industry is estimated to be $541,200 annually. There are no additional recordkeeping costs. Impact on NRC staff is negligible since inspectors will review the time-of-storage survey record rather than the last use survey record. NRC staff time for processing this rule to final publication is estimated to be 0.4 staff-years.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2111; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 2232; 42 USC 2233

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 35

Abstract: The proposed rule would revise Part 35 to modify the process for licensing and regulating the medical use of radioactive byproduct material. Requirements that apply to medical licensees are scattered in the regulations, license conditions, the individual licensee's application, and licensing branch policy statements. The purpose of the proposed rule is to codify all requirements that apply to one or more medical user groups listed in the regulation. Although not urgent, the staff believes that the proposed rule will result in a clearer understanding of NRC requirements for all medical licensees. The only way to impose requirements on all licensees is by license condition or regulation; therefore no alternative action was considered. The essential elements of the current requirements have been codified in the proposed regulations. Because most of the requirements contained in this proposed regulation are currently imposed by regulation or license condition, there will be no significant cost savings or additional burden; the industry and NRC will benefit by having a clear, concise, complete regulation. 72. LICENSES AND RADIATION SAFETY REQUIREMENTS FOR WELL-LOGGING OPERATIONS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 39

Abstract: The proposed rule would establish specific radiation safety requirements applicable to licensees who perform operations such as well-logging, mineral-logging, radioactive markers, and subsurface use of radioactive materials in tracer studies. The proposed rule is necessary because current NRC regulations address these operations in a general way without providing the specific guidance necessary to ensure that these operations are performed safely. As an alternative to the status quo, the proposed rule would adopt the requirements in the Suggested State Regulations for Control of Radiation Part W as new NRC regulations. The potential costs for industry to implement these requirements would be about $1,000,000/yr. However, because most of the requirement is already imposed by license conditions, the net increase in cost would be about $80,000 per year for the industry or about $500 per licensee. The proposed rule would establish a consistent, comprehensive set of requirements that would minimize the effort required to obtain reciprocity (cont)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 40

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is proposing an amendment that would remove provisions of its regulations that exempt the possession and use of glass enamel and glass enamel frit containing uranium from the licensing requirements applicable to source material. These materials are used as a glaze to produce brightly colored surfaces on consumer products such as cloisonne jewelry. The proposed amendment is necessary to prevent the unnecessary exposure to radiation that might be received by artists who use the materials or by consumers who use products containing the materials. The proposed rule would accomplish this by prohibiting the future domestic manufacture or importation of glass enamel and glass enamel frit containing small amounts of uranium unless specifically approved by the NRC. CFR Citation: 10 CFR 40

Abstract: The proposed rule would revise the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's regulations governing the disposal of uranium mill tailings to conform them to regulations recently published by the Environmental Protection Agency that set standards for protecting the environment from these wastes. The proposed rule would remove inconsistencies between NRC and EPA requirements and incorporate in NRC regulations the stability, radon release, and other provisions of the EPA standard not related to groundwater. This action is necessary to comply with provisions of the Uranium Mill Tailings Radiation Control Act and the NRC Authorization Act for FY 1983; therefore no alternatives to this action need to be considered. EPA has estimated that compliance with their recently published regulations would cost the uranium milling industry from about $310 million to $540 million to dispose of all existing tailings and tailings to be generated by the year 2000. This includes the costs of the groundwater protection provisions which are to be addressed in future NRC rule changes. The EPA regulations are binding on NRC licensees in the interim. 75. EXTENSION OF CRIMINAL PENALTIES

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The proposed rule, in accordance with the provisions of the NRC Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 1980, would extend the application of the criminal penalties provision of the Atomic Energy Act (AEA) of 1954, as amended, to any individual director, officer, or employee of a firm constructing or supplying the components of a nuclear power plant who knowingly and willfully violates any NRC regulation, order, or license condition during construction of a nuclear power plant. Section 223(b) of the AEA essentially directs the Commission to establish a limit for potential unplanned off-site releases of radioactive material which would trigger consideration of possible criminal penalties. As directed in Section 223(b)(3), the proposed rule establishes, in its definition of a "basic component," the limits for potential unplanned releases of radioactive material that could trigger application of criminal penalties.

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The proposed rule would incorporate by reference the Winter 1982 Addenda, 1983 Edition, Summer 1983 Addenda, Winter 1983 Addenda, and the Summer 1984 Addenda of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME) Boiler and Pressure Vessel Code. The ASME Code sets standards for the construction of nuclear power plant components and specifies requirements for inservice inspection of those components. The ASME code requirements for nuclear power plants are set forth in Section III for construction permit holders and Section XI for operating plants. The proposed rule would include the most recent changes made to the ASME Boiler and Pressure Vessel Code and permit the use of improved methods for construction and inservice inspection of nuclear power plants. Incorporating by reference the latest edition and addenda of the ASME Code will establish the NRC staff position on these Code rules on a generic basis, thereby minimizing the need for case-by-case evaluations and reducing the time and effort required for applicant/licensee submittal preparations and staff license reviews.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841; 42 USC 5842

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50; 10 CFR 51

Abstract: In a Federal Register notice published on April 14, 1979 (43 FR 15613) the Commission deleted the radon-222 value from Table S-3 because it was recognized to be underestimated. Table S-3 had not shown a separate estimate for technetium-99, but included it in the category of "Other Fission Products. Pending rulemaking action to provide new estimates for radon-222 and technetium-99 in Table S-3, the environmental effects of these radionuclides are subject to litigation in individual nuclear power plant licensing proceedings. The purpose of the proposed rule would be to deal with this question generically for all nuclear power plants, thus saving the time and cost of repetitive consideration of the effects of radon-222 and technetium-99 in individual nuclear power plant licensing proceedings. The only alternative to generic treatment of the environmental impacts of Rn-222 and Tc-99 is to continue to allow these environmental impacts to be brought into litigation in individual licensing cases. By the proposed rulemaking action, new estimates for the environmental releases of RN-222 and Tc-99 will be added to Table S-3. (cont)

78. GENERAL DESIGN CRITERION ON HUMAN FACTORS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5846

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The proposed rule would establish a new general design criterion on human factors considerations. The specific factors to be addressed include operability, surveillance, maintainability, and human engineering criteria. The revised human factors criterion is necessary because post-TMI reviews and operating experience indicate that the human factors discipline is rarely applied when needed at the design and construction stage. Alternatives to the proposed criterion are described in the Regulatory Analysis and include: (1) continuation of the current ad hoc requirements; (2) modification to specific existing criteria in 10 CFR Part 50, Appendix A; and (3) delaying action until the development of an industry standard and preparing a regulatory guide to document the NRC position.

79. STATION BLACKOUT

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2133; 42 USC 2134; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: NRC is proposing to amend its regulations to require light water nuclear power plants to be capable of withstanding a total loss of alternating current (AC) electrical power to the essential and nonessential switchgear buses called Station Blackout for a specified duration. A proposed regulatory guide, to be issued at the same time as the proposed rule, would provide guidance on how to determine the duration.

The proposed requirements were developed in response to information generated by the Commission's study of Unresolved Safety Issue A-44, Station Blackout. The proposed rule is intended to provide further assurance that a loss of both off-site and emergency on-site electric AC power systems will not adversely affect the public health and safety.

A regulatory analysis has been prepared for the proposed rule. The estimated public risk reduction is 530,000 person-rem over 25 years; the estimated total cost for industry to comply with the proposed rule is $150 million; and the overall value-impact ratio is about 3,900 person-rem per million dollars. (cont)

NPRM	10/00/84

Small Entity: Not Applicable

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: The alternatives to this proposed rulemaking are to take no action or to provide only guidance for plants to be able to cope with a station blackout period. The former alternative would not yield any deduction in public risk from station blackout events. Since there is presently no requirement for nuclear power plants to be able to cope with a total loss of AC power, the guidance in the later alternative would not have any basis in existing regulations. The proposed rule is the recommended alternative based, in part, on the favorable value-impact ratio.

Resources and scheduling requirements to complete development and promulgation of the proposed rule are estimated to be approximately 2.5 professional staff years over the next 18 months.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2133; 42 USC 2134; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The proposed revised rule would update and revise the 1973 criteria for preoperational and periodic pressure testing for leakage of primary and secondary containment boundaries of water-cooled power reactors. Problems have developed in application and interpretation of the existing rule. These result from changes in testing technology, test criteria, and a relevant national standard that needs to be recognized. It is proposed to revise the rule as noted to make it current and improve its usefulness. The benefits anticipated include elimination of inconsistencies and obsolete requirements, and the addition of greater usefulness and a higher confidence in the leak-tight integrity of containment system boundaries under post-loss of coolant accident conditions. The majority of the effort needed by NRC to issue the rule has already been expended. Still remaining are resolution of issues peripheral to, but important to, the rule, presentation of the proposed rule for public comment and integration of appropriate public comments.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50; 10 CFR 73

Abstract: The proposed rule would require nuclear power plant licensees and applicants to establish an access authorization program for individuals requiring unescorted access to the protected and vital areas of nuclear power plants. On March 17, 1977, the NRC published in the Federal Register (42 FR 14880) a proposed rule that would establish an unescorted access authorization program for individuals who have access to or control over special nuclear material (SNM) at both nuclear reactors and fuel cycle facilities. Written comments were invited and received. On December 28, 1977, the NRC published a notice of public hearing (42 FR 64703) on the proposed rulemaking. Subsequently, the NRC established a Hearing Board to gather additional testimony. As a result of information gathered at the public hearing and its own examination of the proposed access authorization program, the Hearing Board recommended publication of a final rule, based on the 1977 proposed rulemaking, for fuel cycle facilities and transportation licensees only. (The final rule was published on November 21, 1980; 45 FR 76968.) The Hearing Board further recommended that a new access authorization program be (cont)

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50; 10 CFR 55

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is proposing to amend its regulations to (1) require each holder of and each applicant for a license to operate a commercial nuclear power plant to establish and use a systems approach in developing training programs and establishing qualifications requirements for civilian nuclear power plant operators, supervisors, technicians, and, appropriate, operating personnel; (2) clarify the regulations for the issuance of licenses to operators and senior operators; (3) revise the requirements and scope of written examinations and operating tests for operators and senior operators; (4) codify procedures for the administration of requalification examinations; and (5) describe the form and content for operator license applications. The proposed rule is necessary to meet NRC responsibilities under Section 306 of the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982. A regulatory analysis was performed which shows a public risk reduction of 268,000 person-rem at a cost of $240.4 million dollars resulting in a value/impact ratio of 1,100 person-rem/$million. However, in view of industry objections, staff will propose inclusion in the rule of the INPO Accreditation Program as the major means of fulfilling the rule requirements. 83. COMMUNICATIONS PROCEDURES AMENDMENTS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend the regulations which establish the procedures for submitting correspondence, reports, applications, or other written communications pertaining to the domestic licensing of production and utilization facilities.

The proposed amendments are expected to resolve confusion regarding submittal procedures and improve the communication process with the affected applicants and licensees.

The proposed amendments would (1) simplify the procedures for making Part 50 submittals to the NRC; (2) facilitate the timely dissemination of Part 50 submittals to NRC staff; (3) reduce postage and copying costs for applicants and licensees by requiring fewer copies of submittals; (4) establish a central NRC receipt point for Part 50 submittals; (5) include the NRC Resident Inspectors in the formal communications; and (6) supersede all outdated submittal directions contained in other sources of submittal guidance, such as Regulatory Guide 10.1 (Revision 4) and NRR Generic Letter 82-14. Although these documents addressed the problem, they did not entirely resolve the confusion. Moreover, subsequent changes in the (cont)

The current regulations also cause unnecessary delays in the dissemination of information to NRC staff. For example, any document submitted to an NRC Regional Office will not usually be disseminated to NRC Headquarters staff until two weeks later.

These problems can be resolved only by amending 10 CFR Part 50, since the current regulations are the source of the problems. The proposed rule is expected to reduce postage and copying costs for licensees and applicants subject to 10 CFR Part 50. An annual savings of $140,000 is estimated. In addition, the NRC is expected to realize a small savings in postage costs. Preparing and publishing this rule would cost NRC approximately 320 hours of staff time at $60 per hour for a total of $19,200.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2133; 42 USC 2134; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 2232; 42 USC 2233; 42 USC 5842; 42 USC 5846

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The proposed rule would require an improvement in the design of light-water-cooled nuclear power plants manufactured by Westinghouse. A specific provision contained in the proposed rule requires the installation of a diverse scram system from sensor output to interruption of power to the control rods. The NRC staff estimates that the proposed scram system would cost all affected licensees and CP holders combined a total of $50 million. The benefit of the proposed action is that the diverse scram system would reduce the likelihood of an accident if the existing reactor protection system fails to shut down the reactor following an anticipated transient. The regulatory analysis for this is contained in SECY-83-293. One alternative to adoption of the proposed rule would be to accept the risk of ATWS after the modifications required by the recently issued final rule (40 FR 26086) are implemented. Another alternative would be to adopt a reliability assurance program as recommended in the preamble of the ATWS final rule. (See 3150-AA19).

85. ● EXPERIENCE REQUIREMENTS FOR SENIOR OPERATORS AT NUCLEAR POWER PLANTS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841; 42 USC 5843; 42 USC 10152; 42 USC 10155; 42 USC 10226

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The NRC is proposing to amend its regulations to require (1) that all applicants for a senior operator's license have been licensed as an operator for at least one year, including 250 hours at the controls of an operating commercial nuclear power plant; and (2) that each shift have at least one senior operator who has served as a licensed senior operator at an operating commercial nuclear power plant for one year. The amendment would promote the protection of the health and safety of the public by improving the capability of the plant staff to detect and respond to unanticipated occurrences under the direction of experienced senior members of the licensed operating crew. The lack of operating experience of members of the shift crew has been found to be a problem at new plants. The proposed rule will ensure consistent and minimum levels of operating experience for all senior licensed operators who are responsible for directing the activities of other members of the shift crew. Implementation of the proposed rule would be required two years after publication of the final rule.

Alternatives to be evaluated as part of the regulatory analysis include (1) the base case, i.e., current experience requirements for senior licensed operators as specified in the H.R. 86. EXTENSION OF CONSTRUCTION COMPLETION DATE

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2235

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The proposed rule would clarify the provision of Section 50.55(b) which describes both the procedure for renewal of a construction permit for a nuclear power plant following its expiration (a showing of "good cause") and the circumstances under which the Commission will consider granting a request for an extension of a construction completion date. The proposed rule would also address two essentially identical petitions for rulemaking filed with the Commission by the State of Illinois (PRM-50-25) and the Porter County Chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America, et al. The petitioners requested that Section 50.55(b) be amended or rescinded, and that the Commission promulgate a regulation which would not limit a "good cause" showing to the reasons why construction was not completed before the latest completion date specified in the construction permit.

87. UPDATE OF TABLE S-4, PART 51

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 4332

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 51

Abstract: Table S-4 helps provide a means for meeting the NEPA requirements for an environmental assessment at the construction permit stage of a new reactor. The technical basis for this table, WASH-1238, was published in 1972. A revised and updated version of WASH-1238 (NUREG/CR-2325) that includes current transportation data and impacts was published in December 1983. In addition, staff calculations are available on the impacts of the higher burnups and increased enrichments currently in use in many reactors. The proposed rule would amend Table S-4 to include the impacts from these two studies and ensure that the table reflects the current environmental impacts. Prior to developing this rule, an Environmental Impact Assessment will be developed to satisfy the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: NRC is proposing to amend its regulations to require that licensees of nuclear power plants have on each shift a senior manager responsible for integrated management of shift operations who holds a bachelor's degree in engineering or a related physical science from an accredited institution, has five years nuclear power operating experience, and holds a senior operator's license. A schedule for implementation of this requirement would have to be submitted within six months of the effective date of the rule. The objective of the new senior manager position is to increase on-shift management involvement for all aspects of plant operations (e.g., maintenance, health physics, chemistry, operation, security). The amendment would promote the protection of the health and safety of the public by (1) increasing management involvement in actual operations and (2) improving the plant operating staff's capabilities to detect an abnormal condition or an unanticipated occurrence and promptly and appropriately respond.

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 60

Abstract: The proposed rule would revise procedures regarding NRC reviews of license applications for disposal of high-level radioactive wastes in geologic repositories. The procedures are being revised principally to conform to the provisions of the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982. Specifically, the proposed rule would clarify that NRC begins its review in this licensing process after DOE provides NRC a site characterization plan and that usual rules of practice apply to licensing of these repositories. It would also provide that the NRC may publish a notice of receipt of a site characterization plan and a notice inviting comments on its analysis of a plan.

Abstract: The NRC is amending its regulations in section 70.53 to require additional information, pertaining to inventory difference (ID) and limit of error in inventory difference (LEID) figures, to be included in the semiannual Material Status Reports. Licensees who will be affected by the proposed regulations are those who are authorized to possess at any one time special nuclear material (SNM) in a quantity exceeding one effective kilogram and operation of a nuclear reactor. In the past, this information has been sent voluntarily in narrative form to the Regional Offices as an attachment to the Material Status Reports. In conjunction with this rulemaking, the form that is used for the Material Status Reports is being updated to allow for the inclusion of the required additional information.

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 71

Abstract: The proposed amended rule would define two classes of LSA materials with specified shipping or packaging requirements. The two classes represent a consolidation of five classes of LSA materials and solid contamination objects (SCO) proposed in draft 1984 regulations of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA). In addition, the proposed rule provides special consideration for the inherent safety associated with the shipment of solid, nonflammable objects which are not dispersible in water. A new requirement of the amended rule would impose a dose rate limit on LSA materials. This requirement, which is philosophically consistent with the proposed IAEA regulations, is considered necessary to keep current and future LSA shipments within the envelope of safety originally conceived for such materials. This proposed rule would be responsive to PRM-71-1, PRM-71-2 and PRM-71-4.

94. CLARIFICATION OF GENERAL PHYSICAL PROTECTION REQUIREMENTS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 73

Abstract: The general physical protection requirement for fixed sites (Sec. 73.40(a)) is being amended to clarify that the threat of either radiological sabotage or theft, or both, must be treated in a licensee's physical security plan in accordance with the more detailed requirements of other sections of 10 CFR Part 73 which apply to specific classes of licensees or specific types of material. This action is being taken because an Atomic Safety and Licensing Board, in a recent ruling, has made an interpretation of the general requirement which differs from the interpretation currently being applied. This action will clarify the Commission's policy regarding the rule's intent and will codify present application of the general physical protection requirement. No economic impact on a licensee will result from this action.

95. REPORTING REQUIREMENTS FOR SAFEGUARDS EVENTS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5842

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 73

Abstract: The proposed rule would amend reporting requirements of section 73.71 for reports of unaccounted for shipments, suspected thefts, unlawful diversion, and other safeguards events. The staff has found the present requirements confusing to licensees and, therefore, difficult for licensees to properly implement. These difficulties have contributed to safeguards event reports that lack uniformity and contain insufficient data for NRC analysis purposes. Safeguards event reporting requirements are necessary to permit timely response by the NRC to safeguards incidents and to identify possible generic deficiencies in safeguards systems. Until the requirements for reporting are clarified and simplified, the problems identified above will continue to exist. This is considered to be a matter of moderate urgency. An alternative to rulemaking is issuance of additional or revised guidance on the present requirement. However, such guidance would lack regulatory authority. Since the problems have arisen over the abstract nature of the present requirement, it appears the best solution is to correct the source of the problem by amending the existing rule. The proposed amendments (cont)

The current 24 hour telephonic notification is deleted. All events would be either telephonically reported within one hour or logged in licensee records to be submitted to the NRC quarterly. Concurrent with the rule revision, a revised regulatory guide is being developed which provides a format for reporting to the NRC and gives examples of what types of events should be reported and under what category.

The public would benefit from the proposed rule because of the NRC's improved capability to assess safeguards adequacy at subject facilities. Cost impacts to the public are expected to be negligible. Benefits to licensees will be clearer, simpler regulations, a reduction in telephonic report-making, and use of standardized report formats. However, due to an increase in detail to reports, it is estimated that a net cost increase to industry of $495,000 will be incurred on an annual basis.

96. PHYSICAL PROTECTION REQUIREMENTS FOR INDEPENDENT SPENT FUEL STORAGE INSTALLATIONS (ISFSIS)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 73

Abstract: Requirements for the physical protection of spent nuclear fuel at independent storage sites are currently contained in 10 CFR 73.50. Those requirements were originally developed for a broad range of materials and facilities, and were not developed specifically for independent spent fuel storage installations. (ISFSIs). Preliminary studies, some of which are related to transportation and require extrapolations to fixed installations, indicate that some of the current requirements for ISFSIs may not be at the appropriate level. If ongoing assessments confirm that existing regulations should be changed to be more commensurate with the consequences of a sabotage attack, a proposed performance-oriented rule would be developed to allow licensees the flexibility of using the most cost-effective measures available to meet the regulatory requirements. The necessity and urgency of addressing this issue is because licensing the first ISFSI is scheduled to be completed in 1984 or 1985. An alternative to rulemaking is to continue use of the existing regulations, issuing exemptions and adding license conditions as necessary. (cont)

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 2210; 42 USC 5841; 42 USC 5842

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 140

Abstract: The proposed rule would revise the criteria the Commission currently follows in determining an extraordinary nuclear occurrence (ENO), in order to overcome the problems that were encountered following the Three Mile Island (TMI) accident when the present criteria were applied. The proposed criteria would focus on items that can be readily counted or estimated within a relatively short time following an accident (i.e., substantial release of radioactive material or radiation offsite and substantial exposure levels). The revised criteria will provide for speedy satisfaction of legitimate claims in the event of an ENO.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 30; 10 CFR 40; 10 CFR 150

Abstract: The NRC is amending its requirements to lower the reportable quantity of source material transfers from 1,000 kilograms or more to 1 kg or more. It is necessary to lower the reportable quantity to fulfill the obligations of the US/IAEA Agreement, the US/Canadian and US/Australian Bilateral Agreements, and reporting of imports and exports as recommended in an IAEA Consultants Group meeting. This change will remove any existing inconsistency between the regulations and the reporting instructions. The NRC is also deleting the requirement that licensees submit reports concerning tritium inventories. The NRC has determined that the holdings of tritium in the U.S. are not sufficient to justify continued reporting of tritium inventories. The NRC does not believe that alternatives to these amendments are satisfactory. The NRC estimates that the total additional cost to all affected licensees will be $42,000. There will be no added costs to NRC.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2133; 42 USC 2134; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 2232; 42 USC 2233; 42 USC 5842; 42 USC 5846

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The final rule presents two of three alternative regulatory programs designed to reduce the risk posed by accidents involving anticipated transients without scram (ATWS) events under consideration by the Commission. The third alternative is set out in a petition for rulemaking filed by twenty utilities (Electric Utilities Petition, PRM-50-29, published November 4, 1980; 45 FR 73080, and a supplement to the petition published February 3, 1981; 46 FR 10501). An ATWS event occurs when a nuclear reactor's shut down ("scram") system fails to function following a fault (transient event) in the reactor's normal heat dissipation function. A possible outcome of some ATWS accident sequences is the development of a mismatch between the power generated in the reactor and the controlled dissipation of that power. This power mismatch can threaten the integrity of the barriers that confine the fission products. A core meltdown accident, in some cases accompanied by a failure of containment and a very large release of radioactivity, is a possible outcome of some ATWS accident scenarios. (cont)

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: Thus, the Commission has determined that the consequences of some postulated ATWS accidents are unacceptable and has developed a final rule to address this important issue. Simultaneously, a proposed modification of the final rule applicable to plants with Westinghouse reactors would be published for comment. The Commission believes that the likelihood of severe consequences arising from an ATWS event during the two to four year period required to implement the rule is acceptably small. The implementation schedule contained in the rule balances the need for careful analysis and plant modifications with the desire to carry out the objectives of the rule as soon as possible. The NRC staff estimates that the final rule requirements will cost all affected licensees a combined total of $500 million. The benefit of the final rule is that the required systems will help prevent the occurrence of ATWS events and, given the occurrence of an ATWS, the consequences will be mitigated. The Commission approved the final rule on June 1, 1984.

102. FIRE PROTECTION FOR FUTURE PLANTS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The final rule provides more comprehensive fire requirements for future nuclear power plants by consolidating the NRC fire protection guidelines and requirements for nuclear power plants into one enforceable document. The present requirements for fire protection at nuclear power plants are limited in that these requirements apply only to plants licensed prior to January 1, 1979. At the time when these effective regulations were approved, the Commission directed the staff to proceed with development of a comprehensive rule for plants licensed in the future. The Commission has approved a staff recommendation that preparation of the proposed comprehensive fire protection rule for new nuclear power plants be postponed until June 1984. This postponement will allow the staff to concentrate on processing the many Appendix R exemption requests. The results of relevant research and the exemption request resolution decisions will then be available to assure proper technical bases for the rule. The staff issued a report in July 1983 to the Commission which contained results of research completed to date and the status of exemption request reviews. Also, a second report making (cont)

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 50

Abstract: The final rule relaxes the frequency of State and local government participation in annual emergency preparedness exercises. The NRC staff has developed this rule to provide flexibility in the conduct of emergency preparedness exercises as a result of information gathered through past experience. The rule change retains the presently required annual exercise that licensees must conduct. However, the rule requires State and local government participation in emergency preparedness exercises every two years with a provision for remedial exercises to assure adequate correction of deficiencies. The NRC staff estimates that State and local governments would save approximately $200,000 for each exercise held in which they do not participate.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 140

Abstract: The final rule indicates that the text of the Facility Form policy, including any codified amendatory endorsement or change to the policy, is an example of a contract that has been "accepted" as evidence of financial protection but that other variations on the text would be considered by the Commission. This action is intended to remove the misimpression that the Commission requires its nuclear power reactor licensees to maintain financial protection containing the exact language presented in the text of the Facility Form policy. The final rule also contains two amendatory endorsements that modify certain definitions in the Facility Form policy, a standard secondary master policy form which is published for codification and which certain licensees are maintaining as secondary financial protection, and minor amendments conforming Part 140 to Pub. L. 94-197 and the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended.

105. REVISION OF LICENSE FEE SCHEDULES

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841; 42 USC 483

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 170

Abstract: The final rule amends the regulations to permit the NRC to charge fees for the actual cost incurred by the NRC for inspections and for review of applications, permits, licenses, amendments, renewals, and special projects, including topical and other reports. The revised schedule re-establishes a ceiling on maximum fees for most activities. The new fee schedule affects the licensing and inspection of nuclear power plants, other production or utilization facilities, vendors of nuclear power steam supply systems and materials, facilities engaged in uranium and plutonium fuel fabrication, uranium milling, leaching and refining operations, source material ore-buying and ion exchange activities, burial of radioactive waste, spent fuel cask and packaging approvals, and other users of critical quantities of special nuclear materials. It incorporates the proposed new Category 11.F schedule of fees for materials licenses published in the Federal Register as a proposed rule on March 31, 1980 (45 FR 20899).

107. ● ABOLITION OF THE POSITION OF APPEAL PANEL VICE CHAIRMAN

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 2

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission amended its regulations to abolish the position of permanent Vice Chairman of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Appeal Panel. The amendments authorize the most senior available full-time Appeal Panel member to perform certain functions previously performed by the Vice Chairman and to act for an Appeal Board on procedural matters in specified circumstances. These amendments will expedite assignment of appeal board members and certain procedural actions in the absence of certain Panel and Board members. This amendment alters agency procedures but will not affect NRC licensees or other parties to NRC proceedings.

108. ● CHARGES FOR THE PRODUCTION OF RECORDS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2201

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 9

Abstract: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is amending its regulations by revising the charges for copying records publicly available at the NRC Public Document Room in Washington, DC. The amendments are necessary in order to reflect the changes in copying charges resulting from the Commission's award of a contract for the copying of records. In addition, the amendments would provide for any future change in copying charges to become immediately effective for the interim period pending completion of the Commission's rulemaking to establish the new charge.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2165; 42 USC 2201; 42 USC 5841; 31 USC 9701

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 25

Abstract: The final rule revises the fees charged to licensee personnel and others for access authorizations requested under 10 CFR Part 25. The revised fees reflect the costs of the current access authorization investigation charged to the NRC by the Office of Personnel Management plus a part of NRC's overhead associated with the processing of access authorization requests. This action is necessary to allow NRC to comply with OPM's recently modified fee schedule.

Regulatory Flexibility Agenda and Rules Scheduled for Review

AGENCY: Securities and Exchange Commission.

ACTION: Publication of Regulatory Flexibility Agenda and rules scheduled for review.

SUMMARY: The Securities and Exchange Commission is today publishing an agenda of its open and anticipated rulemaking actions, pursuant to Chapter Six of the Administrative Procedure Act and Office of Management and Budget Bulletin 84-16. The agenda is intended to provide advance notice of rulemaking actions which may have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The Commission is also publishing a list of rule reviews anticipated to be completed during the next twelve months. The Commission is seeking public comment on particular open or anticipated rulemaking actions identified in Part I of the agenda and on the identified rules scheduled for review.

DATE: Comments are due by December 31, 1984.

ADDRESSES: Persons wishing to submit written views should file three copies with Shirley E. Hollis, Acting Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 450 5th Street, N.W., Room 6184, Stop 6-9, Washington, D.C. 20549. All submissions should refer to File No. S7-30-84, and will be available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Reference Room, Room 1026, at the same address.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Joseph A. Meiburger, Jr., Directorate of Economic and Policy Analysis, Securities and Exchange Commission, 450 5th Street, N.W., Room 7169, Stop 7-6, Washington, D.C. 20549 (202-272-7110). Additional names of persons to contact are identified with each entry.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Regulatory Flexibility Act ("RFA") (Pub. L. No. 96-354, 94 Stat. 1164 (September 19, 1980)) requires each federal agency during April and October of each year to publish in the Federal Register a regulatory flexibility agenda identifying rules which the agency expects to propose, adopt or review which are likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (the "significant impact criterion").[1] Part I of this agenda contains 47 entries for all open and anticipated rulemaking actions which may meet this criterion.

The RFA also requires the review of existing rules.[2] The Commission published in June 1981 a plan for the periodic review of all rules issued by the agency which may meet the significant impact criterion.[3] The plan provides for the review of all such rules in effect on January 1, 1981 within ten years of that date and for the review of such rules adopted thereafter within ten years of their adoption as final rules. The RFA further requires publication each year of a list of those rules which are to be reviewed during the succeeding twelve months.[4] Part II of the agenda contains 4 of these entries. Since the scope of the Commission's review of its rules extends beyond the requirements of the RFA, some rules listed in this part of the agenda may not be required to be reviewed. The Commission is identifying them here in order to inform the public of its intention to review them. Part III of the agenda identifies the 32 rulemaking actions and rule reviews which have been completed since the last RFA release was approved by the Commission on February 29, 1984.[5] The agenda relies on the definitions of the term "small entity" for purposes of the RFA which were adopted by the Commission for the various categories of regulated entities.[6]

The statute specifically provides that the publication of this regulatory flexibility agenda does not preclude the Commission from considering or acting on any matter not included therein, nor is the Commission required to consider or act on any matter which is included therein.[7] Furthermore, the inclusion of a rule in the Commission's regulatory flexibility agenda reflects only the staff's preliminary judgment that the rule, if promulgated, may have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. This preliminary judgment may be changed upon further development and analysis.

The Commission is incorporating a list of the agenda entries as a part of this release. The documents themselves (standardized data entry forms and computer printout pages) will be available in the Commission's public reference room (File S7-30-84, as noted above) and the text of these documents will be published in the Federal Register as part of the Unified Agenda on or before October 31, 1984, pursuant to the requirements of section 602(a) of the RFA as noted above. This listing follows.

The Commission invites public comment on its agenda of rulemaking actions and on the rules scheduled for review in 1984.

By the Commission.

September 5, 1984.

Shirley E. Hollis,

Acting Secretary.

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 239.14, (New)

Abstract: As part of its review of proxy rules, regulations, and schedules, the Commission intends to revise the disclosure requirements under the federal securities laws relating to mergers, acquisitions, and other business combinations, focusing primarily on Form S-14 (17 CFR 239.23). Form S-14 is used for the registration of securities in business combination transactions under Rule 145 (17 CFR 230.145). The Commission has found that in many cases the sheer volume of disclosure in connection with mergers, acquisitions and other business combinations tends to be confusing to security holders and burdensome for registrants to prepare. The Commission intends to revise the existing disclosure requirements of Form S-14 to provide streamlined, comprehensible disclosure to shareholders and to reduce compliance burdens on issuers consistent with the protection of investors. In developing proposals in this area and considering alternative approaches to the problem of reducing burdens while ensuring that sufficient information is available to security holders, the Commission will attempt to apply the techniques used in its integrated disclosure system, such as incorporation (cont)

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 210.5-02; 17 CFR 210.10-01; 17 CFR 210.11-02; 17 CFR 229.303

Abstract: The Commission proposed amendments to require (1) presentation of certain industry segment information for interim periods; (2) a discussion of reportable segments in management's discussion and analysis; and (3) modifications of other miscellaneous interim reporting requirements. The release also provides advance notice of possible future rulemaking regarding (1) additional segment reporting disclosures and (2) uniform disclosure of off balance sheet financing arrangements. The proposals are designed to enhance analysis of financial information. They may entail some new recordkeeping but any such costs have not been determined. The Commission's interim reporting rules will be reviewed as a part of this action.

7. SMALL ISSUER PERIODIC REPORTS

Legal Authority: 15 USC 77s(a)

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Abstract: The Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act") imposes periodic reporting requirements on companies subject to Sections 13(a) and 15(d) of the Exchange Act. Because these reporting requirements may not be entirely appropriate for companies of all sizes, the Commission plans to review the Exchange Act reporting system as it pertains to small businesses, with a view toward relieving certain small businesses from some of the requirements therein. The Commission has not yet determined the alternatives available or the costs of revising these requirements.

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 77s Securities Act

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 230.100 to 230.180

Abstract: The Commission is conducting a "sunset" review of the thirty-nine rules contained in the "100 series" of general rules under the Securities Act. Generally, these rules define key terms used in the Securities Act. The object of this review is to eliminate any inconsistencies, to delete unnecessary, outmoded or duplicative rules and to update and revise the remaining provisions. CFR Citation: 17 CFR 230.137; 17 CFR 230.138; 17 CFR 230.139

Abstract: Rules 137, 138 and 139 provide safe harbor guidance under Section 5 of the Securities Act of 1933 for determining the circumstances in which broker-dealers may publish or disseminate research reports regarding an issuer in registration. Pursuant to its sunset review of the "100" series of rules, the Commission has proposed to revise substantially Rule 139 in order to update the Rule's requirements in accordance with the Commission's Integrated Disclosure System. Although the Commission has proposed no revisions of Rules 137 and 138, public comment will be solicited as to whether revisions of those rules are also appropriate, and if so, in what respect. A review of Rule 139 was completed on August 17, 1984.

Abstract: As part of its proxy review program, the Commission intends to review the rules governing proxy contests, which are contained in Regulation 14A, promulgated under Section 14(a) of the Exchange Act. Regulation 14A regulates the solicitation of proxies in regard to securities registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act. In general, Regulation 14A specifies the information required to be disclosed to security holders to enable them to make informed decisions concerning authorization of proxies. This review focuses only on regulations concerning proxy contests. Rules 14a-3 through 14a-10 prescribe certain filing, dissemination and disclosure requirements with respect to all proxy solicitations, including proxy contests. Rule 14a-11 prescribes special requirements relating only to contested elections of directors. The number of proxy contests has risen in recent years and the rules relating to them have not been reexamined in some time. The Commission's goal in this review is to make sure that the rules pertaining to proxy contests still operate effectively in addressing this dynamic area, thus benefiting shareholders and issuers.

Abstract: Regulation 14A specifies the information required to be disclosed to security holders to enable them to make informed decisions concerning authorization of proxies. Regulation 14A consists of twelve rules and Schedules 14A and 14B. These provisions contain requirements regarding disclosures in, and dissemination and filing of, proxy solicitations with respect to a security registered pursuant to Section 12 of the Exchange Act, opposition solicitations with respect to the election of directors and annual reports to security holders accompanying or preceding a proxy solicitation with respect to a security registered pursuant to Section 12 of the Exchange Act. This regulation is being reviewed in conjunction with the Commission's examination of its proxy rules and will encompass any provisions not specifically covered in other related proxy review projects. The review will attempt to identify ineffective or outmoded rules and, as appropriate, rescind or replace such rules with alternatives designed to maximize shareholder protection while minimizing burdens on registrants.

Abstract: Regulation 14C consists of seven rules and Schedule 14C, which contain requirements as to the dissemination, content and filing of information statements in connection with annual or other meetings of holders of securities registered pursuant to Section 12 of the Exchange Act and annual reports to security holders accompanying or preceding such information statements. The Rules are intended to enable security holders to make informed voting decisions in any matters to be acted upon at annual or other meetings in those situations where proxies are not being solicited. This regulation is being reviewed in conjunction with the Commission's examination of its proxy rules. The review will attempt to identify ineffective or outmoded rules and, as appropriate, rescind or replace such rules with alternatives designed to maximize shareholder protection while minimizing burdens on issuers. Abstract: The Commission will review the existing rules and reporting forms intended to implement the provisions of Section 16 of the Securities Exchange Act. Section 16 seeks to deter misuse of inside information by imposing certain periodic and transactional reporting requirements on the officers, directors and principal beneficial shareholders of companies registered under that Act as well as certain limitations on equity transactions by those persons. Over the years the Commission has adopted a number of rules and forms to clarify the applicability of Section 16's requirements to particular circumstances. The Commission will examine their current suitability in light of the purposes of the statute. The Commission also will examine the concept of beneficial ownership for purposes of Sections 13, 14 and 16 of the Securities Exchange Act. Section 13 provides notice of possible changes in control of a registrant by imposing certain reporting requirements on persons acquiring beneficial ownership of 5% or more of a registrant's equity securities. Section 14, which regulates the proxy solicitation process, contains a (cont)

In 1978, the Commission, after a series of public hearings, adopted a definition of beneficial ownership for purposes of Section 13 and Section 14. That standard was not applied to Section 16 in view of its distinct purpose. This has resulted in some confusion as well as reporting and interpretive difficulties. The Commission will review the area to determine whether a single comprehensive definition can be adopted. The Commission believes that these actions will result in savings to persons subject to these provisions with no reduction in investor protection. Abstract: In connection with its study of the application of computer technology to the Commission's rules and regulations, with a view toward determining how the Commission may best use technological advances to benefit registrants, investors and others who contribute to or make use of information required to be disclosed under the various securities laws and the rules and regulations thereunder, the Commission considered necessary rule changes concerning the Edgar Pilot. These rule changes facilitate transition from a paper-based information and disclosure system to a computer-based electronic system. The Commission is conducting the Edgar pilot program to test electronic receipt, dissemination and review processes on a limited basis. In connection with the pilot program, the Commission adopted temporary rules to permit registrants to file registration statements and periodic reports electronically.

19. ● RULE 3A4-1 -- ASSOCIATED PERSONS OF AN ISSUER DEEMED TO BE BROKERS

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 240.3a4-1

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 240.3a4-1

Abstract: The proposed rule would provide a non-exclusive safe harbor from liability under the broker-dealer provisions of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 to associated persons of an issuer who participate in sales of the issuer's securities and who meet the conditions of the rule. Over the years, the question of whether a issuer's employees who participate in sales of the issuer's securities must register as brokers has generated numerous requests for interpretive advice. Rule 3a4-1 would codify past positions and provide guidance to future issuers. As an alternative, the staff could continue to provide advice on a case by case basis. Rule 3a4-1 is designed to strike a balance between the compelling need of issuers, particularly small issuers, to raise inexpensive capital and the Commission's statutory responsibility to protect investors. The rule should reduce the number of interpretive requests received by the staff with a corresponding reduction in costs to issuers of requesting such advice.

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 78c(a)(12); 15 USC 78g; 15 USC 78k

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 240.3a12-9

Abstract: Proposed Rule 3a12-9 would provide an exemption from Sections 7(c) and 11(d)(1) of the Exchange Act for public offerings of direct participation interests with installment payment features. This rule is being proposed, in part, as a response to a proposal made by the National Association of Securities Dealers and has the concurrence of the staff of the Federal Reserve Board. If adopted, the rule would enhance investor protection by encouraging registration of interests in direct participation programs that are sold on an installment basis and by requiring that these programs become subject to and remain in compliance with the reporting requirements of Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act until the total purchase price of the program security is discharged.

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 240.11A-1

Abstract: In conhection with the partial removal of exchange off-board trading restrictions through Rule 19c-3, the Commission has proposed a revised rule, Rule 11A-1, to address order exposure concerns. Proposed Rule 11A-1 would require exchange and over-the-counter market makers in Rule 19c-3 securities, prior to executing an order as principal, to hold the order out for 30 seconds, thereby allowing other market makers to compete for that order. Alternatively, the proposed rule would permit the market maker to compete for orders by maintaining competitive quotations in the National Association of Securities Dealers' Computer Assisted Execution System or the Cincinnati Stock Exchange's National Securities Trading System, and routing orders to those systems. The proposed rule also contains a number of specific exceptions to order exposure requirements. The Commission will consider public comment on the impact of the proposed rule on small broker-dealers in connection with its final rulemaking.

Abstract: Rule 15c2-11 regulates the publication and submission of over-the-counter quotations by brokers and dealers. For several reasons, the Rule, as currently drafted and administered, does not ensure that brokers and dealers will be precluded from furnishing arbitrary quotations for certain over-the-counter securities in a variety of situations. Accordingly, the Commission has solicited public comment concerning several amendments to the Rule and is reviewing compliance practices respecting certain of the Rule's provisions. Publication of the proposed amendments will also provide an opportunity for a public review of Rule 15c2-11 to determine whether it achieves its objectives at a reasonable cost. In that connection, the Commission has solicited comment on whether there is any continuing need for the Rule and whether the Commission should rescind it rather than adopt the proposed amendments.

Legal Authority: 15 USC 80a-6(c); 15 USC 80a-37(a)

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Abstract: The Commission has issued a release soliciting public comment on a revision of proposed rule 17f-5 which would permit a U.S. registered management investment company to maintain the company's foreign securities, cash and cash equivalents with eligible foreign custodians under certain conditions. The rule would further permit a Canadian management investment company that is registered under the Act pursuant to the conditions of Rule 7d-1 to maintain its foreign securities, cash and cash equivalents with overseas branches of qualified U.S. banks under certain conditions. This revised proposal is based upon comments received on rule 17f-5 initially proposed in Investment Company Act Release No. 12354 (April 5, 1982) 47 FR 16341, April 16, 1982 as well as the Commission's rethinking of certain issues raised by the original proposal. Such a rule would obviate the need for investment companies to file applications for exemptive relief from Section 17(f) of the Act.

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Abstract: On December 10, 1982, the Commission issued an advance concept release (Investment Company Act Release No. 12888, (47 FR 56509)) soliciting public comment on whether the Commission should propose rules or recommend legislation which would provide for an alternative form of mutual fund governance. Specifically, this release requests comment on whether mutual funds should be exempted from shareholder voting and/or director requirements under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "Act") and, if so, whether conditions could be fashioned which would adequately insure against loss of investor protection. Although such changes might be effected through rulemaking, the Commission has indicated that, in its preliminary judgment, changes of this magnitude should be effected through legislative rather than administrative action. Since the costs and benefits of providing for an alternative scheme of mutual fund governance cannot be estimated at the present time, the release solicits specific comment on the costs and benefits which would result from such changes. Extension of comment period until April 18, 1983 was announced in Investment Company Act Release No. 13012 (cont)

Abstract: The Commission is considering the concept of utilizing private entities in investment company examinations and imposing inspection fees, in order to supplement the Commission's investment company examination program. In light of the dramatic growth which has occurred in the investment company industry in recent years and the budgetary constraints under which the Commission operates, the Commission is considering what alternatives may be available to ensure that investment company examinations continue to be conducted with sufficient regularity. On February 23, 1983, in an advance concept release, (Investment Company Act Release No. 13044, 48 FR 8485), the Commission requested comment on a number of alternatives: (1) authorization of the creation of one or more self-regulatory organizations to conduct routine periodic examinations of investment companies; (2) use of investment company independent auditors to conduct certain additional procedures as a substitute for similar procedures now performed by Commission examiners during examinations; (3) some combination of these alternatives; and (4) collection of fees from investment companies to cover (cont)

Abstract: Rule 145 under the Securities Act of 1933 states that certain mergers and business combination transactions involve an offer or sale of securities subject to separate registration under section 5 of the Act. Transactions subject to the rule must either be registered on Form S-14 or, in the case of open-end investment companies, the registrant may register on its usual form as long as the disclosure requirements of Form S-14 are satisfied. The filing of the registration statement satisfies the requirement for filing a proxy statement and form a proxy or information statement and the transmittal of such material to security holders satisfies the requirements of the Securities Act for the furnishing of a prospectus. Included within Form S-14 is the companies prospectus used in offering the securities issued in the transaction. The disclosure required by Form S-14 results in prospectuses that are too long and complex, particularly with regard to business combination transactions that involve relatively small acquired companies. Moreover, the separate registration requirement does not permit (cont)

Proposed Form N-14 would reduce and simplify the amount of information required in the prospectus and reduce the cost and burden on investment company registrants by permitting those companies to substitute documents currently on file with the Commission in place of certain information required to be contained in the prospectus. Since the action will apply to all management investment companies except small business investment companies and insurance company separate accounts it is expected to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. However, the contemplated action is still in the developmental stage and has not been formally proposed by the Commission. Thus, the extent of the simplification of prospectuses actually proposed and the attendant reductions in costs and burdens are as yet largely unknown, but are anticipated to be significant.

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 77c(a)(2); 15 USC 77s(a)

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 230.180

Abstract: Rule 180 provides an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act for interests and participations issued in connection with certain qualified H.R. 10 plans. In order for interests in funding media issued to plans established by financially inexperienced employers to qualify for the rule's exemption, the rule, as adopted, requires those employers to obtain financial advice from an independent expert prior to adopting the H.R. 10 plan. Among other things, the Commission is considering proposing an amendment to Rule 180 that would codify a present "no-action" position regarding the situation where a financially unsophisticated employer has already established a plan for its employees without obtaining advice from an independent expert, and intends either to change the funding medium or add another funding medium to the choices already available to employees. The issuer of the funding medium in such a case would be in compliance with the rule if the issuer has reasonable grounds to believe and, after having made reasonable inquiry, does believe, that an independent financial expert reviewed the funding medium prior to the investment of the (cont)

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 239.14; 17 CFR 274.11a-1

Abstract: Form N-2 is the registration statement form under the Investment Company Act of 1940 and the Securities Act of 1933 for closed-end management investment companies other than small business investment companies and companies which issue periodic payment plan certificates or which are sponsors or depositors of companies issuing such certificates. Included within the registration statement are the companies' prospectuses used in offering their securities to the public. The Commission believes a simplified prospectus is necessary because current prospectuses have become too cumbersome for the average investor to understand and because current requirements result in the disclosure of much information that is not necessarily material to an investment decision. Simplification will, therefore, make disclosure easier for investors to understand and reduce the costs and burdens of of preparing and distributing prospectuses. Accordingly, the Commission is proposing a new form N-2A that most likely would be structured as a three-part form, one part of which would be a new simplified prospectus. Legal Authority: 15 USC 80a-8; 15 USC 77g; 15 USC 77j

Abstract: Forms S-6 and N-8b-2 are the registration statement forms under the Securities Act of 1933 and the Investment Company Act of 1940, respectively, for unit investment trusts. Included within Form S-6 is the trust's prospectus used in offering securities to the public. A substantial amount of the information required by Form N-8b-2 is also required by Form S-6. Consequently, one goal of the Commission with regard to simplification of registration statements for unit investment trusts is the integration of the disclosure requirements of Forms S-6 and N-8b-2. The Commission also believes that current prospectuses for unit investment trusts have become too cumbersome for the average investor to understand and that current disclosure requirements result in the dissemination of much information that is not necessarily material to an investment decision. Abstract: Absent an exception, every solicitation of a proxy, authorization or consent in respect of any security with respect to which a registered investment company is the issuer, is subject to rules adopted pursuant to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and the Investment Company Act of 1940 concerning solicitations of proxies. Solicitations to which the rules apply may not commence unless each person solicited is furnished or has previously been furnished with a proxy statement containing specified information prepared in accordance with certain rules and the material has been filed with the Commission. The existing proxy rules were adopted in piecemeal fashion and have been the subject of frequent changes. This has led to certain duplicative and, in certain cases, complex requirements. Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 80a-6(c) Investment Company Act; 15 USC 80a-37(a) Investment Company Act

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 270.2a-5

Abstract: The Commission is considering whether to propose an amendment to Rule 2a-5 under the Investment Company Act. Rule 2a-5 presently affords a narrow exemption from that part of Section 2(a)(19) of the Act which defines as an interested person of another person any broker or dealer registered under the Exchange Act or any affiliated person of such a broker or dealer. The Commission will consider rulemaking that would broaden that exemption while still providing protection to investors. This would benefit regulated investment companies by increasing the pool from which directors may be chosen without contravention of, inter alia, Section 10(a) of the Act which governs the composition of investment companies' boards of directors. The conditions set forth in the proposed rule will be those that the Commission believes necessary to protect investors and implement the policies of the Act. While compliance with these conditions involves some costs, those costs will be outweighed by the benefits to companies in no longer having to file applications for exemption in this area.

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 80a-6c; 15 USC 80a-37

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Abstract: The Commission is considering whether to propose a rule that would permit investment companies to acquire standby commitments solely for the purpose of facilitating portfolio liquidity and to value such commitments in a fashion consistent with their limited purpose. Such a rule would obviate the need for investment companies to file applications for exemptive relief from sections 2(a)(41) and 12(d)(3) of the Investment Company Act.

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 80a-6(c); 15 USC 80a-37(a); Investment Company Act, Sec 6(c); Investment Company Act, Sec 38(a)

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 270.3a-4

Abstract: In Investment Company Act Release No. 11391 (October 10, 1980) (45 FR 69479) the Commission proposed for public comment Rule 3a-4, which would deem investment management services providing their clients with individualized treatment not to be investment companies for purposes of the Act. The rule provides a "safe harbor" for any investment manager providing its clients with treatment based on the needs and goals of each client. Under such circumstances, regulation of investment management services under the Act appears unnecessary. The proposed rule was intended to clarify the Commission's position on the question of "mini-accounts" by providing a safe harbor for certain investment management services and thereby provide some certainty to the public. The Commission does not expect any final action taken on the proposal to significantly affect the cost of providing investment management services. The public comment letters on the proposal have been reviewed and alternatives for final action are being formulated.

39. AMENDMENTS TO RULE 6C-1 (TO BE RENUMBERED RULE 3A3-L) -- EXEMPTION FOR SUBSIDIARIES ORGANIZED TO FINANCE THE OPERATIONS OF DOMESTIC OR FOREIGN COMPANIES

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 80a-6(c); 15 USC 80a-37(a); Investment Company Act, Sec 6(c); Investment Company Act, Sec 38(a)

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 270.6c-1; 17 CFR 270.3a3-1

Abstract: In Investment Company Act Release No. IC-12679 (September 22, 1982) the Commission proposed for public comment a comprehensive revision of Rule 6c-1 under the Act. The recommended amendments would greatly expand Rule 6c-1 to exempt from all provisions of the Act certain finance subsidiaries of United States and foreign private issuers. An exemptive rule is the least burdensome method available to accomplish the proposed amendment's objectives. An unconditional exemption, however, would be inconsistent with the public interest standard set forth in Section 6(c) of the Act and therefore the Commission has proposed certain conditions it believes are necessary and appropriate to fulfill the statutory requirements. The proposed rule would reduce the compliance burden faced by covered finance subsidiaries by obviating the need for them to file exemptive applications. The application procedure, of course, would still be available notwithstanding the rule's existence.

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 80a-6(c); 15 USC 80a-11(a); 15 USC 80a-37(a)

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 270.11a-3; 17 CFR 270.11a-4

Abstract: The Commission is considering whether to propose a Rule 11a-3 and a Rule 11a-4 which would exempt certain persons from the requirements of Section 11(a) of the Investment Company Act. That section generally prohibits any registered open-end investment company and the principal underwriter of its shares from making an offer to a shareholder to exchange his security for another security on any basis other than the net asset values of the securities to be exchanged without approval of the Commission. Section 11(c) extends the prohibitions of Section 11(a) to offers of the securities of unit investment trusts. The Commission has issued numerous orders permitting open-end management companies and the principal underwriter(s) of their shares to make exchange offers on the basis of the relative net asset value of the securities being exchanged plus a sales load equal to the difference between the sales load which would otherwise be charged on the securities to be acquired and on the securities to be exchanged. The Commission has also issued orders permitting unit investment trusts and their sponsors to make offers of exchange based on the relative net asset (cont)

The proposed rules would codify such orders (Rule 11a-3 for management companies; Rule 11a-4 for unit investment trusts) thereby eliminating the cost for small companies of preparing applications seeking the orders. Thus, the proposed rules would have a beneficial economic impact on such companies. The proposed rules would contain several conditions to assure the protection of investors. Any such conditions would be included in the rule in order to adequately protect investors against the abuses addressed by Section 11.

41. PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO RULE 17G-1 UNDER THE INVESTMENT COMPANY ACT

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 80a-6(c); 15 USC 80a-17(g); 15 USC 80a-37(a)

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 270.17g-1

Abstract: The Commission is considering whether to adopt an amendment to Rule 17g-1 under the Investment Company Act. The amendment was proposed for public comment in Investment Company Act Release No. 11193 (June 2, 1980) (45 FR 38407). Rule 17g-1 requires every registered investment company to provide and maintain a bond against larceny and embezzlement covering officers and employees of the company. In some circumstances, the officers and employees of a company's depositor, trustee, investment adviser or other manager and various affiliates of such persons, because they have access to the company's assets, function as officers and employees of the investment company. The proposed amendment to the rule would clarify the scope of the rule by explicitly requiring the bonding of such persons. The principal cost associated with this rule would be the cost of a bond. That cost would vary according to the persons required to be bonded by the rule. In this regard, before adopting any amendment to the rule, the Commission will carefully consider what persons should be bonded to protect investors adequately, weighing the benefits of the protection against the cost of a bond.

42. RULE 17J-1 UNDER THE INVESTMENT COMPANY ACT OF 1940

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 80a-17(j); 15 USC 80a-37(a)

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 270.17j-1

Abstract: Rule 17j-1 requires every access person of a registered investment company, or of an investment adviser of or principal underwriter for the investment company to report to the investment company certain of his securities transactions. The Commission is considering whether to propose an amendment to this rule which would reduce the reporting requirement for investment company directors who are interested persons with respect to the investment company by reason of their affiliation with a registered broker-dealer. Members of the industry have characterized these reporting requirements as unnecessarily burdensome in some instances. Any such rule amendment would have the effect of lessening the reporting requirements currently imposed by the rule. As a result, the staff believes that the costs, which should be insignificant, of complying with any amendment would be significantly less than the benefits it would provide. The staff is concurrently reviewing similar reporting requirements for investment advisers under Rule 204-2(a)(12) and (13) under the Investment Advisers Act, in order to (cont)

Abstract: Investment companies whose portfolio securities trade on days which are not customary US business days must price their securities if there is significant trading in the portfolio and investor orders are received. This means that an investment company with foreign investments may have to incur added costs in the administration of its fund. These costs and the benefits they represent are now under study in order to determine if an easing of the requirements would result in a significant loss of access by investors to the fund.

44. PROPOSED RULE 22D-6 UNDER THE INVESTMENT COMPANY ACT

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 80a-6(c); 15 USC 80a-37(a)

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 270.22d-6

Abstract: The Commission is considering whether to adopt rule 22d-6 under the Investment Company Act, which was proposed for public comment in Release IC-13183 (April 22, 1983), and for which the public comment period was extended to September 30 in Release IC-13412 (July 29, 1983). The proposed rule would exempt investment companies ("funds") and other related entities from Section 22(d) of the Act, which requires that fund shares be sold only at a current public offering price described in the prospectus, and it would permit variations, including negotiation, in the sales loads on investment company shares. If adopted, existing rules 22d-1 through 22d-5 would be rescinded. In recent years, a large number of applications have been filed to permit the types of variations that would be permitted by the proposed rule, and the rule would eliminate the cost of such applications. This would benefit small companies since the cost of an application is probably more burdensome for a small company than a large company. The proposed rule's provision that would permit retail negotiation of sales loads may foster greater competition in the sale of fund shares, and this may impact small companies. (cont)

Additional Information: However, the nature and degree of such impact are impossible to determine since any negotiation under the proposed rule is optional with a fund, and since the market for investment company shares is influenced by many other factors such as changes in the economy, interest rates, investor attitudes, and investor information. While alternatives other than the proposed rule were considered, the rule as proposed was deemed by the Commission to be appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors.

Abstract: Rule 30a-1 under the Investment Company Act of 1940 currently requires that every registered investment company file an annual report with the Commission. Rule 30a-2 prescribes various forms for such reports. The Commission will consider requiring semi-annual reports pursuant to Section 30(b) of the Investment Company Act, in lieu of the annual reports now required. Forms adopted for this purpose would be considerably shorter and easier for investment companies to complete than any forms they replace and would benefit the Commission's inspection and data collection functions. No quantitative analysis of the costs and benefits is presently available.

46. RULE 204-2 UNDER INVESTMENT ADVISERS ACT OF 1940 ("ADVISER'S ACT") -- BOOKS AND RECORDS TO BE MAINTAINED BY INVESTMENT ADVISERS

Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 80b-4 Advisers Act; 15 USC 80b-11 Advisers Act

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 275.204-2

Abstract: The rule requires a registered investment adviser to make and keep true, accurate, and current certain books and records relating to its investment advisory business. Such records enable the Commission's examination personnel to review the investment adviser's activities to determine whether they are fulfilling their responsibilities to their clients and complying with the relevant provisions of the Federal securities laws and the rules thereunder. Inasmuch as most investment advisers, as a matter of sound business practice, are likely to maintain books and records substantially similar to those required by the rule, the incremental costs of compliance are minimal. In Advisers Act Release No. 899, February 15, 1984 the Commission proposed to amend the rule to permit advisers to retain required records on microfilm immediately. The existing rule requires that hard copies of records be maintained for two years before microfilm records are substituted. The release also asked comment on whether the Commission should amend the rule to permit advisers to store records in computers, rather than on hard copy or microfilm, and if so, under what conditions.

Priority: Agency Determination

Legal Authority: 15 USC 77g; 15 USC 77j; 15 USC 77s(a)

CFR Citation: 17 CFR Not yet determined

Abstract: There are not currently any forms or disclosure requirements specially tailored for an offering of partnership interests. Thus, they currently must be registered on forms which have been designed for use by corporations. Special disclosure requirements have been developed as a matter of administrative practice. These requirements differ depending upon the type of partnership interest involved. The project will involve development of uniform disclosure requirements for all varieties of partnership offerings, with a focus on those characteristics common to all or most limited partnerships, such as tax implications. It also will involve codification of informal practices and streamlining of registration to the extent appropriate. These efforts are expected to facilitate the preparation of registration statements concerning such interests and to improve the disclosure provided to investors.

It recommended to the Commission legislative and regulatory changes necessary or appropriate to the current regulatory scheme. On July 8, 1983, the Committee submitted to the Commission its Report of Recommendations. Among other things, the Committee made recommendations with respect to the economic implications of tender offers and other acquisition techniques, the need for, nature and objectives of such activities and appropriate statutory and regulation modifications. CFR Citation: 17 CFR 240.3a12-5

Abstract: The Rule exempts certain investment contract securities involving the direct ownership of specified residential real property offered by broker-dealers from Sections 7(c) and 11(d)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, subject to certain conditions. The rule is premised, in part, upon the lack of a secondary trading market for certain investment contract securities, and the Commission's conclusion that permitting extensions of credit pursuant to the terms of the exemption is in the public interest and for the protection of investors. The rule is limited to investment contracts consisting of a direct ownership interest in certain residential real property. In addition, the rule requires that credit be extended by a lender unaffiliated with the issuer or the broker-dealer offering these securities. It addresses the problem that some shares of a given class of stock may be subject to the prohibition in Section 11(d)(1) while other shares are not. Priority: Undetermined

Legal Authority: 15 USC 78o; 15 USC 78w

CFR Citation: 17 CFR 240.15c2-4

Abstract: Rule 15c2-4 applies to best-efforts distribution of securities that are conducted on any basis where payment will not be made to the issuer until some further event or contingency occurs. It requires a broker-dealer participant either promptly to deposit investor's funds into a separate bank account, or promptly to transmit such funds to a bank escrow agent, pending the occurrence of the contingency. The purpose of the rule is to insulate offering proceeds from unlawful activities by, or the financial reverses of, the broker-dealer, pending the occurrence of the contingency. Amendments to the rule are being considered that would resolve ambiguities and to codify interpretive positions taken by the staff since the rule's adoption in 1962. An interpretive release is being considered as an alternative. Neither action would increase the costs of complying with the rule since either action would simply clarify, not change, the application of the rule. The benefits of either action would be eliminating confusion and ambiguity, more clearly defining a broker-dealer's responsibilities under the rule, and greater uniformity in industry practice.
