SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:Executive Summary:*

Purpose of This Regulatory Action: These final regulations address issues arising from the changes made to the HEA by the SAFRA Act, included in the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 (Pub. L. 111-152). The SAFRA Act ended the origination of new loans under the FFEL Program after June 30, 2010. With this change, all new Stafford, PLUS, and Consolidation loans with a first disbursement on or after July 1, 2010, are now made under the Direct Loan Program. Because all new loans are being made under the Direct Loan Program, these final regulations amend the FFEL Program regulations in 34 CFR part 682 by removing provisions related to the making of new loans. The final regulations also reflect changes made to interest rates in the Direct Loan program by the Bipartisan Student Loan Certainty Act of 2013 (Pub. L. 113-28). In addition, the regulations amend the Direct Loan Program regulations in 34 CFR part 685 by adding detailed regulations in areas where the Direct Loan Program regulations cross-reference the FFEL Program regulations.

The regulations also strengthen and clarify provisions of the Perkins Loan, FFEL, and Direct Loan program regulations including, but not limited to, regulations governing: deferments, forbearances, loan cancellation, rehabilitation of defaulted loans, administrative wage garnishment, and satisfactory repayment arrangements. The regulations also make the rules governing the various title IV, HEA loan programs more consistent.

Summary of the Major Provisions of This Regulatory Action: The final regulations—

- Raise the participation rate index ceiling applicable to institutions that have a single three-year cohort default rate of over 40 percent for purposes of challenges to, and appeals from, sanctions based on that default rate. (34 CFR 668.204(c) and 668.214(a) and (d))

- Clarify the Perkins Loan, FFEL, and Direct Loan program regulations to provide that a borrower who makes six payments in the course of rehabilitating a defaulted loan, but who does not seek additional title IV aid, will not be considered to have used the one-time-only opportunity to regain title IV eligibility by making satisfactory repayment arrangements. The regulations also define the term “satisfactory repayment arrangement” more consistently across the title IV, HEA loan programs. (34 CFR 674.2(b), 674.9(k), 682.200(b), 685.102(b), and 685.200(d))

- Amend the closed school discharge provisions in the Perkins Loan, FFEL, and Direct Loan program regulations to specify that a borrower may qualify for a loan discharge if the borrower withdrew from school not more than 120 days before the school closed, instead of the current 90-day standard. The regulations also add examples of the types of exceptional circumstances under which the Department may extend the 120-day window. (34 CFR 674.33(g), 682.402(d), and 685.214)

- Update the FFEL and Direct Loan program enrollment status reporting requirements for institutions to reflect current processes and eliminate obsolete terms and procedures. The regulations also add comparable enrollment status reporting provisions to the Perkins Loan Program regulations. (34 CFR 674.19(f), 682.605, 682.610(c), and 685.309(b))

- Revise the terms under which a guaranty agency in the FFEL Program may authorize a lender to grant forbearance to permit a borrower or endorser to resume honoring the agreement to repay a debt after default but prior to claim payment to require either a signed written agreement to repay or an oral affirmation of the borrower's or endorser's obligation to repay the debt. The regulations provide that if a forbearance is granted based on the borrower's or endorser's oral request and affirmation of the obligation, the forbearance is limited to 120 days and cannot be granted for consecutive periods. In addition, the lender must orally review with the borrower the terms and conditions of the forbearance and send a notice to the borrower or endorser that confirms the terms of the forbearance. The regulations also define the term “affirmation.” Finally, the regulations also add comparable provisions to the Direct Loan Program regulations. (34 CFR 682.211(d) and 685.205(a)(8))

- Require that lenders grant forbearance to FFEL borrowers who are performing service that qualifies them for loan repayment under the Department of Defense student loan repayment programs in addition to the program authorized by 10 U.S.C. 2171 (which is currently referenced in the regulations). A comparable forbearance provision is added to the Direct Loan Program regulations. (34 CFR 682.211(h) and 685.205(a)(9))

- Authorize a lender to grant an administrative forbearance to a FFEL borrower who is delinquent at the beginning of an authorized period of forbearance and add a corresponding provision to the Direct Loan Program regulations. (34 CFR 682.211(f) and 685.205(b)(2))

- Provide that the Secretary, in both the FFEL and Direct Loan programs, and the guaranty agency, in the FFEL Program, once the rehabilitation discussion has begun, initially considers a borrower's reasonable and affordable loan rehabilitation payment amount to equal 15 percent of the amount by which the borrower's Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) exceeds 150 percent of the poverty guideline amount applicable to the borrower's family size and State, divided by 12. If the amount determined using this calculation is less than $5, the borrower's monthly rehabilitation payment is $5. (34 CFR 682.405(b) and 685.211(f))

- Specify in the FFEL and Direct Loan program regulations that a reasonable and affordable loan rehabilitation payment amount must not be a required minimum payment (except that a payment amount calculated as described in the immediately preceding paragraph may not be less than $5), a percentage of the borrower's total loan balance, or an amount based on other criteria unrelated to the borrower's total financial circumstances. (Note that these changes to the loan rehabilitation reasonable and affordable payment amount calculation do not prohibit the Secretary, his designee, or a guaranty agency from discussing other payment arrangements with the borrower, including payment of the full defaulted loan balance or payment of the defaulted loan through consolidation, outside of the context of the loan rehabilitation program and its associated requirements.) (34 CFR 682.405(b) and 685.211(f))

- Require that the Secretary, in the FFEL and Direct Loan programs, or the guaranty agency, in the FFEL Program, provide the borrower with a written rehabilitation agreement within 15 business days of the determination of the borrower's reasonable and affordable payment amount along with a comprehensive description of the borrower's rights, the terms and conditions of the payments, the effects of loan rehabilitation, and, for a FFEL borrower, the treatment of unpaid collection costs. (34 CFR 682.405(b) and 685.211(f))

- Provide that, if the borrower objects to the initial payment amount determined by the Secretary or the guaranty agency, the Secretary or the guaranty agency will recalculate the amount of the borrower's rehabilitation payment based on the borrower's and, if applicable, the borrower's spouse's current disposable income, family size, and reasonable and necessary expenses. The information about income and expenses needed to determine the alternative reasonable and affordable payment amount will be provided by the borrower to the Secretary or the guaranty agency on a form approved by the Secretary and, if requested, with supporting documentation from the borrower or other sources. (34 CFR 682.405(b) and 685.211(f))

- Provide that, while the borrower is making payments under a rehabilitation agreement, the Secretary and the guaranty agency will limit contact with the borrower to collection activities required by law or regulation and communications that support the rehabilitation. (34 CFR 682.405(b) and 685.211(f))

- Amend the Direct Loan and FFEL program regulations to provide that, when a loan is being collected by administrative wage garnishment (AWG), the Secretary or the guaranty agency, respectively, will suspend AWG after the borrower makes five qualifying monthly payments under a loan rehabilitation agreement, unless the borrower requests that AWG continue. (34 CFR 682.405(a) and 685.211(f))

- Incorporate into the Perkins Loan Program the same eligibility criteria used in the Direct Loan and FFEL programs to define an "eligible graduate fellowship program" and to establish the eligibility of a Perkins Loan borrower for a graduate fellowship deferment. (34 CFR 674.34(f))

- Eliminate the debt-to-income economic hardship deferment category in the Perkins Loan Program. (34 CFR 674.34(e))

- Modify the rehabilitation provisions in the Perkins Loan Program regulations to define the term "on-time" as it relates to the series of payments required to successfully rehabilitate a defaulted loan. (34 CFR 674.39(a)(2))

- Allow assignment of a Perkins Loan to the Secretary without the borrower's Social Security Number if the loan was made before September 13, 1982. (34 CFR 674.50(e)(1))

- Permit a Perkins Loan borrower who is unable to complete the second half of an academic year of teaching due to a condition covered under the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) to still count that year as eligible teaching service for loan cancellation purposes, if the borrower's employer considers the borrower to have fulfilled the teacher contract requirements for that academic year. (34 CFR 674.52(c)(1))

- Permit a Perkins Loan borrower who is unable to complete a full year of eligible public service due to a condition that is covered under the FMLA to count that year as a full year of public service for loan cancellation purposes if the borrower completes at least six months of consecutive eligible service. (34 CFR 674.52(c)(2))

- Specify that, if a Perkins Loan borrower who is performing service that qualifies the borrower for loan cancellation at a cancellation rate progression of 15 percent for the first and second years of qualifying service, 20 percent for the third and fourth years of qualifying service, and 30 percent for the fifth year of qualifying service, takes a job in a different field that qualifies the borrower under a different cancellation category that provides loan cancellation at the same cancellation rate progression as the prior category, the borrower's cancellation rate under the new cancellation category will continue from the last year the borrower received a cancellation under the former cancellation category, rather than starting over at the first-year cancellation rate. (34 CFR 674.52(g))

- Change the timeframe for FFEL lenders to send the required repayment disclosure for borrowers who are 60 days delinquent from five calendar days to five business days after the date the borrower becomes 60 days delinquent. (34 CFR 682.205(a)(5))

- Amend the FFEL Program regulations to provide that a lender does not have to send a repayment disclosure to a borrower who is having difficulty making payments if the borrower's difficulty has been resolved through contact resulting from an earlier disclosure or from other contact between the lender and the borrower. (34 CFR 682.205(a)(4))

- Amend the regulations governing AWG to reflect the borrower's right to request a hearing on the enforceability of the debt and to allow the borrower to object to the amount or rate of AWG withholding if such withholding would cause financial hardship to the borrower. (34 CFR 682.410(b)(9))

- Revise the regulations governing AWG to conform the requirements for borrowers whose defaulted loans are held by a guaranty agency to the rules and procedures used by the Secretary. (34 CFR 682.410(b)(9))
- Amend the regulations governing AWG to incorporate existing policy guidance related to third-party servicers or collection contractors retained by guaranty agencies. (34 CFR 682.410(b)(9))
- Amend the regulations governing AWG to more clearly describe the process, from the initial garnishment notice to withholding. (34 CFR 682.410(b)(9))
- Amend the regulations governing AWG to better reflect due process requirements and to specify the functions, delegations of authority, recordkeeping requirements, and permissible activities of guaranty agencies and third-party servicers or collection contractors. (34 CFR 682.410(b)(9))
- Clarify the limitations on the amount that may be subject to AWG if a guaranty agency is garnishing pay from a borrower who is not already subject to a withholding order or from a borrower who is already subject to one or more withholding orders. The regulations will also permit a greater amount or percentage to be withheld with the borrower's consent. (34 CFR 682.410(b)(9))
- Require that for a borrower to receive a hearing before AWG begins, the borrower's written request for a hearing must be received on or before the 30th day following the date the garnishment notice was sent, and remove a rule providing that a borrower is considered to have received a garnishment notice five days following the date of the notice. (34 CFR 682.410(b)(9))
- Provide that if a borrower's written request for a hearing is received by the guaranty agency after the 30th day following the date of the garnishment notice, the agency must provide the borrower a hearing and issue a decision within 60 days following receipt of the request. If a decision is not rendered within 60 days, the guaranty agency must suspend the order beginning on the 61st day after the hearing request was received until a hearing is provided and a decision is rendered. (34 CFR 682.410(b)(9))

- Amend the FFEL Program regulations to: specify the contents of an AWG notice; describe how an AWG hearing is administered, including provisions for the submission of additional evidence and the granting of continuances; provide for the withholding order to end by either rescission or full recovery of amounts owed by the borrower; and clarify that a borrower who wishes to object that he or she is not subject to garnishment because of involuntary separation bears the burden of raising and proving that claim. (34 CFR 682.410(b)(9))

• Eliminate provisions in the FFEL Program regulations governing loan origination and disbursement and related requirements and activities except for certain school-based requirements and related activities. (34 CFR Part 682)

- Eliminate obsolete provisions that do not reflect the current procedures in the FFEL Program. (34 CFR Part 682)

• Make necessary conforming changes in various FFEL Program provisions to update the regulations. (34 CFR Part 682)

• In the Direct Loan Program regulations, modify the exception to the minimum loan period requirement for clock-hour and certain non-standard term programs that allows a school, in certain transfer student situations, to originate a loan for a period shorter than the lesser of the academic year or program length only if the school accepts credit or clock hours from the school that the student was previously attending. The regulations remove the provision that limits this exception to situations in which the school into which the student transfers accepts credit or clock hours from the prior school. (34 CFR 685.301(a)(10))

• Add detailed regulations to 34 CFR part 685 in areas where the Direct Loan Program regulations cross-reference the FFEL Program regulations. (34 CFR Part 685)

• Remove obsolete provisions that do not reflect current procedures used in administering the Direct Loan Program. (34 CFR Part 685)

- Revise the Direct Loan Program regulations to reflect the impact of the SAFRA Act, the Bipartisan Student Loan Certainty Act of 2013, and other recent statutory changes. (34 CFR Part 685)

Chart 1 summarizes the final regulations and related benefits, costs, and transfers that are discussed in more detail in the Regulatory Impact Analysis section of this preamble. Significant benefits of these final regulations include a clearer process for determining a reasonable and affordable payment for loan rehabilitation that should result in more consistent treatment of borrowers, the elimination of FFEL Program regulations that are no longer needed, the expansion of the period during which a borrower who withdraws from a school prior to its closure may qualify for a closed school discharge, and additional changes to promote transparency and efficiency in the administration of the Federal student loan programs. The estimated net budget impact of the regulations is $2.8 to $3.4 million over ten years from 2013–2022, driven by the expansion of the time period for eligibility for a closed school discharge. As shown in the Accounting Statement within the Regulatory Impact Analysis of these final regulations, the annualized estimated transfer from the Federal government to borrowers associated with the statutory changes to Direct Loan interest rates is $1.2 billion at a 7 percent discount rate and $467 million at a 3 percent discount rate. For some future cohorts, depending on the cost of funds of the Federal government, the transfer may be reversed and the students would have higher interest rates than if the PB2014 baseline assumed rates of 6.8 percent for Direct Subsidized Loans and Direct Unsubsidized Loans and 7.9 percent for Direct PLUS Loans had continued in effect.

CHART 1—SUMMARY OF THE FINAL REGULATIONS

Issue and key features	Benefits	Cost/transfers
Three-Year Cohort Default Rate Participation Rate Index Challenges and Appeals (34 CFR 668.204 and 668.214). Raises the Participation Rate Index ceiling for purposes of challenges to and appeals from sanctions based on one three-year cohort default rate of over 40 percent from 0.06015 to 0.0832.	More schools with low Title IV participation but high default rates (above 40%) will be able to appeal their loss of Title IV eligibility. This is important as the change from a 2-year to a 3-year cohort default rate is predicted to leave many schools ineligible to appeal their sanctions under the previous regulations.	No significant costs projected.

Issue and key features	Benefits	Cost/transfers
Perkins Loan, FFEL, and Direct Loan Programs: Satisfactory Repayment Arrangements (34 CFR 674.2(b), 674.9(k), 682.200(b), 685.102(b), and 685.200). Makes the definitions of “satisfactory repayment arrangement” more consistent across the three title IV student loan programs.	Creates a consistent standard across the three loan programs and adds clarity to the regulations regarding defaulted loan rehabilitation.	No significant costs projected.
Closed School Discharge (34 CFR 674.33(g), 682.402(d), and 685.214). Extends the current 90-day window for students who leave before a school closes to 120 days and adds examples of the types of exceptional circumstances under which the Department may extend the 120-day window.	Expanding the window an extra 30 days will provide discharges to students who failed to meet the 90-day criteria but withdrew from a program as it was preparing to close. Citing clear examples of exceptional circumstances adds clarity to the loan regulations and gives borrowers a basis on which to make educated decisions.	We estimate these changes to have a cost of approximately $3.1 million over 10 years as the pool of borrowers eligible for discharge will increase.
School Enrollment Status Reporting Requirements (34 CFR 674.19, 682.605, 682.610, and 685.309). Revises the regulations to reflect the current processes by which schools receive and report student enrollment status information and provides the Secretary with greater flexibility to modify enrollment reporting procedures in the future.	Improves the Department’s information collection process and supports a more efficient loan servicing process.	No significant costs projected.
Forbearance for Borrowers Who are 270 or More Days Delinquent Prior to Guaranty Agency Default Claim Payment or Transfer by the Department to Collection Status (34 CFR 682.211(d) and 685.205). Requires lenders to send a notice within 30 days of a forbearance agreement to the borrower if the agreement is based on an oral request or agreement.	Creates a consistent standard across the loan programs and ensures that borrowers are fully informed of the details of their forbearance agreement. Borrowers will have to affirm their commitment to repay and acknowledge their debt, which may improve the probability of full repayment.	No significant costs projected.
Forbearance Provisions for Borrowers Receiving Department of Defense Student Loan Repayment Benefits (34 CFR 682.211(h) and 685.205). Requires that lenders grant forbearance to borrowers who are performing service that qualifies them for loan repayment under the Department of Defense student loan repayment programs authorized by 10 U.S.C. 2171, 2173, or 2174, or under any other student loan repayment program administered by the Department of Defense.	Creates consistency across loan programs ....	No significant costs projected.
Borrowers Who Are Delinquent When an Authorized Forbearance Is Granted (34 CFR 682.211(f) and 685.205). Authorizes lenders to grant an administrative forbearance to a borrower who is delinquent at the beginning of an authorized period of forbearance.	Borrowers who opt to use forbearance will not have to worry about having a delinquent repayment status upon exiting forbearance.	No significant costs projected.
Loan Rehabilitation Agreement: Reasonable and Affordable Payment Standard (34 CFR 682.405(b) and 685.211(f)). Establishes standards for determining a “reasonable and affordable” loan repayment for rehabilitation purposes.	Reduces the burden on defaulted borrowers who are attempting to rehabilitate their loans and adds transparency to the process. This will possibly increase the percentage of defaulted borrowers that complete the rehabilitation process and fully repay their loans.	No significant costs projected.
Loan Rehabilitation Agreement: Treatment of Borrowers Subject to Administrative Wage Garnishment (34 CFR 682.405(a) and 685.211(f)). Suspends AWG after a borrower has made five qualifying payments under a loan rehabilitation agreement.	Provides financial relief to borrowers whose loans are being collected through AWG but who are taking positive steps to repay their loans.	No significant costs projected.

Issue and key features	Benefits	Cost/transfers
Federal Perkins Loan Graduate Fellowship Deferment Eligibility (34 CFR 674.34(b)(1) and (f)). Requires schools that participate in the Perkins Loan Program to use the same eligibility criteria that are used in the FFEL Program (under §682.210(d)) to define an eligible graduate fellowship program and to establish the eligibility of a Perkins Loan borrower for a graduate fellowship deferment.	Creates consistency across loan programs ....	No significant costs projected.
Federal Perkins Loan Economic Hardship Deferment Debt-to-Income Ratio Provision (34 CFR 674.34(e)(4)). Eliminates an inconsistency between the economic hardship deferment eligibility criteria in the Perkins Loan program and the eligibility criteria in the Direct Loan and FFEL programs.	Creates consistency across loan programs ....	No significant costs projected.
Federal Perkins Loan Standard for On-time Loan Rehabilitation Payment (34 CFR 674.39(a)(2)). Identifies what is considered an “on-time” loan payment for rehabilitation purposes within the Perkins Loan program.	Creates consistency across loan programs ....	No significant costs projected.
Social Security Number Requirement (SSN) for Assignment of Defaulted Federal Perkins Loans to the United States (34 CFR 674.50(e)(1)). Allows assignment of a Perkins Loan without the borrower’s SSN if the loan was made before September 13, 1982.	Makes the administration of Perkins Loans less burdensome by bringing the regulations more in line with past practices.	No significant costs projected.
Federal Perkins Loan Break in Cancellation Service Due to a Condition Covered under the Family and Medical Leave Act (34 CFR 674.52(c)(1)). Allows a Perkins Loan borrower who is unable to complete a second half of an academic year of teaching or a full year of public service due to a condition covered under the Family Medical and Leave Act to still count that year as a full year of service if the borrower’s employer considers the borrower to have fulfilled the requirements for that year.	Adds consistency across the loan programs. It also provides leniency for eligible borrowers who are unable to complete their service requirements because of injury or illness.	No significant costs projected.
Federal Perkins Loan Cancellation Rate Progression (34 CFR 674.52(g), 674.53(d), 674.56(h), 674.57(c)(2), and 674.59(c)(2)). Allows borrowers to continue their progression toward full loan cancellation when they change jobs to a position with the same cancellation eligibility requirements.	Borrowers who are progressing toward loan cancellation based on employment in a particular field who switch jobs will no longer lose credit for their time served as long as the new job has the same loan cancellation eligibility.	No significant costs projected.
FFEL Lender Repayment Disclosures for Borrowers Who Are 60 Days Delinquent (34 CFR 682.205(a)(5)). Changes the requirement that FFEL Lenders have to provide a repayment disclosure to a borrower from five calendar days after the date the borrower becomes 60 days delinquent to five business days after that date.	Reduces the burden on FFEL lenders by accounting for holidays and weekends. No significant costs projected.

On July 29, 2013 the Secretary published a notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) for these regulations in the Federal Register (78 FR 45618). The final regulations contain several changes from the NPRM. We fully explain the changes in the Analysis of Comments and Changes section of the preamble that follows.

Implementation Date of These Regulations

Section 482(c) of the HEA requires that regulations affecting programs under title IV of the HEA be published in final form by November 1, prior to the start of the award year (July 1) to which they apply. However, that section also permits the Secretary to designate any regulation as one that an entity subject to the regulations may choose to implement earlier and the conditions for early implementation.

Consistent with the Department's objective to improve servicing processes for title IV borrowers, the Secretary is exercising his authority under section 482(c) to designate the following new and amended regulations included in this document for early implementation beginning on November 1, 2013, at the discretion of each loan holder, guaranty agency, or institution, as applicable:

- (1) Section 674.2(b).
- (2) Section 674.9(k).
- (3) Section 674.39(a)(2).
- (4) Section 674.52(c) and (g).
- (5) Section 682.205(a)(4).
- (6) Section 682.205(a)(5).
- (7) Section 682.211(d).

- (8) Section 682.211(f).
- (9) Section 682.211(h).
- (10) Section 682.410(b)(9).
- (11) Section 685.301(a)(10).

The Secretary also intends to implement early provisions in 34 CFR 685.205 comparable to the provisions in 34 CFR 682.205(a)(4) and (5).

Analysis of Comments and Changes

In response to the Secretary's invitation in the NPRM, 25 parties submitted comments on the proposed regulations. An analysis of the comments and of the changes in the regulations since publication of the NPRM follows.

We group major issues according to subject, with appropriate sections of the regulations referenced in parentheses.

We discuss other substantive issues under the sections of the proposed regulations to which they pertain. Generally, we do not address technical or other minor changes.

We received recommendations from some commenters to make numerous technical changes, including changes that would provide for greater consistency in the regulations of the Perkins Loan, FFEL, and Direct Loan programs. We will consider these changes for inclusion in future technical corrections.

Finally, we note that although the amendatory language in the NPRM included a series of individual revisions to certain parts of 34 CFR 685.220 and 34 CFR 685.301 as part of the overall modification of the Direct Loan Program regulations, these final regulations restate §§ 685.220 and 685.301 in their entirety for greater clarity. However, we have made no changes to these sections other than those that were proposed in the NPRM.

Student Assistance General Provisions Issue

Three-Year Cohort Default Rate Participation Rate Index Challenges and Appeals (34 CFR 668.204 and 668.214)

Comments: Several commenters agreed with the proposed change to raise the participation rate index (PRI) ceiling applicable to institutions that have a single three-year cohort default rate (CDR) of over 40 percent. One commenter stated that continuity and consistency among and between various portions of the regulations, as evidenced by this change, were important and also commended the Department for clarifying that all types of institutions were eligible to challenge and appeal their respective rates using the criteria.

Another commenter requested that the Department change the PRI appeal requirements to allow a PRI appeal to be made annually for each published rate. The commenter believed this would dissuade community colleges from discontinuing participation in the Direct Loan program for the purpose of preventing the loss of eligibility for the Pell Grant Program based on high CDRs.

Discussion: We appreciate the commenters' support of this change. However, we do not agree with the proposal that we allow institutions to file a PRI appeal annually, whether or not the institution would be subject to a sanction. This proposal would impose an unmanageable workload on the Department and is not necessary to protect institutions. Evaluating a PRI appeal is a time-consuming, labor-intensive process. The recommended change would require the Department to consider a significantly higher number of PRI appeals than under the current process, which would delay decisions for institutions that are potentially subject to sanctions. Moreover, the Department believes institutions have ample opportunity to demonstrate in a timely manner that they qualify for relief from sanctions based on their PRI. Current regulations permit institutions to bring a PRI appeal not only when an official rate leading to sanctions is published, but also seven months earlier, at the draft rate stage, when the loss of eligibility is not imminent. At the draft rate stage, just as at the official rate stage, the institution may challenge the draft CDR and file a PRI challenge with respect to any or all of the official rates that would support a loss of eligibility.

A successful PRI challenge to an official rate at the draft rate stage has the same impact as a successful challenge later in the process. Thus, institutions already have sufficient opportunity to file a meaningful appeal.

Satisfactory Repayment Arrangements (34 CFR 674.2(b), 674.9(k), 682.200(b), 685.102(b) and 685.200(d))

Comments: Two commenters expressed support for the effort to make the "satisfactory repayment arrangements" definitions more consistent across the Perkins Loan, FFEL, and Direct Loan programs. These commenters believed that a consistent definition of an "on-time" payment as a payment made within 20 days of the due date would be helpful to borrowers. However, these commenters also expressed a concern with the requirement that the payments be "full" payments. These commenters believe that the term "full" is too vague and open to interpretation. These commenters recommended replacing the term "full" with the term "approved" in the "satisfactory repayment arrangement" definitions. These commenters also suggested aligning the number of payments needed to regain title IV eligibility under satisfactory repayment arrangements with the number of payments needed to rehabilitate a loan. These commenters felt that allowing a borrower to obtain new title IV loans after six qualifying payments made under satisfactory repayment arrangements is not in the borrower's best interests.

Discussion: We thank the commenters for their support of the proposed changes to the Perkins Loan, FFEL, and Direct Loan program definitions of "satisfactory repayment arrangements." However, we do not agree with their recommendation to require that payments made under satisfactory repayment arrangements be "approved" payments rather than "full" payments. We believe that the term "full" is self-explanatory when referring to a payment made on a loan. In addition, replacing the long-standing term "full" with the term "approved" might be interpreted as a change in the requirement, rather than just a change in terminology.

The number of payments required under satisfactory repayment arrangements and the number of payments required under a rehabilitation agreement are established by statute. Section 428F(a)(1)(A) of the HEA requires nine payments under a rehabilitation agreement. Section 428F(b) requires six payments to meet the requirements for satisfactory repayment arrangements. The Department does not have the authority to change these requirements.

Changes: None.

Closed School Discharge (34 CFR 674.33(g), 682.402(d), and 685.214)

Comments: One commenter commended the Department for proposing changes to the closed school discharge provisions. The commenter noted that extending the 90-day window for students who cease enrollment before a school closes to 120 days will help students avoid hardships, such as repaying loans received for programs they are unable to complete through no fault of their own. This same commenter also expressed support and thanked the Department for adding examples of exceptional circumstances under which the Department may extend the 120-day window for affected borrowers. However, this commenter also recommended that the Department provide the benefit of a closed school discharge to borrowers enrolled in a program that is discontinued at a school that continues to operate, especially in the case of a school that offers many of its programs online or through distance education.

Lastly, another commenter commended the Department for proposing changes to the closed school discharge provisions and supported the Department's position to limit the discharge to closed schools only and not to discontinued programs.

Discussion: The Department appreciates the commenters' support for its proposed changes to the closed school discharge provisions. In response to the request that the Department provide the benefit of a closed school discharge to borrowers enrolled in a discontinued program at a school that continues to operate, we note that sections 437(c)(1) and 464(g) of the HEA require that the school must close in order for a borrower to be eligible for the discharge. The statute does not provide for a loan discharge when only a program, either traditional or distance, is discontinued. We also note that the Department does not consider a distance education program to be a separate location of a school for title IV eligibility purposes. A location is a physical site where a student can receive instruction in 50 percent or more of an eligible program. If a school offers online programs, the online programs are considered to be associated with the main campus of the school. Thus, a borrower enrolled in an online course would be eligible for a closed school discharge if the main campus of the school closes.

FFEL and Direct Loan Program Issues

Forbearance for Borrowers Who Are 270 or More Days Delinquent Prior to Guaranty Agency Default Claim Payment or Transfer by the Department to Collections Status (34 CFR 682.211(d) and 685.205(a)(8))

Comments: Several commenters supported the proposed requirement that a lender that grants a forbearance based on an oral request and affirmation by a borrower who is 270 or more days delinquent must review with the borrower the terms and conditions and consequences of the forbearance and must provide the borrower with written confirmation of the terms of the forbearance agreement within 30 days of the agreement. However, the commenters expressed concern about limiting the forbearance for such borrowers to one 120-day period. The commenters believed that the current economy and pending healthcare reform could leave many borrowers underemployed or with other temporary situations that cannot be resolved within 120 days. The commenters recommended that the forbearance period be extended from 120 to 180 days.

One commenter urged the Department to revise these proposed regulations to prohibit a borrower from receiving additional forbearances unless the borrower can demonstrate a reasonable prospect of increased income in the foreseeable future. The commenter also recommended that the written notice sent to the borrower to confirm the terms of the 120-day forbearance agreement include information on other repayment options and on how the borrower can exit forbearance.

Discussion: The Department disagrees with the commenters' recommendation that the 120-day, non-serial forbearance that may be granted based on a defaulted borrower's oral request and affirmation be expanded to 180 days. We believe that the 120-day forbearance period provides sufficient time for the borrower to avoid the negative consequences of default by submitting a written forbearance request and affirmation that would result in a forbearance period of up to 12 months, documenting deferment eligibility, or changing to a different repayment plan, so the borrower can successfully manage and repay the loan.

The Department recognizes that schools are required to conduct entrance and exit counseling with their borrowers, and through that process, to educate their borrowers on the terms and conditions of the loans and the program benefits available to assist them in repaying their loans. We are aware that many schools are working to enhance and expand loan-based counseling with their students over the period of their enrollment at the school and support those efforts. The Department has also seen evidence, however, both during and following the negotiated rulemaking sessions, that some institutions are aggressively pursuing their former students to compel them to request forbearance on their loans, primarily during the cohort period when the institution is accountable for student loan defaults. As stated in the preamble to the NPRM, the limits on the 120-day forbearance based on an oral request for a borrower who is 270 days or more delinquent are intended to address potential abuse in this area and to prevent the use of serial forbearances based on oral requests.

We disagree with the commenter who suggested that a borrower receiving the 120-day, non-serial forbearance should be denied access to subsequent discretionary or mandatory forbearances unless the borrower can demonstrate increased income in the foreseeable future. Section 428(c)(3) of the HEA, which contains the eligibility criteria for discretionary and mandatory forbearances in the Direct Loan and FFEL programs, does not support the use of the borrower's demonstrated future earnings as a basis for granting forbearance. However, we agree with the commenter that the other repayment options orally reviewed with the borrower at the time the forbearance is granted should be included in the confirming notice sent to the borrower.

Changes: Sections 682.211(d)(2)(iii) and 685.205(a)(8)(ii)(B) of the FFEL and Direct Loan program regulations, respectively, have been revised to require that information on all other repayment options be included in the notice sent to the borrower to confirm the terms of the forbearance.

Forbearance Provisions for Borrowers Receiving Department of Defense Student Loan Repayment Benefits (34 CFR 682.211(h) and 685.205(a)(9))

Comments: Commenters supported the proposed change to ensure that lenders grant appropriate forbearances to borrowers who are performing eligible service to qualify for student loan repayment under authorized Department of Defense loan repayment programs.

Discussion: We appreciate the commenters' support for this regulatory change.

Changes: None.

Borrowers Who Are Delinquent When an Authorized Forbearance Is Granted (34 CFR 682.211(f) and 682.205(b)(2))

Comments: Several commenters supported the proposed change to the regulations to authorize FFEL lenders to grant administrative forbearance to a borrower who is delinquent at the beginning of an authorized period of forbearance and the corresponding change to the Direct Loan regulations. The commenters expressed concern, however, that this authority would provide the Department's loan servicers an opportunity to use forbearances to increase the percentage of Federal loans that they service. The commenters urged the Department to ensure that all delinquent borrowers are treated similarly by requiring the servicer to discuss the terms and conditions and consequences of the forbearance with the borrower and subsequently provide written confirmation of the terms and other pertinent information, as was proposed in the NPRM for borrowers who are 270 or more days delinquent.

Discussion: The additional authority for FFEL lenders and the Department in the Direct Loan Program to grant administrative forbearance to eliminate a period of delinquency that pre-dates the start of an authorized forbearance period is used only in conjunction with an authorized period of forbearance for which the borrower qualifies. The use of forbearance in this circumstance prevents a borrower from reentering repayment up to 12 months later in a delinquent status, at the end of the authorized forbearance period.

Borrowers granted authorized forbearances are provided with pertinent disclosures that also apply to the period of administrative forbearance. Therefore, we do not agree with the commenters' suggestion that we specifically require additional disclosures.

Changes: None.

Loan Rehabilitation Agreement: Reasonable and Affordable Payment Standard (34 CFR 682.405(b) and 685.211(f))

Comments: Several commenters expressed support for the proposed regulations in §§ 682.405(b)(1) and 685.211(f)(1) that would require a guaranty agency and the Department to determine a FFEL or Direct Loan program borrower's rehabilitation payment amount based on the borrower's, and if applicable the borrower's spouse's, current disposable income, family size, and reasonable and necessary expenses.

As discussed below, several commenters raised a number of objections to the process that a guaranty agency and the Department would follow to determine a borrower's reasonable and affordable rehabilitation payment.

Several commenters were critical of the proposed regulations. These commenters believed that the requirements in the proposed regulations would delay and hinder the rehabilitation process. These commenters expressed concern that requesting financial documents and information from borrowers would burden the process, create confusion, and invade the privacy of the borrower. They stated that often borrowers default because they do not complete paperwork and meet deadlines. In the view of these commenters, the proposed regulatory requirements would impede the ability of collection agencies to get borrowers to participate in the loan rehabilitation program. One of these commenters recommended that the proposed regulations not be implemented at all due to the amount of paperwork a borrower would be required to complete to enter into a loan rehabilitation agreement.

Several commenters stated that the determination of a "reasonable and affordable" payment amount can often be accomplished in a telephone conversation in which a borrower's overall financial circumstances are evaluated to establish an acceptable payment amount. In these discussions, the commenters asserted, the borrower's own assessment of his or her total financial circumstances and ability to pay the requested amount serves as the basis for the guaranty agency or Department's determination that the payment amount is reasonable and affordable. These commenters believed that this would be a fair conclusion, since the borrower understands his or her financial resources and constraints better than others. According to the commenters, guaranty agencies find that nearly half of borrowers seeking rehabilitation are able to obtain what the guaranty agencies term reasonable and affordable payment amounts in this manner.

Another commenter, however, argued that, since debt collectors are paid based on a share of revenue collected, Federal student loan servicers have little incentive to offer reasonable and affordable rehabilitation payments that are based on an objective analysis of the borrower's financial circumstances. Instead, the incentive is to push borrowers to make as large a payment as possible, regardless of whether the payment is either reasonable or affordable. Another commenter reiterated this point, stating that private collection agencies—including the Department's own collection contractors—use a balance-sensitive repayment approach for making an initial determination of a borrower's rehabilitation payment amount. Under a balance-sensitive repayment approach, the payment amount offered to the borrower is based on the outstanding balance of the loan, and does not take into consideration the borrower's financial circumstances. In such cases, the commenter asserted, the borrower may feel pressured to agree to a loan rehabilitation payment amount that is unaffordable, and the rehabilitation will ultimately be unsuccessful.

Several commenters raised concerns with regard to use of the Department's proposed Financial Disclosure for Reasonable and Affordable Rehabilitation Payments form for collecting financial and other information from borrowers seeking to rehabilitate their loans. These concerns can be summarized as follows:

- The commenters asserted that use of the form in all cases would be inconsistent with the Department's goal of providing an improved and more consistent loan rehabilitation process for FFEL and Direct Loan borrowers. The commenters believed that the Department can achieve the same goal by emphasizing to its own staff and collection agencies, as well as to guaranty agencies and their collection agencies, the importance of complying with all applicable statutory and regulatory requirements. In the view of these commenters, requiring the use of the form only in the absence of an agreement between the borrower and the loan holder on a reasonable and affordable repayment amount would provide targeted help to such borrowers. The commenters stated that collecting personal and financial information from every borrower who requests loan rehabilitation would be unreasonable and unwarranted.

- The commenters believed that the use of the form would work against the Department's goal of increasing borrower participation in the loan rehabilitation program. The commenters stated that many borrowers would not complete the form, and that the proposed regulations would actually decrease the percentage of borrowers attempting to rehabilitate their loans.

- The commenters expressed concerns that use of the form would infringe on the privacy of the borrowers, requiring them to provide highly sensitive information either to a guaranty agency or to the Department, even if the borrower has already agreed to a repayment amount.

- The commenters believed that the requirements in the proposed regulations would impose an additional impediment to borrowers seeking to regain Title IV eligibility while rehabilitating defaulted loans.

- The commenters were also concerned that use of the form would impose an enormous administrative burden on all parties.

Several commenters stated that they believed that the regulatory requirements that were negotiated and agreed to during the negotiated rulemaking session should only be triggered if the borrower objected to the repayment amount offered by the collection agency or the guaranty agency. They stated that this type of borrower feedback has always been a trigger event for collecting additional financial information to determine reasonable and affordable payments, and asserted that no change to this trigger event was discussed during negotiations. These commenters claimed that the process for determining reasonable and affordable rehabilitation payment amounts provided for in the consensus regulatory language and described in the NPRM was not consistent with their understanding of what was agreed to during the negotiated rulemaking sessions.

Another commenter had a different understanding of the proposed rules that had been agreed to by the negotiated rulemaking committee. This commenter stated that the consensus regulatory language would require loan servicers, loan holders, and debt collectors to use the form collecting financial disclosure information from the borrower for every borrower who seeks to rehabilitate a loan. This commenter pointed out that the proposed regulatory language agreed to by the negotiating committee states that a borrower's reasonable and affordable repayment amount must be based "solely" on information provided on the form and, if requested, supporting documentation. The proposed regulations describe a process in which a borrower who objects to the payment amount determined through use of the form is then offered a rehabilitation payment amount that is calculated using the same formula used for determining payments under IBR. This commenter stated that during the rulemaking negotiations, the commenter supported the consensus regulatory language because the proposed regulations would provide a standardized process to ensure that rehabilitation amounts are determined solely by looking at a borrower's financial circumstances. This commenter recommended that the Department issue guidance to clarify that an offer of a rehabilitation payment amount must be based solely on information provided by the borrower. This commenter also noted that some negotiators had proposed during the negotiations that the initial rehabilitation payment amount offered should be determined using the IBR formula. This commenter recommended that, if the borrower is unable to complete the form, the loan holder should continue the rehabilitation process by determining the payment amount using this approach.

Another commenter expressed concerns about the complexity of the proposed form, and suggested that if the payment calculated using the IBR formula was the initial offer to a borrower, the form would only be needed for borrowers who object to that initial payment amount. The commenter stated that a payment amount calculated using this approach would be acceptable to most borrowers, and would therefore significantly reduce the number of borrowers who would need to use the financial disclosure form.

Discussion: In response to the numerous comments we received expressing concerns about the amount of personal financial information a borrower requesting loan rehabilitation would have to provide under the proposed regulations, we have modified the final regulations to provide that as the first step in the loan rehabilitation process, the lender, loan servicer or the Department will calculate a loan rehabilitation payment amount by using the IBR payment formula that provides for a monthly payment equal to 15 percent of the amount by which the borrower's AGI exceeds 150 percent of the poverty guideline amount applicable to the borrower's State and family size, divided by 12. Throughout the remainder of this preamble, we refer to this as the "15 percent formula." To ensure consistent treatment of all defaulted borrowers, the initial loan rehabilitation payment amount will be calculated in all cases using the 15 percent formula, as described earlier. For new borrowers on or after July 1, 2014, who are repaying non-defaulted Direct Loans under the IBR plan, the IBR plan payment amount is equal to 10 percent of the amount by which the borrower's AGI exceeds 150 percent of the poverty guideline amount applicable to the borrower's State and family size. However, this 10 percent IBR formula will not be used in the initial determination of a reasonable and affordable loan rehabilitation payment amount on a defaulted loan.

It is important to note that loan rehabilitation payments calculated by using the 15 percent formula are not payments that are made under the IBR plan. This means, for example, that such payments do not count toward IBR plan loan forgiveness, nor do they count as qualifying payments for purposes of public service loan forgiveness in the Direct Loan Program.

Under these final regulations, a loan rehabilitation payment amount based on the information collected on the Financial Disclosure for Reasonable and Affordable Payments form will only be calculated if the borrower objects to the payment amount based on the 15 percent formula. If the borrower does object to the payment amount calculated based on this formula and requests that a rehabilitation payment amount be calculated based on information on the form, the borrower can choose which payment amount to accept. We expect that the payment amount based on the 15 percent formula will in most cases be less than the payment amount under a standard 10-year repayment plan, and will be acceptable to most borrowers. Therefore, this approach should significantly reduce the number of borrowers who will be required to complete the financial disclosure form. We believe that this change will address concerns raised by consumer advocates, student groups, guaranty agencies, and collection agencies alike that the financial disclosure information required under the proposed regulations would be overly burdensome for borrowers requesting loan rehabilitation.

Specifically, with regard to commenters' concerns that the proposed regulations would create confusion, add burden to the process, or invade the privacy of the borrower, we believe the revised process in the final regulations is clear and understandable. The revised process significantly reduces burden by limiting the use of the form, and appropriately balances the borrower's privacy with the need to verify information. The final regulations assist with privacy concerns by limiting the information borrowers are required to provide—only requiring the use of the Financial Disclosure for Reasonable and Affordable Payments for those borrowers who object to the monthly payment amount determined based on the 15 percent formula.

Commenters were concerned that the paperwork burden associated with the use of the financial disclosure form would impede the ability of collection agencies to get borrowers to participate in the loan rehabilitation program. Our revisions to the proposed regulations significantly reduce the paperwork burden on borrowers because, again, they will only need to provide the Financial Disclosure for Reasonable and Affordable Payments form if they object to the payment amount based on the 15 percent formula.

Some commenters stated that reliance on the oral statements of the borrower should be sufficient to determine the "reasonable and affordable" payment amount, and that there should be no need for further documentation or verification. Other commenters had the opposite opinion, sharing concern that loan servicers may push borrowers to agree to payments that are not reasonable and affordable. We believe our approach balances applicable equities, burden, verification that payment is reasonable and affordable, and privacy concerns.

With regard to the comments about the agreements reached at the negotiated rulemaking sessions, we believe the NPRM was consistent with the consensus reached through negotiated rulemaking. Commenters did seem to have different understandings of what the NPRM language meant; we believe our revised regulations provide a clear, understandable process.

With regard to comments about a "trigger event," we believe that it would defeat the purpose of the proposed regulations if the regulations only applied in cases when a borrower and loan holder are unable to agree to a loan rehabilitation payment amount. The intent of the regulations is to standardize the process for determining rehabilitation payment amounts. The commenter states that loan holders and borrowers are able to agree to loan rehabilitation payment amounts 50 percent of the time. If this figure is accurate, and the trigger for the rehabilitation payment amount regulations was the failure of the borrower and loan holder to come to an agreement, the loan rehabilitation regulations would only apply to half of the borrowers who apply for rehabilitation.

We note that nothing in these regulations precludes a defaulted borrower from resolving the default by repaying the loan in full. A qualified defaulted borrower may also, under certain conditions, repay a defaulted loan through a new Direct Consolidation Loan. Some defaulted borrowers may also qualify for a loan discharge. The regulations do not prohibit the Secretary, his designee, or a guaranty agency from discussing these other payment arrangements with the borrower outside of the context of the loan rehabilitation program and its associated requirements.

Changes: We have revised §§ 682.405(b)(1)(iii) and 685.211(f)(1)(i) to specify that the initial loan rehabilitation payment amount determined by a guaranty agency or the Secretary equals 15 percent of the amount by which the borrower's Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) exceeds 150 percent of the poverty guideline amount applicable to the borrower's family size and State, divided by 12, except that if this amount is less than $5, the borrower's monthly rehabilitation payment is $5.

We have revised §§ 682.405(b)(1)(vii) and 685.211(f)(3) to specify that if the borrower objects to the initial payment amount, a second loan rehabilitation payment amount is determined by recalculating the payment amount based solely on the information provided on the Financial Disclosure for Reasonable and Affordable Payments form and, if requested, supporting documentation from the borrower and other sources.

Comments: In the NPRM, the Department identified several categories of expenses in proposed §§ 682.405(b)(1)(i)(C) and 685.211(f)(1)(i)(C) that the guaranty agencies and the Department would use to evaluate a borrower's monthly "reasonable and necessary expenses." Although the proposed regulations did not stipulate standardized amounts that a borrower might claim in each of these categories, the Secretary invited comment on whether the regulations should specify standardized amounts, such as those used in the IRS National Standards. Commenters representing both guaranty agencies and consumer groups opposed this idea.

Several commenters noted that the topic of standardization was discussed at length during the negotiations, and noted that an overly rigid framework for making these determinations would likely eliminate the rehabilitation opportunity for those whose financial circumstances do not exactly fit within the framework. They pointed out that, as the Secretary noted in the preamble to the NPRM, preserving appropriate flexibility in the methodology is important to enable guaranty agencies and the Department to ensure that a reasonable and affordable payment is available to all borrowers. These commenters contended that allowing flexibility in this regard strengthens the effectiveness of the regulations in determining reasonable and affordable payment amounts. These commenters stated that the negotiated rulemaking committee decided not to propose a standardized methodology. These commenters reiterated that position in response to the Secretary's invitation to comment.

In a separate comment, another commenter recommended that the Department not use standardized national standards for expense amounts. This commenter stated that, to the extent that the consensus regulatory language reflected an agreement that a combination of standardized and tailored payment options would best meet the needs of borrowers, standardizing the more tailored approach would be a step in the wrong direction.

Discussion: We thank the commenters for responding to the invitation to comment on this proposal in the NPRM. We agree with their view that the final regulations should preserve the flexibility to determine reasonable and affordable rehabilitation payment amounts based on the borrower's financial information, which the proposed regulations provided.

Changes: None.

Comments: One commenter expressed concern about proposed § 682.405(b)(1)(v) and § 685.211(f)(1)(iii), which would provide borrowers with an opportunity to object to an offer of a reasonable and affordable payment amount that is presented to the borrower in a written rehabilitation agreement. The commenter stated that many borrowers will be offered payment amounts orally, and believed that these borrowers should be able to object to the offered payment amount at that point. This commenter noted that requiring borrowers to wait until they receive a written offer will only delay or deter the borrowers from rehabilitating their loans.

Discussion: We agree that a loan servicer may make a first offer of the rehabilitation payment amount based on the 15 percent IBR formula to a borrower orally. If the borrower agrees to the payment amount, the borrower would have to follow up on the conversation by providing the loan holder with the documentation required to calculate a payment amount under that formula. Consistent with §§ 682.405(b)(1)(iii) and 685.211(f)(3), the borrower may object to the initial offer at the time it is made.

Changes: We have revised § 682.405(b)(1)(iv) and § 685.211(f)(1)(ii) to specify that a guaranty agency or the Department may calculate a payment amount based on information provided orally by the borrower, and may provide the borrower with a rehabilitation agreement using that amount. We have also specified in revised §§ 682.405(b)(1)(iv) and 685.211(f)(1)(ii) that if the borrower does not provide the guaranty agency or the Department with the documentation required to calculate the payment amount using the 15 percent formula or to confirm the information provided orally on which the Secretary or the guaranty agency calculated the payment amount, the rehabilitation agreement entered into for that amount is null and void.

Comments: We received several comments on §§ 682.405(b)(1)(v) and 685.211(f)(1)(iii). Section 682.405(b)(1)(v) of the proposed regulations stated that a guaranty agency "may not impose any other conditions unrelated to the amount or timing of the rehabilitation payments" in a rehabilitation agreement. Section 685.211(f)(1)(iii) of the proposed regulations provided that the Secretary would not impose such conditions in rehabilitation agreements for Direct Loans. Several commenters stated that some guaranty agencies currently require a borrower's written acknowledgement of the borrower's understanding of the terms and conditions of rehabilitation, which these commenters stated is a prudent practice when establishing a new repayment agreement with a borrower. In such cases, the borrower may be required to sign and return the agreement or provide a separate, signed authorization statement acknowledging, at a minimum, that collection costs will be added to the loan balance at the time the rehabilitated loan is purchased by an eligible lender. These commenters believed that this requirement for the borrower to review and acknowledge the information provided in the rehabilitation agreement underscores the importance of rehabilitation as a one-time opportunity to remove loans from default status. It also reduces the possibility of misunderstandings about the terms of the loan rehabilitation and related risks for guaranty agencies in the event of a dispute concerning the applicable repayment terms and conditions, costs, and benefits of loan rehabilitation.

Commenters noted that guaranty agencies may also currently require a borrower to provide updated references and contact information to facilitate the loan rehabilitation process. The commenters stated that this provides a purchasing lender with important default prevention information, if needed, since the borrower's contact information may be incomplete or outdated and the references provided in the promissory note may no longer be valid. This enhances a guaranty agency's ability to sell the borrower's rehabilitation-eligible loans. These commenters requested confirmation from the Department that the proposed regulations would not preclude guaranty agencies from continuing these practices.

Discussion: The limitation in the proposed rule that would preclude a guaranty agency from imposing any additional conditions on loan rehabilitation unrelated to the amount or timing of rehabilitation payments was not intended to prohibit the agency from requiring borrowers to acknowledge the terms and conditions of the rehabilitation in writing, or from requiring borrowers to provide updated contact information when the loan rehabilitation agreement is signed. Requiring the borrower to acknowledge such disclosure information, or to provide such contact information, would be helpful to the borrower. It would help to ensure that the borrower understands the rehabilitation agreement, and, where necessary, facilitate the sale of the loan to a FFEL loan holder.

Changes: None.

Comments: There were several comments on proposed §§ 682.405(b)(1)(vi) and 685.211(f)(3) in the proposed regulations. These commenters stated that the terms "IBR formula" or "IBR calculation" should not be used in connection with describing the method used to determine a reasonable and affordable rehabilitation payment amount. These commenters believed that using these terms would cause significant confusion for borrowers, since payments made towards loan rehabilitation do not count as IBR payments. These commenters recommended using the term "alternative payment amount" or "APA" to refer to this formula.

These commenters also noted that proposed §§ 682.405(b)(1)(vi) and 685.211(f)(5) include a cross-reference to the IBR regulations at § 682.215(b)(1), § 685.221(b)(1), and § 685.221(b)(2). Those regulations include other requirements in addition to the IBR payment amount formula. These commenters believed that using the broad cross reference could be interpreted as incorporating these other provisions not specifically related to the formula as applying to the rehabilitation requirements as well.

These commenters recommended that the Department include the "alternative payment amount" formula directly in the loan rehabilitation regulations, rather than cross-referencing the IBR regulations.

Discussion: As discussed earlier in this preamble, in the final regulations we have switched the order in which the rehabilitation payment amounts are determined and offered to borrowers. Under the final regulations, the payment amount based on the 15 percent formula will be the first offer to the borrower, and the payment amount based on information provided on the financial disclosure form will be the second offer. The borrower may choose which payment amount to accept. Since the 15 percent formula payment will be the first payment amount offered during rehabilitation discussions, it would not be accurate to refer to it as the "alternative payment amount."

We agree with the commenters that we do not intend the extensive and detailed requirements in §§ 682.215(b)(1), 685.221(b)(1), and 685.221(b)(2) of the IBR regulations to apply to determining a loan rehabilitation payment amount. Replacing the cross-references with the 15 percent formula will make the loan rehabilitation regulations simpler and clearer. In addition, eliminating the cross-references may reduce the potential for borrowers to confuse rehabilitation payments based on the 15 percent formula with payments made by a non-defaulted borrower under the IBR plan. Eliminating the cross-references also clarifies that the initial rehabilitation payment amount for a "new borrower" as defined in § 685.221(a)(4) of the IBR plan regulations would not be calculated using the 10 percent IBR formula as described in § 685.221(b)(1) of the IBR plan regulations. Regardless of how a loan rehabilitation payment amount is determined, a rehabilitation payment does not qualify as an IBR plan payment and does not count toward IBR plan loan forgiveness or for any other purposes for which a qualifying payment made under the IBR plan on a non-defaulted loan might count, such as for public service loan forgiveness in the Direct Loan Program.

Changes: We have replaced the cross-references in §§ 682.405(b)(1)(iii) and 685.211(f)(1)(i) with the 15 percent formula.

Comments: In the NPRM, the Secretary invited comment on proposed §§ 682.405(b)(1)(vii) and 685.211(f)(5), which would provide that a loan rehabilitation does not go forward if the borrower fails to provide the documentation required for the payment amount to be calculated. The Secretary asked if it would be appropriate to make a change in the final regulations to require a borrower to submit information needed to recalculate the borrower's reasonable and affordable rehabilitation payment amount only if new information is required beyond what the borrower provided when he or she initially requested loan rehabilitation. Several commenters responded to this invitation for comment, and all supported making this change in the final regulations. One commenter requested that the Department's final regulations be flexible enough to cover the following scenarios:

- Some information or documentation originally submitted by the borrower is illegible or difficult to understand, and needs to be requested again or explained.
- Significant time passes between the borrower's initial request for rehabilitation and the borrower's subsequent request for a recalculated payment amount, so a verification of critical information may be needed to determine an appropriate payment amount.
- The borrower realizes after submitting the original information/documentation that the submission was incomplete or inaccurate, and that additional information or documentation is needed by the loan holder to determine an appropriate payment amount.

Discussion: As discussed earlier in this preamble, we have switched the order in which rehabilitation payment amounts are offered to borrowers. Under the final regulations, a payment amount calculated using the 15 percent formula will be the basis for the first offer. If the borrower objects to that amount, the guaranty agency or the Department will calculate a payment amount based on detailed financial information provided by the borrower, and the borrower may then choose between the two payment amounts. Except when the loan is being collected by AWG, it is extremely unlikely that the loan holder will already have the detailed financial information requested on the form. Therefore, there is no need to make the requested change.

Changes: None.

Comments: One commenter expressed support for the provision in proposed § 682.405(b)(1)(x) that would limit guaranty agency contact with a borrower during the rehabilitation period to collection activities required by law and communications with the borrower that support the rehabilitation.

Discussion: We appreciate the commenter's support. We also note that this provision, in §§ 682.405(b)(1)(xi) and § 685.211(f)(7), does not prohibit guaranty agencies or the Secretary from contacting borrowers to remind them when the next payment is due or, in appropriate circumstances, to inquire about any missed payments. The intent of such calls is to ensure that the borrower maintains the consecutive monthly payment stream required to successfully rehabilitate a loan. Contacts of this type between a guaranty agency or the Secretary and a borrower are "communications that support the rehabilitation."

Changes: None.

Loan Rehabilitation Agreement: Treatment of Borrowers Subject to Administrative Wage Garnishment (34 CFR 682.405(a) and 685.211(f))

Comments: Three commenters expressed support for the proposed regulations in §§ 682.405(a)(3) and 685.211(f)(12)(i) that would suspend payments made through administrative wage garnishment (AWG) for borrowers who make five qualifying payments under a loan rehabilitation agreement. These commenters felt that this step would be a reward and an incentive for borrowers and would encourage defaulted borrowers to rehabilitate their loans.

Several commenters stated that proposed § 682.405(a)(3) appears to assume that a guaranty agency would not be required to suspend the borrower's current garnishment order for another reason prior to receipt of the borrower's fifth loan rehabilitation payment. However, these commenters noted that this may not always be the case under the current and proposed AWG regulations in § 682.410(b)(9). For instance, if a borrower does not request a hearing prior to the initiation of AWG, but does so shortly after AWG commences, the AWG hearing process would occur during the period of the borrower's first five payments under a loan rehabilitation agreement and could result in a required suspension of the garnishment order during that time. These commenters recommended that § 682.405(a)(3) be modified to include a reference to § 682.410(b)(9) to clarify that a guaranty agency may suspend a garnishment order for a borrower pursuing loan rehabilitation prior to receipt of the borrower's fifth rehabilitation payment, if required to do so for another reason in accordance with § 682.410(b)(9).

Discussion: We agree with the commenters. The proposed regulations governing suspension of AWG payments after a borrower makes five qualifying rehabilitation payments were not intended to preclude guaranty agencies or the Department from suspending AWG collection for reasons unrelated to the loan rehabilitation before the borrower makes a fifth qualifying loan rehabilitation payment. As the commenters noted, a guaranty agency may receive a notice to suspend AWG due to other reasons, as specified in § 682.410(b)(9) of the AWG regulations.

Changes: We have revised § 682.405(a)(3)(i) to specify that the requirement that a guaranty agency continue collecting a loan by AWG until the borrower makes five qualifying monthly rehabilitation payments does not apply if the guaranty agency is precluded from collecting through AWG under § 682.410(b)(9)(i), and have made a comparable change in § 685.211(f)(11)(i) of the Direct Loan regulations.

Modification of the FFEL Program and Direct Loan Program Regulations: Counseling Borrowers (34 CFR 682.604(a) and 685.304(b))

Comments: One commenter expressed support for the proposed changes to the exit counseling regulations that would allow a school to send written counseling materials to a student borrower by email when the student has withdrawn without notice to the school or failed to complete required exit counseling. However, the commenter believed that the wording of proposed §§ 682.604(a)(1) and 685.304(b)(3) could be misinterpreted, as it could be read to mean either that a student must provide an email address to the school within 30 days after the school learns that the student has withdrawn, or that the school must provide the written counseling materials to the student by email within 30 days after learning of the student's withdrawal. The commenter assumed that the second interpretation is what was intended, and recommended that the regulatory language be revised to make this clear.

The same commenter also noted that in the preamble to the NPRM, the Department indicated that the proposed changes in §§ 682.604(a)(1) and 685.304(b)(3) allowing schools to send written counseling materials to an email address provided by the student borrower in certain cases reflected existing guidance included in the Department's Federal Student Aid Handbook. The commenter pointed out that the guidance in the Federal Student Loan Handbook clarifies that if a school sends exit counseling materials to a student by email, the school must use the student's "home (not school) email address," if the school has that address. The commenter recommended that the Department include in the regulations this prohibition on sending the counseling materials to the student borrower's school email address, but stated that there should be no reason to limit schools to sending exit counseling materials only to a student's "home" email address. The commenter stated that as long as the school does not send the counseling materials to an email address associated with its own institution, it should be able to send the materials to the student's home or work email address, or even to an email address for the student at another institution where the student is in attendance.

Discussion: The Department appreciates the commenter's support of the changes to the exit counseling regulations. With regard to the intent of the wording of proposed §§ 682.604(a)(1) and 685.304(b)(3), the commenter's understanding is correct. The school must send the counseling materials within 30 days after learning that the student borrower has withdrawn or failed to complete the required exit counseling.

The Department agrees with the recommendation to incorporate into the regulations the statement in the Federal Student Aid Handbook clarifying that written counseling materials may not be sent to a student borrower's email address at the same school that is sending the materials. We also agree that schools should not be limited to sending the counseling materials to the student's "home" email address. However, we note that the proposed regulations did not include this limitation. The proposed regulations stated that the written counseling materials could be sent to "an email address provided by the borrower."

Changes: We have revised §§ 682.604(a)(1) and 685.304(b)(3) to clarify that the school must send the counseling materials within 30 days after learning that the student borrower has withdrawn or failed to complete the required exit counseling, and that the counseling materials may not be sent to a student's email address at the same school that is sending the materials.

FFEL Program Issues

FFEL Lender Repayment Disclosures to Borrowers Who Are 60 Days Delinquent or Who Are Having Difficulty Making Payments (34 CFR 682.205(a)(4))

Comments: One commenter agreed with the proposed change to provide lenders with five business days rather than the five calendar days specified in current regulations to send the required disclosure to a borrower who is 60 days delinquent. The commenter also supported the proposed change to provide that a lender does not have to send the required disclosure when a borrower is having difficulty making payments if the borrower's difficulty had already been resolved based on an earlier communication between the lender and the borrower. The commenter agreed that multiple disclosures would confuse the borrower.

Discussion: The Secretary appreciates the commenter's support.

Changes: None.

Administrative Wage Garnishment of the Disposable Pay of Defaulted FFEL Program Borrowers (34 CFR 682.410(b))
Borrower Hearing Opportunities on the Enforceability of the Debt and a Borrower's Claim of Financial Hardship (34 CFR 682.410(b)(9)(i))

Comments: One commenter noted support for the changes made to the FFEL administrative wage garnishment regulations in the NPRM.

Discussion: The Department appreciates the commenter's support for the revised regulatory language.

Changes: None.

Comments: Under proposed § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(F)(2)(iv), if a hearing official upholds a borrower's objection to the amount or rate of withholding, a guaranty agency "may" order a lesser rate or amount that would allow the borrower to meet basic living expenses. On pages 45641 and 45642 of the NPRM, we pointed out that this provision differs from the rules governing AWG for Department-held loans at 34 CFR part 34, and that, in the latter regulations, the word "must" is used instead. We invited comments on whether it was preferable to use "must" rather than "may". One commenter supported the consensus language in the NPRM without further explanation. Another commenter agreed with the Department's suggestion that "must" was a preferable term because a hearing official's financial hardship determination and decision regarding the amount or rate of withholding should be binding on the guaranty agency issuing a withholding order, and because the regulatory language for guaranty agencies and the Department should be consistent.

Discussion: We agree with the commenter who expressed support for changing the term "may" to "must." Not only is it important to ensure that substantive provisions of the FFEL Program AWG regulations are consistent, to the extent practicable, with the rules governing AWG for Department-held loans, use of the term "must" would provide more equitable treatment for borrowers who are subject to AWG. Furthermore, use of the term "must" would ensure that borrowers who receive an opportunity for an independent determination of a financial hardship objection will have that determination followed by the guaranty agency issuing a withholding order. The decision of the hearing official binds the guaranty agency or the Secretary as to the maximum amount that may be ordered withheld from the borrower's wages and neither has discretion to order that a greater amount be withheld.

Changes: We have changed "may" to "must" in § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(F)(2)(iv).

Comments: On page 45641 of the NPRM, when discussing the determination of whether a withholding amount would cause a financial hardship to a borrower, we invited comments on whether the term "National Standards" used in the proposed rules should be changed to "Collection Financial Standards" in the final rules to conform to the term used by the IRS to refer to such standards. One commenter expressed support for making this change in the final rule, stating that the term "Collection Financial Standards" more accurately reflects all living expense category standards used in determining whether a withholding amount would cause a financial hardship for the borrower.

Discussion: We agree with the commenter's reasons for changing the term to "Collection Financial Standards." The IRS, which promulgates the standards, uses the term to include both what the IRS calls the "National Standards" (food, etc.) as well as the regionalized Housing and Utilities Standards and Transportation Standards. The latter include average amounts spent for housing, utilities, and transportation, which represent a significant portion of borrowers' living expenses. The term "Collection Financial Standards" is the correct title of the IRS Standards that hearing officials must use when determining the financial hardship for borrowers.

Changes: We have changed the three uses of the term "National Standards" to "Collection Financial Standards" in § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(F)(2)(ii) and (iii).

Comments: A commenter noted that proposed § 682.410(b)(9)(i) does not address a situation in which a guaranty agency may be required to suspend a withholding order. Under proposed § 682.405(a)(3), a borrower who makes five qualifying payments under a rehabilitation agreement can request that the agency suspend a withholding order. The commenter suggested including a cross-reference in the AWG regulations to § 682.405(a)(3) and a brief description of a borrower's right to request suspension under that provision.

Discussion: We agree with the commenter's suggestion and believe that including such a reference in § 682.410(b)(9)(i) would be beneficial. All AWG regulatory provisions are located or referenced in § 682.410(b)(9) to minimize confusion.

Changes: We have added a new § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(V) to include a cross-reference to § 682.405(a)(3) and describe the possible suspension of the withholding order.

Comments: A commenter noted that in proposed § 682.410(b)(9)(ii)(G), the Department defines a withholding order as the order a guaranty agency sends to an employer directing the employer to withhold the pay of the employed borrower. However, the commenter also noted that the Department states that such an order may also be referred to as a "wage garnishment order" or "garnishment order." The commenter suggested that only one of these terms be used to avoid confusion with other communications sent by the agency.

Discussion: In the proposed regulations, the Department distinguished between an "order," which is the term for the mandate issued to the employer requiring the employer to withhold from the borrower's wages, and a "notice," which refers to the warning sent to the borrower to alert the borrower that the agency is preparing to enforce the loan by garnishment of the borrower's wages. Because these two communications are readily distinguished by the use of the term "order" to refer to the legally-binding mandate and "notice" to refer to correspondence sent to the borrower, we do not believe that alternative use of the term “garnishment” or “withholding” prior to “order” will cause any confusion.

Changes: None.

Comments: A commenter stated that the proposed rule would allow borrowers two new bases on which they may object to AWG in the FFEL program: Enforceability of the debt and financial hardship. The commenter further asserted that the HEA does not specifically name these as permissible objections, but acknowledges that borrowers have been permitted to use these objections. The commenter further expressed concern that AWG hearing officials are unqualified to make legal determinations of loan enforceability. The commenter therefore requested a standardized appeal process if a hearing official makes an enforceability determination that the guaranty agency believes is erroneous.

Discussion: First, we note that the commenter is incorrect in asserting that section 488A of the HEA does not provide borrowers with the right to object to AWG on the basis of claims that the debt is not enforceable or on the basis of financial hardship. We address these issues in turn.

Second, Section 488A(a)(5) provides borrowers the opportunity for a hearing concerning “the existence or the amount of the debt.” 20 U.S.C. 1095a(a)(5). It is not clear which objections the commenter considers the HEA to permit the borrower to raise in the hearing, but the statute is clear that if the borrower objects to the existence or amount of the debt claimed by the loan holder, the hearing official must determine whether the debt in question is enforceable, and if so, what amount is enforceable. In the context of section 488A of the HEA, determining whether a debt “exists” entails more than a bookkeeping test of assuring that all amounts disbursed and payments received have been correctly totaled. To reduce the hearing process to a bookkeeping exercise is to suggest that section 488A of the HEA empowers a guarantor to issue a legally-binding order that an individual’s wages be withheld to collect a claim that applicable law would bar the guarantor from enforcing in any other proceeding, such as a suit on the debt. Section 488A of the HEA authorizes collection by non-judicial wage garnishment “notwithstanding any provision of State law.” 20 U.S.C. 1095a. That provision does no more than preempt those State laws that would require a creditor to obtain a judicial writ in order to garnish wages. Nothing in the language of section 488A of the HEA suggests that the statute preempts other applicable, non-preempted State law (e.g., forgery or prior compromise) or Federal law (e.g., discharge in bankruptcy) that would bar enforcement of the claim against the individual.

For this reason, it is the responsibility of guaranty agencies to ensure that AWG hearing officials are qualified to make reasoned determinations regarding the enforceability of Federal student loan debts. Furthermore, prior to an AWG hearing, a guaranty agency should have already made a determination on the enforceability of the debt. Section 682.406(a) requires an agency to carefully evaluate that all due diligence requirements were met and that the debt is legally enforceable before requesting a reinsurance payment on a loan.

In addition, promptly after paying the default claim, the guarantor must give the borrower notice of its intent to collect the loan and report the default to credit bureaus, and to provide “an opportunity for an administrative review of the legal enforceability or past-due status of the loan.” 34 CFR 682.410(b)(5)(ii)(D) and (b)(5)(vi)(I). Prior to an AWG hearing, the agency should have therefore made its own reasoned determination of the enforceability of the debt and have sufficient evidence supporting that determination. The new language added to the wage garnishment provisions is not a new consideration not already existing explicitly in these provisions and implicitly in the mandate to provide a hearing on the “existence” of the debt.

Third, section 488A(a)(5) of the HEA provides borrowers with an opportunity for a hearing “on the terms of the repayment schedule” if that schedule is set by order and not by an agreement with the borrower, as provided in section 488A(a)(4) of the HEA. The only interpretation of this provision that implements the objective of the statute is that the basis for such objection must be a claim that withholding the full 15 percent would cause financial hardship. The Department has consistently interpreted that phrase, and the identical language in 5 U.S.C. 5514, which authorizes Federal Salary Offset and from which this provision appears to have originated, to so provide. See, e.g., 68 FR 8142, 8151 (Feb. 19, 2003) and 67 FR 18072, 18073 (April 12, 2002). In establishing the terms of the repayment schedule, a determination must be made as to whether the proposed withholding order would be excessive in light of the borrower’s reasonable and necessary living expenses.

Finally, with regard to the comment that the Department should establish an administrative appeal procedure to be available for review of hearing official decisions that the guarantor believes to be erroneous, the Department notes first that in some instances, State law applicable to the administrative proceedings of State agencies may provide such an appellate review procedure, and those laws may provide an opportunity for borrowers or guarantors to challenge decisions of hearing officials. Those guarantors that are not State agencies subject to this kind of administrative appeal regime are in no different posture than the Department itself, which has no opportunity to appeal adverse rulings by independent hearing officials with regard to proposed salary offsets to collect from Federal employees under 5 U.S.C. 5415. Federal employees who dispute the hearing official’s ruling may sue the Department under the Federal Administrative Procedure Act to challenge that ruling. See, e.g., Sibley v. U.S. Department of Education, 913 F. Supp. 1181 (N.D. Ill. 1995), aff’d, 111 F.3d 133 (7th Cir. 1997). Applicable law gives the Department no corresponding right to challenge and obtain a judicial review of an adverse ruling by a hearing official. The Department has not established any administrative appeal procedure for challenges to AWG hearing decisions made by Department staff, and has no resources sufficient to establish a Federal review process for AWG hearing decisions for loans held by guarantors. Moreover, regardless of the party that might decide such an appeal, fundamental fairness dictates that any administrative appeal process be available for borrowers as well as guarantors.

Therefore, the proposed regulations at § 682.410(b)(9) do not create new borrower objections; instead, the proposed changes would make the FFEL Program regulations consistent with existing Departmental regulations.

Changes: None.

Comments: A commenter noted that proposed § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(I) includes rules governing ex parte communications (communications where one or more parties to the hearing are not present) in AWG hearings and that the provision precludes ex parte communications on non-procedural matters. The commenter expressed concern that, as drafted, the proposed rule would unnecessarily impede the administration of the hearing process. The commenter also requested clarification that substantive ex parte communications during a hearing are permissible if the absent party has been given proper notice of the hearing.

Discussion: We agree with the commenter's suggestions. The intention of the proposed provision was to ensure that both parties to the hearing are present and able to participate. However, we recognize that borrowers would not be disadvantaged by allowing certain administrative matters to be handled ex parte in addition to matters involving the time, place, and manner of the hearing as would be permitted under the proposed rule.

We also agree that the hearing process should not be unnecessarily delayed due to the unexcused absence of one of the parties when proper notice of the hearing has been given to the absent party. Under the proposed rules, a guaranty agency is required to suspend a withholding order on the 61st day after a hearing request was received. Therefore, without allowing an ex parte hearing to proceed in such contexts, it would be possible for a party to effectively enforce the suspension of an AWG order by failing to appear for properly scheduled and noticed hearings, because such hearings could not proceed in the absence of one of the parties.

Changes: We have revised § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(I) to more generally convey the intent that communications on administrative matters not related to the substance of the AWG hearings may be conducted on an ex parte basis. We have also revised this section to allow an ex parte hearing to proceed if the parties have agreed on the time, place, and manner of the hearing and the borrower has been given proper notice of the same but does not appear for the hearing.

Comments: A commenter stated that proposed § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(F)(1)(ii) and (b)(9)(i)(J) permit a borrower to raise new objections and provide additional evidence before the hearing is completed. The commenter further noted that while the hearing official may grant an extension of the 60-day decision deadline so the borrower may present additional evidence, the regulations do not allow extension of the deadline to raise objections. The commenter requested a clarification on whether the 60 day decision deadline could be extended for the latter purpose.

Discussion: We agree with the commenter's suggestion. If a borrower has not raised an objection to the AWG order but wishes to do so, the hearing official may grant an extension of the 60-day deadline at his or her discretion.

Changes: We have revised § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(J)(1) to state that the borrower may request an extension of the 60-day deadline for purposes of raising an objection not previously raised.

Comments: A commenter noted that proposed § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(J) permits a hearing official to grant extensions of the 60-day deadline for a decision to be rendered. The commenter further noted that while this deadline may be extended by the hearing official, there is no associated extension of the requirement under proposed § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(H) that suspension of the withholding order occur if a decision is not rendered by the 61st day. The commenter requested that the regulations be modified to require that the suspension of the withholding order be delayed past the 61st day for a period equal to the number of days that the hearing deadline is delayed.

Discussion: The purpose of suspending the withholding order beginning on the 61st day is to create an incentive for ensuring that the AWG hearing is completed and a decision issued on a timely basis. While the commenter is correct that § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(J)(1) permits the hearing official to grant extensions of the 60-day deadline at the request of the borrower, § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(J)(2) requires the hearing official to grant an extension made at the request of a guaranty agency. Changing the regulations to be consistent with the commenter's suggestion would create a scenario where a guaranty agency could request extensions that a hearing official would be compelled to grant, resulting in failure to suspend a withholding order long past the 61-day deadline required under the proposed regulations. Such a regulatory framework would eliminate the guaranty agency's incentive to ensure a timely hearing.

Changes: None.

Comments: A commenter requested that the AWG regulations be modified to allow a borrower to request that AWG continue during the hearing process. The commenter noted that the proposed regulations governing loan rehabilitation provide for suspension of a garnishment order for a borrower pursuing loan rehabilitation, but allow the borrower to affirmatively request to remain in AWG while completing the loan rehabilitation process. The commenter stated that these two situations are comparable and that rather than automatically suspending a withholding order on the 61st day after the borrower's hearing request, a borrower should be able to request that the order not be suspended.

Discussion: We believe there are significant distinctions between the two situations the commenter describes. In many cases, the borrower seeking loan rehabilitation intends to pay the balance of his or her loan, and continuation of AWG in that context is one plausible mechanism by which a borrower would seek a reduced principal balance upon successful rehabilitation of the loan. However, a borrower objecting to the amount or existence of the debt or the rate of withholding would not, by definition, be interested in the continuation of AWG at the existing rate. In addition, we are concerned that providing the borrower the option to continue AWG may make the borrower feel pressured to accept the offer, or cause the borrower to fail to understand he or she has the option to decline it.

Executive Orders 12866 and 13563

Regulatory Impact Analysis

Under Executive Order 12866, the Secretary must determine whether this regulatory action is "significant" and, therefore, subject to the requirements of the Executive order and subject to review by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). Section 3(f) of Executive Order 12866 defines a "significant regulatory action" as an action likely to result in a rule that may—

(1) Have an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more, or adversely affect a sector of the economy, productivity, competition, jobs, the environment, public health or safety, or State, local, or tribal governments or communities in a material way (also referred to as an "economically significant" rule);

(2) Create serious inconsistency or otherwise interfere with an action taken or planned by another agency;

(3) Materially alter the budgetary impacts of entitlement grants, user fees, or loan programs or the rights and obligations of recipients thereof; or

(4) Raise novel legal or policy issues arising out of legal mandates, the President's priorities, or the principles stated in the Executive order.

This regulatory action will have an annual effect on the economy of more than $100 million. It is estimated to reduce annual paperwork burden on entities participating in the Federal student loan programs by approximately $109 million. Therefore, this final regulatory action is economically significant and subject to review by OMB under section 3(f)(1) of Executive Order 12866.

We have also reviewed these regulations pursuant to Executive Order 13563, which supplements and explicitly reaffirms the principles, structures, and definitions governing regulatory review established in Executive Order 12866. To the extent permitted by law, Executive Order 13563 requires that an agency—

(1) Propose or adopt regulations only upon a reasoned determination that their benefits justify their costs (recognizing that some benefits and costs are difficult to quantify);

(2) Tailor its regulations to impose the least burden on society, consistent with attaining regulatory objectives, taking into account, among other things, and to the extent practicable, the costs of cumulative regulations;

(3) In choosing among alternative regulatory approaches, select those approaches that maximize net benefits (including potential economic, environmental, public health and safety, and other advantages; distributive impacts; and equity);

(4) To the extent feasible, specify performance objectives, rather than specifying the behavior or manner of compliance that regulated entities must adopt; and

(5) Identify and assess available alternatives to direct regulation, including providing economic incentives to encourage the desired behavior, such as user fees or marketable permits, or providing information upon which choices can be made by the public.

Executive Order 13563 requires agencies “to use the best available techniques to quantify anticipated present and future benefits and costs as accurately as possible.” The Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs within OMB emphasized that these techniques may include “identifying changing future compliance costs that might result from technological innovation or anticipated behavioral changes.”

We are issuing these final regulations only upon a reasoned determination that their benefits justify their costs. In choosing among alternative regulatory approaches, we selected those approaches that maximize net benefits. Based on the analysis below, the Department believes that these final regulations are consistent with the principles in Executive Order 13563.

We also have determined that this regulatory action will not unduly interfere with State, local, and tribal governments in the exercise of their governmental functions.

In this regulatory impact analysis we discuss the need for regulatory action, the potential costs and benefits, net budget impacts, assumptions, limitations, and data sources, as well as regulatory alternatives we considered. Elsewhere in this section under

Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, we identify and explain burdens specifically associated with information collection requirements.

The Need for Regulatory Action

As detailed in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRM) published July 29, 2013, the Department is issuing these final regulations to clarify a number of issues related to the administration of the Federal student loan programs, to make the Direct Loan regulations comprehensive, to eliminate regulations in the FFEL Program that are no longer needed because origination of new FFEL loans ceased with the passage of the SAFRA Act, to reflect changes made to interest rates in the Direct Loan Program by the Bipartisan Student Loan Certainty Act of 2013, and to clarify the loan rehabilitation process for borrowers with defaulted student loans.

The Secretary is revising the Direct Loan regulations to incorporate provisions from the FFEL regulations that were only cross-referenced. By incorporating the substantive provisions in the Direct Loan regulations instead of simply cross-referencing to the FFEL regulations, the Direct Loan regulations will be comprehensive. This is appropriate since the Direct Loan Program is now the primary Federal student loan program. The elimination of new loan originations in the FFEL Program means that many of the current FFEL Program regulations are no longer necessary. In addition, the final regulations improve consistency across the FFEL, Direct Loan and Perkins Loan programs. Previously, the different title IV loan programs were regulated and administered differently in areas where they could be consistent. The final regulations eliminate these differences where appropriate.

The final regulations provide clarity and transparency to the administration of the loans programs. Over the years there have been consistent concerns that borrowers are unable to properly manage their Federal student loans because of confusion over their rights and options. This is particularly true for borrowers who are delinquent on their loans and borrowers who experience personal hardship. The final regulations clarify the rules for borrowers and help them gain a better understanding of their rights and responsibilities. Also, the final regulations provide better guidance to lenders and guaranty agencies about their roles and responsibilities in servicing Federal student loans.

One area in which concerns have been raised about the consistent and appropriate treatment of borrowers is in the rehabilitation of defaulted loans. The Department wants to ensure that borrowers who wish to rehabilitate their defaulted loans are properly informed about their rights to “reasonable and affordable” payments and how a reasonable and affordable payment is determined.

Prior regulations allowed a borrower with defaulted student loans to rehabilitate those loans by making nine full, on-time payments (within 20 days of the due date) over a 10-month period in an amount agreed to by the borrower and the loan holder (the Department for a defaulted Direct Loan, a guaranty agency or the Department for a defaulted FFEL Program loan). These regulations provided that the payment amount required by the guaranty agency or the Secretary must be reasonable and affordable. However, as described in the NPRM published July 29, 2013, there have been complaints that guaranty agencies, the Department, and the debt collection agencies that collect Federal student loans require payments that exceed this standard.

The Secretary believes that providing borrowers with an improved process to rehabilitate a defaulted loan is in the best interests of the taxpayers and the borrower. Defaulted borrowers continue to accrue interest on the debt and are charged collection costs. In addition, the default harms their credit scores, and the borrowers may have trouble purchasing homes or obtaining auto loans or other types of consumer credit. By improving the opportunities for defaulted borrowers to rehabilitate their student loans, the Department will not only improve the chances for collection of the full amount of the debt but also help some defaulted borrowers return to full economic participation.

Some defaulted borrowers who may be interested in rehabilitating their defaulted loans are also subject to administrative wage garnishment (AWG). Those borrowers may be discouraged from trying to fully rehabilitate their loans because they fear that they will not be able to make loan payments in addition to the amount garnished. Through these final regulations, the Department aims to add clarity to the AWG process so that affected borrowers will understand what is required for AWG to be suspended.

Discussion of Costs, Benefits, and Transfers

Adding clarity to the loan rehabilitation process offers many benefits. The Department believes that rehabilitation offers benefits for students, the Department, and the Nation. Defaulted borrowers may be more willing to complete the rehabilitation process. Defaulted borrowers may see significant improvements in their credit scores and purchasing power. As these borrowers become bigger participants in the economy, an improved loan rehabilitation process should support positive growth.

Improved loan rehabilitation rates will also allow the Department and collection agencies to concentrate their collection efforts on non-paying borrowers. In general, the more student loan accounts that are active and current, the better for the programs. The Department believes these regulatory changes will help ensure that the Federal student loan programs remain strong and support maximum access to higher education for American students.

As detailed in the NPRM, loan rehabilitations have steadily increased over the past decade, from just over $223 million in defaulted Federal student loan debt in FY 2001 to $5 billion in FY 2011. Loan rehabilitations as a share of collections rose from approximately 4.4 percent in FY 2001 to 43.0 percent in FY 2011. Part of the increase in loan rehabilitation can be linked to growing enrollment, rising tuition, and two economic slowdowns, all of which led to more student loan borrowing. However, the higher percentage of total collections that comes from loan rehabilitation shows that the Department and guaranty agencies are working with borrowers to help them take advantage of the opportunity for loan rehabilitation.

Even though these final regulations could possibly result in lower payment amounts for borrowers while they are rehabilitating their defaulted loans, the borrowers would still be responsible for paying their entire debt. Furthermore, even if loan rehabilitation payments are lowered on average across the board, the Department believes that the overall benefits of having more borrowers current in their debt payments will outweigh any short-term cost of reduced payments.

Overall, the true monetary effect of these final regulations will depend heavily on various factors. The Department has implemented changes to its income-driven repayment options and expects these changes to help slow a rising default rate by offering improved payment management options to borrowers. Also, as the economy continues to improve, the default rate may drop as more borrowers find employment.

Outside of loan rehabilitation, the regulations would provide many additional benefits to borrowers and promote a more efficient and transparent Federal student loan program.

By expanding from 90 to 120 days the window during which a borrower may qualify for a closed school loan discharge after withdrawing from a school that eventually closes, the number of borrowers who qualify for the discharge may increase. However, school closures are a relatively rare occurrence. In 2007, 43 schools participating in the title IV programs closed. This number dropped to 30 in 2008 and to 18 in 2011. While the extended window may mean that more borrowers qualify for a closed school discharge, we do not believe the extension will result in a significant increased cost. In 2011, 214 borrowers received closed school loan discharges for loans valued at approximately $870,000. This was an increase from the 2010 numbers of 50 borrowers with a loan value of $467,000, but still represents a very small portion of outstanding federal student loans.

The expansion of circumstances in which lenders may grant administrative forbearance gives the Department and FFEL lenders more flexibility in dealing with defaulted borrowers. These revisions also clarify the eligibility criteria for forbearances and promote a more transparent loan program.

Borrowers will see other benefits under these final regulations as well. The changes to the AWG hearing process will help borrowers gain a better understanding of their rights and responsibilities in that process and ensure that borrowers are treated consistently by guaranty agencies and the Department. Additionally, the revisions to § 685.301 will allow students who transfer from one school into non-term or certain standard non-term programs at a different school during the middle of an academic year to initially be eligible for a Direct Loan to cover the remainder of the academic year that began at the prior school (up to their remaining eligibility under the annual loan limits), regardless of whether the new school accepts credits from the prior school.

The final regulations also reflect changes made to interest rates in the Direct Loan Program by the Bipartisan Student Loan Certainty Act of 2013 (Pub. L. 113–28). As detailed in § 685.202, under this Act interest rates will be determined each June for new loans being made for the upcoming award year, which runs from July 1 to the following June 30. Each loan will have a fixed interest rate for the life of the loan based on rates for specific Treasury bills or bonds, an add-on determined by a combination of loan type and undergraduate or graduate student status, and an interest rate cap. For example, the interest rate for Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized Loans made to undergraduates with a first disbursement date on or after July 1, 2013, and before July 1, 2014, is 3.86 percent, based on the bond equivalent rate of 91-day Treasury bills auctioned at the final auction held prior to that June 1 plus 2.05 percentage points. The interest rate for Direct Subsidized Loans and Direct Unsubsidized Loans made to undergraduate students is capped at 8.25 percent. Under this policy, borrowers can benefit from lower interest rates while having the certainty of a fixed rate and a cap on the maximum interest rate as Federal borrowing costs vary in the future. If Federal borrowing costs rise in the future, borrowers with loans in later cohorts may have interest rates greater than would have been the case if the interest rates prior to the enactment of the Bipartisan Student Loan Certainty Act of 2013, had remained in effect, so the inclusion of the caps for various loan types limits future borrowers' exposure to interest rate increases.

Overall, these final regulations strengthen the Federal student loan programs and help support the American postsecondary education system. As more and more students now depend on student loans to pay for their college education, it is essential that borrowers fully understand the rights and responsibilities that are a part of their student loan obligations. It is also essential that the student loan programs operate as efficiently as possible. These revisions are part of the Department's commitment to running efficient loan programs that support more than ten million students per year. This number will grow as the country pursues the President's 2020 goal of leading the world in college degree attainment. Keeping a strong higher education system will be essential to America maintaining its economic advantage in the world.

Regulatory Alternatives Considered and Analysis of Significant Comments

We discussed the regulatory alternatives we considered in the NPRM (78 FR 45668). Further, as discussed in the Analysis of Comments and Changes section of this preamble, 25 comments were received in the comment period following publication of the NPRM that ended August 28, 2013. These comments covered a range of issues, including suggestions for technical changes to the FFEL and Direct Loan regulations. The process for determining a reasonable and affordable payment amount in loan rehabilitation received the most comment.

In particular, several commenters suggested switching the order of the two methods for determining the reasonable and affordable payment amount for loan rehabilitation so that the 15 percent formula would be used first, and only borrowers who object to the amount calculated under this formula would need to provide detailed financial information. Consumer advocates and commenters representing collection agencies agreed that the amount of information required by the proposed financial information form could deter borrowers from pursuing loan rehabilitation. The primary use of the 15 percent formula will allow the borrower and the collection agency to determine a reasonable and affordable payment over the phone based on the borrower's income and family size, subject to later confirmation once the borrower provides required documentation. We agreed with these comments and adopted this approach in the final rule.

In addition to the comments proposing using the 15 percent formula first, we considered the suggestion that an agency should be able to negotiate a reasonable and affordable payment with the borrower on the phone so that the loan rehabilitation process could be initiated when they have the first discussion about rehabilitation with a borrower. The Department agrees that it is important to be able to offer a borrower a reasonable and affordable payment amount during the initial discussion of loan rehabilitation but believes that use of the 15 percent formula, with documentation to follow, as the first option allows this possibility while ensuring consistent treatment of borrowers seeking loan rehabilitation.

Net Budget Impacts

As detailed in the NPRM, the final regulations are estimated to have a net budget impact of $2.8 to $3.4 million over ten years from 2013–2022 driven by the expansion of the time period for eligibility for a closed school discharge. Consistent with the requirements of the Credit Reform Act of 1990, budget cost estimates for the student loan programs reflect the estimated net present value of all future non-administrative Federal costs associated with a cohort of loans. A cohort reflects all loans originated in a given fiscal year.

In general, these estimates were developed using the Office of Management and Budget's (OMB's) credit subsidy calculator. The calculator takes projected future cash flows from the Department's student loan cost estimation model and produces discounted subsidy rates reflecting the net present value of all future Federal costs associated with awards made in a given fiscal year. Values are calculated using a "basket of zeros" methodology under which each cash flow is discounted using the interest rate of a zero-coupon Treasury bond with the same maturity as that cash flow. To ensure comparability across programs, this methodology is incorporated into the calculator and used Government wide to develop estimates of the Federal cost of credit programs. Accordingly, the Department believes it is the appropriate methodology to use in developing estimates for these regulations. That said, in developing the following Accounting Statement, the Department consulted with OMB on how to integrate our discounting methodology with the discounting methodology traditionally used in developing regulatory impact analyses.

Absent evidence of the effect of these regulations on student behavior, budget cost estimates were based on behavior as reflected in various Department data sets and longitudinal surveys listed under Assumptions, Limitations, and Data Sources. Student loan cost estimates are developed across five risk categories: Students at less than four-year for-profit institutions, students at less than four-year public and non-profit institutions, freshmen/sophomores at four-year institutions, juniors/seniors at four-year institutions, and graduate students. Risk categories have separate assumptions based on the historical pattern of behavior—for example, the likelihood of default or the likelihood to use statutory deferment or discharge benefits—of borrowers in each category.

Closed School Discharge

The primary budget impact of the final regulations relates to the extension of the time period for a closed school discharge. The final regulations extend the previous 90-day period for a closed school discharge to a 120-day period and provide examples of what qualifies as an exceptional circumstance under which the Secretary may provide a further extension. We estimate these changes to have a cost of approximately $3.1 million over 10 years as the pool of borrowers eligible for discharge will increase. The costs are limited by the small number of closed schools, the availability of teach-outs, and the assignment of recoveries to the Department. In the NPRM, the Department estimated that extending the window to 120 days would result in an additional 100 students receiving closed school discharges totaling approximately $400,000 annually. The Department requested comments about the assumptions and estimates for this provision. We did not receive any comments and did not make any changes to the closed school discharge regulations.

Loan Rehabilitation

Two areas related to loan rehabilitation affected by the final regulations are the determination of the reasonable and affordable payment for loan rehabilitation and the limitations on the use of AWG while a borrower is attempting to rehabilitate a defaulted loan. While the regulatory changes in both areas would change the period of time and sources of payments the Department receives, the Department does not estimate that the regulations would have any significant budget impact.

The final regulations refine the process for determining the reasonable and affordable payment for loan rehabilitation to improve consistency across the title IV loan programs. The prior regulations for the FFEL Program require guaranty agencies to negotiate a reasonable and affordable payment for loan rehabilitation with the borrower that takes into account all of the borrower's financial circumstances. The Direct Loan Program did not have similar provisions, but the program does have a similar process for receiving income and expense information and negotiating a payment with the borrower. Over the past months, the Department developed a tool incorporating the 15 percent formula in determining reasonable and affordable payments that has helped increase loan rehabilitations. As discussed in the Regulatory Alternatives Considered and Analysis of Comments and Changes sections of this preamble, the Department has agreed to reverse the order of the methods for determining a reasonable and affordable payment so that the 15 percent formula comes first.

With approximately $1.72 billion in defaulted loan balances rehabilitated by the Department in FY 2012, loan rehabilitation is a valuable collections tool that also allows borrowers to improve their credit history and regain eligibility for title IV, HEA Federal student aid. The Department and guaranty agencies have emphasized keeping the loan rehabilitation payment amount close to the payment the borrower will have to make following rehabilitation to avoid significant increases in the required payment. The availability of income-driven repayment plans after rehabilitation of the loan expands the range of payments possible during rehabilitation that would be in line with post-rehabilitation payments (although payments made under a loan rehabilitation agreement that are based on the 15 percent formula do not count toward IBR plan loan forgiveness if a borrower who has successfully rehabilitated a defaulted loan chooses to repay under the IBR plan post-rehabilitation). This new standard may also help decrease the number of borrowers who re-default, as the required loan rehabilitation plan payment amount should be very similar to the payment amount they make when they return to regular repayment. The final regulations use the 15 percent formula for initial determination of a reasonable and affordable loan rehabilitation payment, and allow borrowers to object to that payment through use of a standardized form that accounts for the borrower's income and expenses to obtain an alternative amount. A borrower may choose between the two proposed payment amounts.

For individual borrowers, the payment offered as a rehabilitation amount calculated using the 15 percent formula might be less than what the Department would determine to be appropriate based on an assessment of the borrower's income and expenses or through negotiation with the borrower without use of a formula. If this is the case, the Department would collect less money during the months the borrower attempts loan rehabilitation, but the borrower would still owe the remaining balance after rehabilitation. In addition, to the extent lower payments encourage borrowers to complete loan rehabilitation and continue payments they otherwise would not make, the final regulations may increase total payments over the life of the loan for some borrowers. The likelihood of borrowers paying less, the same, or more over the life of a loan over time as a result of the changes in defining a reasonable and affordable payment is uncertain, but the Department does not expect it to have an appreciable budget impact.

Perkins Loans Provisions

The final regulations also address a few areas related to the Perkins Loan Program including: Revising cancellation progression rates; modifying the treatment of health-related breaks in service for certain loan cancellations; making the eligibility for a graduate fellowship deferment consistent with FFEL and Direct Loan program criteria; making a technical correction to eliminate the debt-to-income economic hardship deferment category for borrowers working less than full-time; defining "on-time" for rehabilitation payments; and allowing assignment to the Department of Perkins Loans made before September 13, 1982, without the borrower's Social Security Number (SSN). No changes were made to these provisions as a result of comments on the NPRM. The Department does not estimate a significant budget impact from these provisions. No appropriations have been made to support the Perkins Loan Program since 2008, and institutions make loans from payments made on their portfolios of existing loans. The effect on the Federal budget of increased costs in the Perkins Loan Program is a possible reduction of Federal Perkins Loan assets available to be recalled in future years.

The slight changes in timing associated with defining the on-time payment standard at 20 days is not expected to change the number of borrowers successfully rehabilitating their Perkins loans or the ultimate amount collected from those borrowers, so no budget impact is expected. The ability to assign loans to the Department without the borrower's SSN may facilitate some institutions leaving the program and, if the Department is able to collect on those loans, result in some small additional revenues.

These final regulations change the Department's longstanding policy that a borrower who switches jobs which qualify for loan cancellation under the Perkins Loan Program results in the borrower returning to the first-year cancellation rate. Instead, the final regulations allow borrowers who switch between cancellation categories with the same rate of progression to continue the progression from the last year under the prior category; however, the borrower returns to the first-year cancellation rate if the borrower switches to a category with a different progression rate. While some borrowers may be able to accelerate cancellation of their loans or achieve full cancellation, the nature of the categories affected by the policy change limits the likelihood of borrowers switching between them. To the extent a small number of borrowers do switch and maintain their progression rate instead of falling back to year one, the primary effect is on the timing of cancellation received, not the amount.

Additionally, the final regulations change the current Perkins Loan treatment of a break in teaching service for pregnancy or illness. Previously, to receive credit for a year of teaching service the borrower had to complete the first half of the academic year, begin the second half, and have the employer agree that the teacher fulfilled that year of the contract. In the FFEL and Direct Loan programs, the regulations provide that if a borrower was unable to complete the second half of the year of teaching for reasons covered by the FMLA, the service could count towards cancellation if the employer agreed the contract has been fulfilled for the year.

The final regulations apply the FMLA-related break-in-service exception to all Perkins Loan cancellation categories, not just teachers. As Perkins loan cancellation does not require consecutive service, the Department expects this provision may allow some borrowers to receive credit for a year that would not otherwise have counted as service and speed up the ultimate cancellation of the loan, but it will not significantly expand the number of borrowers who achieve loan cancellation as their next year of service could qualify instead. These cancellation provisions may affect the timing of when borrowers achieve cancellation, but the Department does not estimate that they will significantly increase the overall amount cancelled.

Additional Provisions

Many of the final regulations have no impact on the Federal budget as they reflect statutory changes already incorporated into the budget baseline or clarify existing practices. These final regulations reflect changes made to interest rates in the Direct Loan Program by the Bipartisan Student Loan Certainty Act of 2013. These final regulations eliminate many regulations relating to the origination and administration of FFEL Program loans. Those regulations became irrelevant when new FFEL Program loan originations ended as of July 1, 2010. Any costs or savings resulting from the end of FFEL Program loan originations were attributed to the SAFRA Act, so there is no estimated budget impact from these provisions. The budget impact of these changes was already incorporated into the budget baseline.

Updates were also made to the Direct Loan regulations to incorporate specific provisions that previously were included in the Direct Loan regulations by cross-reference to the FFEL regulations. The restructuring of the Direct Loan regulations to remove references to the FFEL Program regulations or to reflect current practices is not estimated to have a budget impact.

Assumptions, Limitations, and Data Sources

In developing these estimates, a wide range of data sources was used, including data from the National Student Loan Data System; operational and financial data from Department of Education systems, including especially the Fiscal Operations Report and Application to Participate (FISAP); and data from a range of surveys conducted by the National Center for Education Statistics, such as the 2008 National Postsecondary Student Aid Survey and the 2004 Beginning Postsecondary Student Survey. Data from other sources, such as the U.S. Census Bureau, were also used.

Accounting Statement

As required by OMB Circular A–4 (available at <http://www.whitehouse.gov/sites/default/files/omb/assets/omb/circulars/a004/a-4.pdf>), in Table 1, we have prepared an accounting statement showing the classification of the expenditures associated with the provisions of these regulations. This table provides our best estimate of the changes in Federal student aid payments as a result of these regulations. Expenditures are classified as transfers from the Federal Government to student loan borrowers. The transfers with respect to the change in interest rate policy use the annualized outlays as estimated by the Congressional Budget Office (CBO) and discounted to 2013 at 7 percent and 3 percent. While the Department generally does not use estimated outlays from CBO in evaluating regulations, the interest rate policy changes included in these final regulations are statutory and the Department determined that this approach would be appropriate in this instance.

Final Regulatory Flexibility Analysis

These regulations affect institutions that participate in the title IV, HEA programs, including alternative certification programs not housed at institutions, and individual borrowers. The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) Size Standards define for-profit institutions as “small businesses” if they are independently owned and operated and not dominant in their field of operation with total annual revenue below $7,000,000. The SBA Size Standards define nonprofit institutions as small organizations if they are independently owned and operated and not dominant in their field of operation, or as small entities if they are institutions controlled by governmental entities with populations below 50,000. The revenues involved in the sector affected by these regulations, and the concentration of ownership of institutions by private owners or public systems means that the number of title IV, HEA eligible institutions that are small entities would be limited but for the fact that the nonprofit entities fit within the definition of a small organization regardless of revenue. Given the definitions above, several of the entities subject to the proposed regulations are small, leading to the preparation of this analysis.

Description of the Reasons That Action by the Agency Is Being Considered

With these regulations, the Department removes certain regulations governing the FFEL Program that are no longer needed and revises Direct Loan Program regulations to ensure that they are comprehensive and to add consistency and clarity to all regulations governing student loans by revising where applicable. Through these regulations, the Department also provides clarity to the loan rehabilitation process for borrowers with defaulted student loans.

Succinct Statement of the Objectives of, and Legal Basis for, the Regulations

The final regulations amend the FFEL and Direct Loan program regulations to reflect changes made to the HEA by the SAFRA Act; incorporate other statutory changes in the Direct Loan Program regulations; update, strengthen, and clarify various areas of the Student Assistance General Provisions, Perkins Loan, FFEL, and Direct Loan program regulations; and provide for greater consistency in the regulations governing title IV, HEA student loan programs.

In addition, on January 21, 2011, President Obama issued Executive Order 13563, “Improving Regulation and Regulatory Review” (76 FR 3821). The order requires all Federal agencies to “consider how best to promote retrospective analysis of rules that may be outmoded, ineffective, insufficient, or excessively burdensome, and to modify, streamline, expand, or repeal them in accordance with what has been learned.” Accordingly, on August 22, 2011, the Department issued its Plan for Retrospective Analysis of Existing Regulations. (See ed.gov/policy/gen/reg/retrospective-analysis/index.html).

Our plan identified a number of regulatory initiatives for retrospective review and analysis. One of those initiatives was transitioning from the FFEL Program, under which new loans ceased on July 1, 2010, to the Direct Loan Program. These final regulations remove obsolete FFEL Program regulations.

Description of and, Where Feasible, an Estimate of the Number of Small Entities to Which the Regulations Will Apply

The final regulations affect several categories of entities involved in the administration and servicing of Federal student loans. Many of the regulations relate to notifications, servicing, or collection activities done by loan servicers or entities acting for the Federal government. The Department does not expect these entities to meet the applicable definition of “small entity.” The final regulations related to Perkins Loans will affect the institutions that participate in the program, some of which would be classified as small entities. As discussed above, private non-profit institutions that do not dominate in their field are defined as small entities and a few other institutions that participate in the Perkins Loan Program do not have revenues above $7 million and are also categorized as small entities. Table 2 summarizes AY 2010–11 Perkins loan disbursements by institutions that qualify as small entities. Based on the definition of non-profit institutions as small entities, approximately 59 percent of institutions that disbursed Perkins loans in AY2010–11 were small entities.

In the NPRM, the Secretary invited comments from small entities as to whether they believe the proposed changes would have a significant economic impact on them. We did not receive any comments.

Description of the Projected Reporting, Recordkeeping and Other Compliance Requirements of the Regulations, Including an Estimate of the Classes of Small Entities That Will Be Subject to the Requirement and the Type of Professional Skills Necessary for Preparation of the Report or Record

The various provisions in the final regulations will modify or increase the paperwork burden on entities participating in the FFEL, Direct Loan, or Perkins Loan programs, as described in the Paperwork Reduction Act section. Much of this burden is associated with borrowers or the Department and its agents and therefore does not affect small entities. Table 3 summarizes the estimated burden on small entities, primarily institutions and guaranty agencies, from the paperwork requirements associated with the final regulations. As discussed in the Paperwork Reduction Act section of this preamble, several of the provisions reduce the estimated burden on institutions, lenders, and guaranty agencies from the elimination of regulatory provisions or changes to requirements and this is reflected by the negative numbers in the table.

Identification, to the Extent Practicable, of All Relevant Federal Regulations That May Duplicate, Overlap or Conflict With the Proposed Regulation

The proposed regulations are unlikely to conflict with or duplicate existing Federal regulations.

Alternatives Considered

As described above, the Department participated in negotiated rulemaking in developing the proposed regulations, reviewed comments received in response to the NPRM published July 29, 2013, and considered a number of options for some of the provisions. In particular, the Department reversed the order of the use of the 15 percent formula and the standard form in determining a reasonable and affordable payment for loan rehabilitation, but that is not expected to affect small entities. No alternatives were aimed specifically at small entities.

Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995

Sections 674.19, 674.33, 674.34, 682.102, 682.200, 682.205, 682.206, 682.208, 682.209, 682.210, 682.211, 682.212, 682.214, 682.216, 682.301, 682.305, 682.401, 682.402, 682.404, 682.405, 682.406, 682.409, 682.410, 682.411, 682.412, 682.414, 682.417, 682.418, 682.421, 682.507, 682.508, 682.511, 682.515, 682.602, 682.603, 682.604, 682.605, 682.610, 682.711, 682.712, 682.713, 685.205, 685.211, 685.214, contain information collection requirements. Under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (PRA) (44 U.S.C. 3507(d)), the Department of Education has submitted a copy of these sections, related forms, and Information Collection Requests (ICRs) to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) for its review.

The OMB Control numbers associated with the final regulations and related forms are 1845–0015, 1845–0019, 1845–0020, and 1845–0119 (identified as 1845—NEW2 in the NPRM).

In the NPRM, the Department included a draft version of the Financial Disclosure for Reasonable and Affordable Payments form (1845–0120, identified as 1845—NEW1 in the NPRM) and calculated estimated burden for the completion and review of that version. The Department received extensive and detailed comments from the public on the draft form, including all aspects of the form and its intended use. We will require significant time to properly analyze these comments and, if appropriate, rework the form to address them. To allow the time to carefully consider public comment and take necessary action, we will address comments and burden relating to the Financial Disclosure for Reasonable and Affordable Payments form in a separate Federal Register notice that will be published after these final regulations.

A Federal agency may not conduct or sponsor a collection of information unless OMB approves the collection under the PRA and the corresponding information collection instrument displays a currently valid OMB control number. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no person is required to comply with, or is subject to penalty for failure to comply with, a collection of information if the collection instrument does not display a currently valid OMB control number.

Sections 682.211 and 685.205—Forbearance

The final regulations amend the current FFEL Program regulations to authorize a lender, prior to resolving a default claim payment, to grant forbearance to a borrower or endorser who is in default on a loan based on the borrower's or endorser's oral request. The current regulations require borrowers to submit a written request for forbearance. The burden calculations address only the added burden created by accepting oral requests for forbearance. These final regulations provide that a forbearance agreement in this situation must include a new agreement to repay the debt signed by the borrower or endorser (as required under the current regulations), or a written or oral affirmation of the borrower's or endorser's obligation to repay the debt. The final regulations define "affirmation" for this purpose to be an acknowledgment of the loan by the borrower or endorser in a legally binding manner that can take the form of: (1) A new signed repayment agreement or schedule, or another form of signed agreement to repay the debt (as under current regulations); (2) an oral acknowledgment and agreement to repay the debt that is documented by the lender in the borrower's or endorser's file and confirmed by the lender in a notice to the borrower; or (3) a payment made on the loan by the borrower or endorser. The final regulations also specify that if a forbearance in this situation is based on the borrower's or endorser's oral request and affirmation, the lender must orally review with the borrower the terms and conditions of the forbearance. The lender must also send the borrower or endorser a notice that confirms the terms of the forbearance and the borrower's or endorser's affirmation of the obligation to make the first payment under the forbearance agreement within 30 days after entering into that agreement. The final regulations require the lender to retain a record of the terms and conditions of the forbearance and affirmation in the borrower's or endorser's file.

For the 2011 calendar year, the last year for which data are available, we estimate that 172,915 FFEL borrowers requested forbearance after defaulting on a loan. Of that number, 49,350 borrowers have FFEL program loans held by lenders. Of those borrowers, we estimate that 25 percent (12,338 borrowers) will exercise the option in these final regulations to orally acknowledge the debt and agree to repay the debt. The remaining 123,565 loans for which we estimate borrowers will request forbearance after defaulting will be held by the Department. We estimate that 25 percent of those borrowers (30,891 borrowers) who request forbearance from the Department will exercise the option to orally acknowledge the debt and agree to repay the debt, as would be authorized under these final regulations. Because OMB requires Federal agencies to account for burden imposed on non-Federal entities separately by type, i.e. public, not-for-profit, and for-profit, the following analysis of the burden imposed on lenders other than the Department is broken down by the types of entities. Note that State guaranty agencies are covered under the "public" type of entities.

Of the FFEL Program loans held by lenders, we estimate that public holders (State guaranty agencies) will have two FFEL borrowers who seek to orally acknowledge a defaulted FFEL Program loan. On average, we estimate that it will take the lender 0.17 hours (10 minutes) per oral acknowledgment to orally review with the borrower the terms and conditions of the forbearance and document the conversation and place that documentation in the borrower's or endorser's file. For public holders, we estimate that burden will increase by 0.34 hours (two borrowers multiplied by 0.17 hours per oral forbearance request).

Of the FFEL Program loans, we estimate that not-for-profit holders will have 1,551 FFEL borrowers who seek an oral forbearance on a defaulted FFEL program loan. On average, we estimate that it will take the lender 0.17 hours (10 minutes) per oral acknowledgment to orally review with the borrower the terms and conditions of the forbearance and document the conversation and place that documentation in the borrower's or endorser's file. For not-for-profit holders, we estimate that burden will increase by 264 hours (1,551 borrowers multiplied by 0.17 hours per oral forbearance request).

Of the FFEL Program loans, we estimate that for-profit holders will have 10,785 FFEL borrowers who seek an oral forbearance on a defaulted FFEL Program loan. On average, we estimate that it will take the lender 0.17 hours (10 minutes) per oral acknowledgment to orally review with the borrower the terms and conditions of the forbearance and document the conversation and place that documentation in the borrower's or endorser's file. We estimate that burden will increase by 1,833 hours (10,785 borrowers multiplied by 0.17 hours per oral forbearance request) at for-profit holders.

We estimate there will be an equal amount of burden on the borrower engaged in the oral acknowledgment and agreement to repay the debt request with the lender. The oral acknowledgment process will increase burden by 7,349 hours for all FFEL borrowers (12,338 held by lenders and 30,891 Department-held = 43,229 borrowers multiplied by 0.17 hours per oral forbearance request). Since there is no FFEL general forbearance form approved by OMB, the final regulations will impose new burden.

Collectively, we estimate that these final FFEL forbearance regulations will increase burden by 9,446 hours under OMB Control Number 1845-0020.

The final regulations will amend the current Direct Loan Program regulations to authorize the Secretary, prior to the loan being transferred to the Department's default collections office, to grant forbearance to a borrower or endorser who is in default on a loan based on the borrower's or endorser's oral request. The final regulations provide that a forbearance agreement in this situation must include a new agreement to repay the debt signed by the borrower or endorser (as required under the current regulations), or a written or oral affirmation of the borrower's or endorser's obligation to repay the debt. The final regulations define "affirmation" for this purpose to be an acknowledgment of the loan by the borrower or endorser in a legally binding manner that can take the form of: (1) A new signed repayment agreement or schedule, or another form of signed agreement to repay the debt (as under current regulations); (2) an oral acknowledgment and agreement to repay the debt that is documented by the Secretary in the borrower's or endorser's file and confirmed by the Secretary in a notice to the borrower; or (3) a payment made on the loan by the borrower or endorser. The final regulations also specify that if a forbearance in this situation is based on the borrower's or endorser's oral request and affirmation, the Secretary must orally review with the borrower the terms and conditions of the forbearance, and that the Secretary must send the borrower or endorser a notice that confirms the terms of the forbearance and the borrower's or endorser's affirmation of the obligation to make the first payment under the agreement within 30 days after entering into that agreement. The final regulations require the Secretary to retain a record of the terms and conditions of the forbearance and affirmation in the borrower's or endorser's file.

For the 2011 calendar year, 62,905 Direct Loan borrowers requested forbearance after defaulting on a loan. Of that number, we estimate that 25 percent (15,726 borrowers) will have exercised an option to orally acknowledge the debt and agree to repay the debt. On average, we estimate that it would take a borrower 0.17 hours (10 minutes) per oral acknowledgment to listen to the list of terms and conditions of the forbearance as they are reviewed with the borrower. The burden associated with the completion of the General Forbearance Request form, OMB 1845-0031, is estimated to average 0.2 hours (12 minutes). Therefore, the net reduction in burden to provide an oral acknowledgement rather than complete the form is the difference of the two or 0.03 hours (0.20 hours minus 0.17 hours or 2 minutes) per oral forbearance.

We estimate that burden will decrease by 472 hours (15,726 borrowers multiplied by 0.03 hours per oral forbearance) under OMB Control Number 1845-0119.

Sections 682.405(b) and 685.211(f)—Reasonable and Affordable Loan Rehabilitation Agreement

The final regulations will add new §§ 682.405(b)(1)(iii) and 685.211(f)(1)(i), requiring a guaranty agency and the Secretary, respectively, to first offer a reasonable and affordable loan rehabilitation payment amount on a defaulted loan as determined using the 15 percent formula (i.e., the amount equal to 15 percent of the amount by which the borrower's Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) exceeds 150 percent of the poverty guideline amount applicable to the borrower's family size and State, divided by 12), except that if this amount is less than $5, the borrower's monthly rehabilitation payment is $5. If the borrower does not provide the documentation required to confirm the calculated monthly payment under this formula to the guaranty agency or the Secretary, the rehabilitation agreement would be null and void.

In calendar year 2011, there were approximately 299,159 FFEL borrowers (192,029 borrowers whose FFEL program loans are held by lenders and 107,130 FFEL program borrowers whose loans are held by the Department) who requested and received a loan rehabilitation agreement for their defaulted loans. We estimate that of the 192,029 FFEL loans held by lenders, 66,283 loans are held by state guaranty agencies and 125,746 loans are held by not-for-profit guaranty agencies, with the remaining 107,130 loans (299,159 minus 192,029) held by the Department. In calendar year 2011, there were approximately 92,870 Direct Loan borrowers that requested and received a loan rehabilitation agreement for their defaulted loans.

Under these final regulations, we estimate that the 66,283 FFEL borrowers whose loans are held by state guaranty agencies will request rehabilitation of their defaulted loans using the 15 percent formula and submit the required documentation. We estimate that on average each borrower will take 0.33 hours (20 minutes) to gather, copy and submit the required documentation. We estimate that burden will increase by 21,873 hours (66,283 borrowers submitting documentation multiplied by 0.33 hours per loan rehabilitation request) under OMB Control Number 1845-0020.

Under these final regulations, we estimate that the 125,746 FFEL borrowers whose loans are held by not-for-profit guaranty agencies will request rehabilitation of their defaulted loans using the 15 percent formula and submitting the required documentation to confirm the monthly repayment amount. We estimate that on average each borrower will take 0.33 hours (20 minutes) to gather, copy and submit the required documentation. We estimate that burden will increase by 41,496 hours (125,746 borrowers submitting documentation verifying IBR calculation multiplied by 0.33 hours per loan rehabilitation request) under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Under these final regulations, we estimate that the 107,130 FFEL borrowers whose loans are held by the Department will request rehabilitation of their defaulted loans using the 15 percent formula and submitting the required documentation to confirm the monthly repayment amount. We estimate that on average each borrower will take 0.33 hours (20 minutes) to gather, copy and submit the required documentation. We estimate that burden will increase by 35,353 hours (107,130 borrowers submitting documentation verifying the calculation multiplied by 0.33 hours per loan rehabilitation request) under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Under these final regulations, we estimate that the 92,870 Direct Loan borrowers whose loans are held by the Department will request rehabilitation of their defaulted loans using the 15 percent formula and submitting the required documentation to confirm the monthly repayment amount. We estimate that on average each borrower will take 0.33 hours (20 minutes) to collect, copy and submit the required documentation. We estimate that burden will increase by 30,647 hours (92,870 borrowers submitting documentation verifying the 15 percent formula calculation multiplied by 0.33 hours per loan rehabilitation request) under OMB Control Number 1845–0119.

We estimate that to review the supporting documentation submitted, it would take the guaranty agency on average 0.17 hours (10 minutes) to review the supporting documentation from the borrower. Under these final regulations, we estimate that burden will increase by 23,645 hours (192,029 borrowers requesting loan rehabilitation multiplied by 0.17 hours per document review) under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Sections 682.405(b)(1)(vii) and 685.211(f)(3) will require a guaranty agency and the Secretary to recalculate the borrower's rehabilitation payment amount if the borrower objects to the payment amount contained in the written repayment agreement that the guaranty agency or the Secretary sent to the borrower based on the 15 percent formula calculation.

Of the 299,159 FFEL borrowers in calendar year 2011 who requested rehabilitation of their defaulted loans, we estimate that 12 percent or 35,899 borrowers will raise an objection to the initial determination of the reasonable and affordable monthly payment amount by the guaranty agency or the Secretary. We estimate that each objection will entail a phone conversation or email that would span on average 0.17 hours (10 minutes). This will increase burden to the borrowers for a total of 6,103 hours (35,899 borrowers objecting to the initial determination of the reasonable and affordable payment amount multiplied by 0.17 hours per loan rehabilitation request) under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Of the 92,870 Direct Loan borrowers in calendar year 2011 who requested loan rehabilitation of their defaulted loans, we estimate that 11,144 Direct Loan borrowers will raise an objection to the initial determination of the reasonable and affordable monthly payment amount. We estimate that each objection will entail a phone conversation or email that would span on average 0.17 hours (10 minutes). This would increase burden to the borrowers for a total of 1,894 hours (11,144 borrowers objecting to the initial determination of the reasonable and affordable payment amount multiplied by 0.17 hours per loan rehabilitation request) under OMB Control Number 1845–0119.

Sections 682.405(b)(1)(vii) and 685.211(f)(5) will require a borrower who objects to the monthly repayment amount contained in the written repayment agreement based on the 15 percent formula to provide the guaranty agency or the Secretary the information needed to calculate a monthly payment amount by completing the reasonable and affordable rehabilitation payment form. If the borrower does not provide this information to the guaranty agency or the Secretary, no rehabilitation agreement would exist with the borrower, and the guaranty agency or the Secretary will not proceed with the rehabilitation.

Sections 682.405(b)(1)(x) and 685.211(f)(6) will require the Secretary or the guaranty agency, upon the borrower's request, to adjust the borrower's monthly rehabilitation payment due to a change in the borrower's financial circumstances. The borrower will be required to provide documentation supporting the request.

We estimate that 10 percent of the 299,159 FFEL borrowers who requested rehabilitation of their defaulted loans (29,916 FFEL borrowers, 19,203 of whom have FFEL program loans that are held by lenders and 10,713 of whom have FFEL program loans that are held by the Department) will have a change in their financial circumstances in the initial year the proposed regulation is implemented. We estimate that on average each borrower will take 0.33 hours (20 minutes) to collect, copy, and submit the required documentation. We estimate that burden will increase by 9,872 hours (29,916 borrowers with changes in financial circumstances multiplied by 0.33 hours per loan rehabilitation request) under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Of the 19,203 borrowers with FFEL loans held by lenders, 6,628 are held by public guaranty agencies and 12,575 are held by not-for-profit guaranty agencies. Under these final regulations, we estimate 6,628 FFEL borrowers whose loans are held by public guaranty agencies will have a change in their financial circumstances in the initial year the proposed regulation is implemented. We estimate that for each request submitted it will take on average 0.5 hours (30 minutes) for the guaranty agency to review and process the request. Under these final regulations, we estimate that burden will increase by 3,314 hours (6,628 borrowers requesting loan rehabilitation multiplied 0.5 hours per loan rehabilitation request equals 3,314 hours) under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Under these final regulations, we estimate that 12,575 FFEL borrowers whose loans are held by not-for-profit guaranty agencies will request a change in their reasonable and affordable payment amount due to changed financial circumstances in the initial year the final regulation is implemented. We estimate that for each request submitted it will take on average 0.5 hours (30 minutes) for the guaranty agency to review and process the request for a change in the payment amount. Under these final regulations, we estimate that burden will increase by 6,288 hours (12,575 borrowers requesting a change in the loan rehabilitation payment amount multiplied by 0.5 hours per request) under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

We estimate that 10 percent of Direct Loan borrowers who are rehabilitating their defaulted loans (9,287 Direct Loan borrowers) will request a change in the reasonable and affordable payment amount due to a change in their financial circumstances in the initial year the final regulation is implemented. We estimate that on average each borrower will take 0.33 hours (20 minutes) to collect, copy, and submit the required documentation. We estimate that burden will increase by 3,065 hours (9,287 borrowers requesting a change in the reasonable and affordable payment amount multiplied by 0.33 hours per payment change request equals 3,065 hours) under OMB Control Number 1845–0119.

Sections 682.405(a) and 685.211(f)—Suspension of Administrative Wage Garnishment for Borrowers Rehabilitating Defaulted Loans

The final regulations will add new §§ 682.405(a)(3)(i) and 685.211(f)(12)(i) to the FFEL and Direct Loan program regulations requiring a guaranty agency or the Secretary, respectively, to suspend collecting on a defaulted loan through Administrative Wage Garnishment (AWG) after the borrower makes five qualifying payments under a loan rehabilitation agreement. The guaranty agency or the Secretary will not be permitted to suspend AWG prior to the fifth payment (unless otherwise required to do so), and, after the fifth payment, the borrower will have the option to request that the guaranty agency or the Secretary continue collecting on the loan through AWG while the borrower makes voluntary payments under the rehabilitation agreement.

Under § 682.405(a)(3)(ii), we estimate that state guaranty agencies will have 663 FFEL borrowers from whom they will be collecting payments through AWG while the borrower is also making voluntary repayments to rehabilitate the loan. After the borrower has made five qualifying voluntary loan payments (in addition to the AWG payments) the holder would suspend AWG. We estimate that on average each suspension of AWG would take one hour (60 minutes). We estimate that burden would increase by 663 hours (663 borrower requests multiplied by one hour per AWG suspension equals 663 hours) under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Under § 682.405(a)(3)(ii), we estimate that not-for-profit guaranty agencies will have 1,257 FFEL borrowers from whom they will be collecting payments using AWG while the borrower is also making voluntary repayments to rehabilitate the loan. After the borrower has made five qualifying voluntary loan payments (in addition to the AWG payments) the holder would suspend AWG. We estimate that on average each suspension of AWG would take one hour (60 minutes). We estimate that burden would increase by 1,257 hours

(1,257 borrower requests multiplied by one hour per AWG suspension equals 1,257 hours) under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Any burden under § 685.211(f)(12)(i) is attributable to the Department and therefore not a part of this burden assessment of affected entities.

Collectively, the changes in § 682.405(a) and (b) will increase burden by 149,864 hours in OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Collectively, the changes in § 685.211(f) will increase burden by 35,606 hours in OMB Control Number 1845–0119.

Sections 674.33(g), 682.402(d), and 685.214—Closed School Discharge

The final regulations at §§ 674.33(a)(4)(i)(B), 682.402(d)(1), and 685.214(c)(1)(iii) will extend, for purposes of the closed school discharge, the current 90-day period to 120-days for students who leave before a school closes and add examples of the types of exceptional circumstances under which the Department may extend the 120-day window.

During the 2011 calendar year, no Perkins Loan borrowers received closed school loan discharges. We estimate that 15 Perkins Loan borrowers submitted applications for closed school discharges. We estimate that the average burden per response is 0.5 hours (30 minutes) for each loan discharge application and that by expanding the period from 90 days to 120 days prior to school closure for students who had withdrawn to apply for a closed school loan discharge will increase the number of applicants by 20 percent. As a result there will be an estimated 18 applications under the final regulation for a total increase in burden of 2 hours (18 borrowers applying for loan discharge multiplied by 0.5 hours per application minus 15 borrowers applying for loan discharge under current regulations multiplied by 0.5 hours per application) under OMB Control Number 1845–0015.

During the 2011 calendar year, 163 FFEL borrowers received closed school loan discharges. We estimate that 230 FFEL borrowers submitted applications for discharge. We estimate that the average burden per response is 0.5 hours (30 minutes) for each loan discharge application and that by expanding the period from 90 days to 120 days prior to school closure for students who had withdrawn to apply for a closed school loan discharge will increase the number of applicants by 20 percent. As a result there will be 276 applications under the final regulation for a total increase in burden of 23 hours (276 borrowers applying for loan discharge multiplied by 0.5 hours per application minus 230 borrowers applying for loan discharge under current regulations multiplied by 0.5 hours per application) under OMB Control Number 1845–0015.

During the 2011 calendar year, 128 Direct Loan borrowers received closed school loan discharges. We estimate that 295 Direct Loan borrowers submitted applications for discharge. We estimate that the average burden per response is 0.5 hours (30 minutes) for each loan discharge application and that by expanding the period from 90 days to 120 days prior to school closure for students who had withdrawn to apply for a closed school loan discharge will increase the number of applicants by 20 percent, thus totaling 354 applications under the final regulation for a total increase in burden of 29 hours (354 borrowers applying for loan discharge multiplied by 0.5 hours per application minus 295 borrowers applying for loan discharge under current regulations multiplied by 0.5 hours per application) under OMB Control Number 1845–0015.

Collectively, the total increase in burden is 54 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0015. The changes associated with the elongation of the period prior to school closure from 90 days to 120 days for students who had withdrawn to apply for a closed school loan discharge is non-substantive and as such, we will submit a Form 83–C to OMB to make this change.

Sections 674.19, 682.610, and 685.309—School Enrollment Status Reporting Requirements

For the Federal Perkins Loan program, the final regulations would add a new § 674.19(f) with the heading “enrollment reporting process.” Section 674.19(f)(1) will provide that, upon receipt of an enrollment report from the Secretary, an institution must update all information included in the report and return the report to the Secretary in the manner and format prescribed by the Secretary and within the timeframe prescribed by the Secretary. Section 674.19(f)(2) will provide that, unless it expects to submit its subsequent updated enrollment report to the Secretary within the next 60 days, an institution must notify the Secretary within 30 days after: (1) The date the school discovers that a loan under title IV of the HEA was made to a student who was enrolled or accepted for enrollment at the institution, and the student has ceased to be enrolled on at least a half-time basis, or has failed to enroll on at least a half-time basis for the period for which the loan was intended; or (2) the date the school discovers that a student who is enrolled at the institution and who received a loan under title IV of the HEA has changed his or her permanent address. Because the Secretary already receives enrollment information on Federal Perkins Loan borrowers who also have a FFEL loan or a Direct Loan, the additional burden associated with sending enrollment reports to institutions for the Federal Perkins Loan Program is only associated with those Federal Perkins Loan borrowers whose only loan received under title IV of the HEA is a Federal Perkins Loan and who are enrolled on at least a half-time basis or who had recently changed enrollment status.

In the 2011 calendar year, there were 2,070,514 Federal Perkins Loan borrowers. Of the 2,070,514 Federal Perkins Loan borrowers, 240,959 borrowers have a Federal Perkins Loan as the only loan received under title IV of the HEA. Of the 240,959 borrowers, 53 percent (127,708 borrowers) were enrolled at least half-time or had recently changed enrollment status. The Secretary will be sending enrollment reports to each of the institutions approximately every 60 days or 6 reports per year. We estimate that on average the completion and submission of an enrollment report will take 0.05 hours (3 minutes) per borrower. Burden will increase by 38,312 hours (127,708 borrowers multiplied by 0.05 hours per borrower multiplied by 6 reports per year) under OMB Control Number 1845-0019.

For the 2011 calendar year 51 percent of the Federal Perkins loan borrowers or 65,131 affected borrowers were at public institutions, therefore we estimate that burden will increase for public institutions by 19,539 hours (38,312 hours multiplied by 0.51) under OMB 1845-0019.

For the 2011 calendar year 45 percent of the Federal Perkins loan borrowers or 57,469 affected borrowers were at private not-for-profit institutions, therefore we estimate that burden will increase for private not-for-profit institutions by 17,240 hours (38,312 hours multiplied by 0.45) under OMB 1845-0019.

For the 2011 calendar year 4 percent of the Federal Perkins loan borrowers or 5,108 affected borrowers were at proprietary institutions, therefore we estimate that burden will increase for proprietary institutions by 1,533 hours (38,312 hours multiplied by 0.04) under OMB 1845-0019.

Collectively, the final regulatory changes to § 674.19 will increase burden by 38,312 hours for 127,708 affected borrowers under OMB 1845-0019.

For the FFEL Program, the final regulations will replace the term “student status confirmation reports” in § 682.610(c) with the term “enrollment reporting process,” and will revise § 682.610(c)(1) to provide that upon receipt of an enrollment report from the Secretary, a school must update all information included in the report and return the report to the Secretary in the manner and format prescribed by the Secretary and within the timeframe specified by the Secretary. Institutions currently participating in the FFEL or Direct Loan programs will continue to report enrollment to the Secretary and the lender. Because the only change regarding the FFEL Program reporting is in the definition of the reporting requirement, there is no change in burden for institutions participating in the FFEL and Direct Loan programs.

Section 674.34—Deferment of Repayment—Federal Perkins Loans

The final regulations in § 674.34(f)(1) will require schools that participate in the Perkins Loan Program to use the same eligibility criteria to define an eligible graduate fellowship program and to establish the eligibility of a borrower for a graduate fellowship deferment that lenders and the Department use in the FFEL and Direct Loan programs, respectively. The final regulations will require that a borrower provide the institution with a statement from an authorized official of the borrower's graduate fellowship program certifying: (1) That the borrower holds at least a bachelor's degree; and (2) the borrower's anticipated completion date of the program. In calendar year 2011 there were 1,104 Perkins borrowers who applied for a graduate fellowship deferment. We estimate that on average it will take the borrower 0.25 hours (15 minutes) to obtain the certification from an authorized official of the graduate fellowship program and to complete and submit the Perkins Loan deferment form multiplied by an estimated 1,104 deferment applications equals 276 hours of increased burden to borrowers under OMB Control Number 1845-0019.

For the 2011 calendar year 51 percent of the Federal Perkins Loan borrowers or 563 affected borrowers were at public institutions, therefore we estimate that burden will increase for authorizing officials at public institutions by 141 hours (1,104 applications multiplied by 0.51 multiplied by 0.25 hours per certification) under OMB 1845-0019.

For the 2011 calendar year 45 percent of the Federal Perkins Loan borrowers or 497 affected borrowers were at private not-for-profit institutions, therefore we estimate that burden will increase authorizing officials at for private not-for-profit institutions by 124 hours (1,104 applications multiplied by 0.45 multiplied by 0.25 hours per certification) under OMB 1845-0019.

For the 2011 calendar year 4 percent of the Federal Perkins Loan borrowers or 44 affected borrowers were at proprietary institutions, therefore we estimate that burden will increase for private not-for-profit institutions by 11 hours (1,104 applications multiplied by 0.04 multiplied by 0.25 hours per certification) under OMB 1845-0019.

Collectively, the final regulatory changes to § 674.34 will increase burden by 552 hours under OMB 1845-0019.

Section 682.410(b)(9)(i)(T)(2)—Administrative Wage Garnishment (AWG)—Use of Third-Party Contractors

The final regulations will also add a new § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(T) to the regulations, which specifies the functions that may be performed by a third-party servicer or collection contractor employed by the guaranty agency for services needed in the AWG process. The final regulations make clear that the guaranty agency may not delegate to any third party the decision to order withholding of an individual borrower's wages, and must create and retain records to demonstrate that each order issued has been individually authorized by an appropriate official of the guaranty agency. The final regulations also specify the manner by which a withholding order may be sent to employers and the permissible activities that may be performed by a third-party servicer or collection contractor employed by the guaranty agency with respect to withholding orders. Only an authorized official of the guaranty agency may determine that an individual withholding order is to be issued. The guarantor must record the official's determination for each order it issues by either including the official's signature on the order, or by retaining in the agency's records the identity of the approving official, the date of the approval, the amount or rate of the order, the name and address of the employer to whom the order was issued, and the debt for which the order was issued.

In calendar year 2011, we estimate there were 84,293 FFEL Program borrowers whose loans were held by state guaranty agencies and for which the guaranty agency had initiated AWG. We estimate that on average the guaranty agency will take 0.25 hours (15 minutes) to meet the recordkeeping requirements specified above. Total burden hours will increase by 21,073 hours (84,293 multiplied by 0.25 hours) under OMB 1845–0020.

In calendar year 2011, we estimate there were 159,912 FFEL borrowers whose loans were held by not-for-profit guaranty agencies and for which the guaranty agency had initiated AWG. We estimate that on average the guaranty agency will take 0.25 hours (15 minutes) to meet the recordkeeping requirements specified above. Total burden hours will increase by 39,978 hours (159,912 multiplied by 0.25 hours) under OMB 1845–0020.

The final changes in § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(T)(2) will increase burden by 61,051 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

*Section 682.410(b)(9)(i)(H)—
Administrative Wage Garnishment
(AWG)—Borrower Hearing Requests*

The final regulations will also replace § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(L) of the FFEL Program regulations with § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(H) to provide that if a borrower's written request for a hearing is received by the guaranty agency after the 30th day following the date of the garnishment notice and a decision is not rendered within 60 days following receipt of the borrower's written request for a hearing, the guaranty agency must suspend the order beginning on the 61st day after the hearing request was received until a hearing is provided and a decision is rendered.

If a borrower does not request a hearing within the 30-day time limit, the guaranty agency must go forward with the AWG. However, if a borrower does eventually request a hearing, a guaranty agency would still be required to provide one in sufficient time to have a decision issued within 60 days of the request. The Department added a provision specifying that if this hearing is not provided and a decision issued within 60 days, then the agency must suspend the AWG order beginning on the 61st day until a decision is issued.

In calendar year 2011, we estimate there were 84,293 FFEL borrowers whose loans were held by state guaranty agencies and for which the agencies had initiated AWG. We estimate that 10 percent of these borrowers (8,429) will request a hearing and that in 10 percent of those cases (843) a decision will not be rendered until after 60 days following the receipt of the borrower's request. On average, we estimate that it will take one hour (60 minutes) to suspend an administrative wage garnishment order. The total increase in burden will be 843 hours (843 FFEL borrowers undergoing AWG who requested a hearing where a decision was not rendered until after 60 days following the receipt of the borrower's request multiplied by one hour per suspension) under OMB 1845–0020.

In calendar year 2011, we estimate there were 159,912 FFEL borrowers whose loans were held by not-for-profit guaranty agencies and for which the agencies had initiated AWG. We estimate that 10 percent of these borrowers (15,991) will request a hearing and that in 10 percent of those cases (1,599) a decision will not be rendered until after 60 days following the receipt of the borrower's request. On average, we estimate that it will take one hour (60 minutes) to suspend an administrative wage garnishment order. The total increase in burden will be 1,599 hours (1,599 FFEL borrowers undergoing AWG who requested a hearing where a decision was not rendered until after 60 days following the receipt of the borrower's request multiplied by one hour per suspension) under OMB 1845–0020.

Collectively, the final changes in § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(H) will increase burden by 2,442 hours in OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

*Section 682.410(b)(9)(i)(J)—
Administrative Wage Garnishment
(AWG)—Hearing Administration*

The final regulations will add new paragraph (b)(9)(i)(J) and will provide for the manner by which the hearing is administered and certain provisions relating to bringing forth additional evidence and continuances. Specifically, the final regulations will require that the hearing be conducted as an informal proceeding, require witnesses in an oral hearing to testify under oath or affirmation, and require maintenance of a summary record of the hearing. The final regulations will also allow the borrower to request a continuance to submit additional evidence.

In calendar year 2011, we estimate there were 84,293 FFEL borrowers whose loans were held by state guaranty agencies and for which the agencies had initiated AWG. We estimate that 10 percent of these borrowers (8,429) will request a hearing. We estimate that on average each summary record will take one hour (60 minutes). The total burden increase for this recordkeeping will be 8,429 hours (8,429 hearings multiplied by one hour per hearing) under OMB 1845–0020.

In calendar year 2011, we estimate there were 159,912 FFEL borrowers whose loans were held by not-for-profit guaranty agencies and for which the agencies had initiated AWG. We estimate that 10 percent of these borrowers (15,991) will request a hearing. We estimate that on average each summary record will take one hour (60 minutes). The total burden increase for this recordkeeping will be 15,991 hours (15,991 hearings multiplied by one hour per hearing) under OMB 1845–0020.

Collectively, the changes in § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(J) will increase burden by 24,420 hours in OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

*Section 682.410(b)(9)(i)(Q)—
Administrative Wage Garnishment
(AWG)—Recent Reemployment After Involuntary Unemployment*

Section 682.410(b)(9)(i)(Q) will clarify that a borrower who wishes to object to AWG on the basis that he or she is not subject to garnishment because of recent reemployment after involuntary separation, bears the burden of raising and proving that claim.

In calendar year 2011, we estimate that there were 84,293 FFEL borrowers whose loans were held by state guaranty agencies and for which the agencies had initiated AWG. Of that number, we estimate that 8 percent (6,743) became unemployed involuntarily. Furthermore, we estimate that a sub-group of those who became unemployed involuntarily, 5 percent (337), gained subsequent reemployment. We estimate that the average amount of time for each borrower subject to AWG in this sub-group to provide documentation that supports their claim to not be subject to AWG due to their recent reemployment to be 0.5 hours. The increased burden to provide documentation that will support the borrower's claim that he not be subject to AWG due to recent reemployment is 169 hours (337 borrowers whose student loans were being collected by AWG, who became unemployed involuntarily, but subsequently gained reemployment multiplied by 0.5 hours per claim) under OMB 1845–0020.

In calendar year 2011, we estimate that there were 159,912 FFEL borrowers whose loans were held by not-for-profit guaranty agencies and for which the agencies had initiated AWG. Of that number, we estimate that 8 percent (12,793) became unemployed involuntarily. Furthermore, we estimate that a sub-group of those who became unemployed involuntarily, 5 percent (640), gained subsequent reemployment. We estimate that the average amount of time for each borrower subject to AWG in this sub-group to provide documentation that supports their claim to not be subject to AWG due to their recent reemployment to be 0.5 hours. The total amount of increased burden to provide documentation that will support the borrower's claim that he not be subject to AWG due to recent reemployment is 320 hours (640 borrowers whose loans were being collected by AWG, who became employed involuntarily, but subsequently gained reemployment multiplied by 0.5 hours per claim) under OMB 1845–0020.

The final changes in § 682.410(b)(9)(i)(Q) will collectively increase burden by 489 hours in OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Collectively, the final changes in all subparagraphs of § 682.410(b)(9) will increase burden by 88,402 hours in OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Repeal of Unnecessary FFEL Program Regulations

The language in these final regulations removes provisions from 34 CFR part 682 that are no longer required as a result of the SAFRA Act included in the Health Care and Reconciliation Act of 2010. One of the provisions of the SAFRA Act was the termination, as of July 1, 2010, of the authority for lenders to make new loans under the FFEL Program. These final regulations will remove the FFEL provisions that are now unnecessary in light of this change and would also make technical and conforming changes. A number of the final technical and conforming changes in 34 CFR Part 682 are for clarity, others are due to the elimination of cross-references.

Typically, the results of negotiated rulemaking produce some regulatory changes that correspond to reporting or recordkeeping burden on affected entities such as borrowers, lenders, or guaranty agencies. The primary information collection associated with 34 CFR Part 682 is the currently approved OMB 1845–0020. Unlike other newly proposed regulations where the resultant final regulation would either increase or decrease burden as a result of the change in a regulation, this expansive effort to eliminate unneeded regulations includes more wholesale changes being made to 34 CFR Part 682. As a result, the entire history of burden associated with OMB 1845–0020 was examined. While the burden assessments for OMB 1845–0020 stretch back over 13 years, the necessary level of detail does not exist to disaggregate the amount of the currently approved amount of burden in this collection into its corresponding subsections of 34 CFR Part 682.

Therefore, a new methodology to calculate burden is required. We are able to establish that there are 38 subsections of 34 CFR Part 682 that have burden under OMB 1845–0020. We divided the total of the currently approved burden hours of 12,352,197 hours by the 38 affected subsections which on average yields 325,058 hours per affected subsection.

Each of the subsections listed below will use this number of burden hours as a starting point. The final changes as provided below explain the burden impact.

The specific number of respondents from the affected entities is similarly unavailable, so we have established a percentage based on the number of borrowers per loan type to distribute the number of respondents across the affected entities.

Section 682.102—Repaying a Loan

The final regulations will amend the section heading, remove § 682.102(a) through (d), which describe the application process for Stafford, PLUS, and Consolidation loans, and redesignate the paragraphs in current § 682.102(e), which describes the loan repayment process, as § 682.102(a)–(g).

These final changes will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.200—Definitions—Lender

The final regulations will remove the provisions of current § 682.601(a)(3), (a)(5), and (a)(7), and place these provisions into paragraph (8) of the definition of “Lender” in § 682.200(b).

These final changes will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.205—Disclosure Requirements for Lenders

The final regulations will remove § 682.205(a) (the initial disclosure statement), (b) (statement of borrower rights and responsibilities), (g) (plain language disclosure), and (i) (separate disclosure for Consolidation loans) from the FFEL Program regulations and renumber the remaining provisions. The remaining provisions include providing repayment information, providing required disclosures during the repayment period, and providing required disclosures for borrowers having difficulty making payments.

The final changes will decrease the required burden by 162,529 hours, and therefore the current burden hours will decrease from 325,058 hours to 162,529 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.206—Due Diligence in Making a Loan

The final regulations will remove § 682.206 from the FFEL regulations. The SAFRA Act eliminated the authority to make new FFEL Program loans, including FFEL Consolidation loans. As a result, the requirements governing the making of new FFEL Program loans are no longer needed and the previous burden associated with the making of a loan by a lender will be removed.

The final change will remove all of the prior assessment of 325,058 hours of burden associated under OMB Control Number 1845–0020, and therefore the burden will decrease by 325,058 hours for a total of 0 hours.

Section 682.208—Due Diligence in Servicing a Loan

The final regulations will replace the term “national credit bureau(s)” with “nationwide consumer reporting agency(ies)” to more accurately reflect the reporting requirements.

These final changes will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.209—Repayment of a Loan

The final regulations will amend § 682.209(a)(3)(i) by adding a new paragraph that specifies that borrowers with fixed interest rates on their Stafford loans enter repayment on those loans the day after six months following the date the borrower was no longer enrolled on at least a half-time basis. The final regulations will remove current § 682.209(e) through (g) and (j) from the regulations and re-designate the remaining paragraphs as paragraphs (e)–(g). Redesignated § 682.209(e) (current paragraph (h)) will be amended to specify that a FFEL Consolidation loan borrower repaying under the IBR plan may make a scheduled monthly payment of less than the interest that accrues on the loan.

The final changes will decrease the burden by 65,012 hours, and therefore the current burden assessment will decrease from 325,058 to 260,046 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.210—Deferment

The final regulations will amend § 682.210(a)(4) of the regulations to provide that a borrower's representative may request a military service deferment on behalf of the borrower. In § 682.210(b), the introductory language in paragraphs (b)(1) through (6) of § 682.210 was revised to identify the cohort of borrowers to which each paragraph applies. Throughout § 682.210(b) cross-references were added to the eligibility criteria that are applicable to deferments available to these borrowers. The final regulations also amend § 682.210(s)(2) by removing the exception clause at the end of the provision, and amend § 682.210(u)(5) by replacing the words “military active” with “post-active”.

These final changes will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.211—Forbearance

Substantive changes in this section have been identified earlier which added 9,446 hours of burden to OMB Control Number 1845–0020. There were no further changes to this section that will alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Collectively, the final changes will increase the burden assessment from 325,058 by 9,446 hours (as identified earlier) for a total of 334,504 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.212—Prohibited Transactions

There is no change to the current language in this section of the regulations, however the current burden referenced in OMB Control Number 1845–0020 is incorrectly calculated.

This section primarily defines “prohibited transactions,” but does not impose recordkeeping or reporting requirements upon entities and thus does not impose burden. Therefore, these final regulations remove the 325,058 hours of burden that was previously incorrectly attributed to this section of the regulations. While subsection 34 CFR 682.212(h) provides that an institution, at its option, may make available a list of recommended or suggested lenders, the burden associated with that reporting is accounted for in §§ 601.10 and 668.14.

We removed the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020, and therefore burden will decrease by 325,058 hours for a total of 0 hours.

Section 682.214—Compliance With Equal Credit Opportunity Requirements

The final regulations will remove § 682.214 from the FFEL regulations. The SAFRA Act ended the making of new FFEL loans and therefore these requirements can be eliminated from the FFEL regulations.

The change in the final regulation will remove the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020, and therefore burden will decrease by 325,058 hours for a total of 0 hours.

Section 682.216—Teacher Loan Forgiveness Program

The final regulations provide for minor language changes.

These changes in the final regulations will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.301—Eligibility of Borrowers for Interest Benefits on Stafford and Consolidation Loans

The final regulations will remove § 682.301(c) from the regulations. The SAFRA Act ended the making of new FFEL Program loans and this provision related to determining borrower eligibility for the interest subsidy on new loans would be eliminated.

The change in the final regulations will remove the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020, and therefore burden would decrease by 325,058 hours for a total of 0 hours under this section.

Section 682.305—Procedures for Payment of Interest Benefits and Special Allowance and Collection of Origination and Loan Fees

Section 682.305(c)(1)(ii) specifies that, regardless of the dollar volume of loans originated or held, a school lender or an eligible lender serving as trustee for a school or school-affiliated organization originating FFEL Program loans as a lender must submit an independent compliance audit to the Department each year. The final regulations will remove the reference to FFEL lenders originating loans. The final regulations will also remove the language specifying that a school and lender serving as a trustee for a school must submit an independent compliance audit to the Department each year.

The number of school lenders or lenders serving as a trustee on behalf of a school or a school affiliated organization whose purpose is to originate loans for which the final regulations will provide relief is so small as to not be substantive. As a result, these final changes will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.401—Basic Program Agreement

The final regulations will remove from § 682.401 language that addresses new loan originations, the process supporting loan origination, and a guaranty agency's efforts to secure new loan volume. These provisions can be eliminated from the FFEL Program regulations because no new FFEL loans are being made. The remaining provisions proposed for elimination relate to school eligibility to participate in a guaranty agency's program and the authority of an agency to limit, suspend, or terminate a school from its program. For purposes of new loans, schools now participate only in the Direct Loan Program. Any future actions to limit, suspend, or terminate a school's participation in the student loan programs would be undertaken by the Department under 34 CFR part 668, subpart G. Therefore, § 682.401(b)(6) can also be eliminated from the FFEL Program regulations.

The final changes will decrease the burden related to FFEL processes by 32,506 hours, and therefore the current burden hours will decrease from 325,058 hours by 32,506 hours to 292,552 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.402—Death, Disability, Closed School, False Certification, Unpaid Refunds, and Bankruptcy Payments

Substantive changes in this section have been identified earlier under OMB 1845–0015. There were no further changes to this section that impacted the burden under OMB 1845–0020.

As a result, the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020 will not be altered.

Section 682.404—Federal reinsurance Agreement

The final regulations will make conforming language changes required due to the elimination of previous cross-references or obsolete requirements.

These final changes will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.405—Loan Rehabilitation Agreement

Substantive changes in this section have been identified earlier. There were no further changes to this section.

The substantive changes would be in addition to the previous burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020 and the earlier assessment increases burden by 135,359 hours in OMB 1845–0020 for a total burden of 460,417 hours.

Section 682.406—Conditions for Claim Payments From the Federal Fund and for Reinsurance Coverage

The final regulations will make a minor wording change due to the elimination of previous cross-references and add an ending date coinciding with the implementation of the SAFRA Act, which ended the making of new FFEL Program loans.

These final changes will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.409—Mandatory Assignment by Guaranty Agencies of Defaulted Loans to the Secretary

The final regulations will make no changes to this section of the regulations.

These final regulations will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.410—Fiscal, Administrative, and Enforcement Requirements

Apart from the earlier discussion of the changes made to the administrative wage garnishment provisions in this section of the regulations, the final regulations will only make minor wording changes to correct cross-references and delete obsolete references.

Substantive changes in this section have been identified earlier. There are no further changes to this section. These final changes will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020 and the earlier assessment that increased burden by 88,402 hours in OMB 1845–0020 for a total of 413,460 hours.

Section 682.411—Lender Due Diligence in Collecting Guaranty Agency Loans

The final regulations will make a minor wording change.

These final changes will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.412—Consequences of the Failure of a Borrower or Student To Establish Eligibility

The final regulations will make a minor wording change.

These final changes will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.414—Records, Reports, and Inspection Requirements for Guaranty Agency Programs

The final regulations will make minor wording changes. One of the minor wording changes will eliminate a reporting category from annual guaranty agency reporting requirement. Under § 682.414, annually, for each State in which it operates, a guaranty agency report of the total guaranteed loan volume, default volume, and default rate does not have to be categorized by schools for all loans guaranteed after December 31, 1980. We estimate that this reduction in reporting categories will decrease the previous burden assessment by 16,253 hours, and therefore the current burden of 325,058 would decrease to 308,805 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.417—Determination of Federal Funds or Assets To Be Returned

The final regulations make no changes to this section of the regulations. These changes in the final regulations will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.418—Prohibited Uses of the Assets of the Operating Fund During Periods in Which the Operating Fund Contains Transferred Funds Owed to the Federal Fund

The final regulations will remove § 682.418 from the FFEL regulations. The final change will remove the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020, and therefore burden will be decreased by 325,058 hours for a total of 0 hours based on the elimination of the prior FFEL requirements.

Section 682.421—Funds Transferred From the Federal Fund to the Operating Fund by a Guaranty Agency

The final regulations will remove § 682.421 from the FFEL regulations. The final change will remove the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020, and therefore burden will decrease by 325,058 hours for a total of 0 hours based on the elimination of the prior FFEL requirements.

Section 682.507—Due Diligence in Collecting a Loan

Section 682.508—Assignment of a Loan

Section 682.511—Procedures for Filing a Claim

Section 682.515—Records, Reports, and Inspection Requirements for Federal GSL Program Lenders

The final regulations will remove all of the regulations under Part 682, subpart E (§§ 682.500 through 682.515) and reserve the subpart. The final regulations will also remove FISL-related Appendix C to part 682 from the regulations.

The change in the final regulations will remove the prior burden assessment of 1,300,232 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020, and therefore burden will decrease by 325,058 hours for each of these four sections and decrease burden by 1,300,232 hours for a total of 0 hours based on the elimination of the prior FFEL requirements.

Section 682.602—Rules for a School or School-Affiliated Organization That Makes or Originates Loans Through an Eligible Lender Trustee

The final regulations will remove § 682.602 from the FFEL regulations. The final change will remove the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020, and therefore burden will decrease by 325,058 hours for a total of 0 hours based on the elimination of the prior FFEL requirements.

Section 682.603—Certification by a School That Participated in Connection With a Loan Application

The final regulations will make conforming language changes required due to the elimination of a cross-reference and reorganization due to a deletion of previous requirements.

These final changes will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845–0020.

Section 682.604—Processing the Borrower's Loan Proceeds and Counseling Borrowers (Required Exit Counseling for Borrowers)

The final regulations will change the heading of § 682.604, remove current paragraph (a), remove and reserve paragraph (b), and remove paragraphs (c) through (f) and (h). The final regulations will also redesignate current paragraph (g) as paragraph (a). Newly redesignated § 682.604(a)(1) will be amended to include another option for providing exit counseling to a student borrower who withdraws without the school's knowledge or fails to complete required exit counseling. In addition to the existing options described under "Current Regulations," a school could also send written counseling materials to an email address provided by the student borrower. Newly redesignated § 682.604(a)(2) will be amended by replacing cross-references to current paragraph (a), which we are removing, with the substantive information contained in the cross-referenced provision that must be included in the counseling. A new paragraph (a)(5) will also be added to newly redesignated § 682.604(a) to clarify that: (1) A school's compliance with the Direct Loan Program exit counseling requirements in 34 CFR 685.304(b) satisfies the FFEL exit counseling requirements for student borrowers who received both FFEL and Direct Loan program loans for attendance at the school if the school provides the information required by § 682.604(a)(2)(i) and (a)(2)(ii); and (2) a student's completion of interactive exit counseling offered by the Secretary meets both the FFEL exit counseling requirements and the Direct Loan exit counseling requirements in 34 CFR 685.304(b).

The changes in the final regulations will decrease the previous burden assessment of 325,058 hours by 211,288 hours, and therefore the current burden of 325,058 hours will decrease to 113,770 hours under OMB Control Number 1845-0020 because the burden associated with new FFEL Program loans will be eliminated.

Section 682.605—Determining the Date of a Student's Withdrawal

The final regulations will not make any changes to this section. These final regulations will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845-0020.

Section 682.610—Administrative and Fiscal Requirements for Schools That Participated

Apart from the earlier discussion of the changes made to this section, the final regulations will only make minor wording changes.

These final changes will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845-0020.

Section 682.711—Reinstatement After Termination

The final regulations will remove the language regarding the loss of a school lender's participation upon the loss of the school's eligibility to participate in the Title IV, Federal student financial aid programs.

These final changes will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845-0020.

Section 682.712—Disqualification Review of Limitation, Suspension, and Termination Actions Taken by Guaranty Agencies Against Lenders

The final regulations will remove a cross-reference to a section proposed for deletion. These final changes will not alter the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845-0020.

Section 682.713—Disqualification Review of Limitation, Suspension, and Termination Actions Taken by Guaranty Agencies Against a School

The final regulations will remove § 682.713 from the FFEL Program regulations. The change in the final regulations will remove the prior burden assessment of 325,058 hours under OMB Control Number 1845-0020, therefore burden will decrease by 325,058 hours for a total of 0 hours based upon the elimination of the prior FFEL requirements.

Consistent with the discussion above, the following chart describes the sections of the final regulations involving information collections, the information being collected, and the collections that the Department will submit to the Office of Management and Budget for approval and public comment under the Paperwork Reduction Act, and the estimated costs associated with the information collections. The monetized net savings from of the reduced burden on lender/guaranty agencies, institutions, and borrowers using wage data developed using BLS data, available at <http://www.bls.gov/ncs/ect/sp/ecsuphst.pdf>, is –$108,767,761 as shown in the chart below. (i) The Secretary reimburses the holder of a loan received by a borrower on or after January 1, 1986, and discharges the borrower's obligation with respect to the loan in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (d) of this section, if the borrower (or the student for whom a parent received a PLUS loan) could not complete the program of study for which the loan was intended because the school at which the borrower (or student) was enrolled closed, or the borrower (or student) withdrew from the school not more than 120 days prior to the date the school closed. The Secretary may extend the 120-day period if the Secretary determines that exceptional circumstances related to a school's closing justify an extension. Exceptional circumstances for this purpose may include, but are not limited to: the school's loss of accreditation; the school's discontinuation of the majority of its academic programs; action by the State to revoke the school's license to operate or award academic credentials in the State; or a finding by a State or Federal government agency that the school violated State or Federal law.

The revisions and addition read as follows:

§ 682.405 Loan rehabilitation agreement.

(a) * * *

(2) * * *

(i) * * *

(A) A qualifying payment is—

* * * * *

(3)(i) If a borrower's loan is being collected by administrative wage garnishment while the borrower is also making monthly payments on the same loan under a loan rehabilitation agreement, the guaranty agency must continue collecting the loan by administrative wage garnishment until the borrower makes five qualifying monthly payments under the rehabilitation agreement, unless the guaranty agency is otherwise precluded from doing so under § 682.410(b)(9).

(ii) After the borrower makes the fifth qualifying monthly payment, the guaranty agency must, unless otherwise directed by the borrower, suspend the garnishment order issued to the borrower's employer.

(iii) A borrower may only obtain the benefit of a suspension of administrative wage garnishment while also attempting to rehabilitate a defaulted loan once.

(b) * * *

(1) A borrower may request rehabilitation of the borrower's defaulted loan held by the guaranty agency. In order to be eligible for rehabilitation of the loan, the borrower must voluntarily make at least 9 of the 10 payments required under a monthly repayment agreement.

(i) Each payment must be—

(A) Made voluntarily;

(B) For the full amount required;

(C) Received within 20 days of the due date for the payment; and

(D) Reasonable and affordable.

(ii) All 9 payments must be received within a 10-month period that begins with the month in which the first required due date falls and ends with the ninth consecutive calendar month following that month.

(iii) The guaranty agency initially considers the borrower's reasonable and affordable payment amount to be an amount equal to 15 percent of the amount by which the borrower's Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) exceeds 150 percent of the poverty guideline amount applicable to the borrower's family size and State, divided by 12, except that if this amount is less than $5, the borrower's monthly rehabilitation payment is $5.

(iv) The guaranty agency or its agents may calculate the payment amount based on information provided orally by the borrower or the borrower's representative and provide the borrower with a rehabilitation agreement using that amount. The guaranty agency must request documentation from the borrower to confirm the borrower's AGI and family size. If the borrower does not provide the guaranty agency or its agents with any documentation requested by the guaranty agency to calculate or confirm the reasonable and affordable payment amount, within a reasonable time deadline set by the guaranty agency or its agent, the rehabilitation agreement provided is null and void.

(v) The reasonable and affordable payment amount calculated under this section must not be—

(A) A required minimum loan payment amount (e.g., $50) if the agency determines that a smaller amount is reasonable and affordable;

(B) A percentage of the borrower's total loan balance; or

(C) Based on other criteria unrelated to the borrower's total financial circumstances.

(vi) Within 15 business days of its determination of the borrower's loan rehabilitation payment amount, the guaranty agency must provide the borrower with a written rehabilitation agreement which includes the borrower's payment amount calculated under paragraph (b)(1)(iii), a prominent statement that the borrower may object orally or in writing to the payment amount, with the method and timeframe for raising such an objection, and an explanation of any other terms and conditions applicable to the required series of payments that must be made before the borrower's account can be considered for repurchase by an eligible lender (i.e., rehabilitated). To accept the agreement, the borrower must sign and return the agreement or accept the agreement electronically under a process provided by the agency. The agency may not impose any other conditions unrelated to the amount or timing of the rehabilitation payments in the rehabilitation agreement. The written rehabilitation agreement must inform the borrower—

(A) Of the effects of having the loans rehabilitated (e.g., removal of the record of default from the borrower's credit history and return to normal repayment);

(B) Of the amount of any collection costs to be added to the unpaid principal of the loan when the loan is sold to an eligible lender, which may not exceed 18.5 percent of the unpaid principal and accrued interest on the loan at the time of the sale; and

(C) That the rehabilitation agreement is null and void if the borrower fails to provide the documentation required to confirm the monthly payment calculated under paragraph (b)(1)(iii) of this section.

(vii) If the borrower objects to the monthly payment amount determined under paragraph (b)(1)(iii) of this section, the guaranty agency or its agents must recalculate the payment amount based solely on information provided on a form approved by the Secretary and, if requested, supporting documentation from the borrower and other sources, and must consider—

(A) The borrower's, and if applicable, the spouse's current disposable income, including public assistance payments, and other income received by the borrower and the spouse, such as welfare benefits, Social Security benefits, Supplemental Security Income, and workers' compensation. Spousal income is not considered if the spouse does not contribute to the borrower's household income;

(B) Family size as defined in § 682.215(a)(3); and

(C) Reasonable and necessary expenses, which include—

(1) Food;

(2) Housing;

(3) Utilities;

(4) Basic communication expenses;

(5) Necessary medical and dental costs;

(6) Necessary insurance costs;

(7) Transportation costs;

(8) Dependent care and other work-related expenses;

(9) Legally required child and spousal support;

(10) Other title IV and non-title IV student loan payments; and

(11) Other expenses approved by the Secretary.

(viii) The guaranty agency must provide the borrower with a new written rehabilitation agreement confirming the borrower's recalculated reasonable and affordable payment amount within the timeframe specified in paragraph (b)(1)(vii) of this section. To accept the agreement, the borrower must sign and return the agreement or accept the agreement electronically under a process provided by the agency.

(ix) The agency must include any payment made under § 682.401(b)(1) in determining whether the 9 out of 10 payments required under paragraph (b)(1) of this section have been made.

(x) A borrower may request that the monthly payment amount be adjusted due to a change in the borrower's total financial circumstances only upon providing the documentation specified in paragraph (b)(1)(vii) of this section.

(xi) During the rehabilitation period, the guaranty agency must limit contact with the borrower on the loan being rehabilitated to collection activities that are required by law or regulation and to communications that support the rehabilitation.

The revisions read as follows:

§ 682.410 Fiscal, administrative, and enforcement requirements.

(a) * * *

(2) Uses of reserve fund assets. A guaranty agency may use the assets of the reserve fund established under paragraph (a)(1) of this section to pay only—

(b) * * *

(9) Administrative garnishment. (i) If a guaranty agency decides to garnish the disposable pay of a borrower who is not making payments on a loan held by the agency, on which the Secretary has paid a reinsurance claim, it must do so in accordance with the following procedures:

(A) At least 30 days before the initiation of garnishment proceedings, the guaranty agency must mail to the borrower's last known address, a written notice described in paragraph (b)(9)(i)(B) of this section.

(B) The notice must describe—

(1) The nature and amount of the debt;

(2) The intention of the agency to collect the debt through deductions from disposable pay;

(3) An explanation of the borrower's rights;

(4) The deadlines by which a borrower must exercise those rights; and

(5) The consequences of failure to exercise those rights in a timely manner.

(C) The guaranty agency must offer the borrower an opportunity to inspect and copy agency records related to the debt.

(D) The guaranty agency must offer the borrower an opportunity to enter into a written repayment agreement with the agency under terms agreeable to the agency.

(E)(1) The guaranty agency must offer the borrower an opportunity for a hearing in accordance with paragraphs (b)(9)(i)(F) through (J) of this section and other guidance provided by the Secretary, for any objection regarding the existence, amount, or enforceability of the debt, and any objection that withholding from the borrower's disposable pay in the amount or at the rate proposed in the notice would cause financial hardship to the borrower.

(2) The borrower must request a hearing in writing. At the borrower's option, the hearing may be oral or written. The time and location of the hearing is established by the guaranty agency. An oral hearing may, at the borrower's option, be conducted either in-person or by telephone conference. The agency notifies the borrower of the process for arranging the time and location of an oral hearing. All telephonic charges are the responsibility of the agency. All travel expenses incurred by the borrower in connection with an in-person oral hearing are the responsibility of the borrower.

(F)(1) If the borrower submits a written request for a hearing on the existence, amount, or enforceability of the debt—

(i) The guaranty agency must provide evidence of the existence of the debt. If the agency provides evidence of the existence of the debt, the borrower must prove by the preponderance of the evidence that no debt exists, the debt is not enforceable under applicable law, the amount the guaranty agency claims the borrower owes is incorrect, including that any amount of collection costs assessed to the borrower exceeds the limits established under § 682.410(b)(2), or the debt is not delinquent; and

(ii) The borrower may raise any of the objections described in paragraph (b)(9)(i)(F)(1)(i) of this section not raised in the written request, but must do so before a hearing is completed. For purposes of this paragraph, a hearing is completed when the record is closed and the hearing official notifies the parties that no additional evidence or objections will be accepted.

(2) If the borrower submits a written request for a hearing on an objection that withholding in the amount or at the rate that the agency proposed in its notice would cause financial hardship to the borrower and the borrower's spouse and dependents—

(i) The borrower bears the burden of proving the claim of financial hardship by a preponderance of the credible evidence by providing credible documentation that the amount of wages proposed in the notice would leave the borrower unable to meet basic living expenses of the borrower, the borrower's spouse, and the borrower's dependents. The documentation must show the amount of the costs incurred for basic living expenses and the income available from any source to meet those expenses;

(ii) The borrower's claim of financial hardship must be evaluated by comparing the amounts that the borrower proves are being incurred for basic living expenses against the amounts spent for basic living expenses by families of the same size as the borrower's. For the purposes of this section, the standards published by the Internal Revenue Service under 26 U.S.C. 7122(d)(2) (the “Collection Financial Standards”) establish the average amounts spent for basic living expenses for families of the same size as the borrower's family;

(iii) The amount that the borrower proves is incurred for a type of basic living expense is considered to be reasonable to the extent that the amount does not exceed the amount spent for that expense by families of the same size according to the Collection Financial Standards. If the borrower claims an amount for any basic living expense that exceeds the amount in the Collection Financial Standards, the borrower must prove that the amount claimed is reasonable and necessary;

(iv) If the borrower's objection to the rate or amount proposed in the notice is upheld in part, the garnishment must be ordered at a lesser rate or amount, that is determined will allow the borrower to meet basic living expenses proven to be reasonable and necessary. If this financial hardship determination is made after a garnishment order is already in effect, the guaranty agency must notify the borrower's employer of any change required by the determination in the amount to be withheld or the rate of withholding under that order; and

(v) A determination by a hearing official that financial hardship would result from garnishment is effective for a period not longer than six months after the date of the finding. After this period, the guaranty agency may require the borrower to submit current information regarding the borrower's family income and living expenses. If the borrower fails to submit current information within 30 days of this request, or the guaranty agency concludes from a review of the available evidence that garnishment should now begin or the rate or the amount of an outstanding withholding should be increased, the guaranty agency must notify the borrower and provide the borrower with an opportunity to contest the determination and obtain a hearing on the objection under the procedures in paragraph (b)(9)(i) of this section.

(G) If the borrower's written request for a hearing is received by the guaranty agency on or before the 30th day following the date of the notice described in paragraph (b)(9)(i)(B) of this section, the guaranty agency may not issue a withholding order until the borrower has been provided the requested hearing and a decision has been rendered. The guaranty agency must provide a hearing to the borrower in sufficient time to permit a decision, in accordance with the procedures that the agency may prescribe, to be rendered within 60 days.

(H) If the borrower's written request for a hearing is received by the guaranty agency after the 30th day following the date of the notice described in paragraph (b)(9)(i)(B) of this section, the guaranty agency must provide a hearing to the borrower in sufficient time that a decision, in accordance with the procedures that the agency may prescribe, may be rendered within 60 days, but may not delay issuance of a withholding order unless the agency determines that the delay in filing the request was caused by factors over which the borrower had no control, or the agency receives information that the agency believes justifies a delay or cancellation of the withholding order. If a decision is not rendered within 60 days following receipt of a borrower's written request for a hearing, the guaranty agency must suspend the order beginning on the 61st day after the hearing request was received until a hearing is provided and a decision is rendered.

(I) The hearing official appointed by the agency to conduct the hearing may be any qualified individual, including an administrative law judge. Under no circumstance may the hearing official be under the supervision or control of the head of the guaranty agency or of a third-party servicer or collection contractor employed by the agency. Payment of compensation by the guaranty agency, third-party servicer, or collection contractor employed by the agency to the hearing official for service as a hearing official does not constitute impermissible supervision or control under this paragraph. The guaranty agency must ensure that, except as needed to arrange for administrative matters pertaining to the hearing, including the type of hearing requested by the borrower, the time, place, and manner of conducting an oral hearing, and post-hearing matters such as issuance of a hearing decision, all oral communications between the hearing official and any representative of the guaranty agency or with the borrower are made within the hearing of the other party, and that copies of any written communication with either party are promptly provided to the other party. This paragraph does not preclude a hearing in the absence of one of the parties if the borrower is given proper notice of the hearing, both parties have agreed on the time, place, and manner of the hearing, and one of the parties fails to attend.

(J) The hearing official must conduct any hearing as an informal proceeding, require witnesses in an oral hearing to testify under oath or affirmation, and maintain a summary record of any hearing. The hearing official must issue a final written decision at the earliest practicable date, but not later than 60 days after the guaranty agency's receipt of the borrower's hearing request. However—

(1) The borrower may request an extension of that deadline for a reasonable period, as determined by the hearing official, for the purpose of submitting additional evidence or raising a new objection described in paragraph (b)(9)(i)(F)(1)(ii) of this section; and

(2) The agency may request, and the hearing official must grant, a reasonable extension of time sufficient to enable the guaranty agency to evaluate and respond to any such additional evidence or any objections raised pursuant to paragraph (b)(9)(i)(F)(1)(ii) of this section.

(K) An employer served with a garnishment order from the guaranty agency with respect to a borrower whose wages are not then subject to a withholding order of any kind must deduct and pay to the agency from a borrower's disposable pay an amount that does not exceed the smallest of—

(1) The amount specified in the guaranty agency order;

(2) The amount permitted by section 488A(a)(1) of the Act, which is 15 percent of the borrower's disposable pay; or

(3) The amount permitted by 15 U.S.C. 1673(a)(2), which is the amount by which the borrower's disposable pay exceeds 30 times the minimum wage.

(L) If a borrower's pay is subject to more than one garnishment order—

(1) Unless other Federal law requires a different priority, the employer must pay the agency the amount calculated under paragraph (b)(9)(i)(K) of this section before the employer complies with any later garnishment orders, except a family support withholding order;

(2) If an employer is withholding from a borrower's pay based on a garnishment order served on the employer before the guaranty agency's order, or if a withholding order for family support is served on an employer at any time, the employer must comply with the agency's garnishment order by withholding an amount that is the lesser of—

(i) The amount specified in the guaranty agency order; or

(ii) The amount calculated under paragraph (b)(9)(i)(L)(3) of this section less the amount or amounts withheld under the garnishment order or orders that have priority over the agency's order; and

(3) The cumulative withholding for all garnishment orders issued by guaranty agencies may not exceed, for an individual borrower, the amount permitted by 15 U.S.C. 1673, which is the lesser of 25 percent of the borrower's disposable pay or the amount by which the borrower's disposable pay exceeds 30 times the minimum wage. If a borrower owes debts to one or more guaranty agencies, each agency may issue a garnishment order to enforce each of those debts, but no single agency may order a total amount exceeding 15 percent of the disposable pay of a borrower to be withheld. The employer must honor these orders as provided in paragraphs (b)(9)(i)(L)(1) and (2) of this section.

(M) Notwithstanding paragraphs (b)(9)(i)(K) and (L) of this section, an employer may withhold and pay a greater amount than required under the order if the borrower gives the employer written consent.

(N) A borrower may, at any time, raise an objection to the amount or the rate of withholding specified in the guaranty agency's order to the borrower's employer on the ground of financial hardship. However, the guaranty agency is not required to consider such an objection and provide the borrower with a hearing until at least six months after the agency issued the most recent garnishment order, either one for which the borrower did not request a hearing or one that was issued after a hardship-related hearing determination. The agency may provide a hearing in extraordinary circumstances earlier than six months if the borrower's request for review shows that the borrower's financial circumstances have substantially changed after the garnishment notice because of an event such as injury, divorce, or catastrophic illness.

(O) A garnishment order is effective until the guaranty agency rescinds the order or the agency has fully recovered the amounts owed by the borrower, including interest, late fees, and collections costs. If an employer is unable to honor a garnishment order because the amount available for garnishment is insufficient to pay any portion of the amount stated in the order, the employer must notify the agency and comply with the order when sufficient disposable pay is available. Upon full recovery of the debt, the agency must send the borrower's employer notification to stop wage withholding.

(P) The guaranty agency must sue any employer for any amount that the employer, after receipt of the withholding order provided by the agency under paragraph (b)(9)(i)(R) of this section, fails to withhold from wages owed and payable to an employee under the employer's normal pay and disbursement cycle.

(Q) The guaranty agency may not garnish the wages of a borrower whom it knows has been involuntarily separated from employment until the borrower has been reemployed continuously for at least 12 months. The borrower has the burden of informing the guaranty agency of the circumstances surrounding the borrower's involuntary separation from employment.

(R) Unless the guaranty agency receives information that the agency believes justifies a delay or cancellation of the withholding order, it must send a withholding order to the employer within 20 days after the borrower fails to make a timely request for a hearing, or, if a timely request for a hearing is made by the borrower, within 20 days after a final decision is made by the agency to proceed with garnishment.

(S) The notice given to the employer under paragraph (b)(9)(i)(R) of this section must contain only the information as may be necessary for the employer to comply with the withholding order and to ensure proper credit for payments received. At a minimum, the notice given to the employer includes the borrower's name, address, and Social Security Number, as well as instructions for withholding and information as to where the employer must send payments.

(T)(1) A guaranty agency may use a third-party servicer or collection contractor to perform administrative activities associated with administrative wage garnishment, but may not allow such a party to conduct required hearings or to determine that a withholding order is to be issued. Subject to the limitations of paragraphs (b)(9)(i)(T)(2) and (3) of this section, administrative activities associated with administrative wage garnishment may include but are not limited to—

(i) Identifying to the agency suitable candidates for wage garnishment pursuant to agency standards;

(ii) Obtaining employment information for the purposes of garnishment;

(iii) Sending candidates selected for garnishment by the agency notices prescribed by the agency;

(iv) Negotiating alternative repayment arrangements with borrowers;

(v) Responding to inquiries from notified borrowers;

(vi) Receiving garnishment payments on behalf of the agency;

(vii) Arranging for the retention of hearing officials and for the conduct of hearings on behalf of the agency;

(viii) Providing information to borrowers or hearing officials on the process or conduct of hearings; and

(ix) Sending garnishment orders and other communications to employers on behalf of the agency.

(2) Only an authorized official of the agency may determine that an individual withholding order is to be issued. The guarantor must record the official's determination for each order it issues, including any order which it causes to be prepared or mailed by a third-party servicer or collection contractor. The guarantor must evidence the official's approval, either by including the official's signature on the order or, if the agency uses a form of withholding order that does not provide for execution by signature, by retaining in the agency's records the identity of the approving official, the date of the approval, the amount or rate of the order, the name and address of the employer to whom the order was issued, and the debt for which the order was issued.

(3) The withholding order must identify the guaranty agency as the holder of the debt, as the issuer of the order, and as the sole party legally authorized to issue the withholding order. If a guaranty agency uses a third-party servicer or collection contractor to prepare and mail a withholding order that includes the name of the servicer or contractor that prepared or mailed the order, the guaranty agency must also ensure that the order contains no captions or representations that the servicer or contractor is the party that issued, or was empowered by Federal law or by the agency to issue, the withholding order.

■ 88. Section 685.204 is revised to read as follows:

§ 685.204 Deferment.

(a) General. (1) A Direct Subsidized Loan or Direct Subsidized Consolidation Loan borrower who meets the requirements described in paragraphs (b), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), (i), or (j) of this section is eligible for a deferment during which periodic installments of principal and interest need not be paid.

(2) A Direct Unsubsidized Loan, Direct Unsubsidized Consolidation Loan, Direct PLUS Loan, or Direct PLUS Consolidation Loan borrower who meets the requirements described in paragraphs (b) through (j) of this section is eligible for a deferment during which periodic installments of principal need not be paid but interest does accrue and is capitalized or paid by the borrower.

At or before the time a deferment is granted, the Secretary provides information, including an example, to assist the borrower in understanding the impact of capitalization of accrued, unpaid interest on the borrower's loan principal and on the total amount of interest to be paid over the life of the loan.

(3) A borrower whose loan is in default is not eligible for a deferment, unless the borrower has made payment arrangements satisfactory to the Secretary.

(4)(i) To receive a deferment, except as provided for in-school deferments under paragraphs (b)(2)(ii) through (iv) of this section, the borrower must request the deferment and, except as provided in paragraph (a)(5)(i) of this section, provide the Secretary with all information and documents required to establish eligibility for the deferment.

(ii) In the case of a military service deferment under paragraph (h) of this section, a borrower's representative may request the deferment and provide the required information and documents on behalf of the borrower. If the Secretary grants a military service deferment based on a request from a borrower's representative, the Secretary notifies the borrower that the deferment has been granted and that the borrower has the option to cancel the deferment and continue to make payments on the loan. The Secretary may also notify the borrower's representative of the outcome of the deferment request.

(5)(i) After receiving a borrower's written or verbal request for a deferment, the Secretary may grant a graduate fellowship deferment under paragraph (d), a rehabilitation training deferment under paragraph (e), an unemployment deferment under paragraph (f), an economic hardship deferment under paragraph (g), a military service deferment under paragraph (h), or a post-active duty student deferment under paragraph (i) of this section if the Secretary confirms that the borrower has received a deferment on a FFEL Program loan for the same reason and during the same time period.

(ii) The Secretary will grant a deferment based on the information obtained under paragraph (a)(5)(i) of this section when determining a borrower's eligibility for a deferment, unless the Secretary, as of the date of the determination, has information indicating that the borrower does not qualify for the deferment. The Secretary will resolve any discrepant information before granting a deferment under paragraph (a)(5)(i) of this section.

(iii) If the Secretary grants a deferment under paragraph (a)(5)(i) of this section, the Secretary notifies the borrower that the deferment has been granted and that the borrower has the option to cancel the deferment and continue to make payments on the loan.

(b) In-school deferment. (1) A Direct Loan borrower is eligible for a deferment during any period during which—

(i) The borrower is carrying at least one-half the normal full-time work load for the course of study that the borrower is pursuing, as determined by the eligible school the borrower is attending; and

(ii) The borrower is not serving in a medical internship or residency program, except for a residency program in dentistry.

(2) For the purpose of paragraph (b)(1) of this section, the Secretary processes a deferment when—

(i) The borrower submits a request to the Secretary along with documentation verifying the borrower's eligibility;

(ii) The Secretary receives information from the borrower's school indicating that the borrower is eligible to receive a new loan;

(iii) The Secretary receives student status information from the borrower's school, either directly or indirectly, indicating that the borrower is enrolled on at least a half-time basis; or

(iv) The Secretary confirms a borrower's half-time enrollment status through the use of the National Student Loan Data System if requested to do so by the school the borrower is attending.

(3)(i) Upon notification by the Secretary that a deferment has been granted based on paragraph (b)(2)(ii), (iii), or (iv) of this section, the borrower has the option to cancel the deferment and continue to make payments on the loan.

(ii) If the borrower elects to cancel the deferment and continue to make payments on the loan, the borrower has the option to make the principal and interest payments that were deferred. If the borrower does not make the payments, the Secretary applies a deferment for the period in which payments were not made and capitalizes the interest.

(c) In-school deferments for Direct PLUS Loan borrowers with loans first disbursed on or after July 1, 2008. (1)(i) A student Direct PLUS Loan borrower is eligible for a deferment on a Direct PLUS Loan first disbursed on or after July 1, 2008 during the six-month period that begins on the day after the student ceases to be enrolled on at least a half-time basis at an eligible institution.

(ii) If the Secretary grants an in-school deferment to a student Direct PLUS Loan borrower in accordance with § 685.204(b)(2)(ii), (iii), or (iv), the deferment period for a Direct PLUS Loan first disbursed on or after July 1, 2008 includes the six-month post-enrollment period described in paragraph (c)(1)(i) of this section.

(2) A parent Direct PLUS Loan borrower is eligible for a deferment on a Direct PLUS Loan first disbursed on or after July 1, 2008—

(i) Upon the request of the borrower, during the period when the student on whose behalf the loan was obtained is enrolled at an eligible institution on at least a half-time basis; and

(ii) Upon the request of the borrower, during the six-month period that begins on the later of the day after the student on whose behalf the loan was obtained ceases to be enrolled on at least a half-time basis or, if the parent borrower is also a student, the day after the parent borrower ceases to be enrolled on at least a half-time basis.

(d) Graduate fellowship deferment. (1) A Direct Loan borrower is eligible for a deferment during any period in which an authorized official of the borrower's graduate fellowship program certifies that the borrower is pursuing a course of study pursuant to an eligible graduate fellowship program in accordance with paragraph (d)(2) of this section.

(2)(i) To qualify for a deferment under paragraph (d)(1) of this section, a borrower must—

(A) Hold at least a baccalaureate degree conferred by an institution of higher education;

(B) Have been accepted or recommended by an institution of higher education for acceptance on a full-time basis into an eligible graduate fellowship program, as defined in paragraph (d)(2)(ii) of this section; and

(C) Not be serving in a medical internship or residency program, except for a residency program in dentistry.

(ii) An eligible graduate fellowship program is a fellowship program that—

(A) Provides sufficient financial support to graduate fellows to allow for full-time study for at least six months;

(B) Requires a written statement from each applicant explaining the applicant's objectives before the award of that financial support;

(C) Requires a graduate fellow to submit periodic reports, projects, or evidence of the fellow's progress; and

(D) In the case of a course of study at a foreign university, accepts the course of study for completion of the fellowship program.

(e) Rehabilitation training program deferment. (1) A Direct Loan borrower is eligible for a deferment during any period in which an authorized official of the borrower's rehabilitation training program certifies that the borrower is pursuing an eligible rehabilitation training program for individuals with disabilities in accordance with paragraph (e)(2) of this section.

(2) For purposes of paragraph (e)(1) of this section, an eligible rehabilitation training program for disabled individuals is a program that—

(i) Is licensed, approved, certified, or otherwise recognized as providing rehabilitation training to disabled individuals by—

(A) A State agency with responsibility for vocational rehabilitation programs;

(D) A State agency with responsibility for alcohol abuse treatment programs; or

(E) The Department of Veterans Affairs; and

(ii) Provides or will provide the borrower with rehabilitation services under a written plan that—

(A) Is individualized to meet the borrower's needs;

(B) Specifies the date on which the services to the borrower are expected to end; and

(C) Is structured in a way that requires a substantial commitment by the borrower to his or her rehabilitation. The Secretary considers a substantial commitment by the borrower to be a commitment of time and effort that normally would prevent an individual from engaging in full-time employment, either because of the number of hours that must be devoted to rehabilitation or because of the nature of the rehabilitation. For the purpose of this paragraph, full-time employment involves at least 30 hours of work per week and is expected to last at least three months.

(f) Unemployment deferment. (1) A Direct Loan borrower is eligible for a deferment during periods that, collectively, do not exceed three years in which the borrower is seeking and unable to find full-time employment.

(2) A borrower qualifies for an unemployment deferment by—

(i) Providing evidence of eligibility for unemployment benefits to the Secretary; or

(ii) Providing to the Secretary a written certification, or an equivalent as approved by the Secretary, that—

(A) The borrower has registered with a public or private employment agency, if one is available to the borrower within a 50-mile radius of the borrower's current address; and

(B) For all requests beyond the initial request, the borrower has made at least six diligent attempts during the preceding six-month period to secure full-time employment.

(3) For purposes of obtaining an unemployment deferment under paragraph (f)(2)(ii) of this section, the following rules apply:

(i) A borrower may qualify for an unemployment deferment whether or not the borrower has been previously employed.

(ii) An unemployment deferment is not justified if the borrower refuses to seek or accept employment in kinds of positions or at salary and responsibility levels for which the borrower feels overqualified by virtue of education or previous experience.

(iii) Full-time employment involves at least 30 hours of work a week and is expected to last at least three months.

(iv) The initial period of unemployment deferment may be granted for a period of unemployment beginning up to six months before the date the Secretary receives the borrower's request, and may be granted for up to six months after that date.

(4) The Secretary does not grant an unemployment deferment beyond the date that is six months after the date the borrower provides evidence of the borrower's eligibility for unemployment insurance benefits under paragraph (f)(2)(i) of this section or the date the borrower provides the written certification, or an approved equivalent, under paragraph (f)(2)(ii) of this section.

(g) Economic hardship deferment.

(1)(i) A Direct Loan borrower is eligible for a deferment during periods that, collectively, do not exceed three years in which the borrower has experienced or will experience an economic hardship in accordance with paragraph (g)(2) of this section.

(ii) An economic hardship deferment is granted for periods of up to one year at a time, except that a borrower who receives a deferment under paragraph (g)(2)(iv) of this section may receive an economic hardship deferment for the lesser of the borrower's full term of service in the Peace Corps or the borrower's remaining period of economic hardship deferment eligibility under the 3-year maximum.

(2) A borrower qualifies for an economic hardship deferment if the borrower—

(i) Has been granted an economic hardship deferment under either the FFEL or the Federal Perkins Loan programs for the period of time for which the borrower has requested an economic hardship deferment for his or her Direct Loan;

(ii) Is receiving payment under a Federal or State public assistance program, such as Aid to Families with Dependent Children, Supplemental Security Income, Food Stamps, or State general public assistance;

(iii) Is working full-time (as defined in paragraph (g)(3)(iii) of this section) and has a monthly income (as defined in paragraph (g)(3)(iv) of this section) that does not exceed the greater of (as calculated on a monthly basis)—

(A) The minimum wage rate described in section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938; or

(B) An amount equal to 150 percent of the poverty guideline applicable to the borrower's family size (as defined in paragraph (g)(3)(v) of this section) as published annually by the Department of Health and Human Services pursuant to 42 U.S.C. 9902(2). If a borrower is not a resident of a State identified in the poverty guidelines, the poverty guideline to be used for the borrower is the poverty guideline (for the relevant family size) used for the 48 contiguous States; or

(iv) Is serving as a volunteer in the Peace Corps.

(3) The following rules apply to a deferment granted under paragraph (g)(2)(iii) of this section:

(i) For an initial period of deferment, the Secretary requires the borrower to submit evidence showing the amount of the borrower's monthly income.

(ii) To qualify for a subsequent period of deferment that begins less than one year after the end of a period of deferment under paragraph (g)(2)(iii) of this section, the Secretary requires the borrower to submit evidence showing the amount of the borrower's monthly income or a copy of the borrower's most recently filed Federal income tax return.

(iii) A borrower is considered to be working full-time if the borrower is expected to be employed for at least three consecutive months at 30 hours per week.

(iv) A borrower's monthly income is the gross amount of income received by the borrower from employment and from other sources, or one-twelfth of the borrower's adjusted gross income, as recorded on the borrower's most recently filed Federal income tax return.

(v) Family size means the number that is determined by counting the borrower, the borrower's spouse, and the borrower's children, including unborn children who will be born during the period covered by the deferment, if the children receive more than half their support from the borrower. A borrower's family size includes other individuals if, at the time the borrower requests the economic hardship deferment, the other individuals—

(A) Live with the borrower; and

(B) Receive more than half their support from the borrower and will continue to receive this support from the borrower for the year the borrower certifies family size. Support includes money, gifts, loans, housing, food, clothes, car, medical and dental care, and payment of college costs.

(h) Military service deferment. (1) A Direct Loan borrower is eligible for a deferment during any period in which the borrower is—

(i) Serving on active duty during a war or other military operation or national emergency, as defined in paragraph (h)(5) of this section; or

(ii) Performing qualifying National Guard duty during a war or other military operation or national emergency, as defined in paragraph (h)(5) of this section.

(2) For a borrower whose active duty service includes October 1, 2007, or begins on or after that date, the deferment period ends 180 days after the demobilization date for each period of the service described in paragraphs (h)(1)(i) and (h)(1)(ii) of this section.

(3) Without supporting documentation, the military service deferment will be granted to an otherwise eligible borrower for a period not to exceed the initial 12 months from the date the qualifying eligible service began based on a request from the borrower or the borrower's representative.

(4) The provisions of paragraph (h) of this section do not authorize the refunding of any payments made by or on behalf of a borrower during a period for which the borrower qualified for a military service deferment.

(5) As used in paragraph (h) of this section—

(i) Serving on active duty during a war or other military operation or national emergency means service by an individual who is—

(C) Any other member of an Armed Force on active duty in connection with such emergency or subsequent actions or conditions who has been assigned to a duty station at a location other than the location at which the member is normally assigned;

(ii) Qualifying National Guard duty during a war or other operation or national emergency means service as a member of the National Guard on full-time National Guard duty, as defined in 10 U.S.C. 101(d)(5) under a call to active service authorized by the President or the Secretary of Defense for a period of more than 30 consecutive days under 32 U.S.C. 502(f) in connection with a war, other military operation, or national emergency declared by the President and supported by Federal funds;

(ii) The borrower was enrolled on at least a half-time basis in a program of instruction at an eligible institution at the time, or within six months prior to the time, the borrower was called to active duty.

(2) As used in paragraph (i)(1) of this section, "active duty" means active duty as defined in 10 U.S.C. 101(d)(1) for at least a 30-day period, except that—

(ii) Active duty includes full-time National Guard duty under which a Governor is authorized, with the approval of the President or the U.S. Secretary of Defense, to order a member to State active duty and the activities of the National Guard are paid for with Federal funds;

(3) If the borrower returns to enrolled student status on at least a half-time basis during the grace period or the 13-month deferment period, the deferment expires at the time the borrower returns to enrolled student status on at least a half-time basis.

(4) If a borrower qualifies for both a military service deferment and a post-active duty student deferment, the 180-day post-demobilization military service deferment period and the 13-month post-active duty student deferment period apply concurrently.

(f) Rehabilitation of defaulted loans.

(1) A defaulted Direct Loan, except for a loan on which a judgment has been obtained, is rehabilitated if the borrower makes 9 voluntary, reasonable and affordable monthly payments within 20 days of the due date during 10 consecutive months. The Secretary determines the amount of a borrower's reasonable and affordable payment on the basis of a borrower's total financial circumstances.

(i) The Secretary initially considers the borrower's reasonable and affordable payment amount to be an amount equal to 15 percent of the amount by which the borrower's AGI exceeds 150 percent of the poverty guideline amount applicable to the borrower's family size and State, divided by 12, except that if this amount is less than $5, the borrower's monthly rehabilitation payment is $5.

(ii) The Secretary may calculate the payment amount based on information provided orally by the borrower or the borrower's representative and provide the borrower with a rehabilitation agreement using that amount. The Secretary requires the borrower to provide documentation to confirm the borrower's AGI and family size. If the borrower does not provide the Secretary with any documentation requested by the Secretary to calculate or confirm the reasonable and affordable payment amount within a reasonable time deadline set by the Secretary, the rehabilitation agreement provided is null and void.

(iii) A reasonable and affordable payment amount is not—

(A) A required minimum loan payment amount (e.g., $50) if the Secretary determines that a smaller amount is reasonable and affordable;

(B) A percentage of the borrower's total loan balance; or

(C) Based on other criteria unrelated to the borrower's total financial circumstances.

(iv) Within 15 business days of the Secretary's determination of the borrower's loan rehabilitation payment amount, the Secretary provides the borrower with a written rehabilitation agreement which includes the borrower's reasonable and affordable payment amount, a prominent statement that the borrower may object orally or in writing to the reasonable and affordable payment amount with the method and timeframe for raising such an objection, a statement that the rehabilitation is null and void if the borrower does not provide the documentation required to calculate the reasonable and affordable payment amount, and an explanation of any other terms and conditions applicable to the required series of payments that must be made. To accept the agreement, the borrower must sign and return the agreement or accept the agreement electronically under a process provided by the Secretary. The Secretary does not impose any other conditions unrelated to the amount or timing of the rehabilitation payments in the rehabilitation agreement. The written rehabilitation agreement informs the borrower of the effects of having the loans rehabilitated (e.g., removal of the record of default from the borrower's credit history and return to normal repayment).

(2) The Secretary provides the borrower with a written statement confirming the borrower's reasonable and affordable payment amount, as determined by the Secretary, and explaining any other terms and conditions applicable to the required series of payments that must be made before the borrower's account can be rehabilitated. The statement informs the borrower that the borrower may object to the terms and conditions of the rehabilitation agreement, and explains the method and timeframe for objecting to the terms and conditions of the rehabilitation agreement.

(3) If the borrower objects to the monthly payment amount determined under paragraph (f)(1) of this section, the Secretary recalculates the payment based solely on information provided on a form approved by the Secretary and, if requested, supporting documentation from the borrower and other sources, and considers—

(i) The borrower's, and if applicable, the spouse's current disposable income, including public assistance payments, and other income received by the borrower and the spouse, such as welfare benefits, Social Security benefits, Supplemental Security Income, and workers' compensation. Spousal income is not considered if the spouse does not contribute to the borrower's household income;

(ii) Family size as defined in § 685.221(a)(3); and

(iii) Reasonable and necessary expenses, which include—

(A) Food;

(B) Housing;

(C) Utilities;

(D) Basic communication expenses;

(E) Necessary medical and dental

costs;

(F) Necessary insurance costs;

(G) Transportation costs;

(H) Dependent care and other work-related expenses;

(I) Legally required child and spousal support;

(J) Other title IV and non-title IV student loan payments; and

(K) Other expenses approved by the Secretary.

(4) The Secretary provides the borrower with a new written rehabilitation agreement confirming the borrower's recalculated reasonable and affordable payment amount. To accept the agreement, the borrower must sign and return the agreement or accept the agreement electronically under a process provided by the Secretary.

(5) The Secretary includes any payment made under paragraph (1) of the definition of "satisfactory repayment arrangement" in § 685.102(b) in determining whether the 9 out of 10 payments required under paragraph (f)(1) of this section have been made.

(6) A borrower may request that the monthly payment amount be adjusted due to a change in the borrower's total financial circumstances only upon providing the documentation specified in paragraph (f)(3) of this section.

(7) During the rehabilitation period, the Secretary limits contact with the borrower on the loan being rehabilitated to collection activities that are required by law or regulation and to communications that support the rehabilitation.

(8) If a defaulted loan is rehabilitated, the Secretary instructs any consumer reporting agency to which the default was reported to remove the default from the borrower's credit history.

(9) A defaulted Direct Loan on which a judgment has been obtained may not be rehabilitated.

(10) A Direct Loan obtained by fraud for which the borrower has been convicted of, or has pled nolo contendere or guilty to, a crime involving fraud in obtaining title IV, HEA program assistance may not be rehabilitated.

(11)(i) If a borrower's loan is being collected by administrative wage garnishment while the borrower is also making monthly payments on the same loan under a loan rehabilitation agreement, the Secretary continues collecting the loan by administrative wage garnishment until the borrower makes five qualifying monthly payments under the rehabilitation agreement, unless the Secretary is otherwise precluded from doing so.

(ii) After the borrower makes the fifth qualifying monthly payment, the Secretary, unless otherwise directed by the borrower, suspends the garnishment order issued to the borrower's employer.

(iii) A borrower may only obtain the benefit of a suspension of administrative wage garnishment while also attempting to rehabilitate a defaulted loan once.

(12) Effective for any defaulted Direct Loan that is rehabilitated on or after August 14, 2008, the borrower cannot rehabilitate the loan again if the loan returns to default status following the rehabilitation.

§ 685.300 Agreements between an eligible school and the Secretary for participation in the Direct Loan Program

(a) General. Participation of a school in the Direct Loan Program means that eligible students at the school may receive Direct Loans. To participate in the Direct Loan Program, a school must—

(2) Enter into a written program participation agreement with the Secretary.

* * * * *

■ 103. Section 685.301 is revised to read as follows:

§ 685.301 Origination of a loan by a Direct Loan Program school.

(a) Determining eligibility and loan amount. (1) A school participating in the Direct Loan Program must ensure that any information it provides to the Secretary in connection with loan origination is complete and accurate. A school must originate a Direct Loan while the student meets the borrower eligibility requirements of § 685.200. Except as provided in 34 CFR part 668, subpart E, a school may rely in good faith upon statements made by the borrower and, in the case of a parent Direct PLUS Loan borrower, the student and the parent borrower.

(2) A school must provide to the Secretary borrower information that includes but is not limited to—

(i) The borrower's eligibility for a loan, as determined in accordance with § 685.200 and § 685.203;

(ii) The student's loan amount; and

(iii) The anticipated and actual disbursement date or dates and disbursement amounts of the loan proceeds, as determined in accordance with § 685.303(d).

(3) Before originating a Direct PLUS Loan for a graduate or professional student borrower, the school must determine the borrower's eligibility for a Direct Subsidized and a Direct Unsubsidized Loan. If the borrower is eligible for a Direct Subsidized or Direct Unsubsidized Loan, but has not requested the maximum Direct Subsidized or Direct Unsubsidized Loan amount for which the borrower is eligible, the school must—

(i) Notify the graduate or professional student borrower of the maximum Direct Subsidized or Direct Unsubsidized Loan amount that he or she is eligible to receive and provide the borrower with a comparison of—

(A) The maximum interest rate for a Direct Subsidized Loan and a Direct Unsubsidized Loan and the maximum interest rate for a Direct PLUS Loan;

(B) Periods when interest accrues on a Direct Subsidized Loan and a Direct Unsubsidized Loan, and periods when interest accrues on a Direct PLUS Loan; and

(C) The point at which a Direct Subsidized Loan and a Direct Unsubsidized Loan enters repayment, and the point at which a Direct PLUS Loan enters repayment; and

(ii) Give the graduate or professional student borrower the opportunity to request the maximum Direct Subsidized or Direct Unsubsidized Loan amount for which the borrower is eligible.

(4) A school may not originate a Direct Subsidized, Direct Unsubsidized, or Direct PLUS Loan, or a combination of loans, for an amount that—

(i) The school has reason to know would result in the borrower exceeding the annual or maximum loan amounts in § 685.203; or

(ii) Exceeds the student's estimated cost of attendance less—

(A) The student's estimated financial assistance for that period; and

(B) In the case of a Direct Subsidized Loan, the borrower's expected family contribution for that period.

(5)(i) A school determines a Direct Subsidized or Direct Unsubsidized Loan amount in accordance with § 685.203.

(ii) When prorating a loan amount for a student enrolled in a program of study with less than a full academic year remaining, the school need not recalculate the amount of the loan if the number of hours for which an eligible student is enrolled changes after the school originates the loan.

(6) The date of loan origination is the date a school creates the electronic loan origination record.

(7) If a student has received a determination of need for a Direct Subsidized Loan that is $200 or less, a school may choose not to originate a Direct Subsidized Loan for that student and to include the amount as part of a Direct Unsubsidized Loan.

(8) A school may refuse to originate a Direct Subsidized, Direct Unsubsidized, or Direct PLUS Loan or may reduce the borrower's determination of need for the loan if the reason for that action is documented and provided to the borrower in writing, and if—

(i) The determination is made on a case-by-case basis;

(ii) The documentation supporting the determination is retained in the student's file; and

(iii) The school does not engage in any pattern or practice that results in a denial of a borrower's access to Direct Loans because of the borrower's race, gender, color, religion, national origin, age, disability status, or income.

(9) A school may not assess a fee for the completion or certification of any Direct Loan Program forms or information or for the origination of a Direct Loan.

(10)(i) The minimum period of enrollment for which a school may originate a Direct Loan is—

(A) At a school that measures academic progress in credit hours and uses a semester, trimester, or quarter system, or that has terms that are substantially equal in length with no term less than nine weeks in length, a single academic term (e.g., a semester or quarter); or

(B) Except as provided in paragraph (a)(10)(ii) or (iii) of this section, at a school that measures academic progress in clock hours, or measures academic progress in credit hours but does not use a semester, trimester, or quarter system and does not have terms that are substantially equal in length with no term less than nine weeks in length, the lesser of—

(1) The length of the student's program (or the remaining portion of that program if the student has less than the full program remaining) at the school; or

(2) The academic year as defined by the school in accordance with 34 CFR 668.3.

(ii) For a student who transfers into a school from another school and the prior school originated a loan for a period of enrollment that overlaps the period of enrollment at the new school, the new school may originate a loan for the remaining portion of the program or academic year. In this case the school may originate a loan for an amount that does not exceed the remaining balance of the student's annual loan limit.

(iii) For a student who completes a program at a school, where the student's last loan to complete that program had been for less than an academic year, and the student then begins a new program at the same school, the school may originate a loan for the remainder of the academic year. In this case the school may originate a loan for an amount that does not exceed the remaining balance of the student's annual loan limit at the loan level associated with the new program.

(iv) The maximum period for which a school may originate a Direct Loan is—

(A) Generally an academic year, as defined by the school in accordance with 34 CFR 668.3, except that the school may use a longer period of time corresponding to the period to which the school applies the annual loan limits under § 685.203; or

(B) For a defaulted borrower who has regained eligibility, the academic year in which the borrower regained eligibility.

(b) Promissory note handling. (1) The Secretary provides promissory notes for use in the Direct Loan Program. A school may not modify, or make any additions to, the promissory note without the Secretary's prior written approval.

(2) A school that originates a loan must ensure that the loan is supported by a completed promissory note as proof of the borrower's indebtedness.

(c) Reporting to the Secretary. The Secretary accepts a student's Payment Data that is submitted in accordance with procedures established through publication in the Federal Register, and that contains information the Secretary considers to be accurate in light of other available information including that previously provided by the student and the institution. (2) The Secretary provides Direct Loan funds to a school in accordance with 34 CFR 668.162.

(3)(i) Except in the case of a late disbursement under paragraph (f) of this section, or as provided in paragraph (b)(3)(iii) of this section, a school may disburse loan proceeds only to a student, or a parent in the case of a Direct PLUS Loan obtained by a parent borrower, if the school determines the student has continuously maintained eligibility in accordance with the provisions of § 685.200 from the beginning of the loan period for which the loan was intended.

(ii) If a student delays attending school for a period of time, the school may consider that student to have maintained eligibility for the loan from the first day of the period of enrollment. However, the school must comply with the requirements under paragraph (b)(4) of this section.

(5)(i) If a student is enrolled in the first year of an undergraduate program of study and has not previously received a Direct Subsidized Loan, a Direct Unsubsidized Loan, a Subsidized or Unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loan, or a Federal Supplemental Loan for Students, a school may not disburse the proceeds of a Direct Subsidized or Direct Unsubsidized Loan until 30 days after the first day of the student's program of study unless—

* * * * *

(ii) Paragraphs (b)(5)(i)(A) and (B) of this section do not apply to any loans originated by the school beginning 30 days after the date the school receives notification from the Secretary of a cohort default rate, calculated under subpart M or subpart N of 34 CFR part 668, that causes the school to no longer meet the qualifications outlined in paragraph (b)(5)(i)(A) or (B) of this section, as applicable.

* * * * *

(d) Determining disbursement dates and amounts. (1) Before disbursing a loan, a school must determine that all information required by the promissory note has been provided by the borrower and, if applicable, the student.

(2) An institution must disburse the loan proceeds on a payment period basis in accordance with 34 CFR 668.164(b).

(3) Unless paragraph (d)(4) or (d)(6) of this section applies—

(i) If a loan period is more than one payment period, the school must disburse loan proceeds at least once in each payment period; and

(ii) If a loan period is one payment period, the school must make at least two disbursements during that payment period.

(A) For a loan originated under § 685.301(a)(10)(i)(A), the school may not make the second disbursement until the calendar midpoint between the first and last scheduled days of class of the loan period.

(B) For a loan originated under § 685.301(a)(10)(i)(B), the school may not make the second disbursement until the student successfully completes half of the number of credit hours or clock hours and half of the number of weeks of instructional time in the payment period.

(4)(i) If one or more payment periods have elapsed before a school makes a disbursement, the school may include in the disbursement loan proceeds for completed payment periods.

(ii) If the loan period is equal to one payment period and more than one-half of it has elapsed, the school may include in the disbursement loan proceeds for the entire payment period.

(5) The school must disburse loan proceeds in substantially equal installments, and no installment may exceed one-half of the loan.

(A)(1) The loan period is not more than one semester, one trimester, one quarter, or, for non term-based schools or schools with non-standard terms, 4 months; and

(2)(i) Except as provided in paragraph (d)(6)(i)(A)(2)(ii) of this section, the school has a cohort default rate, calculated under subpart M of 34 CFR part 668 of less than 10 percent for each of the three most recent fiscal years for which data are available; or

(ii) For loan disbursements made on or after October 1, 2011, the school in which the student is enrolled has a cohort default rate, calculated under either subpart M or subpart N of 34 CFR part 668, of less than 15 percent for each of the three most recent fiscal years for which data are available; or

(B) The school is an eligible home institution originating a loan to cover the cost of attendance in a study abroad program and has a cohort default rate, calculated under subpart M or subpart N of 34 CFR part 668, of less than five percent for the single most recent fiscal year for which data are available.

(ii) Paragraphs (d)(6)(i)(A) and (B) of this section do not apply to any loans originated by the school beginning 30 days after the date the school receives notification from the Secretary of a cohort default rate, calculated under subpart M or subpart N of 34 CFR part 668, that causes the school to no longer meet the qualifications outlined in

(e) Annual loan limit progression based on completion of an academic year. (1) If a school measures academic progress in an educational program in credit hours and uses either standard terms (semesters, trimesters, or quarters) or nonstandard terms that are substantially equal in length, and each term is at least nine weeks of instructional time in length, a student is considered to have completed an academic year and progresses to the next annual loan limit when the academic year calendar period has elapsed.

(2) If a school measures academic progress in an educational program in credit hours and uses nonstandard terms that are not substantially equal in length or each term is not at least nine weeks of instructional time in length, or measures academic progress in credit hours and does not have academic terms, a student is considered to have completed an academic year and progresses to the next annual loan limit at the later of—

(i) The student's completion of the weeks of instructional time in the student's academic year; or

(ii) The date, as determined by the school, that the student has successfully completed the academic coursework in the student's academic year.

(3) If a school measures academic progress in an educational program in clock hours, a student is considered to have completed an academic year and progresses to the next annual loan limit at the later of—

(i) The student's completion of the weeks of instructional time in the student's academic year; or

(ii) The date, as determined by the school, that the student has successfully completed the clock hours in the student's academic year.

(g) Treatment of excess loan proceeds. Before the disbursement of any Direct

Subsidized Loan, Direct Unsubsidized Loan, or Direct PLUS Loan proceeds, if a school learns that the borrower will receive or has received financial aid for the period of enrollment for which the loan was intended that exceeds the amount of assistance for which the student is eligible (except for Federal Work-Study Program funds up to $300), the school must reduce or eliminate the overaward by either—
