On page S620, January 28, 2020, third column, the following appears: I wanted to point that out in relation to the standards for impeachable offenses because it is another piece of the constitutional puzzle that fits in with the exposition that Professor Dershowitz set out. And it also shows an inherent flaw in the House managers' theory of abuse of power, regardless of whether or not one accepts the view that an impeachable offense has to be a defined crime. There is still the flaw in their definition of abuse of power; that it is so malleable, based on purely subjective standards, that it does not provide any recognizable notice of an offense. It is so malleable that it, in effect, recreates the offense of maladministration that the Framers expressly rejected, as Professor Dershowitz explained.

On page S620, January 28, 2020, third column, the following appears: As Professor Dershowitz explained, for over two centuries, the President . . .

On page S621, January 28, 2020, first column, the following appears: The idea that we are going to start impeaching Presidents by deciding that they have illicit motives if we can show they disagree with some interagency consensus is fundamentally contrary to the Constitution and fundamentally anti-democratic. Those were the two observations I wanted to add to supplement specific points on Professor Dershowitz' comments from last night . . .

On page S645, January 29, 2020, first column, the following appears: The CHIEF JUSTICE. If there is no objection, the Journal of proceedings of the trial is approved to date.

On page S658, January 29, 2020, second column, the following appears: President Nixon said, "When the president does it that means that it is not illegal." Before he was elected, President Trump said, "When you're a star, they let you do it. You can do anything." After he was elected, President Trump said that Article II of the Constitution gives him "the right to do whatever {he} want{s} as president." These statements suggest that each of them believed that the president is above the law—a belief reflected in the improper actions that both presidents took to affect their reelection campaigns. If the Senate fails to hold the president accountable for misconduct, how would that undermine the integrity of our system of justice?

On page S660, January 29, 2020, first column, the following appears: The PRESIDING OFFICER. Thank you, Counsel.

On page S716, January 30, 2020, first column, the following appears: Emails between DOD and OMB officials reveal that by August 12 the Pentagon could no longer guarantee that all of the $250 million in DOD aid to Ukraine could be spent before it expired. Deputy Secretary of Defense Norquist drafted a letter and stated that the Pentagon had “repeatedly advised OMB officials that pauses beyond August 19 jeopardize the Department’s ability to obligate USAI funding prudently and fully.” Why did the President persist in withholding the funds when DOD officials were sounding the alarm that the hold would violate the law and short-change an ally of needed military aid?

On page S716, January 30, 2020, third column, the following appears: And I will say—they talked about delays in the past. Well, in past years, there was about 3 to 6 percent of the funds unobligated because of unforeseen and legitimate reasons following the policy process. In 2019, 14 percent of the funds went unobligated for foreseeable and avoidable reasons—because the President— The CHIEF JUSTICE. Thank you. Mr. Manager CROW.—could have held them. And to this day, $16 million is unspent. The CHIEF JUSTICE. Thank you, Mr. Manager. Your time has expired. The Senator from Wyoming. Mr. BARRASSO. Mr. Chief Justice, I send a question to the desk on behalf of myself and Senators RISCH, YOUNG, FISCHER, BLUNT, and CAPITO. The CHIEF JUSTICE. The question from Senator BARRASSO and the other Senators is for the counsel to the President:

On page S721, January 30, 2020, second column, the following appears: The question from the majority leader is for the counsel to the President: Would you please respond to the question on bipartisanship by Senator ALEXANDER and any assertions the House managers made in response to any previous questions?

On page S722, January 30, 2020, third column, the following appears: The CHIEF JUSTICE. Mr. Majority Leader, I understand we have 45 minutes.

On page S722, January 30, 2020, third column, the following appears: During President Clinton’s impeachment trial, he argued that “no civil officer—no President, no judge, no cabinet member—has ever been impeached by so narrow a margin . . . {and} that the closeness and partisan division of the vote reflected the constitutionally dubious nature of the charges” against him.
